Fire Services: Contracts

Mr. Clapham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when Firebuy will sign a managed service contract with the preferred bidder for the integrated cloth project (ICP). [186822]

Mr. Dhanda: Firebuy Ltd. expects to sign the fully managed service and purchase with managed services contracts for the integrated clothing project with the preferred-bidder in February 2008.

Floods: Finance

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what funding her Department has provided to (a) Gloucestershire County Council, (b) Tewkesbury Borough Council and (c) Cheltenham Borough Council for (i) flood recovery and (ii) improved flood resilience in the last 12 months; what restrictions she has placed on the ways in which such funds can be spent; what plans she has for further similar expenditure over the next 12 months; and if she will make a statement. [183648]

John Healey: To date the Government have made available up to £73 million to support communities in England affected by the floods last summer.

Gloucestershire county council has been allocated £12,107,900 of this funding:

£1,100,000 from the Department for Communities and Local Government through the Bellwin scheme, a scheme providing financial assistance for local authorities dealing with emergencies, with more to come.

In addition:

£1,007,900 from the Department for Children, Schools and Families for schools and children's services affected by the floods; and £10,000,000 allocated by the Department for Transport for repairs to local highways, with further funding expected.

Tewkesbury borough council has received £673,500 in Flood Recovery Grant from Communities and Local Government and Cheltenham borough council £646,500 respectively. Both councils have submitted Bellwin claims and we are currently looking at the detail with a view to making payments within the next few weeks.

Local authorities have flexibility to decide how to best use Flood Recovery Grant based on their own local circumstances. In practice this has included:

Support payments to flood affected households;

Purchase and provision of new household items to flood affected households;

Provision of temporary caravans to allow people to remain within their communities while houses are repaired;

Resilience and rescheduling of home improvement programmes to support families in flood damaged homes;

Other priorities set through consultation with flood-affected householders and communities.

There are no current plans to make any more payments under the Flood Recovery Scheme to the authorities affected by the June and July 2007 floods.

DEFRA is progressing with its £500,000 pilot grant scheme to encourage flood resilience and will be reporting to Ministers by the summer. The pilots, together with a parallel research project, are providing useful information that will help Ministers take a long term decision on whether such measures should feature in the long-term approach to flood risk reduction.

Homelessness

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government is taking to bring forward a new statutory definition of homelessness as proposed in the Housing Act 2004; and if she will make a statement. [183178]

Mr. Iain Wright: There are no current proposals to bring forward a new statutory definition of homelessness. The Housing Act 2004 does, however, include a power for the Secretary of State to change the existing statutory definition of overcrowding. We have pledged to update the statutory overcrowding standards to the Bedroom Standard.

Housing Market: Public Participation

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many perception surveys have been undertaken in market renewal areas in the last 12 months; and if she will make a statement. [184624]

Mr. Iain Wright: It is impractical to determine the number of perception surveys undertaken in market renewal areas in the last 12 months as some pathfinders measure perceptions as part of their everyday work, e.g. at consultation events, at the citizens advice bureau, in questionnaires and as part of master planning activity. The practice also varies according to the needs of the individual area.

Housing: Carbon Emissions

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimates her Department has made of the number of houses which have been built to the carbon emission standards set out at (a) Level 3, (b) Level 4 and (c) Level 6 of the Code for Sustainable Homes; and if she will make a statement. [184240]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Building Research Establishment has informed the Department that there are currently 395 registered developments that are building to the code, covering around 30,000 homes. Four of these are now formally going through the design stage assessment. Of those four going through the design stage, two are aiming for Code level 3 and two are aiming for Code level 4. BRE has also received the first post-construction assessment, for a development which was designed to Code level 4.

Other homes may have been built to the carbon emission standards set out in the Code for Sustainable Homes but may not have been built to meet the other sustainability requirements of the code and may not therefore have been assessed against the code.

Housing: Construction

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what estimate she has made of the amount of gravel required to build three million new homes by 2020; [185224]

(2) what estimate she has made of the average amount of aggregate required for the construction of a house with (a) one, (b) two, (c) three and (d) four bedrooms. [185225]

Mr. Iain Wright: The current national demand forecasts for aggregates were published in 2003 as 'National and Regional Guidelines for Aggregates Provision in England, 2001-16'. The forecasts are derived from a number of variables, including commercially available forecasts of construction activity. These include an element for house-building, which is currently around 180,000 units a year. The increase in net additions may not equate to a proportionate addition in requirements for primary aggregates. This is because:

net additions covering some conversions and changes of use categories which may require less aggregate; the possibility that alternative aggregate could be used for some new houses; the possibility that the increase in new house building would substitute construction activity away from other projects which use aggregates.

The Department is committed to monitoring annually the aggregates guidelines. The guidelines will be revised downwards or upwards in the light of any changes in forecasts of construction activity.

Although the Department has not estimated the average amount of aggregate required for the construction of a new house, the European Commission has estimated that to build a new home requires around 400 tonnes of aggregates (Commission Staff Working Document, 'Analysis of the competitiveness of the non-energy extractive industry in the EU'. June 2006).

Housing: Finance

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much funding is held by her Department under the Decent Homes Programme in relation to London, broken down by London borough; when that money is due to be released to each borough; and if she will make a statement. [179280]

Mr. Iain Wright: Local authorities retaining both the ownership and the management of their housing stock have to deliver their decent homes programme using the resources available through the housing revenue account and supported capital expenditure.

Additional investment needed to make all social housing decent is provided by Setting up a high-performance arm's length management organisation (ALMO) which can then access additional supported capital expenditure;

Entering into a private finance initiative (PFI) contract; or Transferring stock to registered social landlords.

Local authority landlords

Supported capital expenditure is allocated to local authorities via the regional assemblies and paid via the housing revenue account (HRA). The London Mayor determines the allocations of supported capital expenditure for the London boroughs. The following table shows the allocation of supported capital expenditure to London boroughs for 2008-09. The revenue support for the interest payments on this borrowing has been built into the subsidy determination for 2008-09.

| Name of local authority | 2008-09 (Thousand) |

| Tower Hamlets | 15,500 |
| Waltham Forest | 6,680 |
| Camden | 10,643 |
| Total | 149,985 |

ALMOs

The Minister for Housing determines the allocations of the supported capital expenditure to ALMOs which is paid as revenue support for the interest payments on this borrowing and this has been built into the HRA subsidy determination for 2008-09. The London boroughs which are receiving supported capital expenditure for ALMO programmes to deliver decent homes are listed in the following table:

London ALMOs: Allocations 2007-08 to 2010-11

| Barnet | 18,931,000 | 15,198,000 | 10,608,000 | [1] |
| Ealing | 41,000,000 | 28,000,000 | 37,000,000 | 17,773,000 |

[1] To be confirmed

The London boroughs of Enfield, Hackney, Havering, Lambeth, Lewisham, Sutton and Tower Hamlets have yet to agree their funding with the Department but we expect to do so by 31 March 2008.

Housing PFI Programme—decent homes schemes

The London boroughs which are receiving funding for PFI schemes to deliver decent homes are listed in the following table:

| London borough | PFI scheme | PFI credits (£ million) | Signature date (operational date) | Full year subsidy (£) | Contract length (years) |
| Camden | Chalcots Estate | 65.00 | May 2006 | 6,824,382 | 15 |
| Islington | Islington 1 | 74.69 | March 2003 | 6,140,376 | 30 |
| Islington | Islington 2 | 165.00 | September 2006 | 16,327,104 | 16 |
| Lewisham | Brockley | 115.91 | June 2007 | 10,353,146 | 20 |
| Newham | Canning Town | 31.89 | June 2005 | 2,391,331 | 30 |

Schemes on the Housing PFI Programme are allocated PFI credits which act as a promise of government funding and indicate the level of capital investment which will attract government support. Support for Decent Homes Housing PFI schemes is paid to local authorities via the housing revenue account subsidy system on a fixed annual basis over the life of the PFI contract. Subsidy is payable when schemes are operational. It is calculated on the overall capital cost of a scheme and does not reflect capital expenditure in individual years.

In addition, the Department has made a commitment to release subsidy for two further Decent Homes Housing PFI schemes in London, which are currently in procurement, provided they meet all relevant terms and conditions. These schemes are:

London borough of Lambeth—Myatts Field North—contract signature expected April 2009; and London borough of Newham—Forest Gate—contract signature expected March 2008.

Transfer to registered social landlords (RSLs)

Gap funding arrangements with RSLs enable local authorities to transfer their housing stock when the level of private finance required to deliver investment for decent homes improvements cannot be supported by the rental income from the homes. The numbers of arrangements in place in London are:

| London borough | Number of transfer schemes | Total gap funding value (£ million) | Grant expected to be paid in 2007-08 (£ million) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Islington | 1 | 32.340 | 10 |
| Tower Hamlets | 9 | 39.864 | 11 |
| Lewisham | 1 | 42.2 | 0 |

All gap funding payment arrangements are the subject of annual grant letters issued to each RSL.

Housing: Local Government Finance

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the amount taken from each local housing revenue account by the Government in each year since 2005-06, indicating in each case the (a) amount taken to pay off historic housing debt, (b) amount redistributed to other housing authorities and (c) gains or losses to each local authority from this redistribution process; and how much she expects to be taken for each in each year until 2009-10. [186842]

Caroline Flint: A table that shows each local housing authority's subsidy entitlement for 2005-06 and 2006-07 (the latest year we have figures for) has been deposited in the Library of the House. Negative figures indicate where the authority generated an assumed surplus which was captured and recycled within the system. In both years, all surpluses were redistributed through the subsidy system and the Exchequer contributed £232 million and £150 million in the respective years to make up the overall deficit.

The requirement for local housing authorities to set aside resources to pay off debt ended in 2004. An authority may still pay off debt if it so wishes, but that is a local treasury management decision. Local authorities are, however, required to make a contribution to the cost of servicing housing debt and this is included in the housing revenue account subsidy system as a "cost of capital".

We do not forecast the subsidy position for individual authorities.

Housing: Low Incomes

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many affordable homes were built in (a) Cornwall, (b) the south-west and (c) England in each year since 1997. [186629]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 3 September 2007, Official Report, column 1668W.

Housing: Migration

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the impact of migration on housing demand in the UK in the last 10 years; and if she will make a statement. [186928]

Mr. Iain Wright: We do not have an estimate of the impact of migration upon housing levels in the UK in the last 10 years. The 2004-based household projections show that 33 per cent. of the projected household growth in England up to 2026 is attributable to net international migration. The household projections take account of past demographic trends including migration.

Housing: Repossession Orders

Mr. Boris Johnson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many house repossessions took place in (a) Greater London and (b) each Greater London borough in each year since 2000. [186608]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information on mortgage possessions is only available for the United Kingdom as a whole and is collected by the Council of Mortgage Lenders. These data are available on their website at:

http://www.cml.org.uk/cml/filegrab/3AP4.xls?ref=2753.

Housing: Standards

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer of 17 December 2007, Official Report, columns 1143-45W, on housing: standards, what assessment she has made of the reasons for the reduction in completions of local authority dwellings between 1990-91 and 2006-07. [182810]

Mr. Iain Wright: It is a matter for local authorities to decide, in the light of the priorities identified in their housing strategy, whether some of their capital resources should be used to provide new social housing. A key issue in deciding how this should be provided and what schemes to fund will be consideration of value for money (VFM). There is no bar on the provision of new housing by local councils and there is no requirement for approval to be sought. The local councils would have to demonstrate to tenants and their auditors that the provision of new housing provides good VFM compared to that provided by registered social landlords (RSLs).

RSLs have been the main providers of social housing since the 1990s. They are non-profit making organisations who can provide a greater number of homes for a given amount of public expenditure because of their ability to access private finance and to widen choice and competition among social landlords.

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many (a) private, (b) registered social landlord and (c) local authority properties have been found to have a category 1 hazard under the housing health and safety ratings system since its inception; [185969]

(2) how many (a) private, (b) registered social landlord and (c) local authority properties have been assessed as having category 1 hazards under the housing health and safety ratings system in each London local authority area. [185970]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Housing Health and Safety Rating System was implemented from April 2006. Headline findings for England from the 2006 English House Condition Survey were published on 30 January 2008 with the following estimates of the number of properties with a category 1 hazard present:

(b) registered social landlord: 206,000;

(c) local authority: 297,000.

The presence of a category 1 hazard does not necessarily mean that the current occupiers are at serious risk. The risk assessment determining whether a category 1 hazard is present is based on the potential occupant who is most vulnerable to the hazard: for example, and depending on the hazard that is present, whether an elderly person or a young child would be at serious risk if they lived in the property.

The survey will provide annual updates to these estimates.

Communities and Local Government have asked local authorities in England to submit information on dwellings assessed with category 1 hazards under the housing health and safety ratings system for (a) private, (b) registered social landlords and (c) local authority properties in their 2006-07 annual Housing Strategy Statistical Appendix (HSSA). This is the first year in which we have sought to collect data on the Housing Health and Ratings System (HHSRS). Data that have been returned are considered incomplete and not of reliable quality. We will be working with local authorities and other stakeholders during 2008 to review the data we are seeking on HHSRS.

Housing: Sustainable Development

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many Code for Sustainable Homes assessors in each region (a) have been fully accredited and (b) are in training; and if she will make a statement. [184241]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Code for Sustainable Homes was launched in April 2007 and is the national standard for the design and construction of Sustainable new homes. To date there are 500 fully qualified and licensed Code for Sustainable Homes assessors. This is already sufficient to meet the existing and anticipated demand for Code assessments over the coming months.

By May 2008 the Government anticipates that the two organisations currently offering Code accreditation services—the Building Research Establishment and Stroma—will have trained and licensed over 900 assessors. Other firms are currently considering providing Code accreditation services, and should they go ahead, this will further increase the capacity and competition within the market.

The number of Code for Sustainable Homes assessors by region, and the number of candidates currently booked onto training courses are as follows:

| Region | Fully qualified and licensed assessors able to operate | Qualified assessors still to be licensed and not able to operate | Candidates in training up to May 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Eastern | 43 | 10 | 20 |
| Midlands | 63 | 18 | 49 |
| North | 75 | 16 | 30 |
| South east | 257 | 96 | 162 |
| South west | 47 | 10 | 30 |
| Wales | 13 | 2 | 3 |
| TOTALS | 500 | 152 | 296 |

Not all assessors in training will necessarily pass the exams so the total number of assessors by May 2008 will be slightly lower than the totals above. The regional split above is the one used by BRE rather than by that generally used by Government.

Land: Greater London

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much land was designated as (a) green belt and (b) brownfield in each London local authority in each year since 1997. [186138]

Caroline Flint: The following tables show (a) the amount of green belt and (b) the amount of brownfield land from NLUD-PDL for all available years since 1997.

Not all authorities responded to the NLUD-PDL survey in every year.

Landfill

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what statutory obligations require local authorities to identify new sites for landfill. [185228]

Mr. Iain Wright: There is a particular obligation arising from the waste management plan(s) required by the Waste Framework Directive[1] relating to waste disposal sites and installations (which can include landfill sites). Case-law from the European Court of Justice[2] has established that the management plan(s)

"must include either a geographical map specifying the exact location of waste disposal sites or location criteria which are sufficiently precise to enable the competent authority responsible for issuing a permit"[3]

to

"determine whether the site or installation in question falls within the management framework provided by the plan".

In England, the tiered system of waste planning satisfies this requirement. The tiered system includes at the national level Waste Strategy 2007 (and its Annexes) and Planning Policy Statement 10 Planning for Sustainable Waste Management (PPS10); at the regional level, regional spatial strategies; and, at the local level, development plan documents and any local policies which have been 'saved' during the transitional period between the old system of unitary development plans, structure plans and local plans and the new system of local development documents. PPS10 provides that local planning authorities should, among other things, identify in development plan documents sites and areas suitable for new or enhanced waste management facilities for the waste management needs of their areas.

Local planning authorities in England had an obligation under the Waste Management Licensing Regulations 1994 to produce detailed policies in respect of suitable disposal sites or installations for waste management purposes when producing unitary development plans, structure plans and local plans (which continues to apply in relation to saved policies). The Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) Regulations 2007, which will come into force on 6 April 2008, will replace the Waste Management Licensing Regulations 1994. Under the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) Regulations 2007, local authorities will be required to implement national waste policies and strategies such as Waste Strategy 2007 and PPS10 when preparing and maintaining local development documents.

[3] Under article 9 of the directive

Local Government Finance

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1332W, on local government finance, what the average assumed collection rate of (a) the business rate and (b) council tax of each type of billing authority is for the purposes of allocating formula grant. [178618]

John Healey: No collection rates, whether of business rates or council tax, are assumed for the purposes of allocating formula grant.

Minerals

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what minerals and waste development proposals her Department is considering from each local authority. [185354]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Secretary of State is not currently considering any minerals or waste development planning applications made by local authorities.

The Planning Inspectorate, on behalf of the Secretary of State, is currently considering 22 planning appeals that involve minerals and waste development. None of these involve the local planning authority as the appellant. The following table summarises the details of these.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what criteria her Department applies to assess submitted minerals and waste development documents; [185222]

(2) what obligations local authorities are under to identify alternative extraction sites in the minerals and waste development documents submitted to her Department. [185232]

Mr. Iain Wright: Policies in minerals development plan documents are assessed thoroughly for their soundness during their independent examination. The criteria for this assessment is set out in paragraph 4.24 of Planning Policy Statement 12 Local Development Frameworks. It covers matters of procedure, conformity, coherence, consistency and effectiveness.

There is no obligation on mineral planning authorities to identify alternative extraction sites in their development plan documents, although some do. Minerals Policy Statement 1 Planning and Minerals only requires them to identify sites, preferred areas and/or areas of search, in order to maintain an adequate and steady supply of minerals for the economy and society.

Personal Records: Children

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make it her policy to ensure that records with photographs are kept by every local authority social service department of the children that come into their care from ports of entry. [176123]

Kevin Brennan [holding answer 7 January 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

In order to respond to this question, my Department will need to gather information from other Government Departments and from representatives of the local authority sector about current operational arrangements when unaccompanied asylum seeking children present at ports of entry. When I have had the opportunity to consider this information then I shall write to the hon. Member and place a copy of that reply in the Library.

Planning: Railways

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps she is taking to encourage planning authorities to identify for protection land that may be needed for future rail use; and if she will make a statement. [186493]

Mr. Iain Wright: Planning Policy Guidance Note 13: Transport (PPG 13) advises planning authorities on the safeguarding of transport routes, in order to widen transport choices for both passenger and freight movements. It also advises that local authorities should consider the potential of disused railway lines and routes for possible future transport use and for walking or cycling routes. Where land is not required and proposals for transport routes are unlikely to be implemented, Planning Policy Statement 12: 'Local Development Frameworks' asks planning authorities to avoid blight by making this clear and to ensure that their policies and proposals are reviewed as part of the next review of their development plan.

Planning: Renewable Energy

Mr. Greenway: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will (a) adapt planning policy to promote the use of wood reserves as a renewable energy source and (b) ask the Biomass Task Force to examine the contribution of (i) wood and (ii) wood processing to the Government's renewable energy targets. [185496]

Mr. Iain Wright [holding answer 7 February 2008]: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1332W, about planning policy for renewable energy. In line with a recommendation in the final report of the Biomass Task Force (2005), the Forestry Commission through their Woodfuel Strategy for England (2007) examined the steps which would need to be taken in order to increase the contribution wood and wood processing make to the Government's renewable energy targets. The strategy sets a target to release an additional two million tonnes of woody biomass into the supply chain, annually, by 2020. In achieving the target, the focus will be on the 60 per cent. of English woodlands that are currently under-managed as bringing these woodlands back into management will deliver a number of additional benefits including boosting currently threatened woodland flora and fauna. Wood processing products will also form part of the mix, as will waste wood and arboricultural arisings.

Quarrying

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department has made of the impact of quarries on (a) residential areas and (b) areas of outstanding natural beauty. [185214]

Mr. Iain Wright: No collective assessment has been made of the impact of quarries on residential areas or areas of outstanding natural beauty. The Secretary of State only makes assessments in deciding individual planning applications which come before her. In all other cases, planning applications for quarries are decided by the appropriate mineral planning authority, who will take into account all impacts, including those on residential areas and areas of outstanding natural beauty. All likely impacts are set out in environmental impacts assessments which accompany minerals applications.

Regional Planning and Development: Standards

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what proportion of local planning authorities have had the core strategies of their Local Development Framework approved by the Government; and what her Department's targets were for those strategies. [176596]

Mr. Iain Wright: As of 4 February 2008, 22 core strategies have been found sound at independent examination. This represents 6 per cent. of all local authorities in England.

The cross governmental PSA no 20 on Housing Supply has as its sixth indicator > "Local Planning authorities to have adopted the necessary Development Plan Documents, in accordance with their Local Development Schemes, to bring forward developable land for housing in line with PPS3".

The "national target" under this heading is

> "By March 2011, 80 per cent of local planning authorities to have adopted the necessary Development Plan Documents, in accordance with their agreed Local Development Scheme".

This is the Government's target.

Roads: Lighting

Jim Dowd: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the provision of connections to street-lighting in inner London by EDF; what estimate she has made of the time taken by EDF to reconnect street lights in inner London in the latest period for which figures are available; and if she will hold discussions with (a) EDF and (b) other companies providing connections to street lighting on steps to be taken to expedite connection times. [185603]

Malcolm Wicks: I have been asked to reply.

In October 2007, Ofgem introduced a set of key performance indicators with regard to connections and faults repairs for street lighting services. DNOs are required to report on their performance in respect of each local authority against a number of criteria and meet those criteria in 90 per cent. of instances overall. Performance against criteria will be published by Ofgem annually.

Ofgem has received one quarterly return under the new requirements (for the three months ending 31 December 2007). The figures for EDF Energy (London Power Networks) show:

| Standard 2 – New/transferred connections | | | EDFELPN | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New works 1-10 Jobs | Rqmt | | Performance | | |
| < 15 working days | 60.0% | 35 | NO | [1]140 | 25.0% |
| < 30 working days | 90.0% | 44 | NO | [1]— | 56.4% |
| > 30 working days | — | 61 | NO | [1]— | 43.6% |
| New Works 11 -50 Jobs | | | | | |
| < 25 working days | 70.0% | 192 | NO | [2]710 | 27.0% |
| < 35 working days | 90.0% | 64 | NO | [2]— | 36.1% |
| > 35 working days | — | 454 | NO | [2]— | 63.9% |

Ofgem will discuss both aggregate figures shown above for the first quarter and performance within each local Public Lighting Authority (PLA) area with EDFE. Ofgem also considers feedback received from PLAs at various forums and will take up specific issues with DNO management when necessary.

Sustainable Buildings Task Group

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which recommendations made by the sustainable buildings task group have been implemented; and which are still under consideration. [186452]

Mr. Iain Wright: A table which sets out the recommendations made by the group and summarises progress with each has been deposited in the Library of the House.

Thames Gateway

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will place in the Library a copy of all correspondence relating to the purchase by the Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corporation of (a) the Grays Territorial Army headquarters and (b) industrial land at Purfleet in the financial year 2007-08. [186442]

Caroline Flint: I will arrange for relevant correspondence relating to these land purchases by the Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corporation to be placed in the Library of the House, subject to the exclusion of any information that may compromise commercial negotiations or contravene the Data Protection Act.

Thames Gateway: Finance

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what measures she is taking to facilitate the involvement of private investment funding in the Thames Gateway project; and if she will make a statement. [185482]

Caroline Flint: Significant private sector investment is already going into the Thames Gateway such as DP World's £1.5 billion investment into the new London Gateway Port in Essex, the new high speed rail link, and development on key sites for example at Barking Riverside. In the future Crossrail will also see significant investment coming into the area.

In November 2007 the Prime Minister launched the Thames Gateway Delivery Plan setting out the Government proposals for investing in the area to help deliver the key infrastructure to create the conditions that will enable investor confidence. The plan sets out how some £9.6 billion of Government funding will be invested to support housing and economic growth along with the necessary transport improvements, schools, health care facilities and other community facilities. The Government will continue to work with private sector partners at all levels to ensure the programme benefits from their expertise and experience.

Together with this Department, the three regional development agencies are establishing a new £200 million strategic economic investment fund to support their economic development and investment plan which will identify major projects that will result in an economic step-change.

In addition, a new Pan-Gateway approach to attracting inward investment into the region is being adopted together with close co-operation with the region's three regional development agencies and their partners to maximise the value proposition of the Gateway to potential investors.

Some £43 billion is expected to be invested by the private sector over the next 20 years on the back of the proposed investment by Government in the Thames Gateway as set out in the delivery plan.

Wind Power: Marketing

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance, advice or instructions have been issued to planning inspectors with regard to the involvement of public money in the promotion, development or financing of on-shore wind farms and its relevance to a planning appeal. [186339]

Mr. Iain Wright: Inspectors reach their decisions having regard to the development plan, published policy and guidance (notably the planning policy statements on renewables and climate change) and any other material considerations. There is no issued guidance, advice or instructions to planning inspectors on "the involvement of public money in the promotion, development or economics of on-shore wind farms".

Inspectors receive training on matters relating to their decisions which will include background information relating to issues such as the renewables obligation.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Arms Trade: Export Controls

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how the Government will extend export laws to control extra-territorial brokering and trafficking of small arms by United Kingdom citizens operating outside the United Kingdom, as announced by his Department on 6 February. [186818]

Malcolm Wicks: On 6 February 2008 the Government published their initial response to a public consultation carried out as part of the 2007 review of export control legislation. The Government's commitment to extend the extra-territorial trade controls to cover the activities of UK persons anywhere in the world in relation to small arms forms part of that response, which can be viewed in full on BERR's website at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/europeandtrade/strategic-export-control/legislation/export-control-act-2002/review/index.html

The Government have prioritised the implementation of this commitment and intend to act speedily. During the coming weeks, the Government will work closely with stakeholder groups on the detail of how these new controls will operate in practice and will produce guidance to assist industry to operate them, prior to the introduction of secondary legislation.

British Energy: Finance

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what payments were made to British Energy for contractual historic spent fuel liabilities in each year for which figures are available. [185240]

Malcolm Wicks: The payments made to British Energy for historic spent fuel liabilities were as follows in each of the following financial years:

| Financial year | Payments made to British Energy (£) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 184,812,000 |
| 2005-06 | 189,002,000 |
| 2006-07 | 196,389,000 |

These figures appear in the Department of Trade and Industry's Annual Report and Accounts, available on the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform's website at www.berr.gsi.gov.uk.

Daresbury Science and Innovation Campus

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what his assessment is of the contribution to the UK economy of Daresbury Science and Innovation campus; and if he will make a statement. [184819]

Ian Pearson: I have been asked to reply.

The Daresbury Science and Innovation Campus has made a significant contribution to the UK, both economically and scientifically. The Government remain committed to developing the Daresbury Science and Innovation Campus, as announced in the March 2006 Budget, so it can continue to do so.

The development of the campus has been through a partnership between the Science and Technology Facilities Council (STFC), the North West Development Agency (NWDA), the Universities of Manchester, Liverpool and Lancaster and Halton borough council. This has led to more than 60 high-technology companies locating at Daresbury over the past two years.

The STFC has confirmed that it will continue to invest at Daresbury to provide global leadership in key science and technology areas, building on the world class skills currently on the campus.

The Government have asked Sir Tom McKillop to chair an independent review of how best to implement the Government's and STFC's shared vision for Daresbury.

Electricity Generation

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many facilities with the capacity to generate more than 500 megawatts were (a) given planning consent and (b) closed in each year since 1997; and what the type and capacity of each of those facilities was. [186360]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The following new over 500 MW power stations in England and Wales have been consented by this Department since 1997:

BP Saltend 1200 MW CCGT (gas) consented 7 August 1997

Conoco (Immingham) extension to 700 MW Gas CHP consented 22 March 2001

Conoco (Immingham) further extension to 1230 MW Gas CHP consented 1 August 2006

Spalding 800 MW CCGT (gas) consented 15 November 2000

Fleetwood 1000 MW CCGT (gas) consented 15 November 2000

Isle of Grain (Enron) 1200 MW CCGT (gas) consented 15 November 2000

Raventhorpe 750 MW CCGT (gas) consented 15 November 2000

Langage 1010 MW CCGT (gas) consented 15 November 2000

Marchwood Power 800 MW CCGT (gas) consented 28 November 2002

New Isle of Grain 1260 MW CCGT (gas) 31 October 2006

New Severn, Uskmouth 800 MW CCGT (gas) 17 August 2007

New Burton 1270 MW CCGT (gas) consented 30 October 2007

London Array 1000 MW offshore windfarm consented 18 December 2006

Walney 600 MW offshore windfarm consented 7 November 2007

During the same period the following over 500 MW power stations closed:

Blyth B 626 MW coal closed September 2001

Drakelow C 976 MW coal closed March 2003

High Marnham 945 MW coal closed March 2003

Over 500 MW power stations in Scotland are the responsibility of Scottish Ministers and are not included in the data here.

Electricity: Conservation

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps his Department (a) has taken and (b) intends to take before 2012 to reduce the waste of electrical power. [180183]

Malcolm Wicks: In the Energy White Paper, the Government set out a series of measures, which can significantly reduce energy use in homes and business by 2020 (7.0-11.7 MtC by 2020).

Measures being introduced in the domestic sector include a continued obligation on energy suppliers to reduce home energy use, new building regulations, the energy performance certificates to make energy use more important when buying and selling homes and working with the EU to improve product standards, for example by phasing out inefficient light bulbs by 2011.

In the business sector, the new carbon reduction commitment will mean that for major business and the public sector energy use receives greater attention to encourage companies to take more action on energy efficiency.

The EU Emissions Trading Scheme will continue to provide an incentive for the largest energy users to use energy efficiently.

In addition, the energy industry regulator, Ofgem, has an objective to promote efficiency in electrical distribution and transmission. They do this by providing incentives to system operators in the relevant price controls.

Employment: Tribunals

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what assessment he has made of the Gibbons Review recommendation to review the circumstances in which it is appropriate for employment tribunal chairs to sit alone, in order to ensure that lay members are used in a way that adds most value; and if he will make a statement. [185070]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 7 February 2008]: The Government acknowledge the valuable and important contribution which lay members make to the tribunal system. This was reaffirmed through responses to the Government consultation 'Resolving disputes in the workplace' which was issued in March 2007 and closed on 20 June 2007. Most respondents commented that the tripartite structure of the tribunal was a real strength which aided decision-making in cases where considerations of context and reasonableness were important.

There was also support in the consultation for employment judges to sit alone in determining cases involving issues of a purely legal nature and in straightforward monetary cases, where the practical experience of the workplace that lay members bring to the tribunal's deliberations is of less relevance. Additionally, over 70 per cent. of respondents to the consultation supported the introduction of a new, swift approach to dealing with straightforward claims, where cases could be determined by an employment judge, with the consent of the parties, on the basis of the papers.

Responding to these findings in the consultation process, the Government propose to develop further the good practice which already exists within the tribunals by establishing a fast-track system for dealing with simple monetary claims. The fast-track system will involve five jurisdictions where claims potentially raise straightforward issues and therefore potentially could be determined without the need for a tribunal hearing. The jurisdictions considered suitable for the fast track are:

the national minimum wage

Claims falling within these jurisdictions that are combined with other jurisdictions outside the list, will not be eligible for a fast-track determination.

Energy: Renewables Obligation

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform for which (a) crops and (b) crop by-products renewable obligation certificates were issued for burning in power stations for each year since 2001; whether each was domestically grown or imported; and what the authorised amounts were in each case. [185619]

Malcolm Wicks: My Department does not hold the information requested.

However the following table provides an estimate of the types of material co-fired from 2005 until the end of September 2007 under the renewables obligation:

Tonnes

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Palm oil | 45,728 | 6,202 | 36,697 | 2,829 |
| Palm residues | 1,165,087 | 238,216 | 480,043 | 446,828 |
| Olive residues | 514,211 | 131,160 | 99,829 | 283,222 |
| Shea residues | 31,558 | 21,357 | 4,781 | 5,420 |
| Wood and wood residues | 633,595 | 140,868 | 206,804 | 285,923 |
| Crop residues and co- products | 382,821 | 105,880 | 152,457 | 124,484 |
| Short rotation Coppice and Miscanthus | 15,626 | 8,881 | 2,439 | 4,306 |
| Other | 419,094 | 98,343 | 59,735 | 261,016 |

Fossil Fuel Levy: Scotland

Mr. Ingram: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much Ofgem (a) collected and (b) transferred to the Scottish Consolidated Fund in respect of the Scottish fossil fuel levy in each of the last three years. [185495]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 7 February 2008]: The balances of the Scottish levy account for the last three financial years are as follows:

As at 31 March 2005: £9.3 million

2005-06 (as at 31 March 2006): £18.05 million

2006-07 (as at 31 March 2007): £59.27 million

2007-08 (as at 31 March 2008): £98.21 million

These figures include accumulated interest on the account.

No transfers have been made by Ofgem to the Scottish Consolidated Fund in respect of the Scottish fossil fuel levy as no direction enabling such a transfer has been made by Scottish Ministers under section 187 of the Energy Act 2004.

Fuel Poverty

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate his Department has made of (a) the total number of people, (b) the number of children and (c) the number of pensioners living in fuel poverty in each of the last 10 years, broken down by (i) region, (ii) local authority and (iii) constituency. [185893]

Malcolm Wicks: Fuel poverty numbers are calculated in terms of households rather than individuals. The most recent year for which numbers of households in fuel poverty are available is 2005. Detailed splits of fuel poverty for England in 2005, including by household composition and by region, are published in "Fuel poverty 2005: detailed tables"—available online at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file42705.pdf

No split exists of fuel poverty by household composition and region (or lower geographical area), and to produce one historically would not be possible without disproportionate cost. The following table shows the total number of households, pensioner households and households with children living in fuel poverty in England in each year since 1996 for which figures have been compiled. Note that detailed splits identifying households with children and pensioners have only been produced since 2003.

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many households in (a) private, (b) registered social landlord and (c) local authority housing were in fuel poverty in each of the last five years. [185899]

Malcolm Wicks: The most recent year for which numbers of households in fuel poverty are available is 2005. Splits of fuel poverty in England by type of tenure are published in "Fuel Poverty 2005: detailed tables"—available online at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file42705.pdf

Sums may not match total due to rounding. No detailed splits of data were produced for 2002—due to the change in the English house conditions survey cycle, headline data only was modelled.

Figures for 2006 will be available later this year and those for 2007 will be published in 2009.

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many (a) pensioner households and (b) households with children were living in fuel poverty in each English region in each of the last five years. [185900]

Malcolm Wicks: The most recent year for which numbers of households in fuel poverty are available is 2005. Various splits of the headline fuel poverty numbers for England are published in "Fuel Poverty 2005: detailed tables"—available online at:

Figures for 2006 will be available later this year.

Fuel Poverty: Disabled

Roger Berry: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the number of disabled people under 60 years who are living in fuel poverty and receiving the middle or higher rate of the disability living allowance care component or the higher rate of the mobility component. [186427]

Malcolm Wicks: Fuel poverty numbers are calculated in terms of households rather than individuals. The most recent year for which numbers of households in fuel poverty are available is 2005. In 2005, there were around 1.5 million fuel poor households in England, of which around 98,000 contained a disabled person under 60.

The data used to model fuel poverty come from the English House Conditions Survey (EHCS). Benefits recorded in this survey are grouped, and so it is not possible to accurately identify different levels or types of income support.

Natural Gas: Distribution

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if Ofgem will provide incentives to gas distribution network companies to provide mains gas connections in deprived communities with fewer than 10,000 inhabitants. [186464]

Malcolm Wicks: The 2008-13 Gas Distribution Price Control includes arrangements to incentivise the gas distribution network companies to provide connections to deprived communities.

Natural Gas: Imports

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much gas was imported into the UK from each gas exporting country in each of the last five years. [186376]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 18 February 2008]: In the last five years gas has been imported into the UK via pipeline from Norway, Belgium and, since 2006, the Netherlands. It is not possible to identify the countries of origin of the gas physically received from the Netherlands and Belgium. However, it is believed that the majority of the gas received from the Netherlands is sourced from the Dutch sector of the North Sea and the majority of the gas from Belgium is sourced from Norway via Zeepipe which terminates at Zeebrugge. In addition, since 2005 relatively small amounts of liquefied natural gas (LNG) has also been imported by tanker—from Algeria, Egypt, Qatar and Trinidad and Tobago. In the 11 months to November 2007 LNG accounted for 5 per cent. of total gas imports. Data on the proximate sources of gas (i.e. separating out Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands and LNG) are available on BERR's website in Energy Trends Table 4.3—http://stats.berr.gov.uk/energystats/et4_3.xls

Data for the whole of 2007 are due to be published on 28 February 2008.

Data for the whole of 2007 are not yet available. The following table gives data for 2003 to 2006 along with data for the 11 months to November 2007.

News Corporation: ITV

Paul Farrelly: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what (a) communications and (b) meetings his Department has had with (i) BSkyB, (ii) News International and (iii) other news corporation controlled companies during the last four weeks (A) generally and (B) on BSkyB's shareholding in ITV. [179312]

Malcolm Wicks: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1631W, to the hon. Member for Shipley (Philip Davies).

Nuclear Power Stations: Decommissioning

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what discussions he has had with the Chairman of the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority (NDA) on engaging professional cost advisers to review cost estimates provided to the NDA by its site licencees. [184895]

Malcolm Wicks: My Department has regular discussions with the Chairman of the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority (NDA) on a range of issues, including the measurement of the size of the task facing the NDA. The estimation of the lifetime costs of the NDA's mission is a key task for the NDA, and it therefore has processes in place for testing and challenging the estimates, including using advisers where appropriate to help them evaluate both the process and to review the cost estimates provided to the NDA by its site licensees.

Paul Flynn: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the costs of decommissioning and decontaminating nuclear power stations over the next (a) 10 and (b) 20 years. [185788]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Estimating the costs of decommissioning and cleaning up the historic civil public nuclear sites, including the Magnox nuclear power stations, is the responsibility of the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority (NDA). The latest estimate is set out in the NDA's annual report and accounts 2006-07, which is available on the NDA's website at:

www.nda.gov.uk.

The NDA's latest estimates of the cost of decommissioning and clean-up of the 10 Magnox stations in discounted 2007 money values are as follows:

£4.8 billion for the first 10 years (2007 to 2016 inclusive) for the decommissioning and clean-up of all ten Magnox stations.

£0.6 billion for the second ten years (2017 to 2026 inclusive) for the decommissioning and clean-up of all 10 Magnox stations.

Post Offices

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what plans he has to restore the Crown Post Office network to profit. [186825]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for Post Office Ltd. (POL). I have therefore asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of POL, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

Copies of the letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Post Offices: Closures

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what account is taken by Post Office Ltd. of the effects of post office branch closures when consulting on its reconfiguration programme. [186802]

Mr. McFadden: This is an operational matter for Post Office Ltd. (POL). I have therefore asked Alan Cook, Managing Director of POL, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

Copies of the letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Private Sector: Redundancy

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what criteria his Department uses in allocating funds to private sector companies to prevent redundancies. [179732]

Mr. McFadden: State aid may be granted to private companies only if they are in difficulty; and in accordance with the European Commission's "Community guidelines on State aid for rescuing and restructuring firms in difficulties" (OJ C 244, 1.10.2004, p. 2.). A firm in difficulty is where, demonstrably, a company cannot stem its losses through its own resources, or with the funds it obtains from its owners/shareholders, or from market sources. In addition, the Department is obliged to follow the criteria set out in HM Treasury's Green Book:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/economic_data_and-tools/greenbook/data_greenbook_ index.cfm on the economic assessment of all public sector spending and investment.

The Selective Finance for Investment in England (SFIE) scheme can provide funds to private sector companies to support new capital investment that will safeguard employment going forward. The criteria for the SFIE scheme are set out in the scheme guidelines that are publicly available:

http://www.dti.gov.uk/regional/investment/page29183.html

Regional Development Agencies: Vehicles

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many cars were (a) owned and (b) leased by each regional development agency in the most recent year for which figures are available. [184802]

Mr. McFadden: RDAs provide lease cars to staff to enable them to make essential visit to projects and clients. However, the arrangements vary and for example some RDAs pay staff, mileage and other allowances for that purpose. The following details are of cars on long leases and cars owned by each RDA in 2006-07.

| RDA | Number of cars owned | Number of cars leased |
|---|---|---|
| AWM | 0 | 38 |
| EEDA | 0 | 44 |
| EMDA | [1]2 | 7 |
| LDA | 0 | 3 |

Tidal Power: Expenditure

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much expenditure on (a) research and development on and (b) installation of tidal power his Department is planning in each of the next three years. [178648]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 5 February 2008]: The Government have in place a comprehensive range of initiatives that encourage the development of marine energy, including tidal power. The Government's main mechanism for supporting renewable energy is the renewables obligation (RO). On 10 January I announced, in our plans to reform the RO, a doubling of support to tidal barrages and lagoons up to 1 gigawatt and to tidal-stream technologies. Details can be found at:

www.berr.gov.uk/energy/whitepaper/consultations/renewables-obligation/page39555.html

The £50 million 'Marine Renewables Deployment Fund' provides a package of measures to support the commercial-scale demonstration of new tidal-stream devices. Details can be found at:

www.berr.gov.uk/energy/sources/renewables/funding/marine/page19419.html

On 22 January the Government announced the detailed terms of reference for a feasibility study that will look into the potential for tidal power in the Severn estuary. Further details of the study can be found at:

www.berr.gov.uk/energy/sources/renewables/explained/wavetidal/tidal/severntidalpower/page41473.html

In addition, support for research and development into tidal power technologies is available through the Research Councils' SUPERGEN programme and the Energy Technologies Institute (ETI) which is a joint Government and industry initiative. Details of the ETIs first call for tidal and wave power projects, launched on 17 December 2007 can be seen at:

www.energytechnologies.co.uk/technology-programmes/current-programmes/marine-wave-and-tidal/

Trade Unions

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what records his Department holds of grants made by institutions of the European Union to UK trades unions in the last five years. [186091]

Mr. McFadden: The Department holds no records of these individual grants. Deployment of the EU budget is a matter for the European Commission (within the agreed framework). The Commission publishes information on the grants awarded under each EU policy area on its website at:

http://ec.europa.eu/grants/index_en.htm

Union Modernisation Fund: Audit

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Peterborough of 23 January 2008, Official Report, column 2036W, on the union modernisation fund: audit, which accountancy firms (a) have undertaken and (b) are undertaking the audits. [186086]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 18 February 2008]: In line with normal arrangements for Government grant funding, on project completion, each grant recipient is required to appoint an independent accountant to undertake an audit. The auditor's report accompanies the final claim and confirms that the union has expended the sums in respect of which all claims have been made.

It is for grant recipients to appoint an independent accountant, and therefore, we are unable to indicate the accountancy firms that they propose to, or have appointed to undertake audits at this time. However, the following accountancy firms have undertaken audits on union modernisation fund projects:

Gatwick LLP
Hardy Dowdy
HW Fisher and Company Hope Agar.

Wind Power

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the proportion of energy needed to meet targets likely to be required under the EU 20 per cent. renewables target for total primary energy that will be supplied by means of wind generation. [175678]

Malcolm Wicks: Later this year the Government will launch a consultation on what more we should do to increase renewable energy use to meet our share of the target. This will cover a broad range of issues, including what contribution different types of renewable generation might make to the target. However the precise technology mix in the electricity sector in 2020 will be a matter for electricity generators to determine.

HEALTH

Abortion Act 1967

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will bring forward proposals to amend section 1(1)(d) of the Abortion Act 1967 to provide a definition of the words seriously handicapped; what recent representations he has received about this issue; and if he will make a statement. [186247]

Dawn Primarolo: Parliament did not define serious handicap in the Act. It chose to leave this to the expert judgment of the two doctors involved, who are required to form their own opinion about the seriousness of the handicap the child would suffer if born, taking into account the facts and circumstances of each individual case.

The Department has received nine letters on the topic of abortion for fetal abnormality in the last six months.

Abortion: Private Sector

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how frequently private sector abortion clinics are inspected; what action is taken by his Department and its agencies when a clinic fails to meet minimum standards; how many such clinics closed following adverse inspection findings in each year since 1992; what (a) primary and (b) secondary legislation provides the regulatory regime for abortion clinics; whether he plans to change this regime; and if he will make a statement. [186244]

Dawn Primarolo: Private sector abortion clinics are inspected according to the Private and Voluntary Healthcare (England)(Amendment) Regulations 2006 (SI 2006/539), (Section 32A), which states that providers will be subject to a minimum of one inspection every five years. Independent sector clinics, approved to perform abortions, by the Secretary of State for Health, are registered with and inspected by the Healthcare Commission. The number of additional inspections is informed following the completion of an annual self-assessment document. If following an inspection, there are areas identified that do not meet regulations, an action plan is requested from the provider to achieve compliance and a time scale for completion. More serious breaches are dealt with by the issue of legal enforcement notices and if non-compliance is still evident, prosecution and possible eventual cancellation of the provider's registration. If the situation poses a serious threat to the health and welfare of clients, the Commission has the power to seek urgent closure of an establishment using a court order.

Since 1992, one abortion clinic has been closed and one clinic closed voluntarily following an adverse inspection.

The primary and secondary legislation which provides the regulatory regime for abortion clinics in England is:

The Abortion Act 1967, as amended the Human Fertilisation and Embryology Act 1990, and the Care Standards Act 2000 as amended, the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003; and Abortion Regulations 1991 (SI 1991/499) as amended by the Abortion (Amendment) (England) Regulations 2002 (SI 2002/887) and the Private and Voluntary Health Care (England) Regulations 2001 (SI 2001/3968), as amended by the Private and Voluntary Healthcare (England)(Amendment) Regulations 2006 (SI 2006/539), the Private and Voluntary Healthcare (England)(Amendment No2) Regulations 2006 (SI 2006/1734) and the Care Standards Act 2000 (Establishments and Agencies) (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2002 (SI 2002/865), the Care Standards Act 2000 (Establishments and Agencies) (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2004 (SI 2004/1770) and the Care Standards Act 2000 (Establishments and Agencies) (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2006 (2006/1493), the National Care Standards Commission (Registration) Regulations 2001 (SI 2001/3969), as amended by the National Care Standards Commission (Registration)(Amendment) Regulations 2003 (SI 2003/369).

Under the terms of approval for the termination of pregnancy by the Secretary of State, clinics are also required to meet the relevant independent health care core, acute and termination of pregnancy national minimum standards. They must also comply with the principles set out in Department's Procedures for the Approval of Independent Sector Places for the Termination of Pregnancy.

The Health and Social Care Bill, currently before Parliament, seeks to enhance professional regulation and create a new integrated regulator, the Care Quality Commission, for health and adult social care, with focus on providing assurance about the safety and quality of care for patients and service users.

Alcoholic Drinks: Children

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many children under 14 years old were treated for alcohol-related health problems in the last 12 months, broken down by strategic health authority. [185738]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The information is as follows.

Finished admission episodes (FAEs) for children under 14-years-old with a primary or secondary diagnosis of alcohol-related health problems in data year 2006-07, broken down by strategic health authority (SHA)—national health service hospitals England and activity performed in the independent sector in England commissioned by English NHS

1. Data quality
Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) are compiled from data sent by over 300 NHS trusts, and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. Data are also received from a number of Independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.
2. FAEs
A FAE is the first period of in-patient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider. Admissions do not represent the number of in-patients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.
3. All diagnoses count of mentions
These figures represent a count of all mentions of a diagnosis in any of the 14 diagnosis fields in the HES data set. Therefore, if a diagnosis is mentioned in more than one diagnosis field during an episode, all diagnoses are counted. Diagnosis codes used: F10—Mental and behavioural disorders due to use of alcohol, K70—Alcoholic liver disease; and T51—Toxic effect of alcohol.

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many meetings he had with representatives from supermarkets where alcohol price, promotion and harm were discussed in the last 12 months. [185075]

Dawn Primarolo: Two such meetings have taken place.

In May 2007 the Government announced an agreement with the alcohol industry that, alcoholic drinks labels should include alcohol unit content along with guidelines on sensible drinking. As part of the discussions which led to this agreement, on 15 March 2007 the former Minister of State, my right hon. Friend the Member for Don Valley (Caroline Flint) met with representatives from the alcohol industry, including the British Retail Consortium.

On 21 November 2007, the Prime Minister, the Home Secretary, the Culture Secretary and the current Minister of State, my right hon. Friend the Member for Bristol, South (Dawn Primarolo), met with alcohol retailers, alcohol manufacturers, enforcement agencies, representatives of local councils and doctors and academics specialising in alcohol issues, to discuss the problems of under-age drinking and binge-drinking.

This included:

Peter V. Marks, chief executive of United Co-op;

Sir Terry Leahy, chief executive of Tesco;

Mark Bolland, chief executive of Morrisons; and Nick Grant, chairman of the Alcohol Retail Standards Group and Head of Legal Affairs, Sainsburys.

The purpose of the seminar was to inform the alcohol industry about the action the Government are taking over coming months, as set out in "Safe. Sensible. Social. The next steps in the National Alcohol Strategy" to tackle binge drinking and help people to drink sensibly and to discuss what more the industry can do to help.

Anabolic Steroids: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many calls to the National Drugs Helpline were about anabolic steroids in each year since 1997. [185370]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 7 February 2008]: The National Drugs Helpline ceased in England in March 2003 and no data on calls are available between 1997 and March 2003.

The Frank helpline replaced the National Drugs Helpline in April 2003 and details of telephone calls since then, where anabolic steroids were mentioned are shown in the following table.

| | Number of calls |
|---|---|
| April 2003 to March 2004 | 257 |
| April 2004 to March 2005 | 323 |
| April 2005 to March 2006 | 357 |
| April 2006 to March 2007 | 358 |
| April 2007 to January 2008 | 311 |

Antibiotics: Health Education

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government has taken to educate the public in the last three years on the correct use of antibiotics. [186294]

Dawn Primarolo: As a result of increasing bacterial antibiotic resistance the Department has run awareness campaigns since 1999. The main message is that antibiotics do not work on most coughs and colds and until 2008 the campaigns were based on the 'Andybiotic' character. These materials have been available on our website and formed the basis of our campaign in 2006.

In addition we supported the distribution of the Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain's "Ask about Antibiotics" leaflet in 2006.

This year's campaign uses new material and was launched on 4 February 2008. Advertisements are appearing in weekly magazines and national newspapers during February and March and a poster and leaflets are being distributed to general practitioners and pharmacists.

Anti-depressants

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) children and (b) adults were prescribed anti-depressants in each year since 1997. [184517]

Dawn Primarolo: Anti-depressant drugs are classified under section 4.3 of the British National Formulary (BNF) and the information in the following table is provided on this basis. Estimated figures are based on a sample of one in 20 prescriptions and have been grossed up to reflect the population totals and rounded.

| | BNF 4.3—prescription items dispensed (thousand) | Estimate of prescription items dispensed for children (thousand) | Percentage dispensed to children |

Breast Feeding

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much funding he has allocated to (a) an information campaign to promote the benefits of breastfeeding and (b) supporting a national helpline for breastfeeding mothers in the last three years, broken down by financial year. [184523]

Dawn Primarolo: Since 1993, the Department has supported the National Breastfeeding Awareness Week (NBAW) as a key activity in promoting breastfeeding. The Department has provided support to the breastfeeding helpline since 2003 and we are committed to further support the development of a national helpline at local rates of pay.

The following table sets out the funding for the NBAW and the national helpline on breastfeeding from 2005 to 2008. In the year 2005-06 no central funding was available and NBAW operated at local levels.

British Pregnancy Advisory Service: Complaints

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many complaints were made to (a) his Department and (b) the National Health Service about the British Pregnancy Advisory Service in each of the last four years; and what the outcome was in each case where proceedings are complete. [186245]

Dawn Primarolo: The Healthcare Commission is responsible for reviewing complaints about national health service and independent healthcare services in England that have not been resolved locally[1].

Information prior to April 2004 has been archived and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Between April 2004 and December 2006, eight complaints against the British Pregnancy Advisory Service were reviewed by the Healthcare Commission, all of which were resolved satisfactorily.

Cancer: Expenditure

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the NHS's average annual expenditure is on a patient with (a) breast cancer, (b) lung cancer, (c) prostate cancer and (d) bowel cancer from diagnosis to the end of treatment. [186203]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Data on the national health service expenditure on cancer are not collected by cancer type. In 2006-07 £4.35 billion was spent by the NHS on cancer services, approximately 5.2 per cent. of all NHS spending for that year. Data on this expenditure are not collected by tumour site and cannot be broken down on this basis.

Care Homes: Standards

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government has taken to improve standards in residential care homes since 1997. [186295]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Under the Care Standards Act 2000 and the Health and Social Care Act 2003, the Government have set up an independent inspection and regulation regime to raise the quality of care and level of protection for older and vulnerable people living in care homes.

All care homes in England must be regulated (registered and inspected) by the Commissions for Social Care Inspection (CSCI). CSCI regulates care homes in accordance with statutory regulations and national minimum standards (NMS). CSCI has a range of enforcement powers and will take action to drive up standards and protect the welfare of residents.

The regulations set out what providers must do by law. The Government introduced the NMS to set out clearly what care homes are expected to provide to demonstrate that they are complying with the regulations. Since their introduction, CSCI has reported a steady improvement in the performance of care homes against them. According to the CSCI report, "The State of Social Care 2006-07", published on 29 January 2008, care homes for older people meet on average 80 per cent. of standards, a 21 per cent. improvement since 2003. Care homes for younger adults—aged 18 to 64—meet on average 83 per cent. of standards, which is a 20 per cent. improvement since 2003.

Children: Accidents

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his assessment is of the role of regional directors of public health in the prevention of accidental injury to children; and if he will make a statement. [186337]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The regional directors of public health have a key role in developing and co-ordinating regional strategies and initiatives for the prevention of injury to children, and in ensuring the engagement of cross-sectoral partnerships involving the public, private and voluntary sectors.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1689W, on departmental public expenditure, what the cost was of writing-off date expired vaccines broken down by type of vaccine 2006-07; [184461]

(2) how many expired vaccines were written-off, broken down by type of vaccine.[1] [184521]

Dawn Primarolo: In 2006-07 488,629 doses of vaccine in total were written off.

There were 488,457 doses of vaccine written off due to date expiring. They were:

243,000 doses of the Bacille Calmette Guerin (BCG) vaccine;

123,954 doses of the measles, mumps and rubella (MMR) vaccine;

71,568 doses of combined diphtheria, tetanus and pertussis (DTaP) vaccine;

49,799 doses of Haemophilus influenzae type B (Hib) vaccine; and 136 doses of tetanus and diphtheria (Td) vaccine.

This equates to £2,092,513. The cost breakdown cannot be give for individual vaccines as the cost per dose is commercially confidential information.

There were 172 doses of vaccine written off because they were damaged. They were:

70 doses of pneumococcal conjugate vaccine;

69 doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, inactivated polio and haemophilus influenzae; type B, (DTaP/IPV+Hib) vaccine;

21 doses of meningococcal C vaccine vaccine; and

12 doses of the MMR vaccine

The total value of the written-off stock due to date expiry and damage (£2,096,000) represents about 1 per cent. of the vaccine distributed in the United Kingdom in 2006-07.

Depressive Illnesses: Drugs

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions his Department has had about the potential adverse effects of administering (a) 20mg and (b) 40mg of Paroxetine to a patient. [186127]

Dawn Primarolo: The safety of paroxetine (brand name Seroxat) has been under review by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) since first marketing and remains under close review. Paroxetine is licensed in the dose range 10 to 60mg, depending on the indication. The recommended daily dose is 20 mg, with the exception of obsessive compulsive disorder and panic disorder for which the recommended daily dose is 40mg. Clinical experience is that some patients not responding to the recommended dose may benefit from having their dose increased. Prescribers have been advised that in the absence of evidence of a benefit from increasing the dose, good practice would be to maintain patients on the lowest efficacious dose.

Guidance on how to use paroxetine safely and effectively along with information on potential adverse effects is provided in the product information for prescribers, the "Summary of Product Characteristics", and in the patient information leaflet which accompanies the medicine. These documents are authorised by the MHRA at the time of licensing and updated through the life of the product as new information on potential adverse effects and benefits emerges.

Paroxetine belongs to a class of antidepressants known as Selective Serotonin Reuptake Inhibitors (SSRIs). The safety profile of the SSRIs is a topic which has been the subject of considerable public interest and scientific debate over recent years. In May 2003, in response to continued public concern, the Government established an expert working group to further investigate the safety of SSRIs, with a particular focus on suicidal behaviour and withdrawal reactions. The conclusions and key findings of the expert group were communicated to health professionals on 6 December 2004 and the supporting evidence base was detailed in the Group's comprehensive report entitled "Report of the CSM Expert Working Group on the safety of Selective Serotonin Reuptake Inhibitor Antidepressants" published on the MHRA website at:

www.mhra.gov.uk/Safetyinformation/Safetywarningsalertsandrecalls/Safetywarningsandmessagesformedicines/CON1004259

The publication of the Report was timed to coincide with the publication of guidelines on the treatment of depression by the National Institute of Health and Clinical Excellence. Overall it was concluded that SSRIs are effective medicines in the treatment of depression and anxiety conditions, and that the balance of risks and benefits of all SSRIs in adults remains positive in their licensed indications.

Doctors: Developing Countries

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department has taken to ensure that employment by the NHS of doctors trained in the developing world does not adversely affect health care standards in developing countries. [186891]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The United Kingdom was the first, and remains the only, developed country to implement and review systematic policies that explicitly prevent the targeting of developing countries in the area of international recruitment. As such, the Department published a code of practice for the 'International Recruitment of Healthcare Professionals' in 2001 and updated it in December 2004.

The code of practice proscribes the active recruitment of health care professionals from developing countries.

Doctors: Lancashire

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how much was spent on locums for junior doctors at (a) Chorley Hospital, (b) South Ribble Hospital, (c) Blackburn Royal Infirmary and (d) Royal Preston Hospital in each of the last 12 months; [186890]

(2) how many junior doctor posts were unfilled for more than (a) three months, (b) six months and (c) nine months at (i) Chorley Hospital, (ii) South Ribble Hospital, (iii) Blackburn Royal Infirmary and (iv) Royal Preston Hospital, in each of the last five years; [186892]

(3) how many junior doctor posts were unfilled at (a) Chorley Hospital, (b) South Ribble Hospital, (c) Blackburn Royal Infirmary and (d) Royal Preston Hospital on the most recent date for which figures are available. [186893]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: This information is not collected centrally. These are local matters which are the responsibility of the relevant national health service trusts concerned. Information relating to the Chorley and South Ribble Hospital can be obtained from the Lancashire Teaching Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and for the Royal Blackburn Hospital from the East Lancashire Hospitals NHS Trust.

Drug Resistant Tuberculosis

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department is taking to prevent the spread of extreme drug resistant tuberculosis. [186436]

Dawn Primarolo: Prevention of the emergence and spread of any type of drug-resistant tuberculosis (TB) is being addressed as part of the DOH's overall strategy to improve TB prevention and control through 'Stopping Tuberculosis in England: An Action plan from the Chief Medical Officer' (published in October 2004). As well as improvements to public health surveillance systems, this critically requires fast and comprehensive detection of cases, rapid identification of drug resistance if it exists and good clinical management including measures to ensure treatment is both appropriate and completed by the patient. Patients with drug-resistant strains of TB are treated by appropriate multiple drug therapy for a minimum of six months which also helps public health control by breaking the cycle of TB transmission from infectious patients.

The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) clinical guideline on the treatment and diagnosis of TB published in March 2006 includes specific guidance on treatment and rapid contact tracing of people in contact with any type of drug resistant TB. The Department's TB toolkit (published in June 2007) aims to help commissioners and TB service providers implement the action plan in line with the NICE guideline.

NICE recommends that if a risk assessment suggests a patient has multi-drug resistant (MDR) TB, rapid diagnostic tests should be conducted for rifampicin resistance. The Health Protection Agency (HPA) reference laboratory service identifies TB cultures from national health service patients in England and determines if they are drug resistant. The selection of appropriate second line drugs for the clinical treatment of MDR TB and extensively drug resistant (XDR) TB is determined by the HPA National Mycobacterium Reference Unit (MRU), which has recently developed newer and faster methods for drug susceptibility testing. The HPA MRU also carries out DNA fingerprinting on drug resistant TB strains in England to help determine patterns of transmission and is working with the World Health Organization on the surveillance of XDR TB.

Drugs: Advisory Services

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been spent on advertising the national drugs helpline in each year since its inception. [186788]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Drugs Helpline ceased in England in March 2003 and was replaced by the FRANK helpline in April 2003.

None of the promotional output for FRANK, including advertising, is exclusively designed to promote the FRANK helpline. All FRANK printed and broadcast output delivers messages to young people while always signposting the FRANK helpline and website.

The following table provided by the Central Office of Information shows total campaign expenditure and total advertising expenditure for FRANK from the years 2003-04 to 2007-08. The Department did not directly allocate money for campaigns on drug misuse prior to 2003.

£ million

Drugs: Rehabilitation

Mr. Gale: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of drug addicts who are classified as in treatment. [186655]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Between April 2006 and March 2007 (the latest period for which data are available) 195,000 people received specialist drug treatment.

This is 130 per cent. more people in treatment than in 1998. This means that the target of doubling the numbers in drug treatment by 2008 has been exceeded by 30 per cent.

Mr. Gale: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the percentage of addicts receiving low-dose methadone on prescription who are thought to also be using heroin. [186656]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: This data is not collected centrally.

Low dose methadone is not recommended in national guidance and should not be a feature of local drug treatment systems. Rather than low-dose, clinicians should ensure that the dose prescribed for each individual is appropriate to their needs and in line with the available evidence base. The recently revised "National Clinical technological appraisals on substitute prescribing", published January 2007, clearly states that methadone treatment must be optimised to ensure that each patient receives maximum benefit.

Family Planning

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many and what proportion of (a) adult men, (b) adult women, (c) boys aged 16 years or under and (d) girls aged 16 years or under attended contraception clinics in the last 12 months. [186746]

Female Genital Mutilation

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many victims of female circumcision were treated by the NHS in each of the last five years; and what estimate he has made of the cost to the NHS of dealing with the results of female circumcision in each such year. [184578]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not available centrally.

Food: Allergies

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will bring forward proposals for the regulation of (a) the recording and (b) advice on the use of food allergens by commercial organisations. [186635]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Food allergens are safe food ingredients for the vast majority of people, although approximately 2 per cent. of the United Kingdom's adult population need to avoid certain foods because they may trigger an allergic reaction. All ingredients deliberately added to a pre-packed food already have to be declared on the label. Furthermore, existing food allergen labelling rules ensure that, despite any other food labelling exemptions, the 14 allergenic food ingredients of greatest public health concern across the European Community must always be declared on the label of pre-packed foods.

The Food Standards Agency has recently issued two best practice guidance documents for food businesses. The "Guidance on Allergen Management and Consumer Information" is aimed at producers of pre-packed foods to help them eliminate the possible cross-contamination of allergenic ingredients and to decide on appropriate warning labels if this should be unavoidable. "The Provision of Allergen Information for Non Pre-packed Foods" is intended to help those businesses providing food in restaurants, sandwich bars, delicatessens etc where the food is not pre-packed and it is essential to communicate the presence of any allergenic ingredients in the food, where the customer needs this information. These guidance documents were produced with the help of relevant interested parties (food manufacturers, food retailers, enforcement bodies and consumer organisations).

Food: Labelling

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he expects his Department's (a) Healthy Food Code of Good Practice and (b) evaluation of different food labelling systems to be completed. [184518]

Dawn Primarolo: The Government will finalise a Healthy Food Code of Good Practice with industry leaders over the course of 2008. It is designed to be an ongoing partnership with the food industry including manufacturers, retailers, the food service and catering sectors all of which will be challenged to make commitments. The Government's aim is to develop long term partnerships with all parts of industry to drive sustained improvements that make it easier for consumers to make healthier food choices.

The independent evaluation of front of pack nutrition signposting schemes is expected to be completed by end of 2008.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which retailers have adopted the Food Standards Authority's recommended traffic light colour-coded approach to nutrition labelling; and if he will make a statement. [186399]

Dawn Primarolo: Currently eight United Kingdom retailers use traffic light front of pack labels; Asda, Budgens/Londis, The Cooperative, Boots, Marks and Spencer, Sainsbury's and Waitrose. This represents more than 40 per cent. by sales of the food retail market in the UK.

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the potential of the Food Standards Agency's guidance on the provision of allergen information for non-prepacked foods to reduce consumer choice. [186837]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The guidance was produced by a multi-stakeholder group which included representatives of the allergy charities and thus the views of consumers were taken into account as the guidance was developed.

Food allergic and food intolerant consumers need information on the allergen content of foods in order to make safe food choices. The primary aim of this guidance is to increase the information available to such consumers and so enable them to be able to reliably choose the food that is safe for them. Without information on the allergenic ingredients used in the food being provided, many allergic consumers are likely to be restricted in their choices.

Food: Supermarkets

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what legislation governs the provision of information by supermarkets in respect of foodstuffs (a) produced and (b) processed by them in-house. [186320]

Dawn Primarolo: Whether the food stuff is produced in-house by the supermarket, or manufactured independently, the information accompanying the food is governed by the Food Labelling Regulations (1996), as amended. These regulations also cover nutrition labelling. There are further regulations covering specific labelling on different commodities, such as honey or meat products.

Genetically Modified Organisms: Animal Feed

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research he has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on future supplies of GM free protein ingredients for animal feed. [186463]

Dawn Primarolo: The Food Standards Agency (FSA) is responsible for the safety of feed material and feed products that enter the food chain and does not therefore undertake research concerning the future supply of particular feed (or food) commodities. Materials derived from genetically-modified organisms (GMOs) cannot be used or marketed as feed or food unless the GMO in question has been assessed as being safe, and has been specifically authorised by the European Union under the relevant legislation. The FSA has commissioned, and is funding, research which underpins the safety assessment of GM food and feed.

Health

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what key steps the Government plan to take on public health in the next three years. [183843]

Dawn Primarolo: The Government are taking forward and building on commitments to improve people's health given in the White Paper "Choosing Health:making healthy choices easier" (2004). This includes developing and implementing key strategies on tackling obesity, smoking cessation, alcohol harm, and sexually transmitted infections. They are also addressing the poorest groups and communities through their programme to reduce health inequalities, which is a priority for the national health service and local government in 2008-09.

Health Services: Children in Care

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of looked after children in each local authority area received an optical check on an annual basis in the latest period for which figures are available. [179416]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 16 January 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

Improving the health and wellbeing of looked after children is of paramount importance. Children in care are more likely to experience health problems, particularly mental health problems, than their peers and it is important that more is done to meet their needs.

Our White Paper "Care Matters: Time for Change" set out how this is a priority for the Government. It outlined a strong package of measures intended to ensure that we improve health outcomes for this vulnerable group of young people, including by ensuring better joint working between local authorities and health care bodies. For the first time guidance on promoting the health of looked after children will be put on a statutory footing for both local authorities and health bodies.

The available information about the health care of looked after children has been placed in the House Libraries.

Health Services: Overseas Visitors

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish full details of the responses to his Department's consultation on proposals to excluded overseas visitors from eligibility to free NHS primary medical services. [186004]

Dawn Primarolo: Publication of the full responses to the 2004 consultation "Proposals to Exclude Overseas Visitors from Eligibility to Free NHS Primary Medical Services" will form part of the publication of a further consultation document that will result from the Review of Access to the NHS by foreign nationals when it is completed.

Hepatitis C

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what response he made to the Health Protection Agency laboratory reports of hepatitis C infection in the third quarter of 2007; and if he will make a statement. [186826]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Health Protection Agency (HPA) published data on reported laboratory diagnoses of hepatitis C for July to September 2007 (third quarter) in Health Protection Report (volume 2 number 4) on 25 January 2008. The data, which are provisional, showed an apparent drop in the number of laboratory diagnoses reported in that quarter compared to the previous two quarters of 2007.

The Department understands from the HPA that a large number of diagnoses were incorrectly allocated to the under one-year age group category and were therefore omitted from the published data. Laboratory reports in cases aged under one year are excluded from the published data because they may indicate the presence of passively acquired maternal antibodies.

Revisions are currently being made to the third quarter figures. Revised data will be published in the Health Protection Report when the fourth quarter's data are available later this year.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what representations he has received on the Written Declaration of the European Parliament on hepatitis C; and if he will make a statement. [186827]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: We have not received any representations about the European Parliament's written declaration on hepatitis C.

Notes:

1. Cumulative data are as reported by the end of June 2007. Numbers will rise as further reports are received (particularly for more recent years).
2. HPA has provided for its north east region, which is coterminous with the Government office for the north east.
3. Data has been provided for the former Tees district health authority, as HPA do not have data for Tees Valley, Middlesbrough, South and East Cleveland.
4. HPA do not provide by data by age because of the risk of deductive exposure of an individual's identity. Data have been provided by age groups. Sub-totals show ranges where one or more cells have a count of under five in order to reduce the risk of deductive disclosure.
5. Data will include many individuals who have been infected with HIV outside the UK, but who have been subsequently diagnosed in the UK.

Incontinence: Medical Equipment

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how the weight range of 751-1000g in Annex A1 of Arrangements under Part IX of the Drug Tariff for the provision of stoma and incontinence appliances and related services to primary care was determined; [184581]

(2) whether his Department has undertaken a disability impact assessment of the proposed changes to Part IX of the Drug Tariff. [184662]

Dawn Primarolo: The weight range referred to in Annex A of the consultation "Arrangements under Part IX of the Drug Tariff for the provision of stoma and incontinence appliances—and related services—to Primary Care. Revised Proposals" was determined using a sample of data provided by the Prescriptions Pricing Division of the NHS Business Services Authority which was used to:

estimate the average weight of an item within a prescription; and estimate the average weight of a prescription, assuming that a prescription has an average of 2.2 items in it.

The review of Part IX of the Drug tariff in relation to stoma and incontinence appliances is ongoing. The Department is preparing an Equality Impact Assessment and this will be published. All parties will have an opportunity to comment on it.

Kidney Patients: Health Services

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many strategic health authorities provided regional dialysis capacity plans to his Department by 5 February 2008; what his estimate is of the demand for dialysis capacity in 2008-09, in each strategic health authority; and what changes in capacity he will propose in 2008-09, for each strategic health authority. [185993]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: As of 5 February 2008, three strategic health authorities (SHAs) have provided dialysis capacity plans to the Department. Projected growth in demand for renal replacement therapy is set out in the National Service Framework (NSF) for Renal Services. It is predicted that the number of patients requiring renal replacement therapy will rise to around 45,000 over the 10 years ending in 2014. The NSF modelling was undertaken at a national level and the Department does not have dialysis demand projections broken down by SHA area.

It is for primary care trusts as commissioners of renal services, in collaboration with their specialised commissioning groups (SCG), to meet their current population's dialysis needs and have robust expansion plans to meeting rising demand. The Department highlighted the need for SCGs to pay particular attention to areas where significant increases in demand are likely to lead to pressure on services in the NHS Operating Framework for 2008-09 and renal replacement therapies were cited as such an example.

Leukaemia: Drugs

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) if he will make it his policy to instruct NHS commissioners in England to adhere to the guidance produced by the Scottish Medicines Consortium on Dasatinib for the treatment of imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia, pending the publication of its appraisal by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence; [186263]

(2) when he expects the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence to issue guidance on (a) Dasatinib and (b) Nilotinib for imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia; [186267]

(3) if he will instruct the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence to appraise (a) Dasatinib and (b) Nilotinib for the treatment of imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia through the single technology appraisal process. [186270]

Dawn Primarolo: Ministers made a minded referral of dasatinib and nilotinib for the treatment of imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia to the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) in October 2007. NICE'S consultation on the remit and scope of this appraisal closed on 28 January 2008. It is currently proposed that these two products be appraised together so that the national health service has a single source of advice, but feedback on the results of this consultation is awaited. Ministers will make a final decision on the referral of these topics following receipts of a report back from NICE'S consultation.

Good practice guidance published by the Department in December 2006 highlights Scottish Medicines Consortium (SMC) guidance as one source on which local NHS organisations can draw in making decisions on the use of specific drugs where NICE guidance is not available. We have no plans to mandate the adoption of SMC guidance by the NHS in England.

Malnutrition: European Union

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions (a) he and (b) his Ministers have had with members of the Employment, Social Policy, Health and Consumer Affairs Configuration of the Council of the European Union on the subject of undernutrition across the EU. [185573]

Dawn Primarolo: The Employment, Social Policy, Health and Consumer Affairs Council has previously discussed the issue of nutrition, within the context of promoting positive health determinants and physical activity across the member states. On 31 May 2007, the Council adopted conclusions on the strengthening of health promotion and disease prevention by means of balanced nutrition and sufficient physical activity. Subsequently, on 6 December 2007, the Council adopted conclusions in response to the Commission's White Paper on "A strategy for Europe on Nutrition".

NHS: Allowances

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 29 January 2008, Official Report, column 346W, on NHS: allowances, which NHS job descriptions are affected by the decision to increase certain national mileage allowances on an interim basis. [186251]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: No job descriptions are affected by the decision to increase certain national mileage allowances on an interim basis. Mileage allowances apply to all national health service employed staff who use a car in connection with their official duties of employment.

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many NHS employees received mileage allowance in the last 12 months. [186257]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Department does not collect this information centrally.

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the NHS Staff Council will come to a decision on the proposals scheduled to be presented to it on 11 March 2008 by the sub group reviewing NHS staff mileage allowances. [186636]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: This is a matter for the NHS Staff Council.

NHS: Drugs

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 24 January 2008, Official Report, column 2236W, on NHS drugs, how many representations he received; and when the classification will be revisited. [186219]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department has not received any representations since 24 January 2008.

The classification will be revisited when the responses to the consultation have been analysed.

NHS: Research

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government have taken to improve research conducted by the NHS since 1997. [183106]

Dawn Primarolo: The Government's aim is to make the United Kingdom the best place in the world for health research, development and innovation; to ensure that the national health service is equipped and able to make a key contribution to that end; and to realise the potential of the NHS to support research that improves national health and increases national wealth.

The Government's strategy for health research Best Research for Best Health, published in January 2006 following widespread consultation, is creating a health research system in which the NHS supports outstanding individuals working in world-class facilities, and leading-edge research is conducted, focussing on the needs of patients and the public. Copies of the strategy document are available in the Library.

Details of the progress made with implementation of the strategy are set out in the progress report 'Transforming Health Research: the first two years' published on 17 January. A copy of the report has been placed in the Library.

These reforms are underpinned by increases in Government funding. Total Government investment in health research will reach £1.7 billion by 2010-11, an increase of over £290 million in the three year period covered by the 2007 comprehensive spending review. Almost £1 billion of this total will be spent by the Department's National Institute of Health Research.

Orthopaedics: Fees and Charges

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what progress has been made on setting a national tariff for specialist orthopaedic treatments; and if he will make a statement. [186003]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department is strengthening commissioning arrangements for specialised services following an independent review led by Sir David Carter. To support this direction of travel, we worked with specialised commissioning groups to refine the targeting of specialist top-ups, which are paid in addition to the tariff, for 2008-09. All providers of specialist orthopaedic services are eligible for specialist top-ups.

Arrangements for the reimbursement of specialist orthopaedic treatments were published as part of the tariff package, and alongside the NHS Operating Framework for 2008-09, in December 2007.

We continue to work with interested parties to monitor and review these arrangements.

Prescriptions: Fees and Charges

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost was of the drugs dispensed for each of the conditions exempted from prescription charges in each of the last three financial years, broken down by primary care trust; and what the projected costs are for each of the next three financial years. [184540]

Dawn Primarolo: Estimates of the net ingredient cost of medicines dispensed in the community in England to holders of valid medical exemption certificates, broken down by primary care trust, have been placed in the Library. It is not possible to provide information relating to each of the exempt medical conditions. Projections for the next three financial years are not available.

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the costs were of drugs dispensed by prescription in each of the last three financial years, broken down by primary care trust; and what the projected costs are for each of the next three financial years. [184541]

Dawn Primarolo: Estimates of the net ingredient cost of prescription items dispensed in the community in England, broken down by primary care trust, have been placed in the Library. Projections for the next three financial years are not available.

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the costs were of drugs dispensed by free prescription in each of the last three financial years, broken down by primary care trust; and what the projected costs are for each of the next three financial years. [184542]

Dawn Primarolo: Estimates of the net ingredient cost of prescriptions dispensed free of charge in the community in England, broken down by primary care trust, have been placed in the Library. Projections for the next three financial years are not available.

Prostate Cancer

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of cases of early prostate cancer were treated in each of the last five years with (a) surgery, (b) radiotherapy, (c) hormone therapy and (d) other treatments. [184260]

Angela Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 19 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking what percentage of cases of early prostate cancer have been treated in each of the last five years with (a) surgery, (b) radiotherapy, (c) hormone therapy and (d) other treatments. (184260)

The statistics relate to all cases of prostate cancer since the recording of "stage" in the cancer register cannot provide nationally comparable data on early prostate cancer.

The latest year for which data are available is 2005. The table below shows, for 2001-2005, the percentage of newly diagnosed cases of prostate cancer receiving specific treatments. In 45 per cent. of prostate cancer cases in the national cancer registry database, either no treatment information was recorded or patients were recorded as having had no treatment.

Respite Care: Children

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was spent on respite care for children with disabilities from (a) the public purse and (b) voluntary contributions in each of the last five years. [162265]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The Department does not currently collect or hold this information. The Department of Health currently collects data on expenditure on foster and residential care, although it cannot currently be disaggregated to give expenditure on respite care alone However, from 2008-09, my Department will take the lead in collecting this data, which will include information on local authority expenditure on short breaks for disabled children. The Government are investing significant additional resources into improving services for disabled children, as part of the Aiming High for Disabled Children programme, and seeking to improve the collection of data locally to enable better planning and monitoring of services.

Tattooing

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people admitted (a) to NHS accident and emergency departments and (b) for NHS plastic surgery as a result of tattooing and piercing procedures in the latest period for which figures are available, broken down by strategic health authority. [186129]

Dawn Primarolo: The information requested about national health service plastic surgery is not collected centrally. In relation to the information requested about NHS accident and emergency admissions, I refer my hon. Friend to the reply given to her on 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1087W.

Transplant Surgery: Ethics

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what consideration his Department has given to the ethical implications of face transplants; and if he will make a statement. [182263]

Dawn Primarolo: Clinicians need to be sure that any procedure is safe and that the patient is fully informed of any risks or limitations, in accordance with good professional practice, and in line with General Medical Council guidance. Necessary consent arrangements and tissue matching would need to be in order, as for any other type of transplant. If the procedure is being carried out in the context of research, it would need the approval of the local Research Ethics Committee.

In the particular case of a face transplant, in addition to ethical approval, doctors may need to get agreement from the Interventional Procedures Advisory Committee which is part of the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence. The Royal College of Surgeons have now published their report which expressed concerns about the substantial risk of acute or chronic rejection but believed that face transplants could go ahead providing certain conditions were met.

Urology: Nurses

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment he has made of the likely effects of a cap on specialist urology nurse visits, as proposed in the Department of Health consultation on Part IX of the Drug Tariff; [185557]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 29 January 2008, Official Report, column 343W, on incontinence: medical equipment, how much of the £487 million per annum is (a) Part IX dressings and reagents expenditure, (b) Part IX stoma expenditure, (c) Part IX incontinence expenditure and (d) any other Part IX expenditure; and if he will make a statement. [185585]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 7 February 2008]: The proposed cap does not relate to patient visits made by specialist nurses who work for the national health service. While not covered by their terms of service, many appliance contractors do provide services above basic dispensing, such as home delivery and specialist nurse visits.

One objective of the review is to ensure that such services are provided to the same standard and that remuneration for services is transparent.

As contractors' nurse visits are not remunerated directly today, the Department has had to make an assessment of the number of specialist nurse visits these contractors provide. This assessment has been based on information provided by those contractors through the consultation process.

Proposals regarding payment for specialist nurse visits were set out in the consultation entitled Arrangements under Part IX of the Drug Tariff for the provision of stoma and incontinence appliances - and related services - to Primary Care. Revised Proposals that closed on 28 December 2007.

The Department is currently analysing these responses. They will help to inform an assessment of how the cap might impact patient care.

The part IX expenditure that has been under review totals £487 million. A breakdown is shown in the following table.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| Dressings and chemical reagents (Parts IX A & R) | 227 |
| Catheters (Part IX A) | 58 |
| Incontinence (Part IX B) | 40 |
| Stoma appliances (Part IX C) | 162 |
| Total Part IX under review | 487 |

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Admiralty House: Empty Property

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer of 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 1080W, on Admiralty House: empty property, which Minister previously occupied the flat in Admiralty House which was occupied by the former Lord Chancellor before his departure from Ministerial office. [183453]

Mr. Watson: The flat in Admiralty House which was used by the former Lord Chancellor before his departure from ministerial office was previously occupied by my right hon. Friend the Member for Derby, South (Margaret Beckett).

Adult Education: Social Exclusion

Helen Jones: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what recent discussions he has had with ministerial colleagues on the role of non-accredited adult learning in tackling social exclusion; and if he will make a statement. [184663]

Phil Hope: Ministers and civil servants meet regularly as part of the process of policy development and advice. It is not normal practice to disclose details of such meetings. However, Cabinet Office Ministers will continue to work closely with colleagues to ensure that people can lead healthy and fulfilling lives by participating fully in training, education and work.

The Families at Risk Review demonstrates the importance of parental learning to improve outcomes for all family members and participation in non-accredited learning is often the first step into more formal learning programmes for many disadvantaged adults and parents. Both formal and non-accredited learning have the potential to improve economic opportunity, health and well-being as well as promoting social and community cohesion, helping to improve the life chances of disadvantaged families.

Cabinet Office: Advertising

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what percentage of the Cabinet Office's expenditure was on advertising in each of the last 10 years. [182991]

Mr. Watson: Advertising costs as a percentage of the Cabinet Office's expenditure since 1997-98 can be found in the table as follows:

| | Perceniage |
|---|---|
| 1998-99 | 0.09 |
| 1999-2000 | 0.19 |
| 2000-01 | 0.17 |
| 2001-02 | 1.23 |
| 2002-03 | 0.11 |
| 2003-04 | 0.11 |
| 2004-05 | 0.14 |
| 2005-06 | 0.12 |
| 2006-07 | 0.12 |

The increase in advertising spend in 2001-02 was due to expenditure incurred by the Office of the E-Envoy (now known as Transformational Government) for the UK Online advertising campaign, encouraging the public to use the internet, and offering help to those wanting to do so.

Civil Service Agencies: Publicity

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) if he will take steps to ensure that the executive agencies and non-departmental public bodies listed in the Central Office of Information's White Book include full details of their press and communication officers; [181307]

(2) which executive agencies and non-departmental bodies are not listed in the Central Office of Information's White Book. [181308]

Mr. Watson: The extent of the contract details provided in the White Book is decided by those bodies listed in it.

The White Book contains entries for 370 organisations, including some non-government organisations that deal with Government.

Government entries include a range of functions, such as providing information to the public through publications, websites and campaigns around issues such as road safety, public health and smoking.

A full list of non-departmental public bodies is available on the civil service website at:

http://www.civilservice.gov.uk/about/public/bodies.asp and Government Departments and executive agencies are listed on the Cabinet Office website at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/ministerial_responsibilities.aspx

Civil Service Appeal Board

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many (a) successful and (b) unsuccessful appeals were made to the Civil Service Appeal board against (i) dismissal, (ii) early retirement, (iii) non-payment of compensation or amount of compensation paid on dismissal, (iv) refusal to allow participation in political activities and (v) forfeiture of superannuation in each year since 1997. [184782]

Mr. Watson: Statistics for each of the last 10 years can be found in Appendix 3 of each of the Civil Service Appeal Board's annual reports. These are available on the Board's website at http://www.civilserviceappealboard.gov.uk. Copies are also available in the Library of the House.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what percentage of appeals were heard by the Civil Service Appeal Board within 18 weeks of receipt of the appeal in each of the last 10 years. [184790]

Mr. Watson: Statistics for each of the last 10 years can be found in Appendix 5 of each of the Civil Service Appeal Board's Annual Reports. These are available on the board's website at http://www.civilserviceappealboard.gov.uk. Copies are also available in the Library.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) what percentage of decision letters were sent out by the Civil Service Appeal Board within 24 hours of the relevant hearing in each of the last 10 years; [184792]

(2) what percentage of reports of hearings were sent out within 20 days of hearings by the Civil Service Appeal Board in the latest period for which figures are available. [184794]

Mr. Watson: Statistics for each of the last 10 years can be found in Appendix 5 of the Civil Service Appeal Board's annual reports. These are available on the Board's website at http://www.civilserviceappealboard.gov.uk. Copies have been placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what percentage of compensation awards were issued within 15 working days by the Civil Service Appeal Board following receipt of representation on contributory fault in the latest period for which figures are available. [184791]

Mr. Watson: This information can be found in Appendix 5 of the Civil Service Appeal Board's Annual Reports from 2003-04 when this performance target was introduced. These are available on the board's website at http://www.civilserviceappeal board.gov.uk. Copies have been placed in the Library of the House.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the value of compensation awards issued by the Civil Service Appeal Board was in each of the last 10 years. [184795]

Mr. Watson: Statistics for each of the last 10 years can be found in Appendix 4 of the Civil Service Appeal Board's Annual Reports. These are available on the board's website at http://www.civilserviceappeal board.gov.uk. Copies have been placed in the Library of the House.

Departmental Contracts

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the (a) objective and (b) value was of each contract placed with (i) Deloitte and Touche, (ii) Ernst and Young, (iii) KPMG, (iv) PricewaterhouseCoopers and (v) PA Consulting by his Department and its agencies in each year since 2004-05. Member for Horsham (Mr. Maude) and the hon. Member for North Norfolk (Norman Lamb) on 10 January 2008, Official Report, columns 755-6W. ## Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many ministerial residences were available to Cabinet Office Ministers in each of the last 10 years. [183186]

Mr. Watson: Official residences are assigned to Ministers by the Prime Minister either on grounds of security or in order to allow them to perform better their official duties. Rules on the use of official residences are set out in the Ministerial Code. Official residences which have been allocated to Ministers in the last 10 years are as follows:

The flats above Numbers 10 and 11 Downing street have traditionally been the residences of the Prime Minster and Chancellor of the Exchequer;

Flats 1, 2 and 3 in Admiralty House and the Government House in Pimlico have in the past been assigned to a variety of Ministers, which have included the Deputy Prime Minister, the Home Secretary, the Defence Secretary and the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. The Government House in Pimlico is no longer required and is in the process of being sold.

Departmental Security

Chris Grayling: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will list the (a) special advisers and (b) ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to his Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. Mr. Watson: Nick Coleman was asked to work on information assurance activity across government to help inform the National Information Assurance Strategy and its implementation. A discussion document was published in June 2007 alongside the national strategy. Since then he has continued his work and the final report has not yet been completed. The current cross-government review on data handling is drawing on his expertise and work to date.

Intimidation

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many cases of bullying have been reported in his Department in each of the last 12 months; [182884]

(2) whether any cases of bullying have been reported in the Prime Minister's Office in the last 12 months. [185183]

Mr. Watson: The Prime Minister's Office forms an integral part of the Cabinet Office. In order to protect the confidentiality and privacy of individuals, it is standard Government practice not to publish records relating to five or less individuals.

Ministers: Pay

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many and what percentage of Ministers have not taken the maximum ministerial salary entitlement in each of the last 10 years, broken down by Government department. [178710]

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster which public appointments for which his Department is responsible Sir Alistair Graham has held; and what total annual salary he has received in respect of such appointments in each of the last five financial years. [184563]

Mr. Watson: Sir Alistair was a member of the Committee on Standards in Public Life; a public body sponsored by the Cabinet Office, between 1 October 2003 and 25 April 2004, and was appointed Chairman with effect from 26 April 2004. As a member, Sir Alistair's time commitment was on average two days per month for which he received £180 per day. As chairman, Sir Alistair's time commitment was on average two days per week. From 26 April 2004 to 5 May 2005 he received £380 per day and from 6 May 2005 to 25 April 2007 he received £440 per day.

(b) There have been no complaints of sexual discrimination.

Social Exclusion: Elderly

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what consideration he gave to social exclusion among older people in developing (a) the Reaching Out action plan and (b) the Government's public service agreement on social exclusion. [184898]

Phil Hope: 'Reaching out: an Action Plan on Social Exclusion' and the Socially Excluded Adults PSA do not focus on older people as specific groups, but by embodying the Government's emphasis on prevention and early intervention, aim to help tackle exclusion before it begins.

The Department for Work and Pension's Later Life PSA; the Social Exclusion Task Force-funded research project analysing social exclusion amongst all age groups and the former Social Exclusion Unit report, 'A Sure Start to Later Life: Ending Inequalities for Older People', all focus more specifically on tackling existing exclusion among older people.

WALES

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many of his Department's staff retired on the grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187888]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

NORTHERN IRELAND

IRA

7. Dr. McCrea: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of the threat from dissident IRA activists. [186575]

Mr. Woodward: The recent decision by the Chief Constable to alert the public to an increased risk of dissident republican activity demonstrates that a small number of individuals continue to live in the past.

The PSNI works tirelessly to thwart the activities of those involved in criminal activity and to bring them to justice for their crimes. I have every confidence in the PSNI's ability to combat the threat they pose.

Real IRA

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of the activities of Real IRA. [186577]

Mr. Woodward: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave earlier to the hon. Member for South Antrim (Dr. McCrea).

Witness Intimidation

8. Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on the incidence of witness intimidation in Northern Ireland. [186576]

Paul Goggins: Witness intimidation, whatever form it takes, is entirely unacceptable. There were 69 recorded offences related to witness intimidation in 2006-07—a 26 per cent. fall on the previous year.

Drug Smuggling

10. Mr. Gauke: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what assessment he has made of levels of drug smuggling in Northern Ireland. [186578]

Paul Goggins: While Northern Ireland has the lowest rates of drugs misuse in the UK, we are not complacent and the Organised Crime Task Force, which I chair, will continue to tackle head on those who smuggle and deal in drugs.

Fuel Laundering

11. Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will consider bringing forward measures to introduce an offence of fuel laundering. [186579]

Paul Goggins: My right hon. Friend the Chancellor of the Exchequer has responsibility for legislation relating to revenue offences.

We are working closely with HMRC in considering the creation of an absolute offence for fuel laundering to increase the powers available in tackling this crime.

Security

12. Mr. McGrady: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what recent assessment he has made of the security situation in Northern Ireland. [186580]

Mr. Woodward: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the right hon. Member for Bracknell (Mr. Mackay).

Crime Detection

13. Miss Kirkbride: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland if he will make a statement on crime detection rates in Northern Ireland. [186581]

Paul Goggins: The Police Service of Northern Ireland continue to improve its detection of crime through intelligence led, community based policing. The detection rate in Northern Ireland for 2006-07 is 23.6 per cent.—just above that for England and Wales.

On-the-runs

14. Mr. Binley: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what Government policy is on "on-the-runs"; and if he will make a statement. [186582]

Mr. Woodward: The Government's policy on "on-the-runs" remains unchanged. We recognise the anomalous position of individuals who are still "on the run" for offences committed before the Belfast Agreement. This anomaly still needs to be addressed.

But, as my right hon. Friend the Member for Neath (Mr. Hain) made clear when he withdrew the Northern Ireland (Offences) Bill two years ago, this issue is one that needs to be considered in the broader context of how we deal with the legacy of past.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many of his Department's personal digital assistants have been (a) lost and (b) stolen in each of the last five years; and what the value of those items was. [185267]

Mr. Woodward: One personal digital assistant has been stolen in the last five years; a blackberry stolen in 2005 valued at £200.

Northern Ireland

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what steps he is taking to strengthen ties between Northern Ireland and the rest of Great Britain. [185672]

Mr. Woodward: The constitutional position of Northern Ireland is set out in the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

Following the Belfast Agreement the British-Irish Council was established to promote positive, practical relationships among its Members: the British and Irish Governments, the devolved Administrations of Northern Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and Jersey, Guernsey and the Isle of Man. The British-Irish Council offers a forum for members to discuss, consult and reach agreement on co-operation on matters of mutual interest within the competence of the relevant Administrations.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Community Development: Business

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the budget is for (a) 2007-08 and (b) each of the next four years of the local enterprise growth initiative. [187337]

John Healey: The budget for LEGI is £105 million for 2007-08, £105 million for 2008-09, £100 million for 2009-10 and £95 million for 2010-11. A decision on any funding beyond 2010-11 will be made as part of the next spending round. LEGI funding is now paid mainly through area based grant, plus additional capital sums, and settlements for each LEGI area have been published on the DCLG website.

Consent to Medical Treatment: Mentally Ill

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance her Department has issued to local authorities on the circumstances under which social services may have intimate medical examinations performed on those with mental incapacities without the consent of guardians ad litem; under what authority such examinations are performed; and if she will make a statement. [186497]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 18 February 2008]: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Bury, South (Mr. Lewis) on 18 February 2008, Official Report, columns 284-85W.

Social Housing: North-east

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps the Government have taken to improve social housing in the north-east. [181550]

Mr. Iain Wright: Since 2003, the Government have been working with all local authorities to implement the Decent Homes programme. This is being done in conjunction with new arrangements for housing management through the Options Appraisal process. The initial target was that all council homes should be improved to an agreed standard by 2010, although in some local circumstances later dates have been agreed.

In the north-east region some authorities have retained their housing stock, while others have chosen to manage their stock through arms length management organisations (ALMO) or have transferred their stock to registered social landlords as part of the large scale voluntary transfer (LSVT) arrangements.

Progress towards achieving the Decent Homes standard in the north-east region among those authorities still owning properties (either Retention or ALMO) is as set out below. For LSVT authorities who have transferred their stock, the situation is that progress to the Decent Homes standard is an integral part of their business planning process and all RSLs in the north-east indicate that they are on target to achieve the Decent Homes standard by 2010.

Recent publication of the 'New Performance Framework for Local Authorities and Local Authority Partnership' presents a set of national indicators for use in the current local area agreement (LAA) negotiations. One of these potential indicators, NI158, usefully refers to the 'percentage of decent council homes'.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Alnwick | 1,771 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Berwick-upon-Tweed | 1,933 | 77 | 77 | 3.9 | 34 |
| Blyth Valley | 6,799 | 1,585 | 165 | 2.4 | 0 |
| Castle Morpeth | 2,306 | 1,688 | 1,688 | 73.2 | 1,500 |
| Chester-le-Street | 4,331 | 2,077 | 2,010 | 46.4 | 428 |
| Darlington | 5,527 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Durham | 6,208 | 3,848 | 2,139 | 34.4 | 3,080 |
| Easington | 8,979 | 7,506 | 8,004 | 89.1 | 6,691 |
| Gateshead | 21,840 | 8,007 | 5,380 | 24.6 | 5,324 |
| Newcastle-upon-Tyne | 30,475 | 28,655 | 26,683 | 87.5 | 26,887 |
| North Tyneside | 15,952 | 9,392 | 8,614 | 53.9 | 8,350 |

| South Tyneside | 18,595 | 14,093 | 11,183 | 60.1 | 8,450 |

| LA | Total LA stock | Non-decent at 1 April 2006 | Non-decent at 1 April 2007 | Percentage non-decent at 1 April 2007 | Target for 2007 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Stockton-on-Tees | 11,108 | 4,073 | 2,642 | 23.7 | 3,251 |
| Wansbeck | 5,430 | 2,263 | 2,731 | 50.2 | 2,213 |
| Wear Valley | 4,406 | 1,696 | 1,334 | 30.2 | 660 |

Housing: Prices

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities had 15 percentile housing prices that were less than 70 per cent. of the national level at the most recent date for which figures are available. [187338]

John Healey: Based on HM Land Registry house price data for April to June 2007, there were 20 local authorities that had 15 percentile house prices that were less than 70 per cent. of the national level.

Lee Valley Regional Park Authority

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what role her Department and its agencies have in relation to supervising the actions of the Lee Valley Regional Park Authority. [182381]

John Healey: The Secretary of State has several statutory powers in relation to Lee Valley Regional Park Authority which are set out in the Lee Valley Regional Park Act 1966 (as amended). These include a power to amend the authority's constitution by order. The Secretary of State's consent is also required if the authority wishes to sell, exchange or let either land which is open space or any land for a price below best consideration.

M61: Noise

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on what basis the Valuation Office Agency decided to contest the council tax valuation decision made by Manchester North Valuation Tribunal in relation to traffic noise on the M61. [183033]

John Healey: This decision was based on the opinion that the Valuation Tribunal had made an error in law, which would prejudice the bandings of other properties.

Minerals and Waste Development Documents

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government who the statutory consultees are for the minerals and waste development documents submitted to her Department. [185233]

Mr. Iain Wright: There are no "statutory consultees" for development plan documents. Paragraph 2(a) of the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2004 only refers to "specific consultation bodies". This distinction gives mineral planning authorities the flexibility to decide which of the consultation bodies listed would have an interest in the contents of a plan, and consult only them.

The specific consultation bodies listed in paragraph 2(a) of the regulations, (which will also apply to any of them which have subsequently changed the names of their organisations) are:

"(a) in relation to a local planning authority whose area is in a region other than London, means the regional planning body and the bodies specified or described in sub-paragraphs (i) to (x);

(i) the Countryside Agency

(ii) the Environment Agency

(iii) the Historic Buildings and Monuments Commission for England

(iv) English Nature

(v) The Strategic Rail Authority

(vi) The Highways Agency

(vii) A relevant authority any part of whose area is in or adjoins the area of the local planning authority

(viii) A Regional Development Agency, whose area is in or adjoins the area of the local planning authority

(ix) Any person -

(a) to whom the electronic communications code applies by virtue of a direction given under section 106(3) of the Communications Act 2003,

and

(b) who owns or controls electronic communications apparatus situated in any part of the area of the local planning authority,

(x) if it exercises functions in any part of the local planning authority's area:

(a) a strategic health authority

(b) a person to whom a licence has been granted under section 6(1)(b) or

(c) of the Electricity Act 1989

(c) a person to whom a licence has been granted under section 7(2) of the Gas Act 1986

(d) a sewerage undertaker

(e) a water undertaker

(b) if the authority are a London borough council, means the Mayor of London and the bodies specified or described in paragraph (a)(i) to (x)."

DEFENCE

Armed Forces: Housing

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of (a) single living and (b) service family accommodation units (i) in the UK and (ii) overseas there are in each of the four condition grades. [182314]

Derek Twigg: All service families accommodation (SFA) and single living accommodation (SLA) is assessed by Grade for Charge (GfC) and most SFA is also assessed by Standard for Condition (SfC). Where SfC is a detailed measure of the physical condition of SFA, GfC is an assessment of both the physical condition of the accommodation and other factors such as location and closeness to amenities.

Currently, SFA that is measured by SfC is at the following condition:

| | S1fC | Percentage | S2fC | Percentage | S3fC | Percentage | S4fC | Percentage |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| United Kingdom | 28,103 | 59 | 17,741 | 37 | 2,105 | 4 | 120 | 0 |
| Overseas | 3,808 | 24 | 4,482 | 28 | 5,319 | 34 | 2,221 | 14 |

SLA is at the following grade:

| | Grade 1 | Percentage | Grade 2 | Percentage | Grade 3 | Percentage | Grade 4 | Percentage |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Overseas | 3,516 | 13 | 1,594 | 6 | 4,848 | 17 | 17,999 | 64 |

Over the next decade the MOD will spend over £8 billion on accommodation, including some £3.1 billion on bringing accommodation up to the top condition. This will include the delivery of some 30,000 new or improved SLA bed-spaces by 2013 and 600 upgraded SFA properties this year, 600 next year and 800 each year thereafter.

Armed Forces: Influenza

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 12 December 2007, Official Report, column 608W, on armed forces: influenza, if he will place in the Library a copy of each completed guidance note referred to in his Department's pandemic influenza contingency plan published in December 2007. [184269]

Derek Twigg: I have placed copies of the preliminary and prepare stage guidance notes of the MOD framework in the Library of the House.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 12 December 2007, Official Report, column 608W, on armed forces: influenza, when he plans to issue guidance on the development of plans for the recovery of operational capability in the aftermath of a human pandemic, as stated in paragraph 2.15 of his Department's pandemic influenza contingency plan, published in December 2007. [184296]

Derek Twigg: The generic MOD pandemic flu framework brings together activities which for the most part will be undertaken by Defence business units and operational commands so that they can put in place the necessary response arrangements before a pandemic emerges. The guidance notes being prepared to support the key tasks identified in the framework consist of one-page summaries to assist them. As the framework is a live document, whose development remains ongoing, all the guidance being developed is subject to regular review and amendment.

At the strategic level we are confident that in its current form the framework we have developed covers the key areas we need to address in the event of a pandemic. At present work on the guidance note "Recovery of operational capability in the aftermath of a pandemic" (along with other guidance notes) remains ongoing. We hope to complete this in the next few months.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 12 December 2007, Official Report, column 608W, on armed forces: influenza, by what mechanism medical treatments will be prioritised in the event of an influenza pandemic as stated in paragraph 2.8 of his Department's pandemic influenza contingency plan, published in December 2007. [184298]

Derek Twigg: MOD policy on the prioritisation of medical treatment in the event of a flu pandemic is to refer to the authoritative Department of Health guidelines (based on clinical need) and comprehensive information and guidelines to this effect have been issued by the Surgeon General to the Defence Medical Services.

Armed Forces: Medical Records

John Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the average time was for a person's medical records to be transferred to the NHS following a medical discharge from the armed forces in the last 12 months. [185990]

Derek Twigg: This information is not held.

Armed Forces: Training

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how military training schedules will be adapted to allow for athletes hosted there to use the facilities. [186665]

Derek Twigg: The number of personnel that the British Olympic Association has proposed will use the facilities at Aldershot are expected to be accommodated without disruption to military activities. Military requirements for use of training facilities will take priority.

Armoured Fighting Vehicles

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) whether the Mastiff vehicle may be carried in the future A400M aircraft; [167743]

(2) what weapon systems have been added to the Mastiff vehicle; [167744]

(3) how the (a) first and (b) subsequent Mastiff vehicles were delivered to theatre; [167745]

(4) what the (a) cost of the Cougar vehicle ex-USA is before being adapted in the UK to become the Mastiff and (b) final cost of the Mastiff is in its ready for theatre state. [167746]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Each Mastiff has been fitted with a general purpose machine gun, and either a heavy machine gun or a grenade machine gun.

All Mastiff vehicles were delivered to theatre by air. Based on the planned technical specifications we have for A400M, it will be able to carry the Mastiff vehicle.

I am withholding the cost of a Cougar vehicle as its disclosure would prejudice commercial interests. I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Woodspring (Dr. Fox) on 14 November 2007, Official Report, column 258W, about the cost of conversion to a Mastiff.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many armoured vehicles of each type are (a) required and (b) available for pre-deployment training; [186035]

(2) how many armoured vehicles of each type are (a) available to be deployed immediately, (b) undergoing repair, (c) undergoing Bowman conversion, (d) in storage and (e) being used for training purposes. [186037]

| CR2 | 4 | 19 | 10 | 76 | 226 |

Sufficient numbers of vehicles are available to meet pre-deployment training (PDT) demands.

I am withholding the information on the numbers of vehicles available for deployment as its release would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces.

Corporate Hospitality

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what procedures are in place to ensure that invitations to events received by officials in his Department from private companies are assessed using the Gifts, Reward and Hospitality Annex of the Statement of Civilian and Service Personnel Policy. [175952]

Derek Twigg [holding answer 7 January 2008]: Officials within the Ministry of Defence are required to record all invitations to events received from private companies, in a hospitality book, whether they are accepted or declined. Members of the senior civil service, service officers in command appointments and those holding staff appointments at or above one star level are required to maintain their own hospitality book. Each management area is required to maintain a hospitality book for the use of more junior officials.

Hospitality books are to be examined, at regular intervals, (at least once per year), by the appropriate director, head of division or commanding officer. Their hospitality books are in turn, inspected by staff of senior grade/rank, usually their line manager. Hospitality books are additionally subject to audit by Defence Internal Audit and the National Audit Office.

Departmental Assets

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library copies of his Department's monthly defence equipment and support (a) regular strength reports, (b) breakdown of military staff by geographic location and (c) support and supply civilian manpower reduction returns for 2007-08. [184860]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The numbers in the regular strength reports are not rounded. To avoid personal information being disclosed, only fully rounded versions can be released and this could only be achieved at disproportionate cost.

The reports at (b) and (c) have not been produced in 2007-08.

Departmental Manpower

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the departmental minute of 15 April 2005 on Manpower Data: A Need for Consistency. [185767]

Derek Twigg: I believe the hon. Member is referring to a loose minute issued on behalf of the Second Permanent Under Secretary of State dated 15 April 2005 and entitled "Manpower Data: A Need for Consistency", I will place redacted copies of the loose minute and its annexes in the Library of the House.

Gurkhas: Accommodation

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what discussions he has had with the Sultan of Brunei about the provision of married quarters for Gurkha soldiers based there; [186938]

(2) what interim financial arrangement he plans to make for Brunei-based Gurkhas who are unable to obtain a suitable married quarter there. [186939]

Derek Twigg: One battalion of Gurkhas (about 650 personnel) is permanently stationed in Brunei under the UK/Brunei Defence agreement. The rebuilding of the service families accommodation, single living accommodation and other facilities for the garrison in Brunei has been subject to negotiations within the UK/Brunei Joint Defence Committee. These detailed and constructive negotiations have been refined to take account of the improved Gurkha married accompanied service arrangements for Gurkhas, introduced in 2006, where Gurkhas with more than three years service have the same entitlement to married accompanied service as the rest of the British Army.

The development project for the garrison is proceeding in two stages, with a rolling programme providing accommodation planned for completion in 2011. The project is being paid for and delivered by the Government of Brunei, whose commitment is greatly appreciated by the UK Government.

When Gurkhas are subject to involuntary separation from their families, they are entitled to Longer Separation Allowance in accordance with the provisions of the Tri-Service Regulations for Allowances. This applies to those Gurkhas whose families are unable to join them in Brunei while the garrison development project is in progress.

National Army Museum

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) if he will request the National Army Museum (NAM) to give to all of the Regimental and Corps Museums funded by his Department (a) all reasonable access to and (b) capacity to copy any record document deposited within NAM that relates to that Regiment or Corps; and if he will make a statement; [187258]

(2) if he will place in the Library a copy of the National Army Museum's access policy; what the Museum's systems and procedures are for dealing with (a) other military, Regimental and Corps museums wholly or partly funded by the Ministry of Defence, (b) other museums, (c) historians, researchers, authors and journalists and (d) members of the public; and if he will make a statement. [187260]

Derek Twigg: I will write to my hon. Friend.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what funds his Department made available to the National Army Museum in each of the last 10 years; and how much other public funding it received. [187259]

Derek Twigg: The grant in aid for the National Army Museum over the last 10 years is as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 3,491,978 |
| 1998-99 | 3,331,047 |
| 1999-2000 | 4,129,563 |
| 2000-01 | 4,709,171 |
| 2001-02 | 4,771,935 |
| 2002-03 | 4,859,557 |
| 2003-04 | 5,516,730 |
| 2004-05 | 5,242,228 |
| 2005-06 | 4,948,258 |
| 2006-07 | 5,362,148 |

Navy: Data Protection

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many of the 600,000 people whose personal data were on the laptop recently stolen from a Royal Navy recruiting officer were (a) under 18 and (b) under 18 when they contacted the recruitment service. [181587]

Des Browne [holding answer 24 January 2008]: Of the 600,000 people whose personal data were on the laptop stolen from a Royal Navy recruiting officer, 47,537 candidate records, that have a stored date of birth, were aged under 18 on 16 Jan 2008. 167,869 candidate records, that have a stored date of birth and a stored initial contact date, were aged under 18 when the initial contact was made.

Applicants who are under 18 years of age, or are in care at the time of application, are to obtain the consent of a parent or guardian or person with parental responsibilities before the application can be considered. This consent will be required again on entry if the applicant is still under 18, or in care.

Territorial Army: Finance

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how the required saving for the Territorial Army of £2.5 million in each of the next two financial years will be achieved, broken down by activity. [187181]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer the hon. Member to the answer my predecessor gave him on 19 June 2007, Official Report, column 1769W, which set out the measures being taken in order to deliver the required £2.5 million funding reduction for the Territorial Army over the course of the current and next financial years. The effect of these measures was to be felt in three broad areas; capability, personnel and activities, including recruiting.

It was made clear that those TA units identified as not making a significant contribution to current operations would be directed to manage their recruiting so as to prevent their unit size from exceeding agreed levels. This element of the measures will be applied only in financial year 2007-08. I wrote to those hon. Members in whose constituencies the affected TA units are located in August 2007 informing them of this decision. This does not represent a change to TA recruiting policy.

OLYMPICS

Olympic Games 2012

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what representations she has received on the accessibility of (a) the Olympic village and (b) each Olympic venue. [184331]

Tessa Jowell: All the Olympic family are working to ensure the games are fully inclusive and accessible—both at games time and in legacy. Making this happen requires the best advice from accessibility experts and listening to the needs of local people.

The ODA have a published quality and diversity strategy and are currently working through the design process on the village and venues with preferred developers and contractors (where agreed). LOGOG and the International Paralympic Committee are also fully involved. This process is informed by the ODA's Access and Inclusion Forum and Access Panels (Transport and Built Environment), which includes membership from disability organisations within each of the five boroughs, as well as the borough access officers and key external stakeholders.

A design and access statement was submitted as part of the planning application in January 2007. This will underpin the design of all games venues. Access statements for each venue are being developed, with reviews conducted by the principal access officer at each building stage and with oversight by the Access Panels. Accessible transport and built environment strategies will also be published later this year.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Afghanistan: Drugs

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Cotswold (Mr. Clifton-Brown) of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 967W, on Afghanistan: drugs, if he will place in the Library a copy of the UK-funded review of the Afghan Government's national drugs control strategy and the institutional framework supporting it. [186894]

David Miliband: The UK-commissioned review of the Afghan Government's national drugs control strategy was conducted by independent consultants and the results were discussed with the Afghan Government. While some of the recommendations have been agreed and taken forward, we agreed not to pursue others. We do not publish all consultancy reports, and as some of the recommendations have not been taken forward, it would not be appropriate to put a copy of the review in the Library of the House.

Afghanistan: Police

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what research his Department has conducted into police training and readiness in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [186710]

David Miliband: Improving the capability of the Afghan police is critical to security in Afghanistan. The UK is providing policing assistance to the Afghan Government as a part of our efforts to improve governance and security. Our assistance includes the provision of specialist law enforcement experts based in Afghanistan who are working to improve the quality of the Afghan police through training and mentoring programmes. These individuals are working alongside colleagues in the European Union policing mission to Afghanistan, as well as the US Combined Security and Transition Command—Afghanistan on the development of police training.

Officials within the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) regularly receive information from these experts and organisations and also make use of internationally produced research into Afghan policing. The FCO, however, has not commissioned any specific academic research into police training and readiness in Afghanistan.

Brazil: Human Rights

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations his Department has made to Brazil on the human rights of tribal peoples in Brazil. [187045]

Dr. Howells: We have made no specific representations. The rights of indigenous people were discussed during a visit I made to Brazil in September 2007, in a meeting with Brazil's Minister for Human Rights.

Departmental Databases

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what databases are (a) owned and (b) maintained by (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies. [185414]

Meg Munn: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) uses a large number of databases. The most significant of these are managed centrally. These support activities across the organisation, such as the processing of visa applications from foreign nationals, passport issue overseas, consular assistance and financial and personnel administration.

Many others, where there is no operational need to share data, are locally owned and maintained, either by diplomatic posts overseas or departments in the UK. A survey in 2005 identified more than 1,000 of these, of varying size and complexity, holding over 1 million records supporting the full range of activities undertaken by the FCO worldwide.

There are two FCO agencies. FCO Services maintains databases to support the operational services provided to the FCO. Wilton Park keeps records relating to the conferences held there. Both also use databases in support of internal administration (such as staff records, financial data and other organisational information).

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by his Department in each of the last 10 years. [183291]

Meg Munn: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office Services home fleet of vehicles currently comprises 35 vehicles. They are all owned by the Department. Purchases for the home fleet in the last two years have been six vehicles per year. This is based upon a one for one replacement programme with an old vehicle being disposed of when the new vehicle arrives.

We are unable to provide further information on purchases for the home or overseas fleets without incurring disproportionate cost.

In respect of vehicles provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency, I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to him on 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1008W, by my hon. Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick).

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many overseas visits by officials in his Department took place in each of the last 10 years; which countries were visited; and how much was spent on such visits in each such year. [181589]

Meg Munn: It would incur disproportionate cost to collate the information requested by the hon. Member as this information is not held centrally in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office.

The Government have published on an annual basis a list of all overseas visits by Cabinet Ministers costing in excess of £500, as well as the total cost of all ministerial travel overseas. The Government's annual publication about overseas travel by Cabinet Ministers is accessible at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/propriety_and_ethics/ministers.aspx

The list includes details about the number of officials accompanying a Minister when non-scheduled travel is used for the trip. Copies of lists covering information going back to the 1997-98 financial year are also available in the Library of the House.

All official travel is undertaken in accordance with the 'Civil Service Management Code and the Ministerial Code.'

Egypt: Administration of Justice

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with the Government of Egypt over the independence of the judiciary in that country. [187246]

Dr. Howells: We regularly raise a range of rule of law and human rights issues with the Egyptian Government both bilaterally and with EU partners.

There are no plans for my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary to hold discussions on the specific subject of independence of the judiciary with the Egyptian Government. However, we look forward to this being discussed in the context of the political sub-committee established under the European Neighbourhood Policy Action Plan.

Entry Clearances: Internet

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 11 December 2007, Official Report, column 435W, on entry clearances: internet, what assessment has been made by UK visas of local needs in Sierra Leone with respect to the take-up of the Visa4UK service. [187024]

Dr. Howells: The Visa4UK online application service was introduced in Sierra Leone from 1 October 2007, following an assessment of local needs by our high commission in Freetown. This assessment took into account the infrastructure and levels of literacy in Sierra Leone and the benefits to applicants.

Equatorial Guinea: Diplomatic Service

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will establish a permanent salaried diplomatic presence in Equatorial Guinea. [186650]

Meg Munn [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Government have no plans to establish a permanent diplomatic presence in Equatorial Guinea at this point.

Non-resident diplomatic cover for Equatorial Guinea is provided by our high commissioner to Nigeria, based in Abuja, and his staff. Consular cover is provided by the British deputy high commission in Lagos and there is a British honorary consul resident in Malabo.

We believe that these arrangements are sufficient to represent UK interests in Equatorial Guinea.

Equatorial Guinea: Prisoners

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what support he has made available to the family of Simon Mann; what counselling services have been made available to Mr. Mann; which Government officials have met Mr. Mann in the last month; where those meetings took place; and what representations the Government has made to the Government of Equatorial Guinea about Mr. Mann in the last two weeks. [185729]

Meg Munn: Our consul in Harare last visited Simon Mann in prison there on 22 January.

Our deputy high commission in Lagos provides consular assistance to British nationals in Equatorial Guinea. Our consul in Lagos visited Mr. Mann in Black Beach prison on 12 February.

My noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, the right hon. Lord Malloch-Brown, met the Equatorial Guinean ambassador on 7 February and spoke to him on 11 and 12 February. The Equatorial Guinean authorities have given assurances that Mr. Mann will be treated well while in detention. They have also assured us that he will receive a fair trial in accordance with international law and will be free to appoint a lawyer.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has been in regular contact with Mr. Mann's family and his lawyers.

Eritrea: UNMEE

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of Eritrean co-operation with the United Nations Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea, with particular respect to fuel supplies. [186867]

David Miliband: We are dismayed by Eritrea's refusal to resume fuel shipments to the UN Mission in Ethiopia and Eritrea (UNMEE), or to allow it to import its own fuel. This refusal threatens UNMEE's ability to carry out its mandate. We strongly condemn Eritrea's actions in this regard.

Eritrea's action is in direct contravention of the demands of the UN Security Council (UNSC), as set out in paragraph seven of UNSC Resolution 1798, adopted unanimously on 30 January 2008, and the UNSC press statement of 4 February 2008. The UK strongly supports the UNSC's demands.

Our ambassador in Asmara emphasised the UK's condemnation of Eritrea and support for the UNSC's demands to the Eritrean Government on 14 February 2008. My noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, the right hon. Lord Malloch-Brown, did the same with the Eritrean ambassador to the UK on 18 February 2008.

European Council: Presidents

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the proposed role of the President of the European Council in representing the EU internationally. [185539]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Heads of State and Government, supported by Foreign Ministers reached agreement on all the key institutional issues in the Lisbon treaty, including the role of full-time President of the European Council, at the 2007 June European Council.

The treaty makes clear that "The President of the European Council shall, at his or her level and in that capacity, ensure the external representation of the Union on issues concerning its common foreign and security policy, without prejudice to the powers of the High Representative of the Union for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy."

The Lisbon treaty sets out in full the full-time President's broad role, but discussions on the detail have not yet started.

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had on the salary, allowances and pension of the President of the European Council under the treaty of Lisbon if ratified. [186292]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 19 February 2008]: The Lisbon treaty sets out the role of the President of the European Council. Details on salary and other job related benefits are not set out in the treaty. Discussions on these issues have not yet started.

European External Action Service

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff work in the European Council Secretariat on matters relating to the European external action service; and how many of them are on secondment from (a) the UK and (b) other EU member states. [186861]

David Miliband: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not hold information on the staffing of the European Council Secretariat. The Council Secretariat is responsible for the allocation of its staffing resources.

There are currently seven secondees from the UK working in various departments at the Council Secretariat. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not hold details of nationals from other member states currently seconded to the Council Secretariat.

Fair Trade Initiative

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his Department's policy is on the use of fair trade goods (a) in staff catering facilities and (b) at official departmental functions and meetings; and if he will make a statement. [183855]

Meg Munn: I refer the hon. Member to the reply my right hon. Friend the Member for Blackburn (Mr. Straw) the then Foreign Secretary (Mr. Straw) gave to the hon. Member for St. Ives (Andrew George) on 13 February 2006, Official Report, column 1504W. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office's (FCO) policy on the procurement of fair trade produce is to ensure that fair trade produce is available to purchase and the FCO will explore options to expand the variety of fair trade options offered for sale, within the boundaries of good procurement practice—including value for money. Tea and coffee provided for official functions are fair trade.

Gibraltar: Administration of Justice

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the suspension of the Chief Justice of Gibraltar. [186859]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 19 February 2008]: The suspension of the Chief Justice is a matter for the Governor of Gibraltar. The Governor, as Her Majesty the Queen's Representative in Gibraltar, acting in accordance with the Constitution of Gibraltar and on the advice of the Gibraltar Judicial Service Commission, has established a tribunal to consider whether the Governor should request that the removal of the Chief Justice from office be referred by Her Majesty the Queen to the Judicial Committee of Her Majesty's Privy Council. Pending the outcome of these proceedings the Governor, again acting in accordance with the advice of the Gibraltar Judicial Service Commission, has suspended the Chief Justice from his office.

Iran

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to his statement of 4 February 2008, Official Report, column 50WS, on GAERC, 28 January 2008, when the strengthening of the EU's measures in support of action by the UN

Security Council on Iran will take place; and if he will make a statement. [186704]

David Miliband: We are working closely with EU partners to ensure that the EU is ready to adopt further measures as soon as possible after the next UN Security Council Resolution is adopted. Foreign Ministers of the E3+3 (UK, France, Germany, US, China and Russia) were unanimous in their agreement on elements of a new resolution on 22 January and we hope for an early vote in the UN Security Council.

Iran: Nuclear Power

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the use of P-2 centrifuges in the Iranian enrichment programme; and if he will make a statement. [186868]

David Miliband: We are aware that Dr. Mohammad ElBaradei, Director General of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), visited an advanced centrifuge site during his visit to Iran on 11-12 January. During this visit, Iran provided some information to the IAEA about its research and development activities in relation to advanced centrifuge technology. We look forward to learning more about these developments in the next report from Dr. ElBaradei. Iran's enrichment programme has no apparent use in its civilian programme and contravenes three UN Security Council Resolutions. These resolutions require Iran to suspend all its enrichment-related activities.

Iran: Sanctions

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the economic and political impact of UN sanctions on Iran under UN Security Council Resolutions 1737 and 1747; and if he will make a statement. [186712]

David Miliband: We continuously monitor the impact of sanctions through reporting from our embassy in Tehran and other means, including the assessments of analysts across Government and key allies on this issue. We also take note of relevant publications on this topic.

Israel: Human Rights

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many times the EU-Israel Human Rights Working Group (HRWG) has met; what monitoring the HRWG has undertaken of the implementation of the human rights provisions of the EU-Israel Association Agreement; and what conclusions have been drawn from the monitoring. [187228]

Dr. Howells: Israel and the EU are committed to achieve closer political co-operation and dialogue on the basis of their common values. In November 2005, the EU-Israel subcommittee on Political Dialogue and Co-operation established an EU-Israel human rights working group. This informal working group has held two sessions on 7 June 2006 and 20 February 2007. A third is scheduled to take place on 15 April 2008. The EU-Israel subcommittee on Political Dialogue follows up the work of this informal working group. It last met to do so on 22 October 2007. The European Commission Delegation and EU member states posts in the region closely monitor the situation. Non-governmental organisations provide the EU with additional information and feedback. The situation is constantly evolving, making monitoring and assessment of it an ongoing process.

We continue to have concerns about the human rights situation in Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territories. We are particularly concerned by targeted killings of Palestinians by the Israel Defence Forces; the firing of artillery shells near populated areas of the Gaza Strip causing deaths of civilians; continued settlement construction in the west bank; the impact of the barrier; closures; settler violence; and intimidation and harassment of Palestinian citizens. We also remain extremely concerned about human rights abuses in areas where the Palestinian Authority should take responsibility, in particular its failure to prevent terrorist attacks and rocket attacks on Israeli communities from Gaza and the continuing violence between Palestinian groups. We regularly raise these concerns with the Israeli Government and the Palestinian Authority.

Pakistan: Elections

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with the Government of Pakistan on the representation of religious minority groups in the selection of candidates for the forthcoming Pakistan parliamentary elections. [187245]

Dr. Howells: In our regular contact with the Government of Pakistan at ministerial and official level, bilaterally and through the EU, we have stressed the need for free and fair elections. The elections, which took place on 18 February, were an opportunity for the people of Pakistan to exercise their democratic voice and participate fully in the process of electing their new government. The EU observer mission will report preliminary conclusions on the conduct of the elections on 20 February.

We will want to work with the new Government to help build the institutional framework necessary for a sustained democratic transition and ensure that the fundamental rights of all Pakistani citizens, particularly the most vulnerable (women, minorities and children) are guaranteed, as laid down in the constitution of Pakistan and in accordance with international human rights standards.

Foreign and Commonwealth Office officials recently met with representatives from the Centre for Legal Aid, Assistance and Settlement, a non-governmental organisation working on behalf of Christians in Pakistan, as part of our ongoing engagement with stakeholder communities. Officials remain in regular contact with them on minority religious rights issues.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by his Department in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of those penalties was in each such year. [183361]

Meg Munn: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave on 29 October 2007, Official Report, column 823W, to the hon. Member for Lewes (Norman Baker).

Parking fines incurred and paid for by the Department over the financial year 2006-07 totalled £1,750 and for financial year 2007-08 (up to end January 2008) totalled £1,610.

All of the drivers employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office Services are required to abide by the law at all times, they are held personally responsible for any speeding or other driving offences they may commit while on duty and these fines are not paid for from the public purse.

For previous years the information is not held centrally and could not be collated without incurring disproportionate cost.

In respect of vehicles provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency, I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to him on 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1014-15W, by the Under-Secretary of State for Transport, my hon. Friend the Member for Poplar and Canning Town (Jim Fitzpatrick).

Spain: Arrest Warrants

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with Spanish authorities on the decision of the courts there to seek international arrest warrants for 40 Rwandan soldiers accused of being complicit in the 1994 genocide. [186834]

Meg Munn: The issue of any such arrest warrants is a matter for the Spanish judiciary. Officials are in contact with the relevant Spanish authorities to find out more information on this matter. The execution of a European Arrest Warrant (EAW) in the UK is a judicial process based on mutual recognition between EU member states. Any EAW becomes executable when received and certified by the relevant designated authority, which is the Serious Organised Crime Agency in the UK.

Sudan: Chad

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of possible links between Sudan and rebel forces in Chad; and if he will make a statement. [186871]

David Miliband: We are aware of reports that Sudan and Chad continue to support each other's rebels. In repeated bilateral contacts with the Sudanese Government, including during my noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, the right hon. Lord Malloch-Brown's visit to Sudan on 28-31 January, we have urged Sudan to end this support. We have also supported calls by the UN and African Union to the Governments of Chad and Sudan to stop supporting each other's rebels, fulfil their obligations under the 2006 Tripoli agreement and abide by the cease-fire agreed in Libya in October 2007.

Sudan: Human Rights

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has received reports of forcible repatriation of foreign nationals resident in Sudan to countries where they are at risk of persecution. [186966]

Meg Munn: The UK has not received any official reports or representations on the forcible repatriation of foreign nationals resident in Sudan.

However, we remain in close contact with the UN High Commissioner for Refugees in Sudan who is responsible for ensuring refugees are afforded protection and treated equitably in their countries of refuge according to international human rights law.

Sudan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what support his Department has given to the United Nations Department of Peacekeeping Operations for the provision of helicopter units required by the UNAMID mission to Darfur; [186304]

(2) what estimate his Department has made of the cost of the commercial provision of the helicopter units, engineers and pilots required by the UNAMID mission to Darfur. [186306]

Meg Munn: We have lobbied a number of countries to provide helicopters for the UN-African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID). We helped to convene two meetings in New York in January between the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO) and over 20 countries to discuss helicopter provision for UNAMID. We understand Ethiopia has now offered to contribute a number of helicopters and the DPKO is following up with other potential contributing countries.

We have discussed the feasibility of commercial helicopter support with DPKO, but we have not estimated the cost of full commercial provision of the UNAMID helicopter shortfall. We remain in close contact with the DPKO and partners to discuss how we can continue to support efforts to find helicopters, as well as other support to UNAMID.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the outcome was of the recent meeting of military advisers in New York convened by the UK on helicopters for UNAMID; and if he will make a statement. [186347]

Meg Munn: We helped to convene two meetings in New York in January between the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO) and over 20 countries to discuss helicopter provision for the UN-African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID). We understand Ethiopia has now offered to contribute a number of helicopters for UNAMID. Significant shortfalls remain and the DPKO is now following up with other potential contributing countries. We remain in close contact with the DPKO and partners to discuss how we can continue to support efforts to find helicopters, as well as other support to UNAMID.

United Nations: Sanctions

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many people resident in the UK were subject to sanctions by the UN Security Council in 2002; what the average duration of those individuals' appearance on the sanctions list was; and how many individuals were removed from that list and for what reasons in that period. Dr. Howells: UK resident individuals who have been listed by the UN for sanctions are subject to an asset freeze and international travel ban. Exemptions are allowed on humanitarian grounds and in other situations as decided on a case by case basis by the UN Security Council.

Departmental e-mail

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will take steps to reduce the number of hard copies of e-mails printed by officials in his Department. [179425]

Mr. Thomas: The Department already makes use of the advantages offered by its ICT technology to minimise the amount of printed material. For example we have an effective Department wide document management system called MATRIX whereby users are able to store and retrieve e-mails for viewing online rather than printing them out. This service is available to staff whether they are in the office or working remotely. We are also planning an educational initiative for staff to remind them of e-mail best practice, one aspect of which is to minimise the hard copy printing of e-mails and attachments.

Departmental Manpower

|---|---|

[1] Financial year running from 1 April to 31 March.
[2] The Annual Performance Awards for non-SCS staff are paid on a non-consolidated, non-pensionable basis and do not increase the Department's pay-bill costs each year. For the SCS the Senior Salaries Review Body determines the level of expenditure to cover bonuses.
[3] Performance awards make up 1.5 per cent. or less of the Department's pay bill.

The agencies of BERR are Companies House and the Insolvency Service. Information on their bonus payments is an operational matter for the chief executives of BERR agencies and I have asked them to reply to the hon. Member direct. A copy of their replies will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many external contracts his Department held with public relations companies since its inception; and what the total cost of those contracts has been to date. [183195]

Mr. Thomas: My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister issued a written ministerial statement on 22 November 2007, Official Report, column 147-50WS. It gives the names of special advisers in post at 22 November 2007, the special advisers' pay ranges for 2007-08, the number of special advisers in each pay band by Department and the total pay bill cost of special advisers for 2006-07.

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will list the special advisers employed in his Department and its predecessor since 6 May 1997; and what the (a) start and (b) end date of employment was in each case. [184360]

Text messages should only be sent with the prior consent of the individual subscriber, but there is an exemption where the subscriber has given his or her mobile telephone number direct to a company in the context of the purchase of a product or service. Enforcement is undertaken by the Information Commissioner.

Post Offices: Carbon Emissions

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (1) what recent steps the Post Office has taken to reduce carbon emissions; [186801]

(2) which Post Office branches have been nominated for closure under Post Office Ltd's closure programme. [186803]

[1] Consultancy services have been identified as services commissioned by RDAs to inform the management of the agency, organisational development, strategy development, and communications and marketing. This definition does not relate to services for specific project or programme delivery (for example legal advice on land deals as part of development projects).
[2] IT systems covers hardware maintenance, internet and website charges, hardware procurement, membership and licences, other computer consumables, service level agreements, and software maintenance.
[3] LDA adopted new recording systems in 2004-05. Figures before 2004-05 are not held centrally and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.
[4] Advertising figures relate to marketing initiatives procured to promote the region.
[5] Branding figures relate to the cost of including the agency logo in publicity material relating to partnership projects (eg billboards at regeneration sites), or costs related to developing or promoting the region or agency brand. In many cases, project developers bear the cost of branding related to specific projects, as per funding agreements with the RDA involved.
[6] AWM is unable to separate marketing and branding costs within the "Marketing the Region" budget. Please refer to advertising figures.
[7] Branding figures before 2005-06 are not held centrally and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.
[8] There are no advertising figures for 2002-03 as Northumbria Tourism Board were financially responsible for tourism marketing in the region. The responsibility for tourism marketing for the entire North East region switched to ONE in 2004-05.
[9] SEEDA is unable to separate marketing and branding costs. Please refer to advertising costs.
[10] SWRDA is unable to separate the cost of project-specific marketing and branding from general marketing and branding expenditure. Please refer to advertising figures.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much was spent on office premises by each regional development agency in each of the last five years. [185197]

Mr. McFadden: The following table shows how much was spent on office premises by each RDA in the last five years.

Expenditure on office premises[1]

[1] Includes rent, rates, service charges, insurances, cleaning, utilities, security, and maintenance. Figures refer to head offices and other smaller offices from which RDA staff work throughout the region. Some RDAs own their own premises, others rent or lease accommodation. Also, in the last five years some RDAs have moved offices.
[2] From 2003, ONE took on extra responsibilities including tourism and transfer of some responsibilities from Government office. The lower costs in earlier years were a rent-free period on taking up the leases.
[4] 2006-07: rent increases at two offices together with arrears paid from April 2005.
[5] In February 2005, YF purchased the premises which it was renting. This accounts for the subsequent increase in expenditure 2005-06. As the organisation's responsibilities expanded it has rented additional office space next door to its current premises.

Regional Development Agencies: Trade Unions

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer to my hon. [184730]

Mr. McFadden: RDAs fund initiatives through a variety of third party organisations to deliver projects to increase economic growth, such as on work force development and economic inclusion. The specific focus and priorities of such activities are set out in each region's regional economic strategy and will differ according to the needs, opportunities and priorities for economic growth in each region.

The following funding has been provided by RDAs to trade unions as requested in the question.

Tourism: Expenditure

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much each regional development agency spent on tourism in each of the last three years. [187170]

Mr. McFadden: The following figures refer to spending by RDAs on core tourism and leisure objectives.

| RDAs | Expenditure on tourism (£ million)[1] 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|
| EEDA[2] | 0.6 | 0.8 | 1.5 |

| ONE[4] | 3.3 | 7.1 | 10.8 |
| SEEDA | 1.8 | 2.4 | 2.2 |
| SWRDA | 1.5 | 3 | 3.2 |
| YF | 1.7 | 2.2 | 3.9 |

[1] RDAs have also spent on activities related to tourism initiatives (such as general marketing of a region; specific regeneration projects; or human resource development) but this money has not been allocated from core tourism budgets.
[2] EEDA's business model for tourism changed significantly over this three year period, resulting in the increased level of investment for 2006-07.
[3] LDA figures include core funding to VisitLondon.
[4] ONE took over the delivery of tourism in 2004-05, which is delivered from within the agency.

Unfair Practices: Sales

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer of 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1480W, on unfair practices: sales, what guidance his Department has published on whether the Directive will apply to the purchase of a trade union membership subscription itself, where that trade union provides legal advice, or special deals for meals and training, as part of the substantive union product itself. [186186]

Mr. McFadden: The Unfair Commercial Practices Directive is unlikely to apply to a person purchasing a trade union membership subscription itself. This is because such a person is unlikely to be acting as a consumer for the purposes of the directive.

The OFT will shortly be publishing Guidance on the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008 illustrating how the regulations may apply in practice. The guidance is principally intended to help traders to comply with the regulations. It will also be of use to enforcers and consumer advisers in understanding what conduct is prohibited.

TRANSPORT

A14

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much the contract to Costain-Skanska JV for the A14 Ellington and Fen Ditton scheme was let for. [186495]

Mr. Tom Harris [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Costain-Skanska JV have been awarded an early contractor involvement (ECI) contract to design the whole of the proposed A14 Ellington to Fen Ditton improvement. Subject to statutory procedures and the meeting of performance levels stated in the contract, Costain-Skanska JV will construct the Fen Drayton to Histon section of the scheme. The contract value for this section is £314.5 million.

The construction of the Ellington to Fen Drayton and Histon to Fen Ditton sections of the scheme will be subject to separate tendering and contract award procedures upon completion of the statutory processes.

Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England

Mr. Boris Johnson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what level of noise according to the findings of the most recent Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England (ANASE) report would create the same level of community annoyance as 57dBA was reported to have created in the 1986 ANASE report. [171803]

Jim Fitzpatrick: While the Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England (ANASE) study indicates that it is highly probable that annoyance with a particular level of aircraft noise is higher than found in the 1985 Aircraft Noise Index Study, the ANASE study shows no evidence of a threshold at which people become very much more annoyed.

In terms of making quantitative comparisons between the results from ANASE and the earlier ANIS study, expert peer reviewers of the ANASE study advised that > "reliance on the detailed outcome of ANASE would be misplaced" and that they would

> "counsel against using the detailed results and conclusions from ANASE in the development of Government policy".

Although the report does not provide evidence for increasing or reducing the figure of 57 dBA Leq (16 hours) as the onset of significant community annoyance we believe it is right that we retain this as a safeguard for those who are most affected by aircraft noise. In the 'Future of Air' Transport White Paper the Government gave a commitment that further development of Heathrow could only be considered if it resulted in no net increase in the total area of the 57 dBA noise contour compared with summer 2002, a contour area of 127 sq km. That commitment stands and the ability to meet it is a key consideration in the current consultation on adding capacity at Heathrow.

Additionally, as we announced when the ANASE study was released, pending the availability of a better alternative we will apply existing valuation for road and rail noise when assessing the economic impact of noise in the cost-benefit analysis of future aviation projects. We have taken this approach in the case of Heathrow consultation.

The findings from ANASE suggest that further work would be useful in a number of areas. As a first step the Department has recently chaired a meeting of the Air Noise Monitoring Committee (ANMAC) whose role is to advise the Department on policy relating to aircraft noise. The Department is working with the committee to prioritise further research and produce a programme or work.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what account she plans to take of her Department's Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources study on aircraft noise in formulating policy. [170694]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England (ANASE) study provided a better understanding of the complex issues surrounding aircraft noise although as the peer reviewers made clear it does not give sufficiently robust figures on which it would be safe to change policy. The Department for Transport is in the course of evaluating and considering the recommendations made for further research.

The study makes clear that there is no particular threshold of noise at which people become very much more annoyed. In addition, the report does not provide evidence for increasing or reducing the figure of 57 dBA Leq (16 hours) as the onset of significant community annoyance. However we believe it is right that we retain this as a safeguard for those who are most affected by aircraft noise. As a first step the Department has recently chaired a meeting of the Air Noise Monitoring Committee (ANMAC) whose role is to advise the Department on policy relating to aircraft noise. The Department is working with the committee to prioritise further research and produce a programme or work.

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether she has included the result of the Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England in the assumptions underlying data shown in the Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport public consultation document; and if she will make a statement. [173110]

Jim Fitzpatrick: While the Attitudes to Noise from Aviation Sources in England (ANASE) study indicates that it is highly probable that annoyance with a particular level of aircraft noise is higher than found in the 1985 Aircraft Noise Index Study, the ANASE study shows no evidence of a threshold at which people become very much more annoyed.

In addition, the report does not provide evidence for increasing or reducing the figure of 57 dBA Leq (16 hours) as the approximate onset of significant community annoyance. However we believe it is right that we retain this as a safeguard for those who are most affected by aircraft noise. ### Aviation: Emissions Trading

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what (a) research and (b) discussion has been conducted or is planned by her Department on the role of emissions trading within the aviation industry; and what representations have been received by her Department on this matter. [181616]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Government support for emissions trading for the aviation industry was outlined in the 2003 Future of Air Transport White Paper. Since then, policy development has continued to be informed by further research and discussion. The Department has engaged with a broad range of stakeholders, including the aviation industry, on emissions trading and its evidence base, and we will continue to do so both in Europe and in our work in the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO).

Aviation: Noise

Mr. Gummer: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which authorities are responsible for (a) measuring and (b) enforcing limits on aircraft noise. [185036]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department has overall responsibility for aircraft noise policy. The 'Future of Air Transport' White Paper set out our key aim to limit and where possible reduce the number of people in the UK significantly affected by aircraft noise.

Prior to entry into service, the noise levels generated by any aircraft design are measured by the applicant/manufacturer and then approved by a certificating authority. With regard to the UK, the approving authority is the European Aviation Safety Organisation (EASA), except for light propeller aircraft and microlights where the UK Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) retains responsibility. Certification noise limits are set by the International Civil Aviation Organisation (ICAO), the most recent 'Chapter 4' noise limits for large aircraft were introduced on the 1 January 2006.

The Department is responsible for specific noise mitigation measures at Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted airports. At other airports, noise restrictions may be imposed voluntarily by the airport operator or by local planning conditions/agreements. However the Civil Aviation Act 2006 introduced explicit statutory powers for non-designated airports to make noise control schemes and to impose penalties for non-compliance.

In terms of measuring noise, aircraft noise contours for Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted using the Leq metric are produced annually for the Department by the Civil Aviation Authority (CAA).

Under the European Environmental Noise Directive 2002/49/EC, all major airports have been required to produce noise maps for 2006, based on the Lden metric. These maps were published on the website of the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA) on 18 December 2007. Responsibility for implementation of the directive in England falls to DEFRA.

As far as aircraft noise is concerned away from the vicinity of airports, I refer the right hon. Member to my answer to his question of 18 February 2008, Official Report, columns 140-41W. This sets out the process for deciding on any airspace changes.

Bicycles: Safety Measures

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps have been taken following the review in 2001-02 of the regulations dealing with safety standards for pedal cycles; and if she will make a statement. [187017]

Jim Fitzpatrick: A public consultation on bicycle safety standards took place in 2001-02. Following this review the Department for Transport introduced The Pedal Bicycles (Safety) Regulations 2003 (Statutory Instrument 2003 No. 1101) and revoked the previous Pedal Bicycles (Safety) Regulations.

British Transport Police: Expenditure

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much the British Transport police spent on border security and enforcement in each of the last three financial years. [186422]

Mr. Tom Harris: This information is not held by the Department for Transport but by the British Transport police who can be contacted at: British Transport Police, 25 Camden Road, London NW1 9LN, e-mail: parliament@btp.pnn.police.uk

Departmental Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what audits her Department and its agencies carried out of their data and IT equipment in each of the last 10 years. [176648]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Audits are principally carried out independently of line management by Internal Audit functions at the Department for Transport (DfT) and its agencies. Line management also performs audits and other checks, including those performed as part of systems accreditation processes.

Since the DfT came into being in May 2002 its Internal Audit group has performed over 100 audits that have included evaluations and tests of management's systems of internal control over data and IT equipment. These internal audits form part of annual Internal Audit plans which are subject to the approval of the DfT and Agency Audit Committees. Internal audits typically focus on areas of greatest risk or on ensuring compliance with appropriate standards and controls. The results of internal audits are communicated to line management and reported to the DfT and agency Audit Committees.

Records of internal audits performed are not maintained centrally but are kept locally by each of the Department's Internal Audit functions. Because of the decentralised nature of management responsibility for data and IT equipment within Agencies, specific record-keeping arrangements for management audits and checks vary between Agencies and are not maintained centrally.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which organisations which have been asked to protect sensitive data on behalf of her Department and its agencies, met the SAS 70 or equivalent standard prior to receiving the information. [176935]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Statement on Auditing Standards (SAS) No. 70 is an auditing standard issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. It contains the professional standards for auditors to report on the controls of a service organisation.

A SAS 70 report is primarily an auditor-to-auditor communication and is designed to provide information and assurance to the auditors of the financial statements of user organisations to enable those auditors to obtain an understanding of the service organisation's internal control.

Organisations do not, therefore, "meet" the standard, although reports issued under the standard contain the auditor's opinion on control objectives and activities. The standard is not specifically designed as a data privacy or security audit mechanism, although it has applicability in these areas. The standard is recognised in Europe.

Although SAS 70 audits may have been performed at the Department's external contractors, the Standard does not specify a pre-determined set of control objectives and activities that service organisations must achieve. HMG has its own detailed manuals and guidelines for controlling data security, and the data exchanged with the Department's contractors should have been subject to those control standards.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport who in her Department is responsible for ensuring that all issues which are categorised by data security audits as requiring attention are managed quickly and effectively. [176936]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The relevant Accounting Officer is ultimately responsible for addressing audit issues. Individual issues are typically assigned to a named individual or relevant manager who will be responsible for ensuring that issues are managed in accordance with appropriate action plans and due dates included in audit reports.

The Department's Internal Audit group has follow-up procedures where appropriate to confirm that issues have been addressed. Audit Committees maintain oversight of Internal Audit follow-up procedures.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether her Department and its agencies retain a list of issues arising out of each data security audit. [176937]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Issues identified during internal audits are reported to management responsible for the business area subject to the audit. Line managers are responsible for implementing actions to address recommendations arising from the audit, and should maintain lists of issues to enable them to do so. Because these responsibilities are decentralised across the Department and its Agencies, a standard management process for the retention of lists of audit issues centrally has not been adopted. Audit reports retained by management may, however, effectively fulfil this purpose.

The Department's internal audit group maintains its own records of audit issues. Because the functions within the group are aligned to individual Agencies, standardised retention periods for lists of audit issues have not been adopted. Individual issues may be maintained on lists until the relevant issue has been cleared or may be retained longer dependent upon local custom and practice.

Lists of issues arising from audits and other checks performed by management, such as accreditations, may not be maintained if there is limited benefit to doing so once the issue has been resolved.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which companies her Department and its agencies have engaged to conduct audits of data security processes. [176940]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department's internal audit group has contractual arrangements with third party partners who are able to provide technical expertise to assist with data security audits. These partners are typically either recognised national or international auditing firms or smaller specialist auditing practices. Companies or firms who have provided resource in this capacity include Deloitte and Touche, Grant Thornton, Bentley Jennison, Insight Consulting, Hayes, and Square 1.

Other organisations employed by Department and agency line management to perform audits of data security processes include Fleet Support and Commissum.

Departmental Publications

Mr. Randall: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what public information booklets were published by her Department in 2007; and what the (a) print run and (b) cost to the Department was in each case. [185798]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department and executive agencies produce a range of guidance that is disseminated to the general public covering advice on issues such as road safety, taxation of vehicles, learning to drive and concessionary bus fares.

Information on the print run and cost of each individual item produced in 2007 is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Driver Vehicle Licensing Authority: Data Protection

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many parking enforcement companies received personal information from the Driver Vehicle Licensing Authority database after requesting a hard copy of this information in the latest 12 months for which figures are available. [185687]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency database does not record parking enforcement companies as a separate category supplied with hard copy data under reasonable cause provisions. This information is not therefore available.

Driving Tests: Standards

Kelvin Hopkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many times non-delegated driving examiners in the Driving Standards Agency were tested in 2007; [186688]

(2) how many delegated examiners there are working for the Driving Standards Agency; and how many delegated examiners were tested by the Driving Standards Agency in 2007; [186689]

(3) how many PSV/HGV tests were carried out by (a) delegated and (b) Driving Standards Agency examiners in 2007; and how many and what percentage of these resulted in the candidate passing in each category. [186690]

| | Driving examiners employed by the Driving Standards Agency | Driving examiners employed by fire and police authorities and bus and coach operators |
|---|---|---|
| Number of driving examiners | [1]1,989 | [2]265 |
| PCV tests conducted | 10,357 | 9,701 |
| PCV tests passed | 5,109 | 5,781 |
| Percentage pass rate | 49.3 | 59.5 |
| LGV tests conducted | 73,725 | 1,611 |
| LGV tests passed | 33,826 | 1,230 |
| Percentage pass rate | 45.9 | 76.3 |
| Number of supervised driving tests[3] | 13,815 | — |
| Number of examiners receiving supervisory visits | — | [4]45 |

[2] Only 209 examiners conducted a test in 2007.
[3] Car, lorry, motorcycle and bus practical driving tests. Each examiner has several supervisory tests during a 12-month period.
[4] More than one supervised driving test may be conducted during the visit to each driving examiner and each supervised examiner may have received visits on more than one occasion.

Kelvin Hopkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the arrangements for quality assurance in relation to delegated examiners and driving examiners in the Driving Standards Agency will be merged. [186691]

Jim Fitzpatrick: From 1 July 2008, all driving examiners employed by the Driving Standards Agency (DSA) and all driving examiners employed by fire and police authorities and bus and coach operators will be subject to a programme of a minimum six driving tests per year where the examiners performance will be observed and assessed by a more senior member of staff. There will be the provision for additional supervision where performance indicates a requirement.

Unsatisfactory performance will result in the examiner undergoing remedial training. In the case of continued unsatisfactory performance, the authority to conduct tests may be withdrawn (in line with DSA procedures).

Additionally, driving examiners, whether employed by DSA or the other organisations will receive independent quality assurance visits from members of the chief driving examiner's team.

Freight: Industrial Health and Safety

Janet Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road traffic accidents resulting in fatalities caused by heavy goods vehicles carrying unstable loads of scrap metal occurred in each of the last five years. [187846]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is not available.

Itis Holdings

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what payments her Department and its agencies have made to Itis Holdings in the last 36 months. [184648]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport and its agencies have made payments totalling £3,472,125, including VAT, to Itis Holdings plc between 1 February 2005 and 31 January 2008.

Motor Vehicles: Excise Duties

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many successful prosecutions the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency secured against motorists failing to pay vehicle excise duty in each of the last 10 years. [184958]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The number of successful prosecutions in magistrates courts for unlicensed vehicle excise duty offences (section 29) for each financial year is as follows:

| April to March | Number |
|---|---|
| 1999-2000 | 204,606 |
| 2000-01 | 203,773 |
| 2001-02 | 223,047 |
| 2002-03 | 229,846 |
| 2003-04 | 234,924 |
| 2004-05 | 189,441 |
| 2005-06 | 142,055 |
| 2006-07 | 103,108 |

The total number of prosecutions for the first 10 months of 2007-08 is currently 69,847.

Section 29 vehicle excise duty offences are identified by police and local authorities. Since the introduction of continuous registration (CR) enforcement from the record in March 2004, these reports have gradually decreased. Since 2004-05, in addition to the achieved prosecutions in the table, the following number of evasion cases have been successfully settled out of court:

| April to March | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 317,482 |
| 2005-06 | 425,698 |
| 2006-07 | 391,708 |

The total number for the first 10 months of 2007-08 is currently 381,980.

Motorcycles: Parks

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what measures are in place restricting motorbike use in public parks. [187363]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Use of motorcycles on roads in public parks which are designated public highways will be subject to the road traffic Acts as set out in The Highway Code. Use of motorcycles on other roads, or elsewhere within a public park, may be subject to park regulations, which will be a matter for the relevant local authority.

Motorcycles: Public Footpaths

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what her policy is on the use of motorbikes on public pathways. [187362]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Rule 145 of The Highway Code makes it clear that it is illegal to drive or ride any vehicle on or over a pavement, footpath or bridleway, except to gain lawful access to property, or in the case of an emergency. Enforcement of the law is a matter for the police.

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many complaints were made on the improper use of public pathways by motorbike users in the last 12 months. [187364]

Jim Fitzpatrick: None.

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many accidents were reported due to the improper use of public pathways by motorbike users in the last five years; [187365]

(2) how many accidents have occurred within the last 12 months due to improper use of public pathways by motorbikers. [187366]

Jim Fitzpatrick: No information is available on accidents off the public highway.

The numbers of reported personal injury road accidents involving at least one motorcycle in Great Britain in 2002 to 2006, by vehicle location on the public highway are shown in the table.

Number of accidents

| Vehicle location | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| On main carriageway | 28,478 | 28,389 | 25,711 | 24,781 | 23,377 |
| Footway (pavement) | 151 | 141 | 154 | 202 | 160 |
| Tram rail track or bus lane/way[1] | 129 | 126 | 141 | 142 | 113 |
| Cycleway[1] | 27 | 34 | 56 | 45 | 42 |
| Lay-by or hard shoulder | 38 | 28 | 37 | 37 | 42 |

[1] Only when the lane is on the public highway

These data show the number of accidents involving at least one motorcycle and at least one casualty. They do not indicate the cause of the accident, including whether or not the location of the motorcycle was a contributory factor.

Roads: Accidents

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) deaths and (b) injuries occurred on roads in (i) Cornwall and (ii) England in the most recent year for which data is available, broken down by age. [187173]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The numbers of (a) deaths and (b) injuries resulting from reported personal injury road accidents in (i) Cornwall and (ii) England in 2006 by age of casualty are shown in the table.

[2] Includes cases where age of casualty is not reported

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the accident cluster sites are in (a) the St Edmundsbury Borough Council area and (b) the Mid Suffolk District Council area. [187605]

Jim Fitzpatrick: There is no standard definition for an accident cluster site. The assessment of local accident cluster sites is a matter for the relevant local highway authorities.

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road traffic (a) accidents and (b) fatalities occurred on the A14 in Suffolk between the hours of 8pm and 8am in each year since 1997; and how many road traffic (i) accidents and (ii) fatalities occurred in Suffolk between the hours of 8pm and 8am in each year since 1997. [187612]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The numbers of reported personal injury road accidents and the resulting fatalities on the A14 in Suffolk, and in Suffolk, between the hours of 8 pm and 8 am in each year from 1997 to 2006 are given in the table.

| | A14 in Suffolk | | Suffolk | |

Roads: Finance

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which road building projects will be (a) cancelled and (b) delayed due to the budget overrun at the Highways Agency; and if she will make a statement. [186152]

Mr. Tom Harris [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Highways Agency (HA) is currently re-estimating the costs of its roads programme following the recommendations of the Nichols Review. The Department for Transport and the Highways Agency are also studying the scope for more advanced traffic management solutions.

We will consider the national element of the HA major roads programme up to 2014 once this work is completed, and an announcement will be made in the spring. Until then it is not possible to say what the implications will be for particular schemes.

Regional HA major roads schemes and their timings are considered within the regional funding allocation process.

Rolling Stock

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the Written Statement of 30 January 2008, Official Report, columns 18-20WS, on rolling stock, how many of the 1,300 extra carriages referred to in the White Paper, Delivering a Sustainable Railway, will be (a) new rolling stock and (b) a re-deployment of existing rolling stock. [184194]

Mr. Tom Harris [holding answer 4 February 2008]: There will be a net increase of 1,300 new train carriages. The rolling stock plan, published on 30 January details indicative figures for the number of additional carriages each train operating company will receive. Some of these train carriages will be new; some will be freed up from other train operating companies (TOCs). Some TOCs will order more trains so that they can move some of their existing carriages to other TOCs. The table at appendix B of the Rolling Stock Plan shows how many extra carriages each TOC will receive as a result of these moves.

The final mix between new and cascaded stock will be determined after detailed discussions with individual TOCs.

Shipping: Equality

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when she expects the Government to respond to its recent consultation on proposals to amend Section 9 of the Race Relations Act 1976. [187214]

Jim Fitzpatrick: A summary of the responses to the consultation has been published on the Department for Transport website and has been placed in the Libraries of the House. During the course of the consultation, further issues for consideration were raised. We will be in a position to announce the Government position and timetable for amendment as soon as we have analysed the options in the light of these new points.

Transport

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what discussions her Department has had or plans to have on the causal processes and mechanisms responsible for (a) past and (b) potential future modal shifts between air transport and other modes of transport for (i) passengers and (ii) freight on (A) domestic and (B) international flights; and what representations have been received on this matter. [181617]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport regularly has discussions with and receives representations from stakeholders on matters relating to air transport. The Department also examines a range of evidence to inform its policymaking, and it is aware of a number of reports of particular relevance to modal shift between air transport and other modes, including:

"To shift or not to shift, that's the question: the environmental performance of the principal modes of freight and passenger transport in the policy-making context", a report produced for the Dutch National Institute of Public Health and the Environment by CE, Delft, March 2003

"A Comparative Study of the Environmental Effects of Rail and Short-haul Air Travel", a report produced for the Commission for Integrated Transport by AEA Technology and the Civil Aviation Authority, September 2001

"High Speed Line Study", an appraisal conducted for the Strategic Rail Authority by WS Atkins, October 2004.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Members: Pay

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Leader of the House which Back-Bench Members receive pay and emoluments from the Members' vote in addition to their basic salary. [188087]

Helen Goodman: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Leader of the House on 24 January 2008, Official Report, column 2144W. A total of 65 hon. and right hon. Members are currently paid an additional salary from within the Members estimate. This total comprises 31 select committee chairmen, 31 members of the Chairmen's Panel (a reduction of one from the figure applicable at the time of the answer of 24 January) and three Deputy Speakers. (The total excludes Members in receipt of a salary under the Ministers and Other Salaries Act 1975.)

Members: Training

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Leader of the House if she will make it her policy to make available to hon. Members training in correlation, significance and statistical analysis. [186955]

Helen Goodman: Members may use their Incidental Expenses Provision to pay for appropriate training. Members are responsible for setting up and organising such training, and may submit claims accordingly.

A procurement exercise is currently being undertaken to re-let the contract for this service, which has to date been provided by WWP Training Ltd.

No such training is currently provided, although if there were sufficient demand it would be possible to investigate provision of such training under the terms of the contract.

Parliamentary Questions: Members Interests

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Leader of the House if she will bring forward proposals for a mechanism by which oral and written parliamentary questions can be asked and answered in relation to the rules on the declaration and registration of hon. Members' interests; and if she will make a statement. [186858]

Helen Goodman: I have no plans to do so. Within the overall framework set by the House, the content and interpretation of the rules relating to the declaration and registration of hon. Members' interests are matters for the Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards and the Committee on Standards and Privileges.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what estimate he has made of the total volume of carbon emissions from his Department's estate in each year since 2005. [185464]

Mr. Malik: The Department for International Development has made the following estimates of carbon emissions from the UK estate since 2005:

| | Carbon emissions $CO_2$ (tonnes) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 4,072 |

Fairtrade Foundation: Finance

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what funding his Department gave to the (a) Fairtrade Foundation and (b) the Fairtrade Labelling Organisation in each of the last three years; how much funding he plans to allocate to these organisations in the next three financial years; and if he will make a statement. [184483]

Mr. Thomas: Over the last five years DFID has committed nearly £1 million to the Fairtrade Foundation (FTF). The annual breakdown is shown as follows:

| | Commitment to the Fairtrade Foundation (£) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 264,169 |
| 2006-07 | 296,795 |
| 2007-08 | 413,103 |

We have not provided any funding directly to the Fairtrade Labelling Organisation (FLO).

We are currently discussing future funding with the FTF and FLO as the international umbrella organisation for fair trade labelling. We remain committed to expanding the fair trade sector and will consider favourably proposals that arise as a result of the strategic review.

Nicaragua: Overseas Aid

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much the UK gave in (a) bilateral aid and (b) contributions to EU aid to Nicaragua in each of the last three yeas; and how much is planned to be given in the next three years. [187135]

Mr. Malik: Information on UK aid to Nicaragua is available in the DFID publication "Statistics on International Development 2007". This publication is available online at www.dfid.gov.uk. Relevant figures are reproduced in the following tables.

Table 1: UK total bilateral gross public expenditure (GPEX) on development to Nicaragua: 2004-05 to 2006-07

| | Total GPEX (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 7,582 |
| 2005-06 | 4,160 |
| 2006-07 | 5,098 |

Table 2: Imputed UK share of multilateral official development assistance (ODA) 2003 to 2005

£000

| | EC | UN | World Bank | Other multilateral | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 5,845 | 373 | 15,668 | 1,392 | 23,278 |
| 2004 | 5,862 | 466 | 3,053 | 460 | 9,841 |
| 2005 | 4,682 | 481 | 4,822 | -185 | 9,800 |

Although Nicaragua will be classed a middle income country in 2008, we will maintain our programme at £4 million per year, switching from funding to the Government to providing support through other channels, including civil society.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines have been issued for vehicles used by his Department in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of those penalties was in each such year. [183358]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) currently uses five vehicles provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency (GCDA). I refer to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick) on 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1015W, with respect to these vehicles.

DFID has used one other vehicle for official purposes which was in use until 6 December 2007. This vehicle has not incurred any fixed penalty tickets in the last 10 years.

We do not keep central records of vehicles used by our overseas offices and could not provide information on them without incurring disproportionate cost.

Timor Leste: Overseas Aid

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much international aid and development funding was given to East Timor in 2006-07; and if he will make a statement. [187937]

Mr. Malik: The forum for international aid reporting is the Development Assistance Committee (DAC) which publishes official development assistance (ODA) figures on a calendar year basis. The international aid figures for East Timor for 2006 are shown in the following table:

Official development assistance for 2006

| | East Timor (£ million) |
|---|---|
| UK ODA | 2.29 |
| Other bilateral donors ODA | 92.42 |
| Multilateral donors ODA | 19.26 |
| Total ODA | 113.97 |

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Mineral Water

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much the Prime Minister's Office has spent on mineral water in each of the last three years. [187670]

Mr. Watson: The Prime Minister's Office forms an integral part of the Cabinet Office.

This information is not separately identified in the Cabinet Office accounts and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

V

Tim Loughton: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the budget of v has been in each year since its establishment; and how many (a) staff and (b) whole-time equivalent staff are employed by v. [186804]

Phil Hope: The amounts budgeted for v by the Office of the Third Sector since its launch in May 2006 are given in the following table:

|---|---|---|
| Grant funding | 18,143,000 | 39,077,100 |
| Match funding | 7,500,000 | 8,029,358 |
| Total | 25,643,000 | 46,907,792 |

At the end of January 2008 v had 30 staff, the full-time equivalent of 29.2 staff.

Voluntary Work: Young People

Tim Loughton: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what estimate he has made of the number of under 18 year olds who have volunteered on a regular basis in each of the last five years. [186805]

Phil Hope: The last full year figures for number of 16 to 17-year-olds who have volunteered on a regular basis (at least once a month in the previous year) is in the following table:

England, 2001, 2003, 2005: Regular volunteering—at least once a month

Percentage

|---|---|---|---|
| Formal volunteering | 29 | 30 | 33 |
| Informal volunteering | 37 | 53 | 47 |
| All volunteering | n/a | n/a | 60 |

Source:
Citizenship Survey

In the 2003 Citizenship Survey results also showed that 63 per cent. of 11 to 15-year-olds in England and Wales had given help (not regular volunteering) to clubs, groups or organisations in the previous year.

TREASURY

Child Benefit: Personal Records

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when the data disc was sent by HM Revenue and Customs to Standard Life containing details of personal pension contributions; when it was discovered to be lost; and when this loss was reported to Ministers. [171492]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 6 December 2007]: The CD containing information for Standard Life left HMRC's office on 25 September 2007. Standard Life should have received the disc by 27 September but reported that it had not arrived. The courier confirmed to HMRC that the CD was lost on 15 October. A submission on the incident was sent to the Financial Secretary on the same day.

HMRC then informed the Information Commissioner and wrote, with Standard Life, to all customers affected.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how the Office of Government Commerce measures the cost effectiveness of departmental websites and online services. [187014]

Angela Eagle: OGC monitors the effectiveness of its own website and online activities through regular review and analysis of usage statistics, which informs OGC's ongoing activity in this area. OGC does not have responsibility for monitoring the cost-effectiveness of other Departments' websites or online services.

The Central Office of Information is leading work to standardise the collection of audited figures for departmental website usage. This is to be followed by a second phase of work to standardise the way in which website costs are calculated. Taken together, these two pieces of work will enable departments to assess the cost effectiveness of websites and online services for which they are responsible.

Departmental Surveys

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when the results of this year's HM Treasury staff survey will be published; and if he will place a copy of the report in the Library. [187183]

Angela Eagle: We can confirm that the results from the 2007-08 HM Treasury's staff survey will be published on its website in due course.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much revenue was generated by each (a) 0845 and (b) 0870 telephone code used for customer enquiry lines by his Department's agencies in each of the last five years. [183954]

Angela Eagle: The UK Debt Management Office (DMO), HM Treasury's only agency, has generated no revenue from the operation of 0845 or 0870 telephone codes in the last five years. The DMO uses some 0845 telephone numbers but not for income generation purposes.

Tax Allowances: Voluntary Organisations

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the impact which the 10,000 mile 40 pence a mile tax ceiling for volunteer car drivers has on the voluntary sector. [188016]

Angela Eagle: The Chancellor keeps the statutory tax free mileage allowance rates for employees under review and considers changes and their impact on all drivers in the context of the Budget and pre-Budget report statements.

As I explained on 12 November 2007 in my reply to my hon. Friend's earlier question on this subject, there is no upper ceiling on mileage payments for volunteer car drivers. HMRC allows volunteers to use the approved mileage allowance payment (AMAP) rate for convenience, but it is not mandatory and volunteer drivers can claim tax relief for the full cost of motoring by completing a return, if they wish to do so.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Cemeteries

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on what date the Health and Safety Executive last provided guidance to local authorities on health and safety with regards to gravestones and memorials. [184699]

Mrs. McGuire: The Health and Safety Executive has provided advice and guidance on health and safety with regards to gravestones and memorials in a number of forms over the years. The last was on 8 March 2007 when Sir Bill Callaghan, former chair of the Health and Safety Commission, was co-signatory to a letter to all chief executives of District and London borough councils and Unitary Authorities, Clerks of Town and Parish Councils and Clerks of Joint Burial Authorities. The purpose of this letter was to remind authorities of the duties they have to manage the risks associated with unstable memorials, but in doing so, to adopt a proportionate approach which reflects the actual risk.

Child Support Agency: Dismissal

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people who worked for the Child Support Agency have been fired for gross incompetence since the agency was established. [172985]

Mr. Plaskitt: The administration of the Child Support Agency is the matter for the chief executive. He will write to the hon. member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty, dated 20 February 2008:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many people who worked for the Child Support Agency have been fired for gross incompetence since the agency was established. [172985]

The Department introduced a new personnel computer system incrementally from November 2006, being fully implemented by April 2007. The information provided in the table below reflects data recorded on that system for the number of staff dismissed because of their attendance record on grounds of sickness and gross misconduct. Information is not available from this system prior to April 2007. The Department has never used a category of gross incompetence although it does have one that would relate to unsatisfactory work. However, there are no recorded dismissals in this latter category since the new system was introduced.

|---|---|
| Gross misconduct | 6 |
| Unsatisfactory attendance | 103 |
| Total | 109 |

There were 10,010 people employed by the Agency as at the end of December 2007. I hope you find this answer helpful.

Child Support Agency: Repayments

Ian Stewart: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when the constituent of the hon. Member for Eccles (CSA Ref. 321022527924) will receive the refund and consolatory payment which the hon. Member was informed would be paid by 14 December 2007; and whether the level of consolatory payment will acknowledge the continuing delay in progressing the case. [183906]

Mr. Plaskitt: The administration of the Child Support Agency is the matter for the Chief Executive. He will write to my hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty, dated 20 February 2008:

In reply to your recent parliamentary question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and pensions when the constituent of the hon. Member for Eccles (CSA Ref. 312022527924) will receive the refund and consolatory payment which the hon. Member was informed would be paid by 14 December 2007; and whether the level of consolatory payment will acknowledge the continuing delay in progressing the case. [183906]

As details about individual cases are confidential I have written to you separately about this case.

I hope you find the answer helpful.

Children: Maintenance

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what plans he has to strengthen the obligation on absent parents to notify the Child Support Agency of a change of circumstances including a salary increase; [187344]

(2) what obligation exists on absent parents to notify the Child Support Agency of a change of circumstances including a salary increase. [187345]

Mr. Plaskitt: At present there is no obligation for a non-resident parent to notify the Secretary of State of a change of circumstances unless a Deduction from Earnings Order (DEO) is in place. In these cases the non-resident parent is required to notify the Secretary of State if there has been a change of their employer. We are considering changes that would require the non-resident parent in those circumstances also to inform the Secretary of State of any new employer and salary details.

For the future scheme, we intend largely to base the assessment process for statutory child maintenance arrangements on the latest available gross income data from HM Revenue and Custom (HMRC) with annual reviews to keep maintenance liabilities up-to-date. Either parent will be able to ask for maintenance to be adjusted if the non-resident parent's income has increased or decreased by 25 per cent. or more compared to the HMRC figure on which the assessment is based. There are no plans to require non-resident parents to report changes in salary other than where there is a DEO in force.

However, subject to parliamentary approval of the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Bill, non-resident parents will in future be required to notify the Commission of a change of address. The Commission will not need to make a specific request to the non-resident parent for this information—the requirement will be ongoing. Failure to co-operate will be an offence, punishable upon summary conviction by a fine of up to £1,000.

Children: Poverty

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the impact on child poverty of the requirement placed on lone parents to meet child care and travel costs in full under the jobseeker's allowance regime to be introduced for lone parents whose youngest child is 12 years of age. [187028]

Mr. Timms: There has been no specific assessment of the requirement placed on lone parents to meet child care and travel costs in full under the jobseeker's allowance regime. A full impact assessment of the changes, including impacts on child poverty, announced in Ready for Work was published in "Ready for work: full employment in our generation—impact assessment" in December 2007 which is in the Library.

However, lone parents who have genuine reasons, or good cause, for not complying with their obligations to look for, or take up, work will not be penalised. Good cause could include a variety of reasons depending on the circumstances of the individual. For example, problems with child care, illness of themselves or their children or their child care support, transport difficulties, unforeseen family circumstances, domestic violence or relationship breakdown could all be considered as a good cause. However, this will not be a general 'opt-out' for those who would prefer to be on benefits.

Community Care Grants: Homelessness

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the mode length of time in respect of each (a) benefit delivery centre and (b) other processing site, for the processing of Social Fund community care grant applications to the (i) initial decision, (ii) internal review, (iii) application and (iv) final decision stage was in the most recent period for which figures are available. [181518]

Mr. Plaskitt [holding answer 24 January 2008]: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, Lesley Strathie. I have asked her to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Lesley Strathie, dated 20 February 2008:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question about what the mode length of time was for each benefit delivery centre and processing site for the processing of Social Fund Community Care Grant applications to the initial decision, internal review, application and final decision stage in the most recent period for which figures are available. This is something which falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

Information is available only for initial decisions.

The most common clearance times (mode) for Community Care Grant applications in November 2007 are given in the table.

2. Numbers are based on applications cleared in November 2007, not on applications received during that month.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Mr. Denis Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Freedom of Information requests his Department has received in each year since 2005; and how many of those requests have been refused. [183797]

Mrs. McGuire: The Government have published two annual reports that contain statistical information about how many requests have been received by monitored bodies (including central Government Departments) and how many have been refused.

These reports can be found at the following address:
http://www.foi.gov.uk/reference/statisticsAndReports.htm

Data are currently being collated across monitored bodies in order to produce the 2007 Annual report and Q4 Monitoring report, however, Q1-Q3 Monitoring reports of 2007 can be found at the following address:
http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/freedomofinformationquarterly.htm

Employment Schemes: Lone Parents

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions for what reasons payment of the £60 per week in-work credit for lone parents was deemed to be incompatible with the employment retention and advancement pilot operating in north east London. [183620]

Mrs. McGuire: The north east London district was one of the six Jobcentre Plus districts that participated in the Employment Retention and Advancement Demonstration project (ERA), which operated between October 2003 and November 2007.

ERA was evaluated using a random assignment research method and customers in the six districts were allocated on a voluntary basis to either a group that received the ERA service, or to a control group that did not. The impact of the programme was determined by comparing the subsequent behaviour and outcomes of both groups. It was not possible to offer the in-work credit to customers in the districts participating in ERA until the programme was complete without invalidating the evaluation.

Retention payments were a key component of the support offered to ERA customers, together with other financial and non-financial support. If customers had been eligible to receive the in-work credit payment in addition to ERA, it would not have been possible to identify which effects resulted from receiving ERA, and which resulted from receiving the IWC. This form of evaluation is dependent on the two groups being identical in every aspect other than receiving the programme being tested, so it was not possible to offer the IWC to the control group alone.

The in-work credit was made available in the north east London district from January 2008.

Fair Trade Initiative

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his Department's policy is on the use of fair trade goods (a) in staff catering facilities and (b) at official departmental functions and meetings; and if he will make a statement. [183848]

Mrs. McGuire: In line with Government policy, the Department is committed to fair trade and ethical supply routes.

The Department's Facilities Management partner, Land Securities Trillium (LST) provides in house catering services where premises allow. Ethical procurement practices are a key factor in the contract.

Where practicable, LST purchases sustainable produce for sale on departmental premises. Fair trade tea and coffee is standard for official receptions and meetings.

LST is actively working with the Fairtrade Foundation to develop its fair trade product offer and support the marketing of fairtrade products.

Gases: Industrial Health and Safety

Mr. Breed: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions for what reason the Health and Safety Executive records the names of those killed by (a) carbon monoxide and (b) other gas poisoning. [186698]

Mrs. McGuire: This information arises from data on gas related carbon monoxide poisoning incidents collected by the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) under the Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations 1995, which contribute to HSE's published annual statistics. The use of names prevents double counting where information on the same incident is inadvertently provided from two sources.

Industrial Health and Safety: Influenza

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 8 January 2008, Official Report, column 435W, on industrial health and safety: influenza, what obligations there would be on employers under health and safety legislation in the event of an influenza pandemic. [184220]

Mrs. McGuire: In any such event, employers will continue to have the obligations required of them under health and safety legislation.

Jobcentre Plus

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the impact on Jobcentre Plus staff resources of the introduction of (a) employment and support allowance and (b) the jobseeker's allowance regime for lone parents whose youngest child is 12 years of age. [187027]

Mr. Timms: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, Lesley Strathie. I have asked her to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Lesley Strathie, dated 20 February 2008:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question asking what assessment he has made of the impact on Jobcentre Plus staff resources of the introduction of (a) Employment and Support Allowance and (b) the Jobseeker's Allowance regime for lone parents whose youngest child is 12 years of age. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

The resource requirements for Employment and Support Allowance (ESA) have been assessed in order to inform post filling and learning and development plans. Based on this assessment of the net effect of replacing existing processes with ESA processes, there will be no need for an increase in staff resource. Following implementation the impact on resource will be evaluated further.

The introduction of the Jobseeker's Allowance regime for lone parents whose youngest child is 12 will involve some very minor changes in the total resource required to deal with this group. These will be taken into account, alongside other business changes, in the overall resource planning for 2008/09.

I hope this is helpful.

Jobcentre Plus: Chard

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what discussions were held with Somerset county council before the announcement of the closure of Chard Jobcentre; if he will publish all the responses to the consultation on the future of Chard Jobcentre; and if he will make a statement; [181774]

(2) what meetings his officials held with representatives of Somerset county council on Chard Jobcentre before its closure was announced; and if he will make a statement. [182546]

Mrs. McGuire: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus, Lesley Strathie. I have asked her to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Lesley Strathie, dated 20 February 2008:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your questions asking what discussions were held, and what meetings his officials have had, with Somerset county council before the announcement of the closure of Chard Jobcentre Plus, and if he will publish all responses to the consultation on the future of Chard Jobcentre Plus. This is something which falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

There have been no formal meetings on this issue with the county council prior to the closure announcement.

The District Manager for Dorset and Somerset wrote to Somerset county council on 17 May 2007 regarding the proposed changes to the Jobcentre Plus network in Dorset and Somerset. The letter invited comments on the proposal.

The District Manager received no direct response from the county council. However, on 28 June 2007 the council wrote to the Personal Adviser Manager, Yeovil Jobcentre Plus, expressing their opposition to the proposed closure of both Burnham-on-Sea and Chard Jobcentre Plus offices.

In their letter the county council did not request a meeting for discussions and did not include any proposals. Their letter was included in the submission to the Minister.

During the consultation period, the Somerset Jobcentre Plus Partnership Manager, attended a number of meetings also attended by Somerset county council, where the issue was raised on an ad hoc basis. No formal discussions have taken place and the Partnership Manager encouraged comments to be made formally, so they were contained in the submission to the Minister.

During a local area agreement meeting on 15 January 2008, Somerset county council stated if the outcome of the review was to close Chard Jobcentre Plus Office they would give consideration to working with Jobcentre Plus to promote flexible service delivery. Nothing formal has been received from Somerset county council.

The District Manager wrote again on 17 January 2008 informing the county council of the decision to close the Chard office and deliver our services from our larger Taunton site. This included an invitation to the county council to provide any other solutions following the closure of the Chard office.

We are currently working with partner organisations to establish flexible service delivery in the form of a job point and customer access phone in Chard town, as well as an appointment led work focused advisory service on a demand led basis. We will continue to promote the use of e-channels to access Jobcentre Plus services. The Jobcentre Plus Partnership Manager is planning to meet with the county council shortly.

I have attached a copy of all the responses received in the consultation on the future of the Chard Jobcentre Plus office copies will be placed in the House of Commons Library. I have deleted the names and address of the correspondents in accordance with data protection guidelines.

I hope this is helpful.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Appeals

John Hemming: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many applicants for jobseeker's allowance have received payments reduced by 20 per cent. while undertaking appeals; and if he will estimate the effect on the public purse of these reductions. [185014]

Mr. Plaskitt: Where a person claims jobseeker's allowance (JSA) while they have an ongoing appeal against the removal of incapacity benefit, JSA is paid at the full personal allowance rate, no benefit penalty is applied, but they will not receive any disability premiums unless they qualify for them on alternative grounds.

If they claim income support while they have an ongoing appeal against the removal of incapacity benefit, a 20 per cent. benefit penalty is applied to the personal allowance.

If on appeal the decision is overturned, benefit will be restored in full from the appropriate date.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Lone Parents

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the impact on lone parent families of the sanctioning and hardship regime applicable to jobseeker's allowance claimants. [187030]

Mr. Timms: There are already a number of lone parents claiming jobseeker's allowance (JSA) rather than income support who are able to meet the conditions for receipt of JSA and make use of the help available to get back to work.

We believe the JSA framework is sufficiently flexible to ensure that sanctions will only apply where absolutely necessary and we will ensure that Jobcentre Plus advisers use that flexibility to support lone parents as they make the transition to JSA.

At the start of their claim, lone parents will establish a jobseeker's agreement setting out what they will do to get work tailored to their circumstances. Any restrictions agreed between the jobseeker and their adviser on availability and actively seeking work will be included in the jobseeker's agreement. Advisers will also ensure claimants are treated sympathetically when they experience difficult circumstances, for example, lone parents who claim benefit for the first time because of a break-up of a relationship or bereavement.

In "Ready for work: full employment in our generation" we announced that we would amend regulations to increase Jobcentre Plus adviser discretion so that a lone parent who is claiming jobseeker's allowance will not be penalised if they leave a job, or fail to take up a job, because appropriate affordable child care is not available. We will also ensure that at least one attempt is made to contact all parents by telephone it they do not attend their fortnightly jobsearch review. If contact is not made by the customer, a letter will be sent to their home address telling them that if they do not contact Jobcentre Plus within five working days their entitlement to benefit will end or a sanction will be imposed.

We are currently reviewing the hardship regime as it applies to parents in receipt of JSA to ensure that it is appropriate for them and supports the Government's objectives to reduce child poverty.

Members: Correspondence

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he expects to answer the letter to his predecessor dated 21 December 2007, from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton with regard to Ms N. Mubarak. [185054]

Mrs. McGuire: I can confirm that a response to this letter was issued my right hon. Friend on 5 February 2008.

National Insurance: Bedfordshire

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many new national insurance numbers have been issued to people in (a) Bedfordshire and (b) South West Bedfordshire constituency in each of the last three years for which figures are available. [184027]

Mr. Plaskitt [holding answer 1 February 2008]: Information on the total number of new national insurance numbers issued is not available at the levels requested.

North East

Bill Etherington: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many full-time equivalent civil servants were employed by his Department in (a) Sunderland, (b) Tyne and Wear and (c) the North East region in each year since 2000. [183720]

Mrs. McGuire: The Department for Work and Pensions was formed in June 2001 bringing together the former Department of Social Security and Employment Service. Information on the number of full-time equivalent Civil Servants employed by the Department in (a) Sunderland (b) Tyne and Wear and (c) the North East region at 31 March each year following its formation is in the following table. The figures are also included as at 31 December 2007, the latest available.

| | Sunderland | Tyne and Wear | North East Region |

Pensioners: Personal Income

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners in (a) Milton Keynes and (b) England and Wales receive an income of £217.80 per week or less. [178614]

Mr. Plaskitt: This Government's policies have been highly effective in tackling pensioner poverty.

Between 1996-97 and 2005-06 the proportion of pensioners in relative income poverty has fallen by over a third, with over one million older people being lifted out of relative income poverty.

Relative income poverty is measured as household income net of taxes and housing costs below 60 per cent. contemporary median income. In 2005-06 this stood at the equivalent of £108 for a single pensioner. This is a widely recognised, longstanding definition used for understanding low income pensioners.

Between 1996-97 and 2005-06 the proportion of pensioners living in absolute income poverty has fallen by around three quarters, with more than 2 million older people lifted out of absolute poverty. Absolute income poverty is measured as household income net of taxes and housing costs below 60 per cent. contemporary median income in 1998-99. In 2005-06 this stood at the equivalent of £88 per week for a single pensioner. This is also a widely recognised, longstanding definition used for understanding low income pensioners.

The following table shows the number of pensioner units with income below £217.80 (deflated to the respective year's prices) based on both gross income and net income (before taking into account housing costs).

The number of pensioners receiving an income of £217.80 per week or less in Milton Keynes is not available. The closest available information is for pensioner units in the south east region, based on combining three year's data from 2003-04 to 2005-06.

Pensioner units with income below £217.80 (deflated to respective year's prices), averaged over the years 2003-04 to 2005-06

|---|---|---|
| England and Wales | 2,400,000 | 3,000,000 |

Notes:
1. Gross income is income from all sources received by the pensioner unit, including income from social security benefits, earnings from employment, any private pension, and tax credits.
2. Net income before housing costs is gross income less income tax payments, national insurance contributions, contributions to occupational and private pension schemes, local taxes, maintenance and child support payments, and parental contributions to children living away from home.
3. Based on survey data and as such subject to a degree of sampling and non sampling error.
4. All figures are rounded to the nearest 100,000.
5. Due to the small sample sizes involved, three year's data have been combined and the threshold has been deflated to the appropriate year's prices.
6. A pensioner unit is either a single person over pension age or a couple in which at least one person is over pension age.

For reference, on average over the three year period there were 1,100,000 pensioner units in the south east and 7,100,000 in England and Wales.

Social Security Benefits

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many backdating claims on the grounds of good cause were awarded for periods longer than three months for (a) housing benefit, (b) council tax benefit and (c) pension credit in each of the last five years, broken down by region; what proportion of total claims for each benefit they represented in each year; and if he will make a statement; [184451]

(2) what the (a) total cost to his Department and (b) average payment to claimants was of backdating claims on grounds of good cause that were awarded for periods longer than three months for (i) housing benefit, (ii) council tax benefit and (iii) pension credit in each of the last five years. [184452]

Mr. Plaskitt: The information requested is not available.

Pension credit does not use a good cause rule when determining if a person was eligible from an earlier point in time to the date of claim.

Prior to April 2007, no information was collected from local authorities on the amount of backdating paid out to housing benefit and council tax benefit claimants.

Following the introduction of a new data source this information will become available in the future. However, currently there is insufficient data to be able to estimate the amount spent on backdating.

Social Security Benefits: Employment

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether the better off in work credit to be piloted by Jobcentre Plus is planned to take account of the cost of school meals in determining whether a claimant is better off in work. [187029]

Mr. Timms: The introduction of our new better off in work credit (BWC) will allow us to assure qualifying customers that if they move into full-time employment their income from work, including in-work benefits, will be at least £25 a week more than the income they received from out of work benefits.

No additional costs incurred by the movement into work, including the cost of school meals, will be taken into account in calculating whether a customer qualifies for the BWC.

Social Security Benefits: Marriage

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many claimants received benefits for more than one wife in the latest period for which figures are available. [187263]

Mr. Plaskitt: The information is not recorded centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Social Security Benefits: Polygamy

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what reviews he has conducted of the payment of benefits to claimants in polygamous marriages; what guidelines have been issued in respect of payment of benefits and polygamous marriage; what benefits are payable; what estimate he has made of (a) the number of individuals affected and (b) the cost of payments; what consultations have been carried out, including consultations with other Government departments; and if he will make a statement. [185245]

Mr. Plaskitt: The current rules for paying benefits to people in polygamous marriages have been in place since 1988. In November 2006 we asked officials to look at the social security benefit rules in place for the treatment of valid polygamous marriages and consider whether any changes were needed. As part of that process the Department consulted other Departments with an interest, such as the Home Office, Treasury, HM Revenue and Customs and the then Department for Constitutional Affairs. The conclusion was that the current arrangements were the best possible.

Contributory benefits are generally not payable where the claimant has more than one spouse. In the income related benefits, subject to entitlement conditions being met, the claimant is entitled to receive the couple rate of benefit for themselves and one spouse, and the difference between the couple and single rate for each additional spouse.

In Great Britain, polygamy is only recognised as valid in law in circumstances where the marriage ceremony has been performed in a country whose laws permit polygamy and the parties to the marriage were domiciled there at the time. In addition, immigration rules have generally prevented the formation of polygamous households in this country since 1988.

We do not collect data on the number of people in a valid polygamous marriage claiming a social security benefit. Information could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Winter Fuel Payments: North West Region

Mark Hunter: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make an assessment of the adequacy of the winter fuel allowance in light of increasing fuel prices; and if he will make a statement. [181494]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 24 January 2008]: Fuel prices rise and fall in response to market conditions. Between 1996-97 and 2005-06 pensioners' incomes increased by 29 per cent. in real terms, compared with a 15 per cent. real terms increase in utility bills between 1996-97 and 2006.

The winter fuel payment is worth £200 for households with someone aged 60 to 79 and £300 for households with someone aged 80 or over. Winter fuel bills account for around 60 per cent. of the annual fuel bill. The winter fuel payment provides a significant contribution towards the higher cost of winter heating bills covering around half of the average older person's winter fuel bill.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Dentistry: Training

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the average number of hours of clinical training received by dental students was in each of the last 10 years. [183826]

Bill Rammell: Since 1990 dental students have been required to undertake four years clinical training each comprising a minimum of 46 weeks per annum. Information on the hours of training that the students received is not held centrally.

Departmental Publicity

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the cost has been of re-branding his Department following the change in name from the Department for Education and Skills. [162103]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 12 November 2007]: We have used the in-house expertise of our Executive agency the Intellectual Property Office for advice on creating a visual identity for DIUS as a new Department. Where necessary (for specific design work) they have used a specialist agency already on their roster, the cost of which was £12,041 excluding VAT.

Departmental Visits Abroad

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department spent on overnight accommodation for Ministers overseas in the last year. [171334]

Mr. Lammy: Details of the cost of overseas travel, including the cost of travel and accommodation are contained in the Overseas Travel by Cabinet Ministers list. The latest list for the period 1 April 2006 to 31 March 2007 was published on 25 July 2007. Details for the 2007-08 financial year will be published as soon as possible after the end of the financial year. All travel is made in accordance with the ministerial code.

English Language

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department has spent on English language classes for staff in the last year for which figures are available. [177435]

Mr. Lammy: The Department does not provide or fund English language classes for staff.

The Department has signed and is committed to the Government Skills Pledge to encourage and support all staff to achieve at least a full level 2 qualification. Some element of this support may in a few cases include supporting the attainment of basic literacy. This is provided via local colleges and incurs no direct cost to the Department.

Erasmus

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills which UK universities (a) have bid for and (b) hold Erasmus University Charters. [181083]

Bill Rammell: All UK universities, except the University of Buckingham, Edge Hill University and the University of Northampton, possess an Erasmus University Charter. The University of Buckingham and the University of Northampton have now applied to the European Commission for a Charter.

Higher Education: Admissions

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what guidance his Department has issued to higher education institutions on keeping places available for those students waiting for their A-level papers to be re-marked. [163550]

Bill Rammell: Admissions are a matter for individual higher education institutions (HEIs) who, as independent bodies, have discretion over their own admission policies and procedures. The Department does not therefore issue guidance in this area.

The Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS) have told us that HEIs which are members of the UCAS scheme will keep a place open for an applicant, in the event of a missing or queried exam result, up to 31 August unless an earlier date has been agreed.

Latest published figures on the number of inquiries about results and appeals are available on the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority website at: http://www.qca.org.uk/qca_10312.aspx The Department does not collect information on the number of HE admissions affected by those inquiries and appeals.

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what guidance he has issued on inclusion of information about the university experience of their parents by applicants to universities. [173381]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 11 December 2007]: The inclusion of an optional question relating to parental education on the UCAS application form was the result of a decision taken by the UCAS Board, which the Government do not sit on. That decision followed the independent Schwartz review of fair admissions to higher education, which found that it was fair and appropriate to consider contextual factors as well as formal educational achievement, given the variation in learners' opportunities and circumstances. We fully support the move to provide more contextual information to admissions officers and believe such information may help HEIs monitor the effectiveness of their widening participation initiatives. The Government have not issued any guidance on this matter.

Higher Education: Vocational Guidance

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of changes made by universities in their provision of careers guidance following Sir Martin Harris's review in 2001. [170437]

Bill Rammell: The primary responsibility for implementing the recommendations of the Harris Report lies with the Association of Graduate Careers Advisory Services. However the Government take a keen interest in this area and in the progress made. I was pleased to note that a recent survey[1] found that three and a half years after graduation 85 per cent. of respondents reported being satisfied with their career to date.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills when he expects to reply to the letter of 27 September from the hon. Member for Beaconsfield. [163948]

Bill Rammell: I replied to the hon. Member's letter of 27 September on 23 October.

Mr. Winnick: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills when he expects to reply to the letter from the hon. Member for Walsall, North of 26 November 2007 on a constituent. [178323]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 14 January 2008]: I replied to my hon. Friend's letter of 26 November on 11 January.

New Local Government Network: Finance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what payments have the (a) Learning and Skills Council and (b) Learning Skills network made to the New Local Government Network in the last 24 months. [176675]

Bill Rammell: The Learning and Skills Council has contracted for payments of £56,417 to the New Local Government Network within the last 24 months.

The Learning and Skills Network is an independent not-for-profit organisation. Information on the payments that it makes is not held centrally.

Science: Admissions

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many students were admitted to a UK university to study an undergraduate course in (a) physics, (b) chemistry, (c) biology, (d) engineering and (e) computer science in each of the last 10 years. [168298]

Bill Rammell: The latest available information for students entering full and part-time courses is given in the first two tables. Figures for 2006/07 will be available in January 2008.

A new classification for recording subject of study was introduced in 2002/03 and so figures from 2002/03 onwards are not comparable to earlier years.

Recent figures for students obtaining places on full-time undergraduate courses via UCAS are shown in the third table.

Student Wastage

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the drop-out rate amongst students in England studying for a first degree was in the most recent period for which figures are available. [161942]

Bill Rammell: The performance indicators in higher education, published by the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA), include an indicator of projected non-completion. The proportion of UK-domiciled entrants to full-time first degree courses at English higher education institutions, who were projected to neither obtain an award nor transfer to another institution, was 13.8 per cent. in 2004/05. This is the latest available figure and is the lowest value this indicator has taken since the performance indicators were introduced.

The 2005/06 figure will become available in 2008.

According to figures published by the OECD, the overall completion rate for Type A (first degree equivalent) courses in UK universities and colleges of higher education is amongst the highest in the OECD countries.

Students: Autism

Mike Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what plans he has to assist young people with autism and Asperger's syndrome to gain access to higher education. [180094]

Bill Rammell: The Government provide support for disabled people applying to higher education (HE) and while they are in HE, this will include young people who are on the autistic spectrum. The Aimhigher Programme, for which the Government have recently announced a continuation of funding for a further three years, provides outreach activities aimed at increasing participation among under-represented groups, including disabled people.

The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) provides funding to institutions to support disabled students through the mainstream disability funding stream—£12.9 million in 2006/07. We also provide funding directly to students through disabled students' allowances (DSAs), which can help to remove the obstacles that prevent disabled students and students with specific learning difficulties from entering and completing higher education courses. In 2005/06, we provided approximately £78.8 million to 35,600 students. In July 2007, we announced that from 2008/09 the maximum amounts of the non-medical helpers' allowance (for undergraduates) and the postgraduate allowance will be increased by around 60 per cent.

These increases will mean that:

The maximum amount of the DSA for non-medical helpers will increase from £12,420 in 2007/08 to £20,000 in 2008/09 for full-time students and from £9,315 in 2007/08 to £15,000 in 2008/09 for part-time students.

The maximum amount of the DSA for postgraduate students will increase from £5,915 in 2007/08 to £10,000 in 2008/09

DSAs are provided to students in addition to the standard student support package. They are not means tested and also do not have to be repaid.

Students: Science

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps the Government has taken to increase the numbers of students studying science based degrees. [164037]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 15 November 2007]: The Government's policy is to increase the number of people leaving schools and colleges with the appropriate qualifications to enable them to take a science-based degree. This includes Government support for activities that help enthuse young people about science and scientific careers. For example the Department funds the Science and Engineering Ambassadors scheme, run by STEMNET, through which individuals work with teachers in schools and colleges.

There are some encouraging signs that the Government's overall policy is starting to work. According to the most recent UCAS figures for 2007 entry published on 17 October 2007, there have been increases in acceptances for first degrees at UK universities as follows: physics (+10.3 per cent.), chemistry (+8.8 per cent.), biology (+3.3 per cent.), maths (+9.2 per cent.); combined maths/computer science (+16.5 per cent.); combined medical/biological/agricultural sciences (+10.0 per cent.); chemical engineering (+12.3 per cent.), civil engineering (+9.9 per cent.) and mechanical engineering (+4.3 per cent.). These figures include EU and international students.

University Lecturers: Women

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps the Government has taken to recruit more women as university lecturers since 1997. [164038]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 15 November 2007]: The responsibility for recruiting staff lies with higher education institutions (HEIs), as the employers. However, we have instituted a number of measures to support higher education institutions (HEIs) in this area. Through the Rewarding and Developing Staff initiative, we have supported HEIs in developing their human resource capability—recruitment and retention, and equal opportunities were two of the six priority areas.

We launched the Athena SWAN Charter in 2005 to address the low representation of women within science, engineering and technology (SET) in HEIs. The charter is funded by the Equality Challenge Unit (which is responsible for supporting HEIs to help them improve their equality practice) and the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills through the UK Resource Centre for Women in Science, Engineering and Technology (UKRC). The charter encourages universities and research institutions in the recruitment, retention and progression of women lecturers and researchers within SET. 26 universities have signed up to the charter and this year saw the first gold award made—to the chemistry department, university of York—to recognise that institution's high achievements in this area.

There has been a rising trend in the number of women academics working in higher education. In 2005/06, 41.9 per cent. of academics in UK HE institutions were female, compared to 32.9 per cent. in 1996/97.

Teachers: Science

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what funding is available for qualified secondary school teachers to study undergraduate courses in (a) chemistry, (b) physics, (c) biology and (d) mathematics; and how many people (i) applied for and (ii) received such funding in each of the last five years. [175256]

Mr. Lammy: There will be more opportunities for qualified secondary school teachers in higher education as a result of the 2 per cent. a year real terms increase in funding for HE over the next three years. While we will be progressively redistributing about £100 million of institutional funding away from those studying second degrees and other HE qualifications at an equivalent or lower level in order to support more first time entrants to HE, subjects like chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics will continue to attract institutional funding when taken as a second undergraduate degree. This will allow Universities and Colleges to continue charging home fee rates for these subjects.

Qualified secondary school teachers who hold an honours degree are not eligible for fee and living costs support under the Student Support Regulations for a second undergraduate degree in chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics. However, qualified secondary school teachers who do not hold an honours degree may be eligible for fee and living costs support for an undergraduate degree in these subjects. Information is not available on the numbers of qualified secondary school teachers applying for and receiving student support specifically for chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics undergraduate courses in each of the last five years.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Children: Homicide

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what estimate he has made of the number of children who were killed at the hands of parents or carers in the last 12 months. [186824]

Mr. McNulty: I have been asked to reply.

Available data from the Homicide Index relate to offences currently recorded as homicides in England and Wales as at 12 November 2007, and the requested information was published in 'Homicides, Firearm Offences and Intimate Violence 2006/07' (Home Office Statistical Bulletin 03/08, page 14 and table 1.04).

During 2006-07 there were 33 homicides recorded where the victim was aged under 16 and the relationship to the principal suspect was 'son/daughter' (which includes step- and adoptive-children, and children of the suspect's cohabitant or lover). Cases with a relationship category of 'carer' cannot be identified.

Class Sizes

Mr. Allen: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children of (a) five, (b) six and (c) seven years of age were taught in classes of more than 30 children in (i) 1997 and (ii) 2007. [187306]

Jim Knight: The available information covers pupils at key stage 1 and is given in the table.

Number and percentage of key stage 1 pupils in classes of 31 or more taught by one teacher in: maintained primary schools in England

|---|---|---|
| Number of pupils | 476,820 | 23,210 |
| Percentage of all pupils | 29.0 | 1.7 |

Departmental Responsibilities

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families when he expects the Implementation Review Unit to report on the work of his Department; and if he will make a statement. [187189]

Jim Knight: The Implementation Review Unit issue an Annual Report each year and have done so since they were established in 2003. Their most recent report, for 2007, can be found on their website at:

www.iru.org.uk

Education: Families

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he is taking to encourage schools to provide more opportunities for family learning. [165034]

Beverley Hughes: [holding answer 19 November 2007]: Family learning programmes strengthen families, promote community cohesion and support our commitment to embedding a culture of learning across all levels of society. The wide-ranging consultation on Informal Adult Learning announced by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills, on 15 January, will help ensure that these popular and high quality programmes can be further developed and strengthened to meet the needs of the whole community.

We are working with colleagues in the Department for Children, Schools and Families to enable more adults and children to access extended schools facilities. Schools provide language, literacy and numeracy support as well as other activities that can help engage adults in learning, especially those from marginalised communities and others who need particular help in taking a first step on the progression ladder.

It is for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families to encourage schools to provide more opportunities for family learning, and parents, carers and other adults will benefit from those facilities being made more widely available. The Children's Plan published in December 2007 committed an additional £30 million over the next three years to provide more family learning.

Faith Schools: Islam

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families regarding how many Muslim schools OFSTED has raised concerns with his Department in the last five years. [185398]

Ed Balls: Maintained and independent schools, including those designated as Muslim schools, are inspected by OFSTED on a regular basis. There are currently nine Muslim schools open in the maintained sector. Since 2005, when the three year cycle of inspections was introduced, six have been inspected and all judged by OFSTED to be satisfactory or better in terms of their overall effectiveness. The other three were opened since September 2006 and will be inspected, as usual, in the second year of operation. In the independent sector there are 115 Muslim schools of which 83 have been inspected since 2003, with inspections at a further 18 schools scheduled this school term. The remaining schools were all opened since September 2003 and were inspected against independent schools standards before opening and will be inspected again in due course, as part of the three-year cycle of inspections which OFSTED will commence in the summer term. Inspection reports, which are published on OFSTED's website, provide an overview of provision in all inspected schools, detail of whether or not the statutory standards for independent schools are met where appropriate and include recommendations for improvement.

On one occasion OFSTED referred a specific concern raised with it about a Muslim school to the Department. The case was investigated and found to have no substance.

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what arrangements are in place for the inspection of independent Muslim schools. [185401]

Ed Balls: All independent Muslim schools are currently inspected by OFSTED against standards set out in the Education (Independent School Standards) (England) Regulations 2003, as amended. These cover the quality of the curriculum and teaching; the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of pupils; and their health, safety and welfare. Reports of independent school inspections are published on the OFSTED website.

The Bridge Schools' Inspectorate (BSI) has recently been approved in principle to undertake inspection of around 110 independent schools affiliated to the Christian Schools Trust (CST) and the Association of Muslim Schools UK (AMSUK). BSI inspections will assess schools against the same statutory criteria as OFSTED and its inspectors will also assess the religious ethos of CST and AMSUK schools. Any inspection work BSI carries out will be monitored by OFSTED, which will produce a published annual report on its performance.

Home Education

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils were home educated in each year since 1997. [187167]

Jim Knight: The requested information is not collected centrally.

Primary Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families which local authorities have been asked to submit their primary school strategies for change before June; and what deadlines apply in each case. [185335]

Jim Knight: To date, the Department has not invited any authorities to submit primary strategies for change before the 16 June deadline.

Pupils: Disadvantaged

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of children (a) entitled and (b) not entitled to free school meals obtained (i) five or more GCSEs at grades A*-C and (ii) five or more GCSEs at grades A*-C including English and mathematics in each year since 1990; and if he will make a statement. [187141]

Jim Knight: The available information is given in the following table.

Proportion of pupils achieving 5 A-C grades at GCSE by free school meal status, 2002 to 2007*[1]

[1] Figures for 2002 to 2004 are based upon pupils aged 15 whereas figures from 2005 onwards are based upon pupils at the end of Key Stage 4.

[2] Includes pupils with unclassified Free School Meal status.

The percentage achieving 5 A*-C grades including English and Mathematics has only been published since 2005.

Figures have been taken from the Statistical First Release 'National Curriculum Assessment, GCSE and Equivalent Attainment and Post-16 Attainment by Pupil Characteristics, in England' which has been published annually by the Department since 2002. The latest figures, for 2007, are at:

http://www.dfes.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000759/index.shtml.

Figures for earlier years are not available split by free school meal status as this was first collected at pupil level on the School Census in 2002.

Pupils: Per Capita Costs

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to his Department's Green "Paper Raising Expectations", what he expects the additional expenditure per pupil to be on education after 2013. [184025]

Jim Knight: Per pupil expenditure figures for 2013 will not be available until the next spending review announcement. Total per pupil funding has more than doubled from under £2,500 in 1997-98 to £5,600 in 2007-08. The next three years will see per pupil funding rise by almost 20 per cent. in cash terms to over £6,600 by 2010-11.

Schools: Bureaucracy

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what targets his Department has set to reduce the burden of administration in schools; what progress his Department has made against those targets; and if he will make a statement. [187190]

Jim Knight: The Department has not set any specific targets to reduce bureaucracy in schools. However, we have said in our 2007 Simplification Plan (published December 2007), that we will work towards the Government's target to reduce our administrative burdens by 25 per cent.

Schools: Milton Keynes

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what changes have been made to the capital programme for (a) new schools and (b) extensions to existing schools within Milton Keynes unitary authority area since 30 October 2007, broken down by (i) school and (ii) expected completion date. [187179]

Jim Knight: The Department allocates capital funding to local authorities and schools, and relies on them to prioritise how this should be spent. It expects local authorities and schools to prepare their own asset management plans which set out how resources from the Department, and other resources available locally, should be used. It does not maintain central records of changes made to Milton Keynes or other authorities' asset management plans.

Science

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what steps his Department is taking to monitor the number of students regularly attending the 250 pilot science and engineering clubs; [187355]

(2) what steps his Department is taking to assess the impact of science and engineering clubs on pupil (a) interest and (b) achievement in science, technology, engineering or mathematics. [187356]

Jim Knight: The Department has commissioned Sheffield Hallam University to undertake an evaluation of the clubs. An interim report is due to be published in the next few weeks and a full report is due in autumn 2008.

We propose to monitor pupils' progress, attainment and subject choice in future years.

Science: General Certificate of Secondary Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many maintained secondary schools entered one or more students for separate science GCSEs in each year since 2001. [187209]

Jim Knight: The information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of 16-year-olds in maintained secondary schools were entered for GCSE, dual award science, in each year since 2001. [187210]

Jim Knight: The information requested is provided in the following table:

| | Number of 15-year-olds in maintained secondary schools entered for science dual award | Percentage of 15-year-olds in maintained secondary schools entered for science dual award |
| 2006/07 | 406,021 | 69.9 |
| 2005/06 | 414,291 | 72.2 |
| 2004/05 | 423,496 | 72.6 |
| 2003/04 | 455,918 | 77.3 |
| 2002/03 | 451,665 | 79.0 |
| 2001/02 | 446,769 | 77.1 |
| 2000/01 | 445,487 | 77.3 |

Figures relate to 15-year-olds (age at start of the academic year, i.e. 31 August).

Special Needs Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many appeals against a refusal on the part of a local authority to issue a statement of special needs there were in each of the last five years, broken down by local authority. [187188]

Bridget Prentice: I have been asked to reply.

The number of appeals made in the last five years, against the decision of a local authority to refuse to issue of statement of special educational needs, are presented in the following table, broken down by local authority.

Vocational Guidance: Science

Adam Afriyie: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what proportion of school careers advisers have educational backgrounds in (a) science, (b) technology, (c) engineering and (d) mathematics. [187347]

Jim Knight: The information requested is not collected centrally.

GCE A-level

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what estimate he has made of the number of students who lost their place at university due to their exam papers having to be re-marked in the latest period for which figures are available. [163558]

Bill Rammell: I have been asked to reply.

Admissions are a matter for individual higher education institutions (HEIs) who, as independent bodies, have discretion over their own admission policies and procedures. The Department does not therefore issue guidance in this area.

The Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS) have told us that HEIs which are members of the UCAS scheme will keep a place open for an applicant, in the event of a missing or queried exam result, up to 31 August unless an earlier date has been agreed.

Latest published figures on the number of inquiries about results and appeals are available on the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority website at: http://www.qca.org.uk/qca_10312.aspx The Department does not collect information on the number of HE admissions affected by those inquiries and appeals.

JUSTICE

Emergency Workers (Obstruction) Act 2006

Richard Younger-Ross: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prosecutions there have been under the Emergency Workers (Obstruction) Act 2006; and if he will make a statement. [187187]

Maria Eagle: The Emergency Workers (Obstruction) Act 2006 came into force on 20 February 2007. We do not yet have prosecution figures covering 2007. We would expect the number of prosecutions to be small. Any act involving violence against emergency workers would be covered by the general law on assault and the new offence is limited to obstruction only.

Debt Collection: Standards

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he plans to publish the findings of the consultation Regulation of Enforcement Agents (CP 02/07); and if he will make a statement. [187006]

Maria Eagle: The analysis of the responses to the Regulation of Enforcement Agents consultation is now complete and will be published in March 2008.

Departmental Publications

Mr. Randall: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what public information booklets were published by his Department in 2007; and what the (a) print run and (b) cost to the Department was in each case. [185792]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice was created on 9 May 2007. The public information booklets which it has published since then, together with print runs and costs, are listed in the following table.

Lists of the public information booklets published by the Ministry of Justice's five agencies (National Offender Management Service, Her Majesty's Courts Service; Office of the Public Guardian, Tribunals Service, and the Office for Criminal Justice Reform) will be placed in the Library of the House.

HM Prison Service's Race Equality Action Plan

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will place a copy of HM Prison Service's Race Equality Action Plan in the Library; what steps have been taken to implement it; and what has been the cost of (a) producing and (b) implementing the plan. [186256]

Maria Eagle: The HM Prison Service Race Equality Action Plan (REAP) is updated approximately monthly, the most recent of which has been placed in the Library.

The REAP is a detailed and comprehensive plan that sets out all the high-level actions that the public sector Prison Service is taking on race equality. Its production involved contributions from a range of individuals and groups across the Prison Service, and its implementation involves actions by a range of headquarters policy groups and in prison establishments. It is therefore not possible to give an estimate of the cost of producing or implementing the plan.

Knutsford Crown Court

Mr. George Osborne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what consideration he has given to the potential use of Knutsford Crown Court for magistrates hearings. [185756]

Maria Eagle: Her Majesty's Courts Service in Cheshire-Merseyside has developed an estates strategy that aims to identify opportunities to maximise the utilisation of all its buildings. The option to utilise Knutsford Crown Court as a magistrates court does not presently form part of the strategy, although cases are occasionally listed at Knutsford magistrates court from both Macclesfield and Vale Royal magistrates courts. Dates on which such cases are currently listed are as follows:

| Date | Local justice area |
|---|---|
| 12 February 2008 | Macclesfield |
| 13 February 2008 | Vale Royal |
| 14 February 2008 | Vale Royal |
| 25 February 2008 | Macclesfield |

| 1 April 2008 | Vale Royal |
| 2 April 2008 | Vale Royal |
| 3 April 2008 | Vale Royal |
| 4 April 2008 | Vale Royal |

A feasibility study to improve and/or replace Macclesfield magistrates court and a potential integration scheme with Macclesfield county court is under consideration and the Ministry of Justice Building Review Group will shortly receive a bid in this respect.

Legal Aid Scheme

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people were eligible for legal aid in each of the last 10 years. [179599]

Maria Eagle: Legal aid covers a number of different areas of justice, and the extent to which applicants' financial circumstances are taken into account in granting legal aid varies considerably across these areas. It is therefore not possible to give figures for the number of people eligible for legal aid as a whole. However, some estimates of the likely number that would be eligible are available for certain areas.

In criminal cases, all those arrested in England and Wales are eligible to receive free advice and assistance at the police station. Defendants are financially eligible for representation in the Crown Court, subject to judicial discretion to recover costs. We estimate that around half the population of England and Wales would be financially eligible to receive legal aid in magistrates courts cases following the introduction of the means test in October 2006.

Prior to April 2001 there was a legal aid contribution scheme in operation for criminal cases. The court decided the level of contributions according to the defendant's means. Estimates of eligibility levels under this scheme would be available only at disproportionate cost.

The following table provides estimates of the proportion of the population of England and Wales that were in principle financially eligible for civil legal aid in those categories for which financial circumstances are taken into account in each of the past 10 years where figures are available. However, decisions on granting of legal aid also depend on the merits of the case, while some areas of civil law are not now covered by legal aid. The decline over recent years in the proportion of the population eligible for civil legal aid is likely to reflect increases in general levels of prosperity, changes to the structure of the benefits system, demographic changes, and also the Government's drive to focus legal aid support on the most vulnerable people in society and to achieve the more effective delivery of civil legal aid.

More effective delivery is evidenced by the number of acts of assistance of civil legal aid not declining in parallel with eligibility over the last 10 years and increasing significantly from 856,000 in 2004-05 to 1,137,000 in 2006-07. Moreover, cash expenditure on civil legal aid (excluding immigration and asylum legal help whose costs reflect the volume of people arriving), rose from £615 million in 2001-02 to £730 million in 2006-07.

| | Estimated proportion of the population of England and Wales eligible for civil representation (%) |
| 1999 | 51 |
| 2000 | 50 |
| 2001 | 46 |
| 2005 | 41 |
| 2007 | 29 |

Legal Aid: Expenditure

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much was spent on legal aid where the case had been brought against a political party in each of the last five years. [184499]

Maria Eagle: The information is not readily available. In order to extract this information a manual inspection of all legal aid certificates issued in the past five years would be required. To do so would be of disproportionate cost.

Legal Aid: Negligence

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many legally aided clinical negligence cases were closed in 2007 which proceeded beyond the investigation stage; and how many of these cases resulted in an award of damages or settlement involving an agreement to pay damages or compensation. [187348]

Maria Eagle: Figures covering the whole of 2007 will not be available until after the end of the current financial year. However, during 2006-07, 2,415 cases are known to have progressed beyond the investigation stage to the issue of proceedings. These included 300 cases that resulted in an award of damages and 1,240 settled cases that involved an agreement to pay damages or compensation.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many legally aided clinical negligence cases were closed in 2007 which did not proceed beyond the investigation stage; and how many of these cases resulted in a settlement involving an agreement to pay damages or compensation. [187349]

Maria Eagle: Figures covering the whole of 2007 will not be available until after the end of the current financial year. However, during 2006-07, 3,009 cases were closed at the investigation stage, before the issue of proceedings. Of these, 468 cases had resulted in a settlement involving an agreement to pay damages or compensation.

Offenders: Deportation

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) if he will make a statement on plans to repatriate Libyan prisoners detained in prisons in this country; what estimate he has made of how many prisoners will be affected; and what decisions have been made on the status of Mohammed Al Megrahi; [186707]

(2) if he will place in the Library a copy of the prisoner transfer agreement between the UK and Libya. [186708]

Mr. Straw: On 28 May 2007, the then Prime Minister signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Libyan Prime Minister which stated that negotiations would take place on four agreements in the field of judicial co-operation. These agreements were: Extradition, Mutual Legal Assistance, Civil and Commercial Law, and Prisoner Transfer.

The prisoner transfer agreement, which has not yet been finalised, will provide for British nationals imprisoned in Libya, and Libyan nationals imprisoned in the United Kingdom, to serve their sentences in their own country. Transfer will only take place if both Governments give their consent in respect of each individual applicant prisoner. At 31 December 2007, 16 Libyan nationals were imprisoned in England and Wales. On the same date no British nationals were detained in prison in Libya.

Abdel Basset Ali al-Megrahi is serving a life sentence in Scotland for his part in the bombing of Pan American Flight 103 on 21 December 1988. As a prisoner detained in Scotland the decision on whether or not he can be transferred from Scotland to a prison in Libya would be a matter for Scottish Ministers. The Government have not entered into any arrangement for the transfer of Mr. al-Megrahi to Libya.

In accordance with the Ponsonby Rules a copy of the Prisoner Transfer Agreement between the UK and Libya will be laid before Parliament once it has been signed.

Offenders: Rehabilitation

Mr. Ronnie Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many offending behaviour programmes were undertaken in prisons in England and Wales in the period 1997 to 2007; and what measures were used to judge their effectiveness; [186330]

(2) how many offending behaviour programmes in prisons in England and Wales over the period 1997 to 2007 were subject to randomised controlled trials to assess their effectiveness; [186331]

(3) how many prisoners in England and Wales participated in offending behaviour programmes during the period 1997 to 2007; [186332]

(4) what the cost of offending behaviour programmes in prisons in England and Wales was in each year from 1997 to 2007. [186333]

Maria Eagle: In 1997 the Prison Service offered a range of six accredited offending behaviour programmes, and by 2007 the repertoire of accredited offending behaviour programmes had increased to 15.

Various measures have been used in the evaluation of the effectiveness of offending behaviour programmes in England and Wales. Predominantly quasi-experimental and non-experimental research designs have been used, many examining the reconviction rates of those who have completed programmes compared to those who have not. Other measures used to judge effectiveness include pre to post-examines treatment psychometric data which short term treatment impact, as well as gathering audit and qualitative information on programme participants and the delivery of programmes.

During this period, one randomised control trial has been conducted on the effectiveness of offending behaviour programmes. The Treatment Change Project (TCP) is an evaluation of HM Prison Service accredited Enhanced Thinking Skills (ETS) programme which aims to examine the impact of ETS courses on impulsivity in adult male offenders over the age of 18, and to investigate whether changes in levels of impulsivity were reflected in changes in prison behaviour.

The TCP was conducted as a randomised control trial (RCT), and as such is the first large-scale RCT evaluating the impact of ETS in prisons.

The draft report is at the peer review stage, with publication scheduled for April 2008.

From 1 April 1997 to 31 March 2007 the number of accredited offending behaviour programmes completed by prisoners was 65,233. Some prisoners will have completed more than one programme.

The funding for the delivery of accredited offending behaviour programmes is part of establishment baselines, therefore it is not possible to accurately disaggregate the cost of this work. The Prison Service is currently working on developing a costing process to provide more accurate costs for regime activities and interventions.

Additional funding was provided by the Government to expand the delivery of accredited offending behaviour programmes as shown in the following table:

| | 1999-2000 | 2000-01 | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Comprehensive Spending Review | 7.3 | 8.4 | 8.9 | 8.9 | 8.9 |
| Crime Reduction Programme | 0.7 | 1.1 | 1.5 | — | — |
| Spending Review 2000 | — | — | — | 3.6 | 11.6 |

Based on an estimated average cost per programme completion and the number of completions in 2006-07, we estimate that the cost of delivering accredited offending behaviour programmes in 2006-07 to be approximately £25 million.

Prisons: Community Engagement Implementation Guide

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the cost to HM Prison Service was of producing (a) the Community Engagement Implementation Guide and (b) community engagement events held in the last 12 months; and if he will place a copy of the Guide in the Library. [186208]

Maria Eagle: The Community Engagement Implementation Guide was produced by a member of the Race Equality Action Group (REAG): the senior executive officer (whose annual salary was about £35,000) spent approximately 10 per cent. of her time developing the document, which formed part of the revised Prison Service Race Equality Order (PSO 2800). The order is available on the Prison Service website and in the parliamentary Library. A copy of the Implementation Guide has been placed in the Library.

At a national level the Prison Service spent £5,000 on undertaking and publicising community engagement events in the last 12 months. Local community engagement events are held in prisons across the estate and details are not held centrally, so it is not possible to give a figure for the cost of such events.

Prisons: Race Equality Action Team Training

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people are employed in HM Prison Service's race equality action group; and what the cost of the group is in 2007-08. [186207]

Maria Eagle: 24 members of staff are employed in HM Prison Service's Race Equality Action Group (REAG). The group's annual budget (including pay and non-pay) for 2007-08 is £1.475 million.

Prisons: Traveller Day

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisons have held a Traveller Day in the last three years; and what the cost was of such events. [186262]

Maria Eagle: Traveller Days are local initiatives held by prisons: they are dependent on establishments having recognised groups of prisoners from Traveller background. The Prison Service considers it best practice for establishment to hold such events.

Information is not held centrally on events such as Traveller Days held in prisons. To collect the information requested would require contacting all 125 public sector prisons in England and Wales individually and for each establishment to conduct a manual check of their local records. It is not therefore possible to provide figures for the number of such events in the last three years or their costs.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Anabolic Steroids: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department keeps records of the number of young men who have taken anabolic steroids for non-medical reasons in each year since 1997. [186317]

Mr. McNulty: The British Crime Survey (BCS) collects information on the illicit use of anabolic steroids. As the following table shows, the proportion of young people aged 16 to 24 years using anabolic steroids not prescribed by a doctor has remained at less than 0.5 per cent. since such questions were included in the survey in 1996.

Due to the small number of anabolic steroid users in the BCS sample it is not possible to provide a separate breakdown for men and women.

Proportion of 16 to 24-year-olds reporting use of anabolic steroids in the last year, 1996 to 2006-07

| | Anabolic steroids | Unweighted base |
|---|---|---|
| 1996 | 0.5 | 1,412 |
| 1998 | 0.5 | 1,233 |
| 2000 | 0.1 | 1,455 |
| 2001-02 | 0.2 | 3,984 |
| 2002-03 | 0.1 | 4,209 |
| 2003-04 | 0.4 | 5,327 |
| 2004-05 | 0.4 | 6,182 |
| 2005-06 | 0.3 | 5,876 |
| 2006-07 | 0.2 | 5,687 |

Antisocial Behaviour Orders

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many antisocial behaviour orders were issued to children in each of the last five years, broken down by (a) sex and (b) age; [186769]

(2) how many antisocial behaviour orders issued to children were breached in each of the last five years; [186770]

(3) how many children were sent to prison as a result of breaking an antisocial behaviour order in each of the last five years; [186771]

(4) how many children have been subject to more than one antisocial behaviour order in each of the last five years. [186772]

Mr. Coaker: Data showing the number of antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) issued to juveniles aged 10 to 17, by gender, can be found in the following table. Of the total number of ASBOs issued to juveniles aged 10 to 17 since inception, 2,293 were proven to have been breached at least once by the end of 2005. Such data, further broken down by year, are not available. The data held by the Department do not identify whether multiple ASBOs have been issued to the same person.

Data on the type of sentence received for breach of an ASBO will be published later this year.

Number of Antisocial Behaviour Orders issued to persons aged ID-17 at all courts, as reported to the Home Office by the Court Service, by sex, in England and Wales, 2001-05

England and Wales

| | 2001 | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Males | 187 | 237 | 573 | 1,195 | 1,424 |
| Females | 6 | 13 | 52 | 125 | 134 |
| All aged 10 to 17 | 193 | 250 | 625 | 1,320 | 1,558 |

Note:
Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Asylum

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 951W, how many of the 72,550 asylum seekers removed from the UK have subsequently reapplied for asylum in the UK. [180110]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 21 January 2008]: The requested information is not collated centrally and could be obtained only at a disproportionate cost through the examination of individual cases.

Asylum and Immigration Act 1996

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost was of enforcing section 8 of the Asylum and Immigration Act 1996 in each year since 1997. [185086]

Jacqui Smith: Operational activity within local enforcement offices includes staff resources involved in illegal working operations. The cost of enforcing section 8 of the Asylum and Immigration Act 1996 (illegal working), is not separately identifiable from the overall budgets allocated to local enforcement offices.

Asylum: Social Security Benefits

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many failed asylum seekers had their benefits withdrawn under section 9 of the Asylum and Immigration (Treatment of Claimants, etc.) Act 2004 in each year since it came into force. [185087]

Jacqui Smith: The use of section 9 was introduced by way of a pilot scheme which ran from December 2004 to December 2005. During this time asylum support was withdrawn from 26 families. Six of these families are on support again, having become eligible during 2007.

Crime

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what records her Department holds for crime statistics at more local levels than that of basic command units; whether such records are publicly available; and if she will make it her policy to set out a timetable for the publication of such statistics at ward level. [186466]

Mr. McNulty: The recorded crime data returned to the Home Office by police forces are at police force, basic command unit and crime and disorder reduction partnerships levels. Data are not routinely submitted to the Home Office at smaller geographic levels. A pilot collection of recorded crime data at middle super output area level has been released by the Home Office on the Neighbourhood Statistics website. The data were provided on a voluntary basis by a number of forces and are available for years 2003-04 to 2005-06 for selected offences:

http://neighbourhood.statistics.gov.uk/dissemination/datasetList.do?JSAllowed=true&Function=&percent24ph=60&CurrentPageId=60&step=1&CurrentTreeIndex=-1&searchString=&datasetFamilyId=904&Next.x=8&Next.y=9

As part of the broader agenda to enhance responsiveness, accountability and public engagement with policing and community safety, the Home Office are working with ACPO, the APA and practitioners from police forces, authorities and local partnerships on the provision of crime information at a level that would make sense to the public locally. The aim of the project is to make local data and information on policing, crime and community safety available on a monthly and consistent basis from July 2008 onwards by local agencies, such as police authorities, police forces and local authorities.

Crime: Firearms

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many crimes were recorded by the police in which deactivated or reactivated firearms were used in the last five years. [182364]

Jacqui Smith: Information on deactivated or reactivated firearms has been centrally separately collected since 2004-05. Available data from 2004-05 up to and including 2006-07 are given in the following table.

Crimes recorded by the police in England and Wales in which reactivated and deactivated firearms were used, England and Wales, 2004-05 to 2006-07

| | | | Number of offences |
|---|---|---|---|
| Weapon type | 2004-05[1] | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
| Reactivated handgun | 2 | 2 | 2 |
| Deactivated imitation firearm | 1 | 4 | 2 |
| Other reactivated firearm | — | 2 | 1 |

[1] More explicit guidelines for the classification of weapons introduced on 1 April 2004 may have increased the recording of firearm offences, particularly those committed by imitation weapons.

Driving Under Influence: Drugs

Mark Hunter: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many arrests for drug-driving resulted in a custodial sentence (a) in England and (b) in each police authority area in each year since 1997. [186025]

Mr. Coaker: The data on arrests collected by the Ministry of Justice do not include information on the outcomes in court of those arrests.

Information is available on convictions and custodial sentences for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs by police force area from 1997 to 2005. This is provided in the following tables. 2006 data will be available later this year.

The data provided cover both drink and drugs offences.

n/a = Not available.

[1] Data provided cover summary offences of driving etc after consuming alcohol or taking drugs (which cannot reliably be distinguished separately).

[2] Immediate Custody includes sentences of Secure Training Order, Detention & Training Order, Young Offender Institution and Unsuspended sentence of imprisonment.

[3] Staffordshire Police Force were only able to submit sample data for persons proceeded against and convicted in the magistrates' courts for the year 2000. Although sufficient to estimate higher orders of data, these data are not robust enough at a detailed level and have been excluded from the table.

Notes:

1. It is known that for some police force areas, the reporting of court proceedings in particular those relating to summary motoring offences, may be less than complete.

2. Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when these data are used.

Drunkenness: Crime Prevention

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what maximum levy may be imposed on a licensed premises in an alcohol disorder zone; and whether the revenue is ring-fenced; [176710]

(2) what estimate has been made of the number of alcohol disorder zones that will be implemented by local authorities in the first full year of operation of the legislation. [176717]

Mr. Coaker: Alcohol disorder zones (ADZs) are designed to tackle the problem of alcohol-related crime and disorder in the worst affected parts of town and city centres through a focus on the public space and/or the management of certain licensed premises. There will be no maximum levy that may be imposed on licensed premises, but the purposes to which the money raised can be put will be regulated, and the money raised will have to be spent on additional enforcement services which are over and above the baseline levels already in place.

The regulatory impact assessment for ADZs estimates that in the first year of ADZ being in force, approximately 30 areas may move to the action planning phase of the ADZ. However, it is unlikely that all areas which move to the action planning phase will continue to implement the full ADZ, as it is expected that as progress is made towards reducing alcohol-related crime and disorder, a significant proportion of ADZs will not proceed further than the action planning phase.

Human Trafficking: Children

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department who gave authorisation for television cameras to film the Metropolitan and Thames Valley Police raids in Slough on 24 January 2008 in which 11 suspected child victims of human trafficking were taken into the care of social services. [183951]

Jacqui Smith: Following a series of meetings involving all partners in the operation to discuss media strategy, the decision was taken by the Metropolitan Police Service Gold Commander for Operation Caddy.

Identity Cards

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost was to her Department of conferences relating to the national identity scheme in the last two years. [185287]

Jacqui Smith: The Identity and Passport Service held the National Identity Scheme Strategic Suppliers Group Framework procurement bidders' conference in September 2007. The bidders' conference was part of the procurement process rather than a conventional conference and the venue and associated costs amounted to £4,028.

Immigration: Biometrics

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what biometric information will be held on biometric immigration documents. [182355]

Jacqui Smith: We are planning for our new identity cards for foreign nationals, who are subject to immigration control, to contain biometric data in the form of two of the holder's fingerprints and a digital facial image. Biographical and other important information will also be included on the cards, such as the holder's name, date and place of birth, nationality, and whether the person is entitled to employment and access to public funds in the United Kingdom.

Internet: Crime

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate her Department has made of the cost of cybercrime to the UK economy in the last five years. [185056]

Jacqui Smith: This information is not held centrally.

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time staff her Department employs to deal with cybercrime. [185057]

Jacqui Smith: The Government criminalise acts based on the offence committed and not the medium used; therefore many Home Office teams make policy on crimes which can be committed over the internet. Teams specifically dealing with cybercrime (for all or some of their time) employ six full-time and one part-time members of staff.

Migration

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what voting arrangements in the Council of Ministers will apply to decisions relating to EU policy on legal migration once the Treaty of Lisbon enters into force. [180180]

Jacqui Smith: The voting procedure in the Council of Ministers for EU policy on legal migration will be Qualified Majority Voting.

The UK position remains unchanged. We will opt into EU asylum and immigration measures where it is in the national interest to do so and consistent with our policy of retaining frontier controls.

Muslim Media Issues

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether she has appointed a specialist to deal with Muslim media issues. [178886]

Jacqui Smith: The Home Office press office has had, since June 2006, one post whose work includes engagement with black and minority ethnic media. Some of this work naturally includes work with Muslim media.

National Identity Register

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the number of Government officials who will be permitted to access the national identity register. [185288]

Jacqui Smith: It is too soon to give the precise number of Government officials who will be permitted to access the national identity register. However, only a small number of strictly vetted officials will be permitted to manage information held on the register under the provisions of the Identity Cards Act 2006.

Opium Crops

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 21 November 2007, Official Report, column 869W, on opium crops, how many hectares were grown in each location in the UK in 2007. [173742]

Mr. Coaker: During 2007 a total of 2,744.98 hectares of opium poppy crop were grown in 67 locations in the UK. The size of individual sites ranged from four to 229.25 hectares with a mean average location size of 40.96 hectares.

Police

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will list by English police authority (a) the population covered by that authority, (b) the authorised police establishment for that authority, (c) the actual police establishment for that authority, (d) the total arrests made in that authority, (e) the number of arrests made per actual police officer, (f) the total number of reported crimes, (g) the number of crimes per officer, (h) the total number of crimes per 1,000 population and (i) the total number of reported crimes unsolved per 1,000 population for the last 10 years for which figures are available. [177566]

Mr. McNulty: The information requested is as follows:

(a) The available data, based on mid year estimates from the Office for National Statistics, are given in Table 1 placed in the House Libraries.

(b), (c) Authorised establishments were abolished by the Police and Magistrates' Courts Act 1994. It is a matter for each chief constable in consultation with the police authority to determine the number of police officers a force would have. Information on police service strength is published annually in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin series "Police Service Strength, England and Wales" and details for officers are given in Table 2 placed in the House Libraries.

(d) The arrests collection undertaken by the Ministry of Justice provides data on persons arrested for recorded crime (notifiable offences) only. The available information is given in the Table 3, placed in the House Libraries, by police force area, from 1999-2000 (previous years data are unreliable) to 2005-06 (latest available).

(e) Information on arrests rates is not collected centrally and, from the information available centrally, arrests rates cannot be computed with any accuracy. Numbers of arrests are only collected by the Ministry of Justice on a recorded crime (notifiable offences) basis and from the Home Office data on numbers of police officers; one does not know the duties to which they have been assigned.

(f), (g), (h), (i) The available data are given in Tables 4, 5 and 6, placed in the House Libraries.

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average length of service of police officers is in (a) Sussex, (b) Kent, (c) Surrey and (d) the Metropolitan police; and if she will make a statement. [186355]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The information requested cannot be calculated from the centrally collected data within the police personnel statistics series. Length of service data are only collected in a number of fixed time bands and are set out in the following table.

Length of Service for Police Officers for 2006-07

| | Up to 5 years | 5-10 years | 10-15 years | 15-20 years | 20-25 years | 26-30 years | 30-35 years[1] | Percentage 35 years and over[1] |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Kent | 29 | 19 | 16 | 16 | 9 | 9 | 1 | 0 |
| Metropolitan police | 29 | 18 | 12 | 14 | 12 | 12 | 2 | 0 |
| Surrey[2] | — | — | — | — | — | — | — | — |
| Sussex | 32 | 17 | 15 | 16 | 11 | 8 | 1 | 0 |
| England and Wales | 28 | 18 | 14 | 15 | 12 | 11 | 2 | 0 |

[1] Police officers are eligible for retirement after 30 years service.
[2] Data for Surrey are not available.

Police: Manpower

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what statistics her Department gathers on transfers of police officers between forces; and how many police officers have transferred (a) from Sussex police to the Metropolitan police and (b) from the Metropolitan police to Sussex police in the latest period for which figures are available. [186352]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Home Office centrally collects statistics on the total number of police officers transferring in to each force, and separately collects the total number of police officers transferring out from each force. The data do not identify the force to or from which the transfer occurred. In 2006-07 (the latest period for which figures are available), 40 full-time equivalent police officers transferred out from Sussex police to other forces, and 24 officers transferred in to Sussex police from other forces.

Serious Organised Crime Agency: Expenditure

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much the Serious Organised Crime Agency spent on border security and enforcement in each of the last three financial years. [186419]

Mr. Coaker: The Serious Organised Crime Agency, which was established on 1 April 2006, has the aim of reducing the harm caused to the UK through serious organised crime. It does not have a function to provide border security. At any given time, SOCA officers may be engaged, to a greater or lesser extent, in activity which bears on border security and enforcement.

Staffordshire Police Authority: Finance

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how much the precept set by Staffordshire Police Authority is for 2008-09; and at what rate it will be levied on local householders; [186786]

(2) how much Staffordshire Police Authority has received from central funds in each of the last 10 years. [186785]

Mr. McNulty: Government grants since 1997-98 to Staffordshire police authority are set out in the following table.

Staffordshire police authority has increased its police precept for 2008-09 by 3.75 per cent.

Staffordshire police authority central funding since 1997-98

| | Government grant[1] (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 96.15 |
| 1998-99 | 95.09 |
| 1999-2000 | 96.27 |
| 2000-01 | 100.13 |
| 2001-02 | 105.23 |
| 2002-03 | 106.36 |
| 2003-04 | 112.87 |
| 2004-05 | 117.62 |
| 2005-06[2] | 122.43 |
| 2006-07[3] | 122.05 |
| 2007-08 | 126.77 |

[1] Revenue funding includes all grants inside Aggregate External Finance (AEF) (i.e. revenue grants paid for councils' core services), and includes formula grant and all specific grants.
[2] In 2005-06 figures were adjusted for comparison purposes following the transfer of pensions and security funding from general grant in 2006-07.
[3] 2006-07 Government grant figures are provisional outturn figures. 2007-08 figures are budget figures.

Terrorism

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many Islamic scholars are employed by her Department to advise on the Prevent strand of Project Contest. [178898]

Jacqui Smith: The Home Office does not employ any Islamic scholars. Expert advice on Islam and other religions is obtained from independent experts as and when required.

Treaty establishing the European Communities

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which measures the UK has decided to participate in through the opt-in arrangements under Title IV of the Treaty establishing the European Communities. [180187]

Jacqui Smith: The measures the UK has decided to participate in through the opt-in arrangements under Title IV of the Treaty establishing the European Communities are in the table, a copy of which has been placed in the House Library.

HEALTH

Abortion

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many women more than 24 weeks pregnant received abortions in clinics overseas paid for in whole or in part from public funds in each of the last three years for which figures are available; how many such abortions took place in each such country; what recent representations he has received on public funding for abortions overseas; and if he will make a statement. [186243]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not available.

The Department has received no representations on the public funding of abortions overseas.

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many women are known to have died within one month of operations for termination of pregnancy notified under the abortion regulations in each of the last 10 years, broken down by age group. [186397]

Dawn Primarolo: Maternal deaths associated with termination of pregnancy that were reported to the Confidential Enquiries into Maternal Deaths for the period 1994 to 2005, are set out in the following table. The data for 2006 to 2007 are not yet available.

Maternal deaths associated with termination of pregnancy: United Kingdom 1994-2005

| Triennium | Number of deaths from termination of pregnancy |
|---|---|
| 2003-05 | 2 |
| 2000-02 | 5 |
| 1997-99 | 2 |
| 1994-96 | 1 |

Notes:
1. There were around 500,000 abortions in the UK in each three year period and hence the number of deaths represent less than 0.0001 per cent. of all abortions carried out.
2. Direct deaths (occurring during pregnancy and up to and including 42 days inclusive after termination).
3. The numbers are too small to be broken down by age group.
Source:
Figures are from the reports of the Confidential Enquiries into Maternal Deaths in the UK for the relevant triennium.

Abortion in Clinics Overseas

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research he has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the (i) number of and (ii) reasons for UK women over 24 weeks gestation receiving abortions in clinics overseas; when the last such evaluation took place; whether it drew upon research undertaken in the UK; and if he will make a statement. [186373]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department has neither commissioned nor evaluated research on the number or causes of United Kingdom women over 24 weeks gestation undergoing abortions in clinics overseas. Such data would be difficult or impossible to collect reliably.

Abortion: Private Sector

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) primary and (b) delegated legislation regulates advertising by private abortion clinics; what changes have been made to each since enactment; whether further revision is planned; and if he will make a statement. [186249]

Dawn Primarolo: There is no legislation on advertising by private abortion clinics specifically. However advertisements must comply with the law in general as well as the advertising codes.

Adverse Drug Reactions

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many adverse drug reaction reports were received through the yellow card reporting system for (a) all anti-psychotic drugs, (b) traditional anti-psychotic drugs and (c) atypical anti-psychotic drugs in each of the last five years; and how many prescriptions there were for each such type of drug in each year; [186015]

(2) how many people in each age cohort experienced an adverse drug reaction in (a) England, (b) each region, (c) each strategic health authority and (d) each primary care trust area in each year since 2003; and how many such reactions in each category were fatal; [186042]

(3) how many people aged between (a) 50 and 64-years-old, (b) 65 and 74-years-old and (c) over 75-years-old (i) died and (ii) were injured by adverse drug reactions in each year since 2003. [186043]

Dawn Primarolo: Reports of suspected adverse drug reactions (ADRs) are collected by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) and the Commission for Human Medicines through the spontaneous reporting scheme; the yellow card scheme.

Table 1 shows the number of suspected ADR reports received by the MHRA in the specified time periods where an anti-psychotic drug was listed by the reporter as being suspect. The total number of ADR reports for all antipsychotics is not equal to the sum of both atypical and traditional antipsychotics since an individual ADR report may provide more than one drug as suspect.

Table 1: Number of suspected ADR reports received by the MHRA between 2003 and 2007 inclusive for antipsychotic drugs

| | All antipsychotics | Atypical antipsychotics | Traditional antipsychotics |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 1,812 | 1,694 | 140 |
| 2004 | 2,060 | 1,963 | 105 |
| 2005 | 2,614 | 2,473 | 160 |
| 2006 | 2,127 | 1,920 | 226 |
| 2007 | 2,327 | 2,172 | 173 |

The numbers of antipsychotic prescription items from the Prescription Cost Analysis (PCA) database are shown in table 2.

Table 2: Numbers of prescriptions showing numbers of antipsychotic prescription items[1] (in thousands from the PCA database) between 2002 and 2006

| | All antipsychotics | Atypical antipsychotics | Traditional antipsychotics |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2002 | 5,167.0 | 2,471.6 | 2,695.3 |
| 2003 | 5,513.2 | 3,088.7 | 2,424.4 |
| 2004 | 5,687.8 | 3,333.9 | 2,353.8 |
| 2005 | 5,872.9 | 3,597.7 | 2,275.2 |

[1] Prescriptions items—prescriptions are written on a prescription form. Each single item written on the form is counted as a prescription item.

Table 3 gives the numbers of suspected adverse reaction reports received for the three age cohorts each year since 2003. Reports of suspected ADRs do not always specify the original reporter's address; therefore data on ADRs cannot be provided by region, strategic health authority or primary care trust area.

Table 3: Number of suspected ADR reports received by the MHRA from all sources in each of the last 5 years broken down by three age groups

| | Age group | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 50-64 | 65-74 | 75+ |
| 2003 | 3,832 | 2,633 | 2,595 |
| 2004 | 4,242 | 2,904 | 2,503 |
| 2005 | 4,280 | 2,896 | 2,585 |
| 2006 | 4,414 | 2,919 | 2,374 |
| 2007 | 4,692 | 2,693 | 1,998 |

The number of suspected adverse reaction reports associated with a fatal outcome each year for the last five years is shown in table 4. It is important to note that the submission of a suspected ADR report does not necessarily mean that it was caused by the drug. Many factors have to be taken into account in assessing causal relationships including the possible contribution of concomitant medication and the patient's underlying disease.

Table 4: The number of fatal reports that have been received by the MHRA within the specified time periods broken down by three age groups

| | Age group | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 50-64 | 65-74 | 75+ |
| 2003 | 139 | 117 | 172 |
| 2004 | 180 | 146 | 196 |
| 2005 | 242 | 174 | 186 |
| 2006 | 201 | 191 | 160 |
| 2007 | 220 | 177 | 184 |

Alcoholic Drinks: Rehabilitation

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what progress has been made on establishing (a) telephone helplines, (b) interactive websites and (c) support groups under the National Alcohol Strategy to assist people who want to drink less. [181681]

Dawn Primarolo: A number of resources are already in place:

Drinkline, which is funded by the Department, assists people who want to drink sensibly, providing them with advice over the phone and, if required, signposting them to the appropriate services. Advice is also available from NHS Direct.

Advice on alcohol consumption from several interactive websites:

the new Drinkaware website;

the Know Your Limits campaign site; and from NHS Choices.

Many local providers have established support groups as one aspect of their broader alcohol harm reduction service.

The forthcoming campaign to raise awareness of units and encourage people to drink within the sensible drinking guidelines is due to launch in May and will strengthen the available support. It will include a website that will provide information designed to help people reduce their drinking and will signpost potentially harmful drinkers to telephone, web and paper-based materials as required.

The Department is conducting social marketing research to identify the best ways to help people to choose healthier lifestyles, including help lines, websites and support groups. New information and advice, targeted towards people who drink at harmful levels, their families and friends, will be available from the summer.

Ambulance Services: Cornwall

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) ambulances and (b) rapid response vehicles there are in the north Cornwall area; and how many are on duty at any one time. [187256]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information requested is not held centrally.

The Department expects ambulance trusts to plan their resources to ensure that there is an appropriate provision of ambulance coverage for the communities they serve.

Therefore, this is a local matter for the South Western Ambulance Service National Health Service Trust, and the hon. Member may wish to approach the chief executive of the trust for this information.

Anabolic Steroids: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department records the number of people treated by GPs for conditions caused by the abuse of anabolic steroids. [185328]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department records the number of people admitted to hospital for conditions caused by the abuse of anabolic steroids. [185329]

Dawn Primarolo: Data on finished hospital admissions episodes are not recorded against a specific definition of conditions caused by the abuse of anabolic steroids.

However, data are collected on the number of finished hospital admissions episodes where there was a diagnosis, in any primary or secondary field of poisoning by androgens and anabolic congeners. This is recorded under the code T38.7.

Based on this code the number of finished hospital admissions episodes in 2006-07, the last year for which figures are available, is 68.

Note:

As these data are for admissions to hospital where it is identified that the patient had a condition of poisoning by androgens and anabolic congeners they do not represent any information about the longer term conditions of the effects of abuse of anabolic steroids.

Autism

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many adults are diagnosed as having autism. [187265]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: This information is not held centrally.

British Pregnancy Advisory Service

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what reports his Department has made on the British Pregnancy Advisory Service in each year since 1990; and if he will make a statement. [186242]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department published "An investigation into the British Pregnancy Advisory Service response to requests for late abortions: A report by the chief medical officer" in 2005. No other reports on the organisation have been produced by the Department.

British Pregnancy Advisory Service: Abortion

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the National Health Service paid to the British Pregnancy Advisory Service in each region to undertake abortions in each of the last four years for which figures are available. [186250]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Cherry Knowle Hospital

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make a statement on the future of the Cherry Knowle hospital, Ryhope, Sunderland. [187074]

Ann Keen: Part of the Cherry Knowle hospital site is included in a portfolio of properties that it was agreed would transfer from the ownership of the Secretary of State for Health to English Partnerships to assist the Government's Sustainable Communities programme. It will be for English Partnerships, in consultation with the local planning authority, to determine the future development of this part of the site. The remainder of the site is intended to be developed by the national health service locally to provide new health care facilities.

Dental Services: Essex

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients were (a) seeking to be registered with and (b) on waiting lists for an NHS dentist in Essex in each of the last five years. [185316]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not collected centrally. It is for local national health service organisations to determine how best to manage patients seeking NHS dental services.

Under the old contractual arrangements, which were in place until 31 March 2006, patients had to register with an individual dentist. Under the new contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006, patients do not have to be registered with an NHS dentist to receive NHS care.

Dental Services: Standards

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to (a) issue guidance and (b) propose regulations on tooth whitening (i) procedures and (ii) practitioner professional standards; and if he will make a statement. [184326]

Ann Keen: In 2001, as a result of action by the manufacturer and distributor of a tooth whitening product, the House of Lords made a judgment that the Government had the right to consider tooth whitening products as falling under the EC Directive on Cosmetic Products(76/768/EEC) and therefore within the terms of the Cosmetics (Safety) Regulations.

Currently the Schedules to the Cosmetics (Safety) Regulations restrict the permitted percentage of hydrogen peroxide present or released in cosmetic products used in the mouth to 0.1 per cent. but we understand that the Scientific Committee on Consumer Products has given its opinion to the European Commission that the permitted limit may, subject to prescribed conditions, be increased to 6 per cent. We are awaiting the Commission's response to this advice.

The General Dental Council (GDC), which is independent of Government, is responsible for the professional standards of dentists and dental care professionals. We understand that the GDC considers that tooth whitening constitutes the practice of dentistry. Any registrant who undertakes work for which they are not sufficiently competent risks fitness to practice proceedings.

Diabetes: Children

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many children were diagnosed with (a) type 2 diabetes and (b) non-alcoholic fatty liver disease in each year since 1997. [184524]

Ann Keen: Data on the numbers of children diagnosed with Type 2 diabetes are not available in the format requested. Estimates of the number of children with Type 2 diabetes vary, but in the United Kingdom it has been suggested that it may be around 1,000.

Data are not available on the numbers of children diagnosed with non-alcoholic fatty liver disease. The following table gives the number of patients, aged 0 to 17, admitted to hospital in each year since 1997 with a diagnosis of non-alcoholic fatty liver.

All Diagnoses: Non-alcoholic fatty liver count of patients ages 0-17, NHS hospitals 1997-08 to 2006-07 in England

|---|---|
| 1997-08 | 4 |
| 1998-09 | 7 |
| 1999-2000 | 18 |
| 2000-01 | 21 |
| 2001-02 | 44 |
| 2002-03 | 44 |
| 2003-04 | 45 |
| 2004-05 | 46 |
| 2005-06 | 72 |
| 2006-07 | 81 |

Note:

Hospital Episodes Statistics (HES) 1997-2007, Information Centre for Health and Social Care Information Centre. These figures represent a count of all patients with finished consultant episodes (FCEs) within each HES data year, where the diagnosis was mentioned in any of the 14 diagnosis positions (seven prior to 2002-03). An FCE is defined as a period of admitted patient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider.

Dietary Supplements

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many nutritional support products were dispensed in the community in each year since 1997. [185574]

Dawn Primarolo: Information on prescription items dispensed in the community in England and classified by the Prescription Pricing Division of the NHS Business Services Authority as for intravenous or oral nutrition, is in the following table. This excludes minerals or vitamins prescribed on the national health service.

| | Prescription items dispensed for intravenous and oral nutrition (thousand) | Net ingredient cost (£000) |
| 1997 | 2,689.2 | 84,500.9 |
| 1998 | 2,851.3 | 93,642.6 |
| 1999 | 3,005.7 | 103,839.6 |
| 2000 | 3,100.5 | 111,418.5 |
| 2001 | 3,315.2 | 125,089.0 |
| 2002 | 3,453.3 | 135,403.6 |
| 2003 | 3,671.8 | 148,647.1 |
| 2004 | 3,950.2 | 163,426.6 |
| 2005 | 4,207.0 | 177,217.7 |
| 2006 | 4,673.0 | 200,774.9 |

Drugs: Advisory Services

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many staff were employed full-time at the national drugs helpline in the most recent period for which figures are available. [186684]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Drugs Helpline ceased in England in March 2003 and was replaced by the FRANK helpline in April 2003.

No staff are employed exclusively to FRANK on a full-time basis. The Central Office of Information advise that a total of 74 trained advisors are shared across other helpline services relating to alcohol and drugs abuse and sexual health services. This equates to 37.5 full-time equivalent advisors given the shift patterns the service is required to fill.

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the national drugs helpline's call capacity is. [186787]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Drugs Helpline ceased in England in March 2003 and was replaced by the FRANK helpline in April 2003.

The Central Office of Information advise that FRANK can handle an average of 63 telephone calls per hour.

Electricity: Health Hazards

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what plans he and his Ministerial colleagues have to hold discussions with stakeholders on the implementation of the Health Protection Agency's advice to Government on the SAGE First Interim Assessment on power lines and property, wiring in homes and electrical equipment in homes; [185059]

(2) what steps have been taken since 27 November 2007 to implement the Health Protection Agency's guidance to Government on the SAGE First Interim Assessment on power lines and property, wiring in homes and electrical equipment in homes; and if he will make a statement; [185060]

(3) what the timing of the current round of consultation on the SAGE First Interim Assessment on power lines and property, wiring in homes, and electrical equipment in homes is; and if he will make a statement; [185072]

(4) what (a) meetings and (b) other contacts there have been between officials from his Department and other Departments and devolved Administrations on the implementation of the Health Protection Agency's guidance to Government on the SAGE First Interim Assessment on power lines and property, wiring in homes, and electrical equipment in homes; [185090]

(5) if he will take steps to reduce the exposure of children to electromagnetic radiation. [185500]

Dawn Primarolo: The Health Protection Agency (HPA) advice to Government on the "Stakeholder Advisory Group (SAGE) on Extremely Low Frequency Electromagnetic Fields (ELF EMF) Precautionary approaches to ELF EMFs First Interim Assessment Power Lines and Property, Wiring in Homes And Electrical Equipment in Homes" is available in the Library and also on the HPA website at:

www.hpa.org.uk/radiation/understand/radiation_topics/emf/hpa_response__statement_sage.htm

The HPA advice supports precautionary measures that have a convincing evidence base to show that they will be successful in reducing exposure, are effective in providing reassurance to the public, and where the overall benefits outweigh the fiscal and social costs.

Since November, officials in the key Government Departments have been in contact with agencies, industry and trade associations to seek initial views on the practicalities of implementing the SAGE recommendations in the light of HPA advice. After exchanges of correspondence, some exploratory meetings have taken place. When these initial soundings have been completed, a work plan will be drawn up for detailed consideration and discussion will be held with officials in the devolved Administrations.

Fats: Health Hazards

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the result has been of the Food Standards Agency's review of health impacts of trans fats; and if he will make a statement. [186349]

Dawn Primarolo: At its meeting in December 2007, the Food Standards Agency (FSA) board agreed that voluntary measures taken by the United Kingdom food industry to reduce levels of trans fats in foods have been successful in reducing consumer's average dietary intakes. Legislation would be therefore unlikely to deliver any further significant health benefit.

In his response to the FSA in January 2008 the Secretary of State (Alan Johnson) supported the agency's priority to reduce saturated fat intakes while maintaining the current position on trans fats.

Fluoride: Drinking Water

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Health upon what criteria the recently announced funds for consultation on fluoridation of the public water supply will be allocated between health authorities. [185936]

Ann Keen: The central funds to be managed by the Department are for the capital costs of setting up a fluoridation scheme. Strategic health authorities (SHAs) would meet the costs of any consultations from their core allocations. Guidance issued by the Chief Dental Officer on 5 February advises that an SHA should take account of the oral health needs of the population it serves and the technical feasibility of fluoridating its water supply before preparing for a consultation.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which strategic health authorities have applied to his Department for support for plans to fluoridate local water supplies. [186055]

Ann Keen: None so far. The funds are for the capital cost of setting up the plant for a fluoridation scheme. Strategic health authorities would not therefore apply for funds until they had consulted on proposals for a fluoridation scheme and demonstrated that it was supported by the local population that would be affected.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will publish all recent research he has commissioned on the impact of fluoridation on children's dental health. [186482]

Ann Keen: The Department has commissioned three completed research studies on fluoridation and health, "A Systematic Review of Water Fluoridation" published by the University of York in 2000, "Water Fluoridation and Health" published by the Medical Research Council in 2002 and the "Bioavailability of Fluoride in Drinking Water: a Human Experimental Study in 2005" published by the University of Newcastle in 2004. The Department is also funding a further project on the use of fluorescent imaging to develop objective and quantitative measures of enamel fluorosis, which is currently in progress.

Foetal Alcohol Syndrome

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of foetal alcohol syndrome were diagnosed in (a) England and (b) each English region in each of the last five years. [186444]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Food: Allergies

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will revise the guidance given in the Food Standards Agency publication, "The Provision of Allergen Information for Non-Pre-Packed Foods", to extend the distribution of such information beyond those consumers who request it. [185980]

Dawn Primarolo: The guidance on the provision of allergen information in foods sold non-prepacked was introduced because eating out is recognised to be a high-risk situation for allergic consumers. The aim of the guidance is to increase awareness of food allergy issues in food businesses so that, should they be asked, they can provide accurate information on the allergens in the foods they sell, both deliberate ingredients and from the potential for accidental cross-contamination. By raising awareness of allergy issues it is hoped that businesses, such as caterers, will be able to provide this information pro-actively to customers.

The guidance was issued as best practice to reflect the practical issues, raised during the public consultation, for small businesses in this part of the food sector in providing this information on a statutory basis. The European Union has recently issued a proposal on food labelling following a review of the existing legislation, that includes strengthening the requirements to provide allergen information in this sector. There will be a full public consultation on this proposal prior to negotiations.

Food: Labelling

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps (a) his Department and (b) the Food Standards Agency is taking to monitor compliance with the voluntary guidance on the provision of information on food allergens on non-prepacked food for the purposes of improving consumer confidence. [186624]

Dawn Primarolo: Due to the voluntary nature of the Food Standards Agency (FSA) guidance, compliance will not be monitored. However, the FSA will be monitoring the awareness and uptake of the guidance package by food business operators.

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions he has had on the standards of labelling of food allergens in food imported from non-EU countries; and if he will make a statement. [186632]

Dawn Primarolo: No discussions have been held on the standards of allergen labelling on foods imported from outside the European Union (EU). All food products imported from non-EU countries are required to comply with the requirements of the European labelling legislation, including the provisions on the labelling of allergenic ingredients. These provisions are implemented through the Food Labelling Regulations 1996 as amended.

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the Food Standards Agency guidance on cross-contamination of foodstuffs contained in the provision of allergens information for non pre-packed foods. [186633]

Dawn Primarolo: No assessment has been made of the effectiveness of the cross-contamination information contained within the guidance because the main aim of the Food Standards Agency guidance is to raise awareness of allergens in the non pre-packed foods sector. The guidance focuses on deliberate ingredients as these present the greatest risk for allergic consumers. However, cross-contamination is highlighted in the guidance as an additional factor to consider when answering queries from allergic consumers.

General Practitioners: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average remuneration per general practitioner was in City of York constituency in (a) the most recent period for which figures are available and (b) each of the previous 10 years. [187186]

Mr. Bradshaw: Data on average general practitioner (GP) pay by individual primary care trusts and at national level are not available in the format requested.

Information on average GP net profits was determined at United Kingdom level only until 2001-02. However, since 2002-03 information on average GP pay has been available on a country basis (England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland) as well as at Great Britain/UK level.

The following table provides the latest available average GP net profit from 1997 to 2005-06 as agreed with the Technical Steering Committee which is a UK-wide committee incorporating representatives from all UK Health Departments, the NHS Confederation and the British Medical Association.

Average GP pay since 1997

Health Services: Private Sector

Ben Chapman: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what role his Department has in (a) monitoring and regulating and (b) securing patients' interests in takeovers of NHS services by private health care companies. [186935]

Mr. Bradshaw [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Department's role in relation to the involvement of private health care companies in providing national health service services is to establish the conditions and rules to ensure that such involvement is in the interests of patients, the public and taxpayers. The Department does not directly regulate or monitor private companies' involvement in specific local services.

It is for primary care trusts (PCTs), the local leaders of the NHS, to commission an appropriate range of high-quality health care services to meet the needs of their population. In circumstances where existing services are not of the required quality, or where new services are needed, PCTs may decide to procure alternatives from other NHS organisations or from the private sector or the third sector. Strategic health authorities ensure that PCTs carry out their commissioning role effectively, and in line with the principles and rules for competition established by the Department.

The Healthcare Commission is responsible for regulating independent sector providers and assessing NHS providers.

Hospitals: Food

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he has taken to improve the quality and nutritional value of hospital food for children. [186738]

Ann Keen: The Department produced, in 2003, a guidance document entitled 'Catering Services for Children and Young Adults', which was designed to assist national health service trusts in providing appropriate catering services for these groups of patients. Decisions relating to the implementation of the guidance, or any parts of it, are a matter for individual trusts. A copy of the guidance document has been placed in the Library.

Human Papilloma Virus: Vaccination

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he plans to issue guidance to primary care trusts on (a) the delivery of the human papilloma virus (HPV) vaccinations and (b) the consent required for administering the HPV vaccination; whether he plans to recommend a school-based delivery programme; and if he will make a statement. [185342]

Dawn Primarolo: Guidance on the implementation of the human papilloma virus (HPV) immunisation programme will be issued to the national health service and others through various information channels such as the Chief Medical Officer Letters, Chief Executives Bulletin, the guide "Immunisation against infectious disease" (the 'Green Book'), websites and a range of NHS immunisation leaflets when all the appropriate information becomes available. A national conference for primary care trusts (PCTs) was held in October on the HPV vaccination programme. A second conference is planned, and a range of supporting resources is being made available on the www.immunisation.nhs.uk website as they are developed.

The principles for consent for HPV vaccination are the same as those for other childhood vaccination, and are covered in Chapter 2 of the "Immunisation against Infectious Disease".

Introduction of a HPV immunisation programme to routinely vaccinate girls aged 12 to 13 years of age against cervical cancer will start in September 2008 and a two-year catch up campaign will start in autumn 2009, for girls up to 18 years. PCTs will plan how to deliver the vaccination programme locally, and the independent Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation has advised that HPV vaccination would be most efficiently delivered through schools.

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether parental consent will be necessary for the administration of the human papilloma virus vaccine to children; and what guidance his Department has given on the steps to be taken should a child request the vaccine and the parent withhold consent. [186124]

Dawn Primarolo: The principles for consent for human papilloma virus (HPV) vaccination are the same as those for other childhood vaccination, and are covered in chapter 2 of the "Immunisation against Infectious Disease". A copy of the document has been placed in the Library and is also available on the Department's website at:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_079917

A range of information materials to support the HPV vaccination programme are being prepared and will be distributed in due course.

Incontinence: Medical Equipment

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what discussions he has had with officials at the (a) Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and (b) Office of Fair Trading on the implications of reducing reimbursement prices for stoma and incontinence products to below cost; [185698]

(2) if he will issue guidance to dispensing appliance contractors on how to prioritise those patients who should receive a stoma customisation service in the event of a volume cap being placed on this service. [185702]

Dawn Primarolo: During the course of this review there have been meetings with the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform—formerly the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI). Lord Sainsbury represented the DTI. These covered all aspects of the review, including reimbursement for items.

There have been no discussions with the Office of Fair Trading specifically about the potential impact of the proposed reimbursement for items, although it is aware of the review taking place.

It is premature to decide if any guidance should be issued to dispensing appliance contractors regarding any aspect of the proposed service provision, as the review is ongoing.

Infant Foods: Fluoride

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) with reference to his answer of 17 September 2007, Official Report, column 2209W, on infant foods: fluoride, whether his Department has completed its evaluation of advice issued by the American Dental Association that fluoridated water should not be used to make up powdered infant formula because of the risk of dental fluorosis; and if he will publish that evaluation; [185732]

Fluoride: Drinking Water

(2) what proportion of the population have dental fluorosis; and what estimate he has made of the proportion of the population likely to have dental fluorosis in areas where the public water supply is fluoridated. [185937]

Ann Keen: Dental fluorosis is a cosmetic effect with no implications for systemic (general) health. It may nevertheless, in a small minority of cases, give people concerns about the appearance of their teeth. A research project reported in the British Dental Journal (volume 189 No 4 August 26 2000) on the prevalence of fluorosis of children who had been continuous residents in fluoridated Newcastle or non-fluoridated Northumberland found that 54 per cent. of children in water fluoridated areas had fluorosis and 23 per cent. in the fluoride deficient areas. In response to the advice from the American Dental Association, we are to investigate the aesthetic impact of fluorosis. We are funding a research project involving the use of intra-oral cameras and automated software to obtain consistent readings in surveys of levels of dental fluorosis. If, as we expect, the project is successful, the researchers will use the photographs to obtain the views of a representative sample of people on the appearance of teeth with fluorosis at different levels of severity.

Macular Degeneration: Wirral

Stephen Hesford: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the incidence of macular degeneration in Wirral West constituency has been in the last five years; and what plans he has to screen those over 60 for the disease. [185850]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not collected centrally. There are no plans to introduce screening at this time.

Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells Trust: Pay

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what powers he has to (a) prevent and (b) limit the payment of severance pay to the former Chief Executive of the Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells Trust; and whether his Department has prevented or limited the severance payment to the former Chief Executive of the Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells Trust; [181830]

(2) on what grounds he determined that the severance payment to the former Chief Executive of the Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust should not be made. [183905]

Ann Keen: The employment of staff, clinicians and managers within the national health service is a matter for local NHS boards. Secretaries of State have power to give directions to NHS trusts about their exercise of any functions, which may include the making of payments to staff. This power could still be relevant to any matters outstanding regarding severance payments.

In the case of Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells we asked the NHS trust to withhold any severance payment to the former chief executive prior to considering legal advice on the matter. We understand that the trust has since taken legal advice on this matter, and following that advice, has issued a statement that the former chief executive will be paid her legal entitlement of six months salary.

Maternity Services

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government have taken to improve maternity services since 1997. [183842]

Ann Keen [holding answer 19 February 2008]: I refer my hon. Friend to the reply given to him on 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1390W. Also on 25 January 2008, we announced extra funding for maternity services for each of the next three years, totalling £330 million. This will ensure that mothers will get the best possible care and will be guaranteed a full range of choices. Trusts will have access to this additional money from April.

Mental Health Services: Training

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when all frontline staff in mental health and learning disability services will have received Promoting Safer and Therapeutic Services training in conflict resolution. [185019]

Ann Keen: The NHS Security Management Service organises conflict resolution training for national health service staff. Within this training programme, the Promoting Safer and Therapeutic Services syllabus has been specifically designed for staff working in mental health and learning disability settings. The aim is for all staff to have received training by 31 March 2008.

Midwives: Training

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many midwifery training places there were in each English region in each of the last five academic years. [184901]

Ann Keen: A table which shows how many midwifery training places there were in each strategic health authorities in each of the last five academic years has been placed in the Library.

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost to his Department of training student midwives was in each year since 2004-05. [186952]

Ann Keen [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The total estimated cost of training student midwives for each year since 2004-05 is set out in the following table.

| Financial year | Total cost (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 79.4 |
| 2005-06 | 82.2 |

Notes:
(i) 2004-05 and 2005-06 are forecasts. No data are available for 2006-07 onwards.
(ii) Data in the above time series are not strictly comparable due to changes in the way data were collected.
(iii) Average bursary costs for nurses and midwives have been added to tuition costs from 2004-05 onwards.

Neurology

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many neurosurgeons qualified in each of the past 10 years [178726]

Ann Keen: The Department does not hold the numbers of neurosurgeons who qualified each year because the annual national health service workforce census does not separately identify the number of consultants specialising in neurosurgery who qualify each year.

The number of consultants specialising in neurosurgery employed in the NHS in each year from 1996 to 2006 is shown in the following table.

Hospital and Community Health Services : Medical staff showing consultants and doctors in training and equivalents working in neurosurgery: England at 30 September each year

Numbers

| | All staff, of which: | Consultants | Doctors in training and equivalents |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1996 | 367 | 124 | 236 |
| 1997 | 358 | 127 | 218 |
| 1998 | 371 | 130 | 231 |
| 1999 | 368 | 136 | 222 |
| 2000 | 407 | 139 | 252 |
| 2001 | 427 | 152 | 252 |
| 2002 | 466 | 161 | 280 |
| 2003 | 491 | 168 | 311 |
| 2004 | 534 | 180 | 345 |
| 2005 | 561 | 190 | 352 |
| 2006 | 553 | 187 | 358 |

NHS: Contracts

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what guidance he has issued on NHS trusts charging contractors for tenders. [187178]

Mr. Bradshaw: Guidance on this matter is not issued centrally.

National health service trusts are responsible for their own good financial management. This will include looking closely at all opportunities to prevent or minimise any impact on services to patients.

Suppliers must decide for themselves whether to support a particular tender invitation after giving due consideration to the potential benefits and process savings that might be accrued from it.

NHS: Drugs

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people who have experienced (a) strokes and (b) heart attacks related to their use of the drug Vioxx. [185402]

Dawn Primarolo: Data are not available on which to base a valid estimate of the number of heart attacks, strokes and other adverse effects that may have been caused by Vioxx and other COX-2 inhibitors. The underlying medical condition of many patients treated with COX-2 inhibitors means that they are already at higher risk of heart attack and stroke than the rest of the population, and the impact of the COX-2 inhibitor on this risk is not possible to calculate.

Since Vioxx was voluntarily withdrawn by the manufacturer in 2004, the safety of other COX-2 inhibitors and traditional anti-inflammatory drugs—non-selective non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs)—has been under continual and intense assessment in the United Kingdom and Europe. The latest evidence suggests that both NSAIDs and COX-2 inhibitors might pose a small increased risk of heart attacks or strokes, although the exact level of risk may vary between medicines. The Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency has widely communicated the latest information and advice for healthcare professionals in letters and bulletins, and other publications through liaison with the British National Formulary and National Prescribing Centre. In addition, product information (including patient information leaflets) has been updated in order to support informed decision-making in relation to the choice of anti-inflammatory medicine.

NHS: Internet

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what days the www.jobs.nhs.uk/terms.html webpage was updated in the last two months. [185599]

Ann Keen: The www.job.nhs.uk/terms.html webpage was last updated on 16 January 2008 as stated on the website. The terms and conditions of the National Health Service Jobs website are reviewed once a month by NHS employers and are updated when necessary. They were previously updated in 2006 as a result of changes from "Commissioning a Patient led NHS".

Nurses: Uniforms

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether any categories of clinical or nursing staff are exempt from the bare below the elbow rule. [185609]

Ann Keen: No categories of clinical or nursing staff are automatically exempt from the bare below the elbows dress code. In setting local uniform policy, national health service trusts need to take account of the Department's guidance and to decide when both clinical and nursing staff are in situations where it is applicable.

Clinical and nursing staff need to dress appropriately and professionally to enable them to carry out their duties. The new bare below the elbows dress code is a matter of patient safety, as it supports good hand cleaning practice and contributes to infection prevention and control.

Nutrition

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1396W, on nutrition, how many patients were (a) admitted to and (b) discharged from hospital with a diagnosis of (i) malnutrition, (ii) nutritional anaemia and (iii) other nutritional deficiencies in 2006-07, per 1,000 patient admissions, broken down by NHS trust. [185563]

Dawn Primarolo: The information is not available in the exact format requested.

Tables showing the rates of finished in year admission episodes for malnutrition/nutrition anaemias and other nutritional deficiencies per 1,000 hospital admission episodes and the rate of in year discharge episodes for the specified diagnosis per 1,000 hospital discharge episodes, have been placed in the Library. This does not represent how many patients were admitted or discharged with these specified diagnosis as a person may have more than one admission/discharge episode within the year for a particular diagnosis. The figures are by per 1,000 hospital admission episodes rather than per 1,000 patient admissions.

Also, it is not possible to add the number of admission/discharge episodes in each of the three diagnosis categories (malnutrition, nutritional anaemia and other nutritional deficiencies) to obtain the total number of episodes with these diagnoses because it is possible that a patient could have more than one of the diagnoses recorded in their episode which means the same episode could appear in all three categories.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1396W, on nutrition, what assessment he has made of the reasons for the trend in the diagnoses of (a) malnutrition, (b) nutritional anaemias and (c) other nutritional deficiencies since 1997-98. [185572]

Dawn Primarolo: The trend of a greater number of discharge episodes than admission episodes does not imply that patients are becoming malnourished or developing nutritional anaemia/other nutritional deficiencies during their time in hospital. It is not possible to compare admissions and discharges in this way because there are a number of reasons why we would expect there to be more discharge episodes than admission episodes with these diagnoses.

For example, a patient showing signs/symptoms of malnutrition etc. would often undergo various tests to establish the cause of the symptoms; it may not be until later (e.g. the patient's last episode in a particular hospital—their discharge episode) that the results come back and a formal diagnosis of malnutrition can be made. Hence, waiting for test results could result in more diagnoses being recorded in the discharge episode.

Also, a diagnosis in the discharge episode will be the last diagnosis that a particular patient was being treated for. This does not mean that patients who have a discharge episode with a diagnosis of malnutrition/nutritional anaemia/other nutritional deficiencies were actually discharged from hospital still malnourished or with nutritional anaemia or other nutritional deficiencies.

It is not possible to add the number of admission/discharge episodes in each of the three diagnosis categories (malnutrition, nutritional anaemia and other nutritional deficiencies) to obtain the total number of episodes because it is possible that a patient could have more than one of the diagnoses recorded. This means the same episode could appear in all three categories.

The increase trend in finished in year admission and discharge episodes over time, is in part due to factors such as the improvements in quality/coverage of Hospital Episode Statistics data and clinical coding since 1997. These improvements in information submitted by the national health service have been particularly marked in the earlier years and need to be borne in mind when analysing time series.

Obesity: Children

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many children aged 11 to 16 years were considered (a) obese and (b) overweight in each year since 1997; [185247]

(2) how many children under the age of 11 years were considered (a) obese and (b) overweight in each year since 1997. [185254]

Dawn Primarolo: The information is not available in the exact format requested.

Data on the prevalence of overweight and obesity among children aged two to 10 and aged 11 to 15 years, since 1995, can be found in the "Health Survey for England 2006 latest trends", published 31 January 2008. The data are presented in table 4 (obesity) of the "Children's trend tables 2006". A copy of the report and tables has been placed in the Library.

Suicide

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when the last suicide prevention campaign aimed at school students was launched; and how much his Department has spent on suicide prevention in schools in each of the last five years. [186791]

Jim Knight: I have been asked to reply.

The Government are committed to improving safeguards for children. That is why they have introduced new legislation, new guidance, new structures and new policy initiatives to make children safer and to ensure that there is a proper focus on children at the very heart of Government. A national suicide prevention strategy for England was launched by the Department of Health in September 2002 with the aim of supporting the target to substantially reduce the mortality rate from suicide and undetermined injury by at least 20 per cent. by 2010.

We are currently working with Papyrus on the prevention of young suicide and funding the expansion of their helpline called Hopeline UK. We are also putting £30 million into the NSPCC to expand and improve their services so that more children can be given advice and help. Action to tackle this complex problem also includes raising awareness of the potential dangers of suicide websites/chat rooms and working with Internet Service Providers to discourage them from hosting sites which may encourage suicide. The independent Byron review is looking into helping children and young people get the most from the internet whilst protecting them from inappropriate and potentially harmful material.

The Department does not collect data on how much schools spend on suicide prevention. However grant funding to local authorities for implementing the ten year programme of improvements for child and adolescent mental health services (CAMHS) set out in the National Framework for Children and Young People and Maternity Services (NSF) has increased from £10 million in 1999-2000 to £91 million in each financial year from 2003-04 to 2007-08. The Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning (SEAL) programme was created to develop all children and young people's social and emotional skills at school, which help to underpin emotional wellbeing. SEAL will be supported by an extra £13.7 million over four years, on top of the £7 million a year already confirmed, and the aim is that by 2010-11 SEAL will be available to all schools nationally. In addition from April we will invest an additional £60 million over three years to support schools to work with mental health practitioners and strengthen the provision of targeted mental health services for children and adolescents. We also announced plans in 2007 for an independent review of CAMHS.

Sunbeds

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what options are being considered for regulation of the sunbed industry, as mentioned in the cancer reform strategy; [185407]

(2) with reference to the cancer reform strategy, in what manner the SunSmart campaign will expand; when the expansion will become effective; and what activities it will cover; [185437]

(3) what recent discussions he has had with the Scottish Executive on the provision of health-related information in (a) supervised and (b) unsupervised sunbed salons; [185439]

(4) what recent discussions his Department's (a) public health and (b) cancer teams have had on the regulation of (i) (A) supervised and (B) unsupervised sunbed salons and (ii) the usage of sunbeds by those under the age of 18; [185440]

(5) what recent discussions he has had with (a) the sunbed industry and (b) stakeholders in the health community on the health effects of sunbed usage; [185441]

(6) what estimate he has made of the level of usage of (a) supervised and (b) unsupervised sunbed salons by under 18 year olds in the latest period for which figures are available; [185443]

(7) what recent discussions he has had with (a) the World Health Organisation, (b) his counterparts in the European Union and (c) the Scottish Executive on the use of sunbeds by those under the age of 18; [185442]

(8) what steps his Department is taking to determine the number and distribution of (a) supervised and (b) unsupervised sunbed salons; and over what timescale; [185444]

(9) if he will bring forward regulations to require minimum standards of (a) clarity and (b) uniformity in respect of information provided in (i) sunbed salons and (ii) unsupervised sunbed salons. [186335]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department is reviewing what options can be considered for the regulation of tanning salons with the help of stakeholders, both inside and outside of Government.

For example, we have met with representatives from the tanning industry and voluntary organisations with an interest in young people, and engaged with other Government Departments, the Scottish Executive and international organisations on the issue of sunbeds, both supervised and unsupervised.

The aim is to strike a balance between consumer safety and choice and to focus initially on the potential harm to young people under 18 years using sunbeds. As part of the review we are working with stakeholders to develop proposals to ascertain the extent of usage of sunbeds by minors and the distribution of sunbed outlets.

In the meantime, the Health and Safety Executive is shortly expected to publish for consultation on its website a revised version of leaflet INDG209 'Controlling health risks from the use of Ultraviolet tanning equipment'. This will include draft guidance for operators and information for customers.

SunSmart is the national prevention and sun protection campaign, run by Cancer Research UK on behalf of the United Kingdom Health Departments. The Cancer Reform Strategy is a five-year strategy and the details of implementing the many actions outlined in the strategy (including those relating to skin awareness) are currently being worked through.

Tinnitus

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to provide funding for tinnitus research over the next three years. [186384]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department funds national health service research and development through the National Institute for Health Research (NIHR). The institute's research programmes support high quality research of relevance and in areas of high priority to patients and the NHS.

The usual practice of the NIHR (and of the Medical Research Council) is not to ring-fence funds for expenditure on particular topics: research proposals in all areas compete for the funding available. Both organisations welcome applications for support into any aspect of human health and these are subject to peer review and judged in open competition, with awards being made on the basis of the scientific quality of the proposals made.

Details, including the scope of the programmes and the arrangements for making applications for support from them, are available on the NIHR website at:

www.nihr.ac.uk.

Wines

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the policy of the Food Standards Agency is on the importation and sale of low alcohol wine. [185800]

Dawn Primarolo: The enforcement for wine sector regulations in the United Kingdom is carried out by the Food Standards Agency.

Wines from other member states may be brought into the UK provided they comply with European Community (EC) regulations on winemaking. Naturally lower alcohol wines can be produced and sold in member states. However, Council Regulation 1493/1999 does not allow the reduction of alcohol in a wine. There is, however, provision for member states to allow experimental winemaking practices but any wines produced can only be sold in the member state of production.

Wines from third countries imported into the EC are in general subject to the same rules on winemaking as wines produced in member states. The United States of America is one of a number of countries that has an agreement with the EC which allows wines from the USA which meet their domestic regulations to be imported into the EC. This agreement includes the use of alcohol reduction techniques.

The agency favours a regime that recognises there is no threat to consumer health by using alcohol reduction processes. However a new category for reduced alcohol wines is required to be included in to EC regulations, to avoid misleading description and potential confusion with mainstream wines.

The European Union wine regime is currently being reviewed and it is expected to introduce a fast track procedure for approval of novel winemaking processes such as spinning cone and reverse osmosis which can reduce the alcohol content of wine.

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for what reason British wine producers are restricted by EU rules in selling lower alcohol wines in the UK; and if he will make a statement. [186856]

Dawn Primarolo: Naturally lower alcohol wines can be produced and sold in the United Kingdom. Council Regulation 1493/1999 does not allow the reduction of alcohol in a wine. There is, however, provision in the regulations to allow experimental winemaking practices but any wines produced can only be sold in the member state of production.

The enforcement for wine sector regulations in the UK is carried out by the Food Standards Agency. The agency favours a more liberal regime, recognising the potential benefits to consumers of using alcohol reduction processes. However this would require an amendment to European Commission regulations which currently make this practice illegal, on the grounds that this would mislead consumers and there would be potential for confusion with mainstream wines.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Alcoholic Drinks: Crime

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were arrested for offences related to alcohol abuse in (a) Romford, (b) Greater London and (c) Essex in 2007. [186914]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not held centrally. The arrests collection undertaken by the Ministry of Justice provides data on persons arrested for recorded crime (notifiable offences), by age group, gender, ethnicity, and main offence group, for example violence against the person, sexual offences, robbery, burglary, etc. However, from these data we are not able to identify specific offences related to alcohol.

Antisocial Behaviour

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent progress has been made on the Government's target of reducing antisocial behaviour. [187101]

Mr. Coaker: In 2002-03, 21 per cent. of people responding to the British Crime Survey perceived high levels of antisocial behaviour (ASB) compared with 17 per cent. in the year up to September 2007. The Local Government User Satisfaction Survey which asked similar questions to the British Crime Survey in 2003-04 and again in 2006-07 showed a reduction in perception in 94 per cent. of areas. This reduction in perception has contributed to the Home Office meeting its PSA target on confidence and reassurance for 2005-08.

The Home Office's twin track approach of enforcement and support has been shown to be effective by the National Audit Office's 2006 report on antisocial Behaviour. The report concluded that the majority of people who received an ASB intervention did not re-engage in ASB.

Antisocial Behaviour: Young People

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent steps she has taken to tackle antisocial behaviour amongst young people. [187001]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office has always maintained that antisocial behaviour is not specifically a 'youth' issue—the vast majority of young people behave well and make a positive contribution to society.

There is a range of tools and powers that have been in place for some time which can be employed when young people engage in crime and antisocial behaviour. Warning letters, acceptable behaviour contracts and individual support orders alongside antisocial behaviour orders specifically tackle behaviour, while parenting orders and contracts prevent problems in their child's behaviour and steer them away from becoming involved in antisocial and offending behaviour.

The Government are putting even greater emphasis on ensuring that when young people engage in antisocial behaviour they receive the right balance of support, challenge and positive activities to help them change their behaviour and fulfil their potential, contribute to communities and avoid getting into further trouble. As part of this the work, the Youth Task Force will support the delivery of these services. This will be set out in the 'Youth Task Force Action Plan' to be published in March.

We are also developing a renewed cross-Government approach to youth crime with the Department for Children Schools and Families and the Ministry of Justice. This work will result in a 'Youth Crime Action Plan' to deliver results across youth crime prevention, youth justice as well as cross-cutting themes on youth victimisation and serious youth violence.

Boyhood to Manhood Foundation

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will take steps to provide support for the From Boyhood to Manhood Foundation in order to prevent its closure. [176833]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office is in regular contact with the From Boyhood to Manhood Foundation. Together with other parts of Government, we are working closely with the Foundation to resolve their present difficulties and strengthen their business and management capacity. We have agreed to provide funding to enable the organisation's day centre to remain open in the immediate future and will continue discussions on what support might be available in the longer term.

Corruption

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was repatriated as a result of corruption investigations in the UK in each of the last five years for which there are records. [178824]

Mr. Coaker: There is no centrally held register at the Home Office. However, I am aware of two cases; one resulted in £3 million being repatriated in 2003 and another in which £1 million was returned in 2006.

Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans she has to implement the remaining provisions of the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004; and if she will make a statement. [184763]

Mr. Coaker: There are two unimplemented sections of the Domestic Violence Crime and Victims Act 2004:

Section 9—Statutory Domestic Homicide Reviews

Section 12—Enabling courts to impose restraining orders on those convicted of any offence, and also on those who are acquitted for any offence.

The Home Office is working closely with the Department for Communities and Local Government and the Ministry of Justice to agree the estimated impact on local services of implementing these provisions. We will be implementing these measures when resources allow.

Driving: Mobile Phones

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps the Government have taken to reduce the numbers of drivers using mobile telephones when driving in the last three years. [186293]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 19 February 2008]: From 1 December 2003 using a hand-held mobile phone while driving became a specific, non-endorsable, fixed-penalty offence. The fixed penalty was £30. If the case went to court, the maximum fine was £1,000. The Road Safety Act 2006, with effect from 27 February 2007, made the offence endorsable, with three penalty points and a £60 fixed penalty.

The latest figures, for 2005, show that the police took enforcement action against 129,700 drivers for the specific offence of driving while using a hand-held mobile phone. This is a 72 per cent. increase on the 2004 figure.

The Department for Transport (DfT) has publicised the offence since its introduction, to emphasise that it is dangerous and that offenders will be punished. DfT plan to spend some £1.5 million in 2007-08 on television, radio and cinema advertising. The current campaign started on 1 February. In addition DfT provides printed materials to local authority road safety officers who mount their own campaigns .

Drugs: Misuse

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the street price of (a) heroin and (b) cocaine was in each of the last 10 years. [178111]

UK Average Drug Prices 1997-2007

| As at December. | Cocaine (per gram) | Heroin (per gram) |
|---|---|---|
| 1997 | 71 | 74 |
| 1998 | 77 | 74 |
| 1999 | 75 | 65 |
| 2000 | 65 | 70 |
| 2001 | 60 | 63 |
| 2002 | 56 | 61 |
| 2003 | 55 | 62 |
| 2004 | 51 | 55 |
| 2005 | 49 | 54 |
| 2006 | 49 | 50-55 |
| 2007 | 45 | 40-50 |

Firearms

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many weapons seized (a) in England and Wales, (b) in the north-east and (c) in Middlesbrough, South and East Cleveland were reactivated firearms in each of the last 10 years; [179650]

(2) what percentage of recovered sub-machine guns were reactivated firearms in the latest period for which figures are available. [179651]

Mr. Coaker: I refer my hon. Friend to the answers given on 7 January 2008, Official Report, column 271W.

Genetics: Databases

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many DNA samples are on the national DNA database. [181241]

Meg Hillier: 'DNA samples' refer to biological material, either taken from individuals, or from traces left at crime scenes. These samples are analysed to produce code numbers, known as profiles, which are stored on the national DNA database (NDNAD). On 21 January 2008, the NDNAD held 319,677 profiles from crime scenes, and profiles relating to 4,290,925 individuals, loaded by all United Kingdom police forces.

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what percentage of DNA samples on the DNA database are from people who have not been convicted of any crimes; [181242]

(2) how many people who have never been convicted of a crime have a sample of their DNA on the national DNA database. [181243]

Meg Hillier: I refer my right hon. Friend to my answer to the hon. Member for Hornsey and Wood Green (Lynne Featherstone) on 13 December 2007, Official Report, column 761W.

Mr. Bailey: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for how long the Government retain the DNA records of individuals who are not found guilty of committing an offence. [181946]

Meg Hillier: Under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act (PACE) 1984, the police have the power to take and retain DNA from anyone arrested for a recordable offence and detained in a police station.

PACE does not set a limit on retention. Instead, the police follow retention guidelines issued by the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO), which state that records will normally be retained for 100 years from the person's date of birth, regardless of whether they are still alive.

ACPO also issued guidance to chief officers on the consideration of applications for removal at the end of January 2006. The ACPO guidelines envisage that DNA which has been taken lawfully will be removed only in exceptional cases, though discretion remains with the chief officer. The then Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department, my right hon. Friend the Member for Leigh (Andy Burnham), made a written ministerial statement announcing the issue of these ACPO guidelines, on 16 February 2006, Official Report, column 117WS.

Human Trafficking

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will add policing of trafficking of human beings as core police business included in performance indicators. [176126]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 7 January 2008]: Human trafficking is core police business and all forces should now have the capacity to deal with trafficking problems in their area. We are currently working to develop performance measures on organised crime including human trafficking to be included in the new Assessments of Policing and Community Safety (APACS) system.

We are intending to introduce in APACS starting on 1 April 2008 a key diagnostic indicator which requires forces to measure the number of organised crime groups in their areas which have been disrupted, including human trafficking groups.

Identity Cards: Expenditure

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much her Department has spent on external consultants for work relating to the identity cards programme. [180253]

Meg Hillier: I refer the hon. Member to the response to his previous question, on 4 February 2008, Official Report, column 812W.

National Identity Database

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate her Department has made of the likely error rate in the national identity database. [180402]

Meg Hillier: Until the national identity register is launched it is not possible to make an accurate prediction of the likelihood of an error occurring within the database.

The system will be fully security accredited before it can commence operation and its operation will be overseen by both the Information Commissioner and the national identity scheme commissioner to ensure that the integrity of the scheme is maintained.

Police: Surveillance

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what guidance her Department (a) has issued and (b) plans to issue to the police on the use of photographs taken by surveillance cameras to (i) detect and (ii) prosecute those observed committing an offence under (A) section 14 of the Road Traffic Act 1988 and (B) the Road Vehicles (Construction and Use) (Amendment) (No.4) Regulations 2003; what recent representations she has received on the issue; and if she will make a statement. [186289]

Mr. Coaker: Enforcement of these offences is an operational matter for the police. The Home Office has issued no guidance on the use of photographs taken by surveillance cameras to detect those committing the offences and there are no plans to issue such guidance.

For certain motoring offences, the law specifically provides that evidence from a camera or other device is admissible in court if the device is of a type approved by the Secretary of State. For other motoring offences, including these, there is no such provision. Within the normal constraints of the law including on data protection and human rights it is for the police to decide on the evidence they need to put forward for a case to be considered for prosecution and how to obtain it.

The Home Office has had one recent representation on the issue, from a member of the public.

WALES

Bus Services: Concessions

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Transport on mutual recognition for pensioners from Wales and from England in concessionary bus travel schemes on both sides of the border. [186259]

Mr. Paul Murphy: I have regular discussions with ministerial colleagues on a range of issues affecting Wales.

There is provision within the current legislation for mutual recognition for concessionary bus travel. It will require secondary legislation to be put in place and at present the focus of the Concessionary Bus Travel Act (2007) is to ensure a successful introduction of the new England-wide concession when it comes into force on 1 April 2008.

Under the Act individual local authorities will be able to come to agreements with bus companies offering a cross border service to allow their residents to use their passes to travel between England and Wales.

Departmental Stationery

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spent on stationery in each of the last five years. [187059]

Mr. Paul Murphy: Stationery is supplied under a general office supplies contract, and its cost within the total is not identified separately.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what average hourly rate his Department paid to employment agencies for agency staff in each year since 1999, broken down by employment agency. [187797]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The average hourly rates paid for agency staff each year is as follows:

| | Adecco | Acorn | Kelly |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1999 | 9.30 | n/a | n/a |
| 2000 | 9.80 | n/a | n/a |
| 2001 | 9.80 | n/a | n/a |
| 2002 | 10.29 | 8.81 | n/a |
| 2003 | 10.80 | 8.81 | n/a |

| | Adecco | Acorn | Kelly |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2004 | 12.07 | 10.35 | 11.28 |
| 2006 | n/a | 9.73 | 11.28 |
| 2006 | n/a | 9.18 | 11.28 |
| 2007 | n/a | 9.18 | n/a |

Departmental Translation Services

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what documents his Department translates into languages other than Welsh for people in the UK who do not speak English. [187992]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much was spent on translation services other than for translations into Welsh by his Department in (a) 2003-04, (b) 2004-05, (c) 2005-06, (d) 2006-07 and (e) to date in 2007-08. [187995]

Mr. Paul Murphy: Nil.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many journeys his Department's (a) Ministers and (b) civil servants made between London and Northern Ireland on official business in each month since May 2007. [187061]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My predecessor made one trip to Northern Ireland in his capacity as Secretary of State for Wales and was accompanied by one official.

Electricity

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spent on electricity in each of the last five years. [187054]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The Wales Office has spent the following amounts on electricity bills:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 14,440.37 |
| 2003-04 | 9,180.72 |
| 2004-05 | 4,368.05 |
| 2005-06 | 4,132.43 |
| 2006-07 | 5,054.06 |

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Balkans: Politics and Government

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the political and security situation in the Balkans. [186176]

Mr. Jim Murphy: On 17 February the Kosovo Assembly passed a resolution declaring Kosovo to be independent. On 18 February my right hon. Friends the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary announced that the UK recognised Kosovo as a sovereign and independent state and would establish diplomatic relations in accordance with the Vienna Convention.

On 18 February the European General Affairs and External Relations Council called on Belgrade and Pristina to respect previous commitments to refrain from any activities or statements which might endanger the security situation. At a meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) also reaffirmed that Kosovo Force (KFOR) will continue to ensure a safe and secure environment.

Since the Kosovo declaration of independence, there have been demonstrations in Belgrade and amongst the Serb communities in Kosovo. There was some damage to property caused by demonstrators outside the US and Slovenian embassies in Belgrade. There have been small explosions near the EU offices in North Mitrovica. There are no reported casualties.

The UK remains fully committed to safeguarding the region's security and contributes to KFOR, and the EU forces in Bosnia. We remain ready to fulfil our obligations to NATO's pan-Balkans Operational Reserve Force (ORF), and we stand ready to send the UK ORF battalion, currently at highest readiness, if requested by the NATO Commander. The UK will also contribute approximately 80 personnel to the European Security and Defence Policy Police and Rule of Law mission currently deploying to Kosovo and the International Civilian Office overseeing settlement implementation.

We will continue to work intensively with our EU and NATO partners to deliver peaceful progress towards Euro and Euro-Atlantic integration for the whole Balkan region.

British Overseas Territories

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what provisions of the Bill of Rights 1689 apply to the United Kingdom's overseas territories; and if he will make a statement. [188070]

Meg Munn: The Bill of Rights 1688 (not 1689) is a UK Act of Parliament, which is not specifically stated to extend to the overseas territories. However, it is clear that the provisions relating to the succession of the Crown, in addition to England, France and Ireland, apply to the dominions, which include all territories under the sovereignty of the Crown.

Burma: Politics and Government

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations his Department plans to make to Burmese authorities on the inclusion of opposition parties and ethnic minorities in the process of drafting a new Burmese constitution planned for May 2008. [187080]

Meg Munn: The Government have consistently called on the Burmese authorities to include opposition parties and ethnic representatives in the process of drafting a new Burmese constitution.

The regime's call for a referendum in May 2008, and elections in 2010, was made without consulting the opposition and ethnic representatives. For the process and any timeline to have credibility and for it to lead to genuine national reconciliation, it must include all political and ethnic groups.

On 12 February, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary reiterated our demand that the Burmese regime immediately release Aung San Suu Kyi so that she can participate fully in the drafting of a new constitution. He also called for the immediate return of the UN Secretary-General's Special Envoy on Burma, Professor Gambari, to the country to help facilitate the process of inclusive decision making and political transition. We shall continue to press the regime to recognise the need for an inclusive and transparent process. For the road map to lead to a stable, sustainable and peaceful democracy, all interested parties must have faith in its mechanisms.

Departmental Security

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will list the (a) special advisers and (b) Ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to his Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. [182193]

Meg Munn: It is established practice not to provide details on pass access to Government buildings for security reasons.

Equatorial Guinea: Prisoners

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports his Department has received of the imprisonment and treatment of Simon Mann; and if he will make a statement. [187341]

Meg Munn: Simon Mann is currently detained in Black Beach prison in Equatorial Guinea. Our deputy high commission in Lagos provides consular assistance to British nationals in Equatorial Guinea. Our consul in Lagos travelled to Malabo and visited Mr. Mann in prison on 12 February 2008 when his welfare was discussed. We have made clear to the Equatorial Guinean authorities that we expect Mr. Mann to be treated in line with international standards.

We have received assurances from the Equatorial Guinean authorities that Mr. Mann will be treated well while in detention.

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what meetings officials in his Department have held on the case of Simon Mann; and if he will make a statement. [187342]

Meg Munn: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office is aware of Mr. Mann's case and providing consular assistance to him. Officials have met with representatives from the Equatorial Guinean authorities in London and Malabo to discuss the case.

European Council: European Commission

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the proposed relationship between the President of the European Council and officials of the European Commission. [185538]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Heads of State and Government, supported by Foreign Ministers, reached agreement on all the key institutional issues in the Lisbon treaty, including the role of full-time President of the European Council, at the 2007 June European Council.

The treaty makes clear that the President of the European Council

> "shall ensure the preparation and continuity of the work of the European Council in co-operation with the President of the Commission, and on the basis of the work of the General Affairs Council".

The Commission President provides political guidance for the Commissioners and is the Commission's principal representative in dealings with other EU institutions and with external bodies. Significant decisions by the Commission are taken collectively by the College of Commissioners.

European External Action Service

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the European External Action Service will have overseas posts; and if he will make a statement. [186716]

David Miliband: The treaty of Lisbon provides for a European External Action Service (EEAS), whose role will be to support the High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy.

The European Commission currently has a network of over 120 delegations in third countries and international organisations. Under the Lisbon treaty, these will be placed under the authority of the High Representative for Foreign Affairs and Security Policy. The High Representative will be accountable to the member states of the Council.

Nuclear Disarmament

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 22 January 2008, Official Report, column 1354W, on nuclear disarmament, what the specific parameters are of the independent International Institute of Strategic Studies in-depth study to help determine the requirements for the eventual elimination of all nuclear weapons. [187926]

Dr. Howells: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office funded a workshop in November 2007 on the technical challenges of complete nuclear disarmament. The study itself, however, is independent and the scope and parameters are therefore for the International Institute of Strategic Studies (IISS) to decide. The hon. Member may wish to refer to the IISS for any further information.

Pakistan: Press Freedom

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the level of restrictions on the press in Pakistan expected in relation to the general election of 18 February 2008; and if he will make a statement. [186711]

David Miliband: I called on the Government of Pakistan to ensure that all media outlets were free to cover all aspects of the elections process so that voters could make an informed choice. Media freedom in Pakistan is approaching levels similar to those before imposition of the State of Emergency in November 2007, although the amendments to the Pakistan Electronic Media Regulatory Authority ordinances and the new code of conduct remain in force. All private media broadcasters are back on air. We continue to monitor the situation closely, including through the EU Election Observer Mission, which will be reporting on the conduct of the elections.

Sudan: Overseas Aid

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if the Government will provide financial and technical assistance to countries with available helicopters and related materials and personnel to assist with full deployment of the United Nations African Union Mission in Darfur. [187766]

Meg Munn: We will consider assisting countries that may provide helicopters and other capabilities to the UN-African Union hybrid force in Darfur. We would discuss this on a case-by-case basis directly with the country concerned and in co-ordination with the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations and other potential donors.

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the effect of the delay in the full implementation of the UNAMID mission to Darfur on (a) the security of and (b) the provision of humanitarian aid to the civilian population in the region. [187768]

Meg Munn: Planning for the UN-African Union Mission in Darfur (UNAMID) envisaged full deployment by mid-2008. Delays generating and deploying the mission, as well as obstacles in Sudan, have restricted UNAMID's capabilities. We are pressing the Government of Sudan and rebel groups to allow UNAMID full access and freedom of movement to improve security for humanitarian relief. UNAMID is starting to improve security with renewed firewood and other patrols.

UNAMID's deployment to Darfur is one of the most complex and logistically difficult that the UN has ever undertaken. We are working closely with the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations and the African Union to achieve full deployment as soon as practicable.

Sudan: Sanctions

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on the implementation of further targeted sanctions against the Sudanese Government by the (a) European Union, (b) United Nations Security Council and (c) UK. [187767]

Meg Munn: We will pursue further targeted sanctions against any party, including the Government of Sudan, rebels and militia, that undermines resolution of the crisis in Darfur.

We believe that UN sanctions are more effective than EU or UK measures. The prospect of further UN sanctions, as advocated by the UK, combined with persuasion by the UN Secretary-General and others, played a part in the Government of Sudan agreeing to the UN-African Union Mission in Darfur in 2007. Currently, the UN Security Council is not actively considering sanctions but rather is focused on securing successful implementation of resolution 1769 on Darfur. But we continue to advocate in the Council that we must combine pressure and persuasion on all parties to make rapid progress in resolving the crisis. We are also making this point bilaterally, as my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister did with Chinese Premier Wen in January.

Tristan da Cunha: Fires

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the recent fire at the fish-processing factory on Tristan da Cunha; what steps he has taken to relieve hardship and protect the islanders' economy; and if he will make a statement. [187808]

Meg Munn: I can confirm that a fire destroyed Tristan da Cunha's fish-processing factory on 13 February 2008. The generators that provided the island's power were also destroyed. The cause of the fire has not been identified. Power is now being supplied from a back-up generator, until a new generator can be delivered to the island in March 2008. The hospital has 24 hour power.

Tristan da Cunha's financial self-sufficiency depends on revenue from its fishing industry. Tristan's fishing season is ending so the immediate impact on the island's economy is minimal. But the island's Administrator is working with Ovenstone, the company that runs the lobster fishing concession, supplies the island's electricity and owns the factory, to minimise the economic impact of the fire. The main concern is to maintain the revenue that the industry generates for the island and to minimise potential loss of earnings for those employed in the sector. Ovenstone are preparing contingency plans for the next fishing season, which begins in July 2008. Ovenstone has insurance cover in the event of fire and is already making plans to replace the island's power plant and build a new lobster-processing factory.

In addition, the Department for International Development has recently commissioned a review of options for Tristan to diversify its economy and increase its revenue.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Departmental ICT

Susan Kramer: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many (a) male and (b) female members of staff in the Government Equalities Office were issued with personal digital assistants in each year since 2001; and if she will make a statement. [181370]

Mrs. McGuire: I have been asked to reply.

Neither the Government Equalities Office nor its predecessor the Women and Equality Unit have provided any departmental personal digital assistant (PDA) equipment for its members of staff since 2001.

Departmental Parliamentary Questions

Mr. Harper: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many staff work in her Office's parliamentary branch; and what proportion of their time is spent on dealing with (a) parliamentary questions and (b) correspondence from hon. Members and Peers. [174948]

Barbara Follett: The Government Equalities Office does not have a parliamentary branch. It is currently supported in this function by the Department of Work and Pensions. I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Under-Secretary of State for Work and Pensions my hon. Friend the Member for Stirling (Mrs. McGuire) on 6 February 2008, Official Report, column 1229W, which provides full details about the parliamentary branch in DWP. The Parliamentary Branch does not deal with correspondence from Members or Peers.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many overseas visits have been made by staff of the Government Equalities Office since it was established; which countries were visited; and what the cost was of the visits. [181458]

Barbara Follett: Since the Government Equalities Offices was established on 26 July 2007, a total of six overseas visits have been made by official staff. The countries visited were Belgium, Portugal, Denmark, Luxembourg, Sweden and Slovenia. The total cost of travel and of expenses claimed to date for these visits was £2,479.13.

Domestic Violence

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality (1) what steps the Government have taken to increase funding for organisations supporting those affected by domestic violence; [186845]

(2) what steps the Government have taken to provide support to those affected by domestic violence. [186846]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The Inter-departmental Ministerial Group on Domestic Violence, on which I sit, monitors action on the National Domestic Violence Plan, which includes the delivery of support to victims and their families.

A lot has been done to increase the support available for families affected by domestic violence:

Last year, the Home Office allocated just under £6 million to tackle domestic violence including £2 million to support and improve local delivery on domestic violence for victims and their children. It also funded improved public protection arrangements for domestic violence victims and a matrix of help lines to provide advice and support to victims and their families.

The Ministry of Justice allocated £3 million for Independent Domestic Violence Advisers whose aim is the safety and support of victims and their children. This is in addition to annual court business costs.

The Every Child Matters: Change for Children programme aims to improve the welfare of all children by putting in place arrangements for earlier and more effective assessment and intervention for vulnerable children, such as those affected by domestic violence.

The Department for Communities and Local Government has developed a range of accommodation options for victims including Sanctuary Scheme guidance, and 61 million of Supporting People funds were used by local authorities in 2006-07 to provide housing related support for victims of domestic violence and their families. Guidance for Jobcentre Plus staff provides advice about domestic violence and its potential impact on victims, explains the sorts of support they may need and provides advice on taking account of their particular circumstances when dealing with a benefit application. The guidance also has contact details of a range of organisations which provide advice and support to domestic violence victims.

Financial support in respect of children, such as child benefit and child tax credits, is paid to the person who is responsible for those children and is often already paid directly to mothers. Where there is any family breakdown, the benefits will, where necessary, normally be transferred to the person with whom the children are living.

Domestic violence tears apart families and always affects children. The Government recognise the strong links between child protection concerns and domestic violence. Victims leaving a violent relationship will often need a range of financial and practical support for themselves and their children. The Inter-departmental Ministerial Group will continue to monitor this aspect of delivery.

Females

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what meetings (a) she and (b) the Deputy Minister for Women has had with ministerial colleagues on women's issues in each of the last six months. [181933]

Barbara Follett: Both I and the deputy Minister for Women and Equality have had meetings with ministerial colleagues on a range of women's issues. Discussions are ongoing.

Human Trafficking: EC Action

Mr. Bone: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality when the Government intend to ratify the Council of Europe convention against trafficking in human beings. [173794]

Barbara Follett: This Government are determined to prioritise efforts to tackle this horrific crime. That is why we intend to ratify the convention before the end of this year, subject to achieving necessary changes to domestic legislation in all parts of the UK.

OLYMPICS

Humanitarian Aid

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many staff are employed on domestic humanitarian assistance; and what the total cost was of employing such staff in each of the last three years. [187334]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The Humanitarian Assistance Unit currently has six staff. It also has a number of volunteers from elsewhere in the Department who support its work. The total staff costs for the Humanitarian Assistance Unit is as follows:

|---|---|
| 2005-06 (not a full year) | 113,000 |
| 2006-07 | 294,000 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 232,000 |

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what (a) domestic and (b) international incidents she has dealt with as lead Minister for domestic humanitarian assistance. [187335]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The Humanitarian Assistance Unit was formally established in 2005 after the London bombings. Since then it has been involved in supporting those affected by the following incidents:

2005

Domestic

London bombings
Failed London bombings
Stockwell tube shooting

International

Prior to the establishment of the unit in 2005, I as then Secretary of State and the Department for Culture, Media and Sport was involved with providing humanitarian assistance following the following incidents:

| | Incident |
| 2001 | 9/11, USA |
| 2002 | Bali bombings |

Olympic Games 2012: Advertising

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how much was spent on advertising relating to (a) bidding for and (b) hosting the Olympic Games in 2012 in each relevant year; and what percentage of the Government's budget in relation to the 2012 Olympic Games was spent on advertising. [183006]

Tessa Jowell: The Bid Company obtained all of its promotional advertising from value-in-kind sponsorship and that there was no additional expenditure in this area.

As a part of LOCOG's responsibility for staging the games, they have assumed the Bid Company's previous role in undertaking all promotional advertising activity for the games. LOCOG is registered as a private company and its budget of £2 billion, which includes any advertising costs, will be almost entirely met from private sources. To release details of current advertising expenditure would be likely to prejudice ongoing commercial negotiations between LOCOG and its suppliers. However, as a private company, LOCOG submits a record of its accounts to Companies House on an annual basis. These are publicly available.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Ministers: Redundancy Pay

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many Ministers received a severance payment on leaving office in each year for which figures are available, broken down by government department; and what the cost of those payments was in each year. [187637]

Mr. Watson: Information on Ministers leaving office is a matter of public record. Under the Ministerial and other Pensions and Salaries Act 1991, severance pay of three months salary is payable to recipients of salaries on leaving office.

Information on ministerial salaries is available in the Library of the House.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster when he will answer question 178710 on ministerial salaries, tabled by the hon. Member for Taunton on 24 January 2008. [187638]

Mr. Watson: Question 178710 was answered on 19 February 2008.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Crimes of Violence

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many violent sectarian incidents were reported in Northern Ireland in each year since 1998. [185669]

Paul Goggins: PSNI has only recorded these statistics since 2005. In 2005-06 there were 700 recorded violent crimes with a sectarian motivation compared to 542 in 2006-07.

This is a marked and welcome reduction in what are mindless and despicable crimes which have no place in today's Northern Ireland society. There is a level of co-operation developing across Northern Ireland by the public with the police, which is dramatically different from what we've seen in the past.

Historical Inquiries Team: Finance

Mrs. Iris Robinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what the budget of the historical inquiries team investigating in Northern Ireland is in 2007-08. [187832]

Paul Goggins: The total HET project budget for 2007-08 is £8.5 million. The budget is split between HET PSNI, Office of the Police Ombudsman NI, Public Prosecution Service and Forensic Science NI.

Homicide

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many unsolved murders there have been in Northern Ireland over the last 30 years. [185677]

Paul Goggins: The PSNI has advised that for the period 1970 to 2004 the number of cases of murder which remain open and under investigation is 3,951.

Life Expectancy

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what life expectancy is in Northern Ireland. [185675]

Mr. Woodward: The latest figures published by the Office of National Statistics, based on the interim life tables for 2004 to 2006, show life expectancy in Northern Ireland as set out in the following table.

| | Years | |
|---|---|---|
| | Males | Females |
| At birth | 76.1 | 81.0 |
| At age 65 | 16.6 | 19.5 |

Personation

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what steps he is taking to tackle identity fraud in Northern Ireland. [185679]

Paul Goggins: The Police Service of Northern Ireland, through the Organised Crime Task Force, lead on tackling the various forms of identity fraud in Northern Ireland. There is close co-operation with colleagues across the United Kingdom and in the Republic of Ireland to tackle this problem.

Police Service of Northern Ireland: Driving Offences

Lady Hermon: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many serving police officers within the Police Service of Northern Ireland have committed driving offences within the last 12 months. [186159]

Paul Goggins: Within the last 12 months 43 serving police officers were detected for motoring offences. The offences include:

Excess speed;

Excess alcohol;

Careless driving;

Road traffic collisions, where as yet no offence has been identified.

Unemployment

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what the level of unemployment was in Northern Ireland in each of the last eight years. [185681]

Mr. Woodward: Following the restoration of devolution on 8 May 2007 Northern Ireland Ministers became responsible for the running of the Northern Ireland Departments. The information requested is set out in the following table which has been provided by the Department of Enterprise, Trade and Investment in Northern Ireland (DETI).

Unemployment estimates are sourced to the Northern Ireland Labour Force Survey and the latest estimates relate to the period October to December 2007. DETI advise that annual estimates are not available for the full period requested, so estimates for the last quarter of each year have been provided for comparison purposes.

Unemployment in Northern Ireland, final quarter, 2000 to 2007

| Period (October to December each year) | Unemployment level | Unemployment rate (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007 | 34,000 | 4.2 |
| 2006 | 34,000 | 4.2 |
| 2005 | 35,000 | 4.5 |
| 2004 | 36,000 | 4.6 |
| 2003 | 48,000 | 6.2 |
| 2002 | 43,000 | 5.5 |
| 2001 | 44,000 | 5.9 |
| 2000 | 45,000 | 6.1 |

Fireworks Act 2003

Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps his Department has taken to monitor the effectiveness of the Fireworks Act 2003; and if he will make a statement. [184632]

Mr. Thomas: The Fireworks Act 2003 and other related legislation is kept under review. In particular the effectiveness of the legislation will be examined during the implementation of the European Directive on the placing on the market of pyrotechnic articles, which must be implemented by 10 January 2010.

Fireworks: Noise

Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many complaints about firework noise have been received by his Department; and what statistics his Department has collected on complaints regarding firework noise received by other public bodies in each month from 1 January 2003 to 31st December 2007. [184830]

Mr. Thomas: Complaints about noise from fireworks are not collected and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Industrial Disputes

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government has taken to provide greater accessibility of employment dispute resolution procedures since 1997. [187484]

Mr. McFadden: In December 2006, the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry announced an independent review of Government support for resolving disputes in the workplace which considered the options for simplifying and improving all aspects of employment dispute resolution. The review concluded in March 2007 and recommended complete repeal of the statutory dispute resolution procedures. The Government sought views on the way forward through its March 2007 consultation 'Resolving disputes in the workplace'.

The Government laid the Employment Bill before Parliament in December 2007 to give effect to the main legislative changes needed to reform employment dispute resolution and pave the way for a simpler and more efficient system for employers and employees. The key reforms within the Bill are:

Repeal of the statutory dispute resolution procedures and associated legislation relating to the role of procedure in unfair dismissal.

Introduction of a new principles based statutory ACAS Code of Practice which will be accompanied by fuller non-statutory guidance to provide practical help for employers and employees.

Employment tribunals will take account of the statutory Code in making determinations and have discretionary powers to adjust awards by up to 25 per cent. If either party acts unreasonably.

Removal of time restrictions on ACAS' duty to conciliate after an employment tribunal claim has been made.

Additionally, the Government announced on 6 February 2007 that they were making up to £37 million available to help prevent workplace disputes unnecessarily going to employment tribunals. This extra funding over three years, will allow ACAS to boost its helpline and advice services so that they may help at any stage of a dispute ensuring it is never too late for employers and employees to reach an informal resolution. The money will support increased availability of ACAS conciliation before an employment tribunal claim has been made, enabling the quicker, informal resolution of more disputes.

Other non-legislative measures to improve and simplify employment dispute resolution will be outlined in the Government's response to the consultation which will be published in due course.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government have taken to speed up employment dispute resolution procedures. [187486]

Mr. McFadden: The Tribunals Service has in recent years developed processes for dealing expeditiously with claims in certain jurisdictions. The Government propose to build on this existing good practice by extending the number of jurisdictions which will routinely be listed and determined quickly. The proposals are set out in my answer of 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 650W, to the hon. Member for Calder Valley (Chris McCafferty). The Government have also announced that additional resources will be invested in ACAS conciliation for cases which are likely to become the subject of an employment tribunal claim, but have not yet done so. This will enable more cases to be resolved quickly and informally.

Overseas Trade: Finance

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the cost was of UK overseas regional trade offices in the last period for which figures are available. [180653]

Mr. McFadden: The English Regional Development Agencies maintain representation overseas for the purpose of attracting inward investment, which in the financial year 2006-07 cost a total of £2.3 million.

Please note overseas trade activity by Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland is a devolved matter.

Post Office Card Account

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on what basis charges are levied on accessing a post office card account or a girocheque. [184016]

Mr. Plaskitt: I have been asked to reply.

Customers are not charged when they use their Post Office card account or cash a DWP cheque at the Post Office. However, the contracts for these two services come at considerable cost to the taxpayer. The Post Office card account contract, for example, will cost up to £1 billion over its lifetime. Each payment into a Post Office card account costs around 80p and each cheque cashed around £1.79. This compares to approximately 1p for each payment into a bank or building society account.

Post Offices: Essex

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform further to the letter of 26 January sent by Lord Hanningfield to his Department, what assessment he has made of whether steps taken by Essex County Council constitute a serious expression of interest to financially support post offices; and whether such steps require Post Office Ltd to delay physical closure of existing branches in Essex to allow (a) funding and (b) a contract to be put in place. [186108]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 18 February 2008]: I have spoken to both Post Office Ltd. and to Essex county council about this issue and encouraged dialogue, but it is for Post Office Ltd. and any interested local authority to work through the details of any proposal for councils to fund post office branches scheduled for closure under the network change programme.

Tribunals: Employment

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what plans the Government has for a role for lay people in employment tribunals. [187485]

Mr. McFadden: The Government's position on the role of lay members in employment tribunals is set out in my answer of 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 650W, to the hon. Member for Calder Valley (Chris McCafferty).

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Building Schools for the Future Programme: Private Finance Initiative

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many private finance schemes have been signed under the Building Schools for the Future programme; and what the (a) contractor and (b) length of contract is in each case. [187166]

Jim Knight: There are currently 13 signed PFI deals as a result of the BSF programme. Details regarding the contractor and the contract length are included in the following table:

| LA PFI scheme | Contractor | Contract length (years) |
|---|---|---|
| Bradford | Integrated Bradford | 25 |
| Bristol | Skanska Education Partnerships | 25 |
| Lancashire phase 1 | Catalyst Land Lease | 25 |
| Lancashire phase 2 | Catalyst Land Lease | 25 |
| Leeds phase 1 | Environments for Learning (E4L) | 25 |

| South Tyneside and Gateshead phase 1 | Inspired Spaces | 25 |
| Leicester City phase 1 | Miller Consortium | 25 |
| Knowsley | Transform Schools | 25 |
| Lewisham phase 1 | Learning 21 | 25 |
| Sheffield | Paradigm | 25 |

Children: Autism

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps the Government has taken to provide support for parents with autistic children during school holidays since 1997. [187483]

Kevin Brennan: Breaks from looking after their children are an important element of support for the parents of disabled children, including autistic children.

The Good Practice Guidance on autistic spectrum disorders which the Department for Education and Skills and the Department of Health published in 2002, included pointers to good practice on family support and encouraged schools and local authorities to ensure that there were suitable arrangements to support children and families out-of-school hours and during the school holidays.

The Government have made a commitment that all schools will be providing access to extended services and activities by 2010, and we have set out a core offer of activities that we want all children to be able to access through schools by that time. The Government have published guidance which makes clear that children with disabilities and special educational needs must be able to access all the services. We have also been working with the Council for Disabled Children to review access to and inclusion in extended schools, and in children's centres, for disabled children and their families.

A report of this work will be published shortly, to help schools and children's centres identify effective practice in including disabled children and young people in the services and activities they provide, including services provided in the school holidays.

The Government recently announced the start of a three-year transformation in short break services for disabled children. 21 local areas will launch the first wave of £370 million investment for local authorities that will extend to all of England from 2009. This will provide many more disabled children, including those with autism, with enjoyable and valuable experiences away from their parents and carers, in turn providing them with the opportunity to take a break from caring.

Children: Day Care

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps children and learners teams working in Government offices for the regions have taken to implement child care strategies in their areas; and what assessment he has made of the impact of regional teams on child care providers. [187236]

Beverley Hughes: Children and learners teams in the Government offices for the regions work with local authorities to provide challenge and support as local authorities implement the Government's 10 year child care strategy and Children's Plan in their areas. Practical measures taken have included child care discussions as part of the negotiation of local area agreements, and the establishment of child care regional networks, with Government offices working with local authorities on their child care sufficiency assessments and helping them prepare for their new duty to secure sufficient child care for working parents from 1 April 2008.

This Government office work is enabling local authorities to work more effectively with child care providers, shaping and supporting local child care markets which will ensure that sufficient child care is available.

Children's Centres

Annette Brooke: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the occupancy rate in nursery facilities provided in Sure Start children centres. [187235]

Beverley Hughes: Sure Start children's centres serving the most disadvantaged communities in England must provide integrated early learning and full day care as part of their core services. Centres serving less disadvantaged communities may provide integrated early learning and day care places where local demand is not being met by existing, good quality providers. Information on the occupancy rate in nursery facilities in Sure Start children's centres is not collected centrally by my Department.

The 2006 Childcare and Early Years Providers Survey, conducted when the first Sure Start children's centres were at an early stage in setting up their integrated early learning and child care services, estimated that there were 37,700 registered full day care places provided in centres in England, an average of 55 places per centre and 6,600 vacancies, an average of 12 vacancies per centre.

Children's Centres: Labour Turnover

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many and what proportion of Sure Start children's centres in each local authority area have (a) child care staff vacancies, (b) manager and/or administrator vacancies, (c) outreach staff vacancies and (d) speech and language therapist vacancies; and if he will make a statement; [187093]

(2) what assessment he has made of levels of recruitment and retention in Sure Start children's centres; and if he will make a statement. [187094]

Beverley Hughes: Information on the workforce in Sure Start children's centres workforce is not collected centrally. The 2006 Childcare and Early Years Providers Survey estimated that 31 per cent. of full day care providers based in children's centres in England were actively recruiting staff. This snapshot is based on a sample survey of providers and an estimate of the number of full day care providers based in children's centres who had staff vacancies is not available. Data are not available at a local authority level.

Sure Start children's centres offer a range of integrated services for young children and families, delivered by statutory, private and voluntary and independent sector agencies working together. Recruitment and retention of children's centre staff is a matter for local management by children's centres, local authorities and their partner agencies. By 2010 Sure Start children's centres will be serving all communities across the country providing universal, mainstream and permanent services for children under five and their families. Last summer we advised local authorities of their children's centres funding allocations for the next three financial years (2008 to 2011) to encourage longer-term planning and to increase stability in recruitment and retention of staff.

Creative Partnerships Initiative

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in how many schools in my constituency (a) were working with creative partnerships in 2007 and (b) are planning to work with creative partnerships in 2008. [187266]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 20 February 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

Seven schools in the Bassetlaw constituency worked with Creative Partnerships in 2007.

Creative Partnerships has continued to work with six of these schools this year and expects to work with a number of new schools in Bassetlaw in the next financial year. Final decisions on this will be made shortly in consultation with Nottinghamshire county council.

Disabled: Transport

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much money was allocated to local authorities to be spent on educational transport for wheelchair-bound people (a) under 18, (b) under 25 and (c) aged 25 and over in each of the last five years. [181775]

Jim Knight: The Department is unable to answer the question in the way it has been asked. However, the following table shows the budgeted expenditure of transport for pupils with special educational needs:

Extended Schools

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what funding he plans to make available to support extended schools in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11; what estimate he has made of the number of (i) primary and (ii) secondary extended schools which charge parents who wish their children to attend activities outside regular school hours; and if he will make a statement; [187191]

(2) what the average weekly cost is of extended school provision in (a) primary and (b) secondary schools, which is payable by parents, in each local authority. [187211]

Beverley Hughes [holding answer 19 February 2008]: In 2008-09 to 2010-11 a total of £1.3 billion of funding will be made available to support the development of extended schools. This is set out in the table:.

| Extended schools total funding 2008-11 | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | 2010-11 | £ million Total CSR period |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Start Up | 165 | 172 | 71 | 408 |
| Sustainability | 40 | 100 | 155 | 295 |
| Extended schools subsidy scheme | 8.5 | 40 | 217 | 265.5 |
| Academic-focused study support | 0 | 84 | 83 | 167 |
| Total extended schools revenue | 213.5 | 396 | 526 | 1,135.5 |
| Total extended schools capital | 84 | 89 | 46 | 219 |
| Total extended schools revenue and capital | 297.5 | 485 | 572 | 1,354.5 |

The Department has announced the individual local authority allocations for the next three years for the start up, sustainability and capital funding streams outlined in the table.

Information is not collected centrally on the number of schools which charge parents for their children to attend extended activities, and what the levels of charges are. Schools have different systems and variable rates around charging parents for services and activities. A cost benefit analysis carried out as part of the evaluation of full service extended schools, published in June last year, showed that there is some variability in the method of charging. It showed that with the exception of child care where schools made charges to cover costs, levels of charging tend to be ad hoc and small scale.

The Government have issued guidance to schools on charging through the "Planning and Funding Guidance: a guide for schools, local authorities and their partner organisations." This explains the law on charging and makes clear that school governing bodies must devise and publish a charging and fee remission policy in consultation with parents. It also explains how charging enables schools to enhance the quality and frequency of the extended opportunities they offer and to make these more sustainable and so more reliable for families in the long term.

Parents on lower incomes may be eligible for help with meeting the cost of child care, through the child care element of the working tax credit. We are also making £265.5 million of funding available, as part of the £1.3 billion total extended schools funding, to ensure that children and young people from disadvantaged backgrounds are able to access high quality extended activities and are not prevented from doing so on grounds of cost.

General Certificate of Secondary Education: Greater London

Mr. Boris Johnson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many schools in each London local education authority area had fewer than 30 per cent. of pupils achieving five A* to C grade passes at GCSE, including mathematics and English, in each of the last eight years. [186475]

Jim Knight: The information for 2001/02 onwards can be found in the achievement and attainment tables and the 2005 English and maths pilot in the Library. Information for the other years can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Jim Knight: The Department for Children, Schools and Families does not collect this information broken down by subject and qualification. However, research carried out by the Scouts Association and the Duke of Edinburgh Award in 2005 found that 86 per cent. of primary schools and 99 per cent. of secondary schools offer pupils at least one residential education opportunity, outdoor education being by far the most popular type.

Research into Education Outside the Classroom published by NFER in November 2006 also found that there has been little evidence of a decline in numbers of school trips in recent years.

Fieldwork is and will remain a compulsory part of the geography curriculum in secondary schools, both at key stage 3 (ages 11 to 14) and in GCSE syllabuses. Fieldwork is not currently compulsory in A level geography courses but will be a specific requirement in the A level criteria from September 2008.

The new key stage 3 science curriculum says that pupils should be offered the opportunity to experience science outside the school environment, including in the workplace, where possible.

Pre-School Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what his most recent estimate is of participation rates in early years education, broken down by social class; and if he will make a statement. [187145]

Beverley Hughes: Since April 2004 all three and four-year-olds have been entitled to a free part-time early education place for 12.5 hours per week for 38 weeks of the year. From 2010, this offer will be extended from 12.5 to 15 hours per week for 38 weeks of the year.

Figures for January 2007 show that virtually all four-year-old children receive some form of free entitlement. The figure for three-year-olds is 96 per cent.

The latest figures on early education places for three and four-year-olds in England were published in Statistical First Release (SFR) 19/2007 "Provision for children under five years of age in England: January 2007", available on my Department's website:

www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/.

The 2007 Parents' Childcare Survey collected information about take-up of the free entitlement for three and four-year-olds to 12.5 hours of formal child care per week, by child and family characteristics, enabling an estimate of the proportion of three to four-year-olds who had taken-up this entitlement by social class, using the National Statistics Socio-economic Classification (NS-SEC) to be made. The findings from the 2007 survey are planned to be published shortly.

Comparable estimates are not available for earlier years as specific questions about the take-up of the free entitlement to early years education for three and four-year-olds were not asked in previous surveys. The 2004 survey showed that take up of any early years provision (which would include the free entitlement, as well as other early years education) was lower among more disadvantaged groups. For example, 80 per cent. of three and four-year-olds in families with an annual income of below £10,000 used any early years provision, compared with 95 per cent. of those in families with income above £32,000.

Primary Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families which local authorities have been given early warning of specific issues to be addressed in their primary school strategy for change, as indicated in paragraph 42 of the guidance issued to local authorities on 6 December 2007; and if he will make a statement. [185336]

Jim Knight: None to date. We are reviewing how best to manage this commitment and will notify local authorities in due course.

Mr. Boswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he is taking to encourage the awareness of Key Stage 2 pupils of the world of work. [186119]

Jim Knight: Over the next three years we plan to extend the range of enterprise education activity in primary schools, building on our success in secondary schools. In particular, we will encourage and support more secondary schools to work with feeder primary schools on enterprise projects, building on schools' expertise.

We have appointed Sir Jim Rose to lead an independent root and branch review of the primary curriculum. He will make recommendations on all aspects of the primary curriculum by April 2009. The review of the primary curriculum will ensure that children receive a strong foundation in the key areas of learning and begin to develop and understand the essential skills they will need to progress in learning and the workplace.

Primary Education: Free School Milk

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what proportion of children in primary schools received free school milk in the most recent period for which figures are available. [187241]

Beverley Hughes: The Department for Children, Schools and Families does not collect this information.

Schools

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many (a) rural and (b) urban (i) primary and (ii) secondary schools there were in (A) Cornwall, (B) the south west and (C) England in each year since 1999. [186623]

Jim Knight: The numbers of (a) urban and (b) rural (i) primary and (ii) secondary schools in (A) Cornwall, (B) the south west and (C) England as at February 2008 as shown in the following tables. To provide the information requested for previous years would require the manipulation of large volumes of data which could be undertaken only at a disproportionate cost.

| | Primary | | Secondary | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2008 | Urban | Rural | Urban | Rural | Total |
| (A) Cornwall | 59 | 178 | 16 | 15 | 268 |

| (C) England | 11,958 | 5,248 | 2,744 | 552 | 19,502 |

Schools: Milton Keynes

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what spare capacity there is in schools maintained within Milton Keynes unitary authority area, broken down by (a) year group and (b) school. [187180]

Jim Knight [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The Department collects data on surplus school places broken down by school via an annual survey. The most recent data available relate to 2007. The Department does not collect data on surplus school places broken down by year group.

The tables show the number of surplus places in primary and secondary schools in Milton Keynes as at 1 January 2007.

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child

Fiona Mactaggart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent discussions he has had with the Home Secretary on the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child; and if he will make a statement. [187162]

Beverley Hughes: No recent discussions have taken place between the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families and the Home Office about the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. However, officials in both Departments continue to work closely together, building on the positive progress already made in implementing the convention and preparing for the UK's periodic oral examination by the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child, which is due to take place in Geneva this autumn.

Young People: Carers

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he is taking to ensure that (a) schools identify young carers amongst their students and (b) that they liaise with carers' organisations and local authorities in order to meet the needs of those students. [187824]

Kevin Brennan: Schools have a key role in supporting young carers. They have responsibilities to all their pupils including a new duty for maintained schools to promote the well-being of their pupils under the Education and Inspections Act 2006. We look to schools to create a supportive environment that responds flexibly to each child's personal circumstances. Within this context, the Government have made a commitment to improving the awareness of young carers' circumstances among teachers and others working in schools. For example, this year we are supporting the development of good practice guidance for those working with young carers and their families, which will include a section on what schools can do to identify and support them. Also, we are making sure that the particular needs of young carers are taken account of in our guidance for schools, such as that on behaviour, attendance and bullying.

The cross-Government review of carers now under way is a welcome opportunity to re-assess the support available to young carers. Young carers have been consulted, and stakeholder bodies with knowledge of the issues are fully engaged.

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what information his Department collects on the number of young carers in (a) schools and (b) further education. [187826]

Kevin Brennan: This information is not collected centrally.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

National Skills Academy

9. Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will make a statement on the establishment of a national skills academy for the process industry. [187376]

Mr. Lammy: I launched the National Skills Academy for the Process Industries on 24 January. It has a vital role in raising skills across a sector which employs 420,000 people and contributes £22 billion to the economy.

Small Business

11. Ms Dari Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department has taken to assist the development of leadership and management skills in small businesses. [187378]

Mr. Denham: We have increased our commitment to our Leadership and Management programme through Train to Gain from £4 million this year to £30 million per year. This aims to develop the capacity of small business managers to understand the skills needs of their business, and to make use of the publicly funded Train to Gain programme. We expect to support around 42,000 companies with between 10 and 250 employees and some 60,000 individual managers over the next three years. We anticipate that this will result in around 150,000 learners from those companies using Train to Gain.

Animals in Research

12. Jessica Morden: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent steps his Department has taken to identify alternatives to the use of animals in research. [187379]

Ian Pearson: DIUS is spending close to £5.5 million this year on research into the replacement, refinement and reduction of animals in research via the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council (BBSRC) and the Medical Research Council (MRC). Of this £2.4 million goes to the National Centre for Replacement, Refinement and Reduction of Animals in Research NC3Rs.

Innovation

13. Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent steps he has taken to stimulate innovation in the public and private sector. [187380]

Ian Pearson: Considerable progress has been made in implementing the Government's 10 Year Science and Innovation Investment Framework.

The Technology Strategy Board will coordinate £1 billion of spending over the next three years to support R and D and innovation. We have established the Energy Technologies Institute and we are providing increased support through the Higher Education Innovation Fund.

In addition, we are working with other Government Departments and public bodies to promote innovation in the public sector. A further series of proposals will be set out in our forthcoming Science and Innovation Strategy.

Science Degrees

14. Chris Mole: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department is taking to increase the number of applications for science degree courses at universities. [187382]

Bill Rammell: The Government are committed to increasing numbers of young people studying science, technology, engineering and maths at all levels. As well as our close coordination with the Department for Children, Schools and Families, the Department funds STEMNET, (the Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics Network), to raise awareness of these subjects among young people. Their Science and Engineering Ambassadors scheme has already enabled over 18,000 specialists to work directly with schools and colleges, alerting students to the opportunities offered by studying these subjects.

The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) also provides £75 million additional funding from 2007-08 for three years for high cost strategic science subjects at undergraduate level, including chemistry, physics and chemical engineering.

Apprenticeships

15. Sir Nicholas Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps he is taking to improve the advice on apprenticeships available to young people. [187383]

Mr. Lammy: My RHF, the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, has announced a range of steps in his "Children's Plan" to improve the quality of advice to young people. In addition, "World-Class Apprenticeships" contains measures specifically focused on apprenticeships, including plans to legislate to require schools to provide comprehensive information on apprenticeships to all their pupils.

16. Andrew Gwynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department is taking to encourage small businesses in Denton and Reddish constituency to provide apprenticeships. [187384]

Mr. Lammy: As I explained in an earlier answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Calder Valley (Chris McCafferty), the report of the apprenticeship review sets out a wide range of measures to expand apprenticeships. Small business will particularly benefit from our plans to extend wage subsidies to them so that they can more easily recruit apprentices.

22. Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the drop-out rate was from Government-sponsored apprenticeships in each of the last three years. [187390]

Mr. Lammy: The proportion of those who complete the Apprenticeship Framework has grown dramatically over the last three years. In 2004/05 the figure was 40 per cent.; in 2005/06 it was 53 per cent. and in 2006/07 it had risen to 63 per cent. This shows the ongoing improving status and quality of apprenticeships. The proportion who do not complete the apprenticeship is at an all-time low, and continues to fall.

24. Mr. Denis Murphy: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps he is taking to encourage employers to participate in the apprenticeship programme. [187392]

Mr. Lammy: "World-Class Apprenticeships" sets out a range of measures to encourage many more employers to expand their apprenticeship numbers and to join the programme. These include new financial incentives; a national matching service; and new flexibilities so that employers can bring their own qualifications into apprenticeship frameworks.

Michael Jabez Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps the Government is taking to increase the number of adult apprenticeships. [187381]

Mr. Lammy: We recently announced that for the first time, funding will be targeted specifically at expanding apprenticeships for adults aged over 25. This will mean 30,000 such apprenticeships costing £90 million over the next three years.

Skills Training

17. Jim Sheridan: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps he is taking to increase employer awareness of the benefits of skills training for employees. [187385]

Mr. Denham: It is vital that employers are aware of the benefits skills training can unlock for both employers and their employees. Through "Train to Gain" more than 70,000 employers have been engaged since its launch in April 2006. We launched the "Skills Pledge" in June 2007 and now have more than 950 employers committed. And through our skills marketing campaign, 'our future, its in our hands', we are further raising awareness.

Supported Apprenticeships

18. John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what plans he has for supported apprenticeships for people with learning difficulties or disabilities. [187386]

Mr. Lammy: As we said in "World-class Apprenticeships', more needs to be done to help those with disadvantages to access apprenticeships. It will be a priority for the National Apprenticeship Service to implement a range of measures for disadvantaged groups.

Adult Learning

19. Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what support his Department provides for informal adult learning. [187387]

Mr. Denham: We have safeguarded an annual budget of £210 million to 2010/11 to provide personal and community development learning, to widen participation in informal learning and to ensure that people who live in pockets of deprivation do not lose out.

The consultation that I launched last month, "Informal Adult Learning: Shaping the Way Ahead", re-affirms our commitment to this kind of learning and its importance in meeting the basic human need for creativity and stimulation—as well as improving health and well-being in our communities.

I have been greatly encouraged by the tremendous response of our partners, stakeholders and learners in taking this important consultation forward.

NEETs

20. Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent estimate he has made of the number of 16 to 24-year-olds not in education, employment or training. [187388]

Mr. Lammy: Although responsibility for 16 to 17-year-olds is a matter for the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families and is a shared responsibility for 18-year-olds, the Government are tackling vigorously the important issue of young people not in education, employment or training.

The UK has a dynamic and flexible labour market with one of the highest employment rates in the G7. Youth unemployment has fallen since 1997 and the proportion of 18 to 24-year-olds not engaged in full-time education or employment is down to 18.0 per cent. in 2007 from 19.4 per cent. in 1997. We have seen an increase of 501,000 in the number of 18 to 24-year-olds in full-time education, a rise from 22.7 per cent. to 28.3 per cent.

Nanotechnology Research

21. Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what discussions he has had with the Health and Safety Executive on health and safety standards in nanotechnology research development. [187389]

Ian Pearson: Nanotechnologies offer potentially huge benefits to society, industry, the environment and health. They can help us improve our quality of life and respond to key issues, such as climate change, potentially contributing to improved energy storage and efficiency, better diagnosis and treatment of disease, faster computer systems, and remediation of polluted air, soil and water.

The Government are committed to understanding any potential risks of nanotechnologies and to managing them within a proportionate regulatory framework.

We have established a ministerial cross-departmental group that co-ordinates the UK's programme of research into the health, safety and environmental implications of nanotechnologies. I chair this group which brings together Ministers from DEFRA, DH, DWP and BERR.

DIUS has provided sponsorship for research into "Health and Safety Exposure Assessment in the Workplace Relating to Nanotechnologies". HSE representatives have endorsed this project. It is envisaged that this research will form the basis of a new standard in research development. DIUS is also funding research into the health effects of nanotechnology.

The development of standards is very important to enable both the development and the regulation of nanotechnologies. Recently, the British Standards Institution has published a number of UK standards that will help to frame the development of international and European standards, including the Guide to Safe Handling and Disposal of Manufactured Nanomaterials (PD 6699-2)[1]. This provides advice on good practice to those working in laboratories where research on new materials and applications is being undertaken, as this is where exposure to engineered free nanoscale materials is most likely to occur at present.

I will be making a statement about Government activities on nanotechnologies next Thursday. This will cover the development and commercialisation, as well as the potential risks and regulation of nanotechnologies.

Science Project Funding

23. Mrs. Ellman: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the adequacy of funding for high level science projects involving Liverpool University and Daresbury Laboratory; and if he will make a statement. [187391]

Ian Pearson: The Science Budget allocations for CSR07, which were presented on the 11 December 2007, showed an average real terms increase for science of 2.7 per cent. per annum rising from £3,382 million in 2007/08 to £3,970 million in 2010/11. Over 85 per cent. of this budget is provided as funding to the research councils. The councils themselves decide within their respective budget allocations how much of their funding they spend on each of their programmes, and that determines which universities benefit from their expenditure. As announced in Budget 2006, the Government have designated the Science and Technology Facility Council's Daresbury Laboratory as a Science and Innovation Campus. The broader strategic role for Daresbury and its importance to the North West and its relationship with NW universities will be addressed as part of the Manchester Independent Economic Review to be chaired by Sir Tom McKillop which will specifically include Daresbury's contribution to the NW's scientific and economic base. The Government remain fully committed to developing Daresbury as a Science and Innovation Campus.

Cumbria

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether his Department plans to move any of its offices to the Westmorland and Lonsdale constituency. [166563]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills has no imminent plans to move any of its offices to the Westmorland and Lonsdale constituency. However, we do regularly review our sites strategy and a large proportion of the staff employed by the Department and its agencies are already located outside of London and the South East.

Dentistry: Class Sizes

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) what the student to teacher ratio was in each dental school in the UK in each of the last 10 years; what the Department's recommended student to teacher ratio is; and if he will make a statement; [183734]

(2) what assessment his Department has made of the impact of increased student numbers on the clinical time included in dental students' training; [183827]

(3) what assessment his Department has made of the dental academic workforce; and what plans his Department has to increase the number of dental academic posts in the UK's dental schools. [183733]

Bill Rammell: Although we have not specified a student teacher ratio, we are aware from surveys conducted by the Council of Heads and Deans of Dental Schools of a decrease in the number of clinical academic dentists. In order to address this challenge, in the context of the increase in student numbers, the Department of Health has allocated additional funds building to £29 million by 2010/11 for the clinical training of dental students. With the development of outreach training in dentistry, more students are receiving part of their training in general dental practices where suitable trained and experienced dental practitioners provide clinical training.

Departmental Email

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will take steps to reduce the number of hard copies of emails printed by officials in his Department. [179466]

Mr. Lammy: I am conscious of the need to minimise the printing of emails. Staff in the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills are generally aware of, and anxious to support, sustainability issues. We have recently reduced the number of printers in the Department, we encourage double-sided printing, and we have also issued all staff with encrypted laptops, which they are encouraged to use flexibly, for example, by taking them to meetings to reduce the need to print off hard copies of agendas or minutes.

Departmental ICT

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the (a) start date, (b) original planned completion date, (c) current expected completion date, (d) planned cost and (e) current estimated cost is of each information technology project being undertaken by his Department and its agencies; and if he will make a statement. [180571]

Mr. Lammy: As far as we are aware, the following lists the projects currently being undertaken.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) press and (b) communications officers his Department has employed since its establishment. [182516]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills was formed on 28 June 2007 as a result of the machinery of Government changes.

It currently employs 13 full-time press officers. It does not currently have a 'communication officer grade' within its communications function.

The 'White Book' of contacts in Government Departments and agencies contains listings for DIUS and is updated twice yearly.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether any of his Department's special advisers also work for organisations outside his Department. [178478]

Mr. Lammy: Special advisers are appointed under terms and conditions set out in the "Model Contract" and "Code of Conduct for Special Advisers", copies of which are in the Library of the House.

Departmental Telephone Services

Rob Marris: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many 0845 or similar cost telephone numbers are used by (a) his Department and (b) related departmental bodies for public access to services. [179377]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 28 January 2008]: Comprehensive information about 0845 and similar numbers is not readily available centrally and to respond fully would involve an extensive information collection exercise which would exceed the recommended disproportionate cost threshold. However, using a variety of information and data sources, I can confirm that the following numbers are in use:

| Telephone numbers | Access services |

Graduates

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what his estimate is of the number of graduates who will leave university in each year between 2007-08 and 2017-18. [173208]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 11 December 2007]: The Government do not make projections about the number of students graduating from higher education. But increasing and widening participation in HE is a priority for social and economic reasons. To achieve a world-class skills profile for the UK, we will need to deliver higher-level skills training to adults already in the workforce, as well as continuing to take action to meet our existing commitment to make progress towards a 50 per cent. HE participation rate for people aged 18-30. We will aim for at least 36% of adults to be qualified to at least Level 4 by 2014, up from 29 per cent. in 2005 and 40 per cent. by 2020. We are on target to achieve this.

Higher Education Funding Council for England: Circulars

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many circulars were sent out by the Higher Education Funding Council for England in each month since January 2002. [185694]

Bill Rammell: The following table contains details of the number of circulars sent out by the Higher Education Funding Council (HEFCE) in each month since January 2002. The figures represent numbered HEFCE publications and circular letters sent to vice-chancellors and principals.

Higher Education: Admissions

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the number of part-time first degree students expected to enrol on a higher education course in (a) 2008, (b) 2009 and (c) 2010. [186621]

Bill Rammell: The January 2008 Grant Letter to HEFCE set out our expectations for growth in student numbers. As a result of the 2 per cent. real terms increase in funding for HE we are making available over the next three years, and our decision to redistribute grant away from students doing second degrees or other HE qualifications at an equivalent or lower level in order to fund more first degree students, there is scope overall to fund significant growth. We expect a growth in core-fundable students of 20,000 new places in 2008-09, 35,000 new places in 2009-10 and about 60,000 new places in 2010-11 (on a full-time equivalent basis). The exact number of places to be filled by part-time first degree students will depend on student demand and the mixture of provision that institutions deliver, but our plans allow for a significant increase in employer co-funded provision where many students will want to study on a part-time basis.

Higher Education: Ethnic Groups

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what progress has been made in increasing the number of lecturers of black and minority ethnic origin in universities. [177069]

Bill Rammell: The responsibility for recruiting staff lies with higher education institutions (HEIs), as the employers. The Government have encouraged the sector to ensure that its work force is representative of the communities it serves and we have also instituted a number of measures to support HEIs in this area. The Race Relations Act 1976 (as amended by the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000) places a duty on higher education institutions to promote equality of opportunity. Through the Rewarding and Developing Staff initiative, we have supported HEIs in developing their human resource capability—recruitment and retention, and equal opportunities were two of the six priority areas.

There has been a rising trend in the numbers of black and minority academics working in higher education, although from a low starting point. In 2005-06, 8.4 per cent. of academics in UK HE institutions were from a black and minority ethnic background, compared to 6.0 per cent. in 1996-97.

The Higher Education Funding Council for England monitors the number of black and minority ethnic staff in higher education through its annual data reports—see www.hefce.ac.uk/pubs/hefce/2007/07_36/

www.hefce.ac.uk/pubs/hefce/2006/06_21/

The Equality Challenge Unit, a sector body which provides advice on equality issues, also supports HEIs to help them improve their equality practice.

Higher Education: Finance

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether funding for equivalent learning qualifications will be provided to those seeking second degrees or higher education qualifications; and if he will make a statement. [175716]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 7 January 2008]: The progressive re-distribution of institutional funding away from students doing equivalent or lower level qualifications (ELQs) to ones they already hold will enable us to widen Higher Education participation and support more of the millions of people of all ages without a first Higher Education qualification. Nobody has challenged that priority as a matter of principle or on grounds of fairness or social justice. In addition, the analysis in the Lord Leitch's report and comparative data from the OECD all support the conclusion that we are not producing enough graduates for our economic well-being. The ELQ policy sharpens the incentives in the system for HEIs to produce more of them to match our economic competitors. An extra 5 million people will need to go through university by 2020 if we are to be even on the edge of the premier league for world-class skills, with 40 per cent. of the work force with a first HE qualification. All of the £100 million affected by this policy will be redistributed to support this goal.

However, there will be transitional protection for existing ELQ students until they complete their courses and there will also be opportunities in future for students to pursue such qualifications through foundation degrees and employer co-funded provision. There will also be a review mechanism each year starting in December 2008 to look at individual subjects of particular economic or social importance. We are sure it would be wrong for us to rush into making special arrangements for any subjects, other than those which had already been identified, before any changes to ELQs, as requiring support in the public interest (such as medicine, initial teacher training teaching, science, technology, engineering and maths subjects, area-based studies, and modern foreign languages). But we are asking the Funding Council each year to look at levels of demand both for exempt or protected subjects and at any other subjects which might in future be regarded as key because of their economic or social significance and advise us on the best way forward.

Higher Education: Part-Time Education

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many students studying for an equivalent or lower qualification are part-time students. [178119]

Bill Rammell: HEFCE estimate that the some 37,000 part-time students (in full-time equivalent terms) were studying equivalent or lower level qualifications (ELQ) in 2005/06. We have always made clear that there will be no change in the existing institutional funding arrangements for all students currently studying for equivalent or lower level qualifications until they have completed their courses.

Higher Education: Qualification

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) which 10 universities awarded the highest number of first-class degrees as a proportion of entrants in 2007; [178125]

(2) in which 10 subjects the highest proportion of grades awarded to undergraduates were firsts in 2007. [178126]

Bill Rammell: The latest available information is given in the tables. Figures for 2007/08 will be available in January 2009.

(1) Top 10 higher education institutions that awarded the highest proportion of firsts is as follows:

Intellectual Property: Ministerial Duties

Janet Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills which Minister in his Department is responsible for policy on intellectual property. [182417]

Mr. Lammy: Baroness Morgan of Drefelin took over responsibility for policy on intellectual property on 24 January 2008.

Jean Monnet Action

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what Jean Monnet programmes are in operation in the UK. [181035]

Bill Rammell: The latest information available from the European Commission shows that there are currently 178 Jean Monnet projects in operation in the UK. These include 14 Jean Monnet Centres of Excellence in the Universities of Bath, Birmingham, Cambridge, Essex, Glasgow, Hull, Kent, Leeds, Liverpool, Loughborough, Manchester, Newcastle upon Tyne, Sussex and Wales (Aberystwyth) and funding for courses throughout the UK in community law, European economic integration, European political integration and the history of the European construction process.

Literacy: Greater London

Mr. Boris Johnson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether his Department has made an estimate of the number of functionally illiterate adults living in London over the last eight years; and if he will make a statement. [186659]

Mr. Lammy: We define "functionally literate" as having literacy skills at Level 1 or above and our public service agreement target for adult literacy from the comprehensive spending review contains a performance indicator for 597,000 people of working age to achieve a first Level 1 or above literacy qualification by 2011 towards our ambition of ensuring 95 per cent. of adults have a minimum of entry Level 3 numeracy and Level 1 literacy by 2020. Since the launch of the Skills for Life strategy in 2001, 1.759 million adults have improved their literacy, language or numeracy skills. The Skills for Life Survey in 2003 found that 19 per cent. of adults aged 16 to 65 in London region were below Level 1 literacy (approximately 190,000 people), compared to an average of 16 per cent. for England. We are currently planning to update the survey.

Lord Triesman

Mr. Whittingdale: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills who will undertake the Ministerial responsibilities of Lord Triesman when he leaves the Government. [182061]

Mr. Lammy [holding answer 25 January 2008]: Baroness Morgan of Drefelin took over these ministerial responsibilities on 24 January.

Medicine: Higher Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of pupils applying to study medicine at university were entitled to free school meals in the latest period for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [186230]

Bill Rammell: Information on the number of applicants who are entitled to free school meals is not held centrally.

Ministers of Religion: Training

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the implications of changes in the funding of equivalent or lower qualifications for the training of ordinands in the Church of England. [186794]

Bill Rammell: The progressive re-distribution of institutional funding away from students doing equivalent or lower level qualifications will enable us to widen Higher Education participation and support more of the millions of people of all ages without a first Higher Education qualification, some of whom may wish to train as ordinands. However, we asked HEFCE to lead discussions with interested parties on this issue including, for example, the options of Foundation Degrees or employer co-funded courses relevant to positions of religious and spiritual leadership and respond within two months.

Research

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the likely effects of the proposed research excellence framework on (a) the development of knowledge transfer partnerships, (b) research funding for university engineering departments, (c) management education and (d) the supply of experienced managers entering management teaching. [187437]

Bill Rammell: The objective of our proposed reform of research assessment is to develop a simpler, less bureaucratic system for identifying and funding excellent research wherever it is not however intended to achieve a significantly different distribution of funding. The HEFCE consultation on the next stage in the development of the research excellence framework (REF) closed last week and the detailed results are currently being analysed. My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills plans to meet Professor David Eastwood, Chief Executive of HEFCE, shortly to discuss the responses and next steps.

Sector Skills Councils: Finance

Mr. Boswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much public money has been advanced to sector skills councils; how much has been repaid; and what arrangements have been made for repayment of outstanding loans. [186120]

Mr. Lammy: Sector Skills Councils (SSCs) receive public money from a range of sources. This normally takes the form of grant funding for the delivery of specific projects, mainly relating to occupational standards and qualification reform delivery. The schedule shows the forecast amount contracted with SSCs by the Sector Skills Development Agency (SSDA) during 2005/06 and 2007/08 financial years (1 April to 31 March). Information about other public money paid to SSCs is not available centrally.

In addition to contracting with SSCs for this project activity, the Sector Skills Development Agency provides core funding to SSCs to support delivery of their agreed business plans. Core funding contracts are normally of three years duration and most SSCs are now on their second contract. The overall contract values range between £4 million and £7.2 million for the three year period and the payment profiles vary, by individual agreement with each SSC. Such grant funding is tied to the delivery of agreed contractual outputs and outcomes. The SSDA does not loan money to SSCs.

Skilled Workers

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what his policy is on re-skilling the existing workforce. [178121]

Bill Rammell: The Government are committed to improving the skills of the workforce, and to delivering the world class skills ambition recommended by Lord Leitch in his independent review of our nation's skills. In 'World Class Skills: Implementing the Leitch Review of Skills in England', published in July last year, the Government set out how it will work with employers, trade unions and individuals to deliver its world class skills ambition. As World Class Skills makes clear, this will require a significant increase in the number of people already in the workforce who improve their skills, re-skill and gain new qualifications each year. 70 per cent. of the 2020 workforce is already beyond the age of compulsory education.

Working in partnership with employers is vital to the delivery of the Government's skills ambitions. Through the measures set out in 'World Class Skills', the Government are giving employers the opportunity to exert real leverage and decision making over both the content and delivery of skills and employment programmes. The new UK Commission for Employment and Skills will strengthen the employer voice at the heart of the system. Reformed and re-licensed sector skills councils will be sharply focussed on raising employer investment, articulating the future skills needs of their sector and ensuring that the supply of skills and qualifications is driven by employers.

The Skills Pledge offers employers the opportunity to publicly demonstrate their commitment to investing in the skills of their employees and over 850 employers, covering over 2.3 million employees have already done this. To help employers of all sizes and in all sectors to identify and address their skills needs, the Government are expanding and improving the Train to Gain service, and expect to increase their investment through Train to Gain to over £1 billion by 2010-11.

Student Wastage

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time students under 22 years old withdrew from their higher education course in each year since 2001; [186609]

(2) how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time mature students withdrew from and did not complete their higher education course in each year since 2001. [186611]

Bill Rammell: The information available on non-continuation of higher education students is shown in tables 1 and 2. The figures are taken from the Performance Indicators in Higher Education, published by the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA).

Table 1 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled full-time first degree entrants to higher education institutions in England, who do not continue in higher education after their first year table 2 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled full-time other undergraduate entrants to higher education institutions in England, who do not continue in higher education after their first year. Both tables 1 and 2 are broken down by young (under 21) and mature (21 and over) students.

"Performance Indicators in Higher Education", published by HESA

Figures for 2005/06 will become available later this year. HESA do not publish figures on the percentage of part-time students not continuing in higher education after their first year.

According to the figures published by the OECD, the overall completion rate for type A (first degree equivalent) courses in UK universities and colleges of higher education is among the highest in the OECD countries.

Students: Insolvency

Mr. Rob Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many students have entered into individual voluntary arrangements since their introduction; [161930]

(2) how many students (a) were declared bankrupt in each of the last 15 years and (b) took out individual voluntary arrangements since their introduction. [161937]

Bill Rammell: The Government's student finance package is designed to ensure that finance should not be a barrier to a higher education course. Student loans from the Government are not like commercial loans: interest is paid at the rate of inflation, so in real terms students only pay back what they borrowed. For income contingent loans available since 1998, repayment is linked to earnings and borrowers only repay if their earnings are over £15,000; from April 2012 they will be able to take up to five years' 'Repayment Holiday' and those taking out a student loan from 2006 have their debt cancelled after 25 years.

During the passage of the Enterprise Act in 2002 there was a growing awareness about student loan borrowers declaring themselves bankrupt. There was a rise in the number of bankruptcies/Individual Voluntary Agreements (IVAs) notified in 2003. In addition, one of the effects of the Enterprise Act itself was to reduce the period of discharge from bankruptcy from three years to one.

Provisions were therefore included in the Higher Education Act 2004 to prevent student loans being written off on bankruptcy. Currently student loans are not exempt from IVAs.

The increase in student loan borrowers with bankruptcies and IVAs should be seen in the context of the increases in the general population. Figures from the Insolvency Service show that between 2002 and 2006 the number of individual bankruptcies in England and Wales more than doubled; the number of IVAs increased seven-fold.

Until 2004 IVAs and bankruptcies were not recorded separately in SLC data. After the change in legislation, only IVAs are recorded, as student loans are excluded from bankruptcy debts and are not written off on discharge from bankruptcy.

Available data are shown in the tables.

English domiciled borrowers with publicly-owned student loans who notified the Student Loans Company (SLC) of their bankruptcy or Individual Voluntary Agreement (IVA)[1]—Calendar year of bankruptcy or IVA 1997 to 2004

| Calendar year | Borrowers with bankruptcy or IVA | Percentage of all borrowers UK[2] |
|---|---|---|
| 1997 | 70 | n/a |
| 1998 | 90 | n/a |
| 1999 | 120 | n/a |
| 2000 | 130 | 0.017 |
| 2001 | 230 | 0.023 |
| 2002 | 270 | 0.027 |
| 2003 | 800 | 0.057 |
| 2004 | 1,170 | 0.072 |

n/a = not available

[1] Bankruptcies and IVAs are not separately identified in the data. There may be delays between borrowers becoming bankrupt/taking an IVA and notifying SLC, therefore figures can increase overtime, particularly for the most recent years. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10.

Early indications suggest the numbers of IVAs are reducing after 2006.

Students: Public Participation

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will place in the Library a copy of the recent letter sent to university authorities regarding student juries. [186393]

Bill Rammell: A letter inviting students to take part in the Student Juries was produced by the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills, and circulated to all universities by GuildHE and Universities UK in December 2007. I have arranged for a copy to be placed in the Library.

Training: British Nationality

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether eligibility for the new training places announced on 16 November are restricted to British citizens. [173170]

Bill Rammell: The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) Statement of Priorities 2008-11 and the joint Grant Letter to the LSC from my Department and the Department for Children, Schools and Families published on 16 November set out the Government's funding strategy for learning and skills over the comprehensive spending review period (2008-09 to 2010-11).

The funding strategy reaffirms the Government's commitment to up-skilling British people to provide them with the skills required in a more competitive labour market, to get them off benefits and into jobs and to help them to advance from low skilled to higher skilled jobs. We will continue to help those who need to improve their skills—the overwhelming majority of whom, but not all, are British.

The eligibility rules apply to any learner wanting to access the LSC funded learning places the Government announced on 16 November. For example, British citizens who have been ordinarily resident in the UK for the three years prior to the start of their course will be eligible for funding from the Learning and Skills Council (LSC). In addition, a national of any European country (or the spouse, civil partner or child of an EU national) who has been ordinarily resident in the European economic area (EEA) for the three years prior to the start of their course, will also be eligible for LSC funding.

Other categories of learners, including EEA migrant workers, nationals of non-EU countries, refugees and asylum seekers may also be eligible for LSC funding. The full set of eligibility criteria for access to LSC funded provision is set out in full in the LSC Learner Eligibility Guidance 2007/08. This can be found at www.lsc.gov.uk

Video Games: Qualifications

Mr. Olner: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the proportion of employees in the computer game development sector that have a qualification at degree level or vocational equivalent. [182947]

Bill Rammell: The Annual Population Survey (APS) collects information about occupation, industry and qualifications levels but employees in the computer game development sector cannot be specifically identified. Instead I am providing information about software professionals working in the computer related activities industry sector. Estimates from the 2006 APS indicate that 67 per cent. of employees in England whose occupation was software professional and were working in the computer related activities industry sector were qualified to at least level 4 (degree level or vocational equivalent).

Vocational Education: Standards

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether approved vocational qualifications must be based on National Occupational Standards. [187240]

Bill Rammell: All vocational qualifications which are approved must demonstrate that they relate as appropriate to relevant national occupational standards.

Young People: Unemployment

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the unemployment rate of 18 to 24-year-olds who (a) have no post-16 qualifications, (b) have A-Levels, (c) have a higher educational qualification and (d) have a further educational qualification (i) is and (ii) was in each year since 1995. [166886]

Bill Rammell: The exact information requested could not be derived as a time series. Instead, the Labour Force Survey (LFS) was used to produce a time series with a slightly different qualification categories to those requested. The following table shows the estimates of unemployment rates by qualification held for adults aged 18-24 in England, using the LFS spring quarter (March to May) results between 1995 and 2005 and Quarter 2 results (April to June) for 2006 and 2007. The fact that there was a change in the reporting period of the LFS results means that the figures for 2006 and 2007 and not strictly comparable with those for earlier years as these estimates are subject to seasonality. However, the Office for National Statistics (ONS) does publish on its website a seasonally adjusted time series of the unemployment rate for 18 to 24-year-olds in the UK. This shows for example, that the rate fell from 13.1 per cent. in spring 1997 to 12.0 per cent. in the last quarter of 2007.

Our preferred measure of graduate unemployment is provided by the annual "Destination of Leavers from HE survey (DLHE)" which is available from the Higher Education Statistics Agency.

[1] The unemployment rate is defined as the unemployed (those actively seeking work in the last four weeks and available to start within two weeks) expressed as a percentage of the economically active (the unemployed plus the employed).
[2] The 18-24 age range is not very suitable for measuring unemployment of graduates, since most of them are in full-time study for around half this period.
[3] The confidence intervals due to sample error for cells in the table do vary, but are at least plus or minus 1.0 per cent.
[4] The "A levels" category includes all 'A' levels attained at all institutions (including further education institutions).
[5] "Further Education qualifications" can be attained at a variety of levels. In this analysis the "A level equivalents" category largely consists of vocational level 3 qualifications, but will also include some with AS-levels and also apprenticeships which may be at level 2. Vocational level 3 qualifications are often but not always obtained at FE colleges.
[6] These figures are for Q2 (April to June); figures for earlier years are spring (March to May).

British Railway Board: Finance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the annual budget of BRB (Residuary) Ltd. was for each year since 1997; and what functions it discharges. [180259]

Mr. Tom Harris: BRB (Residuary) Ltd. (BRBR) was formally created in February 2001 when the assets and liabilities of the British Railways Board (BRB) were transferred to the Strategic Rail Authority. Prior to 2001, the functions of BRBR were discharged by BRB and details of the budget and financial results during this period can be found in BRB's historic accounts. Between 2001 and 2005 BRBR was a subsidiary of the Strategic Rail Authority (SRA) and details of its income and expenditure budget are published in the SRA's annual report and accounts, copies of which are in the Library of the House.

In October 2005, ownership of BRBR formally transferred from the SRA to the Secretary of State pursuant to a Transfer Scheme under the 2005 Railways Act. The latest results for the company which include its budget are available on BRBR's website at:

www.brbr.gov.uk

The function of the company is to manage and discharge the residual rights and liabilities of BRB. Full details are available on BRBR's website.

Cycling England: Expenditure

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much has been spent on Cycling England in the period during which this programme object had a comparability factor of zero per cent. for the purposes of the application of the Barnett Formula. [186866]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Expenditure previously recorded under The Cycling England programme is now carried within the local transport group of programmes. Annex C of the October 2007 edition of 'Funding the Scottish Parliament, National Assembly for Wales and Northern Ireland Assembly: Statement of Funding Policy (SFP)' shows this area of spending to be comparable in Wales. The SFP gives details of all comparability factors. For the period covered by the 2004 spending review, the comparability factors are published in the 2004 version of the Statement of Funding Policy and there was no separate Cycling England programme.

Heathrow Airport: Public Participation

Mr. Randall: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many consultation documents on the expansion of Heathrow airport have been sent by post to (a) businesses and (b) residents in wards in each London borough. [187002]

Jim Fitzpatrick: I refer the hon. Member to my answer on 17 January 2008, Official Report, columns 1412-13W, to the question from the hon. Member for Putney (Justine Greening). This described the approach we have adopted for distributing the 'Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport' consultation documents. In view of the number of ways in which consultation documents have been made available, it is not possible to determine precisely the split between documents sent to businesses and residents and the number sent to wards in each London borough.

Local Government Finance: Cheshire

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what funding has been allocated by her Department, its associated agencies and non-departmental bodies to (a) Warrington and (b) Cheshire in each year since 1997; and what the purpose of the funding was in each case. [185589]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 7 February 2008]: The following tables set out the funding allocated by the Department for Transport to Cheshire county council and Warrington borough council from 1997-98 to 2007-08 by purpose.

M3

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment (a) her Department and (b) the Highways Agency has made of the capacity of junction 6 of the M3 to deal with predicted traffic levels (i) up to and (ii) beyond 2011. [188007]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Highways Agency, Hampshire county council and Basingstoke and Deane borough council have agreed in principle that improvements to M3 J6/Black Dam roundabout would be needed for development envisaged in the Basingstoke local plan to proceed.

Hampshire and Basingstoke councils are developing a transport model for Basingstoke which will be used to test development options and identify impacts on transport infrastructure for inclusion in the new Local Development Framework documents. This model will identify likely future traffic flows at M3 Junction 6. The Highways Agency is working in partnership with the two councils to look at appropriate improvement options for the junction.

Minibuses: Tachographs

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will bring forward proposals to exempt volunteer drivers of minibuses used for voluntary work from the requirement to use a tachograph. [188329]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The EU Regulation on drivers' hours (Regulation (EC) No 561/2006), which requires the use of tachographs, provides a national exemption for vehicles with between 10 and 17 seats used exclusively for the non-commercial carriage of passengers. This was implemented in Great Britain by means of the Community Drivers' Hours and Recording Equipment Regulations 2007 (S.I. 2007/1819).

This exemption would apply to minibuses used by the voluntary sector provided the operation as a whole is carried out without a view to profit nor incidentally to an activity which is itself carried out with a view to profit.

Motor Vehicles: Excise Duties

Mr. David Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many vehicles were wrongly impounded under the Vehicle Excise Duty (Immobilisation, Removal and Disposal of Vehicles) Regulations 1996 in each of the last three years. [186937]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is in the following table.

Railway Stations: Safety Measures

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what progress has been made by the Office of Rail Regulation with train operating companies on reducing the number of accidents on station platforms. [187225]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) undertakes inspection programmes with mainline train operating companies which, where appropriate, include assessing the company's health and safety arrangements for managing the risk on station platforms.

Recently ORR has also worked with some of the major owning groups on strategies to reduce accidents. Industry statistics show signs of a reduction in the number of accidents at stations.

Railways: Safety

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps have been taken with train operating companies to improve passenger safety on late-night services. [187224]

Mr. Tom Harris: Over a third of the 2,500 stations on the network now have CCTV, as do an increasing number of trains. Over 600 stations are accredited under the Secure Stations scheme which was launched in 1998 to improve security at overground and underground stations for both passengers and staff.

More remains to be done, but the most recent National Passenger Survey showed only 8 per cent. of passengers dissatisfied about their personal security while at the station and 6 per cent. dissatisfied about their security while on the train.

Railways: Watford

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which (a) groups, (b) companies and (c) individuals have been consulted on the decision to terminate railway services between Brighton and Watford at Clapham Junction. [187085]

Mr. Tom Harris: Southern, the train operating company responsible for the operation of the Brighton to Watford services, issued a consultation document in October 2007. The circulation list for this consultation included passenger representative bodies and local authorities.

Roads: Accidents

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many road traffic (a) accidents and (b) fatalities there were in (i) the Bury St. Edmunds constituency and (ii) Suffolk in each year since 1997; [187610]

(2) how many road traffic (a) accidents and (b) fatalities there were involving drivers under the age of 21 in (i) the Bury St. Edmunds constituency and (ii) Suffolk in each year since 1997. [187611]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The numbers of reported personal injury road accidents, the number involving drivers under the age of 21, and the resulting fatalities in (i) the parliamentary constituency of Bury St. Edmunds and (ii) Suffolk in 1997 to 2006 are given in the following tables:

Accidents and fatalities in the parliamentary constituency of Bury St. Edmunds and Suffolk: 1997 to 2006

Silverlink: Compensation

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what compensation was made available to season ticket holders as a result of the October/November 2007 strike action that affected Silverlink services. [188012]

Mr. Tom Harris: As the strike days were under the old Silverlink franchise, the entitlement to compensation for season ticket holders was determined by the Silverlink Passenger's Charter. This did not contain any obligation on Silverlink to provide compensation under these circumstances. Any compensation provided by Silverlink would have been at its own discretion and not a matter for the Department.

Speed Limits: Cameras

Mr. Breed: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport for what purposes the eight SPECS cameras in the Saltash Tunnel are used. [187323]

Mr. Tom Harris: SPECS cameras are installed throughout the length of the Saltash tunnel to support any police enforcement of the 30 mph speed limit that is in place for safety reasons.

Vehicle Inspectorate: Expenditure

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much the Vehicle Inspectorate spent on border security and enforcement in each of the last three financial years. [186416]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The amount spent by The Vehicle and Operator Services Agency (VOSA) on border security and enforcement in each of the last three financial years is nil, as VOSA are not a statutory border agency and VOSA's enforcement work is not carried out at the border.

DEFENCE

Annual Army Abstract 2007

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's Annual Army Abstract 2007. [185719]

Derek Twigg: The Defence Analytical Services Agency has not produced an Annual Army Abstract since April 2005, due to the majority of the statistics already produced in other more timely publications such as the monthly manning report and the tri-service publications.

Armed Forces Compensation Scheme: World War II

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) average and (b) longest delay in payment was to those entitled to payment under the compensation scheme for former civilian prisoners of the Japanese in the Second World War between authorisation of payment by the Veterans Agency and payment over the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [186104]

Derek Twigg: The information is not held in the format requested and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. However, we have manually tracked five payments made since October 2007; the manual processing time was five days, although one payment took 12 days to process.

The Service Personnel and Veterans Agency (SPVA) are not aware of any claimant reporting a payment failing to arrive or reporting undue delays in payment.

Armed Forces: Apprentices

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether his Department plans to offer (a) Royal Navy, (b) Army and (c) Royal Air Force recruits apprenticeships appropriate to their trade or profession; and whether any changes are planned to apprenticeships that are in place in each service. [187273]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The armed forces are one of the UK's largest employers of apprentices. Training is delivered 'in-house', with specific apprenticeship requirements being interwoven with the training needs of the operational environment. In the vast majority of cases, apprenticeship programmes directly relate to specific service professions and have significant portability when personnel return to civilian life. In the last financial year the armed forces recorded over 7,300 funded apprentice completions. In order to meet their business needs, the armed forces continue to expand the variety of apprenticeship schemes available to their personnel. No changes are planned to apprenticeship schemes that are currently in place.

Armed Forces: Archives

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence where the attestation papers of Irish regiments disbanded in 1922 are deposited; and if he will make a statement. [187261]

Derek Twigg [holding answer 20 February 2008]: Many records did not survive due to the destruction of the Army Records Centre during the Blitz. If they have survived, attestation papers for non-commissioned ranks whose service ended before circa 1 Jan 1921 will be found at The National Archives, in classes WO 363 and WO 364 or in earlier-dated classes if discharged prior to the outbreak of the first world war. For those whose service ended in 1921 or later and whose attestation papers have survived, the papers will be among the British Army service records now held by TNT Archive Services on behalf of MOD.

Armed Forces: Housing

Lady Hermon: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much has been spent by his Department in each of the last six years on providing private rented accommodation for service personnel and their families. [170453]

Derek Twigg: In 1996, the Ministry of Defence (MOD) sold its service families accommodation (SFA) in England and Wales to Annington Homes Ltd. (AHL). Under the sale agreement the SFA is leased back to the MOD until the Department no longer has a use for it.

MOD is required to accommodate entitled personnel within 10 miles of their duty station (or 20 miles with the permission of their service commander). Where no suitable SFA can be found, substitute SFA (SSFA) is offered within the appropriate distance from a duty station.

The expenditure in the last six years is shown in the following table. Information in respect of 2001-02 SSFA is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

£ million

| | AHL rent | UK SSFA | Cyprus SSFA | Gibraltar SSFA | Germany SSFA |

| 2002-03 | 124.7 | 8.9 | 0.6 | — | n/a |
| 2003-04 | 130.3 | 9.1 | 0.6 | — | 30.0 |

| 2006-07 | 141.8 | 15.0 | 0.4 | 0.1 | 31.0 |

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the number of ex-spouses who have overstayed the 90 days notice to vacate period as a result of the breakdown of an armed forces marriage; how many of these who overstayed had children; and how many have subsequently been evicted. [172558]

Derek Twigg: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces: Training

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of infantry recruits did not complete their training at Infantry Training Centre, Catterick in each of the last five years. [185004]

Derek Twigg [holding answer 5 February 2008]: The percentage of Infantry recruits who did not complete their infantry training at the Infantry Training Centre (ITC), Catterick is as follows:

| Financial year | Percentage not completing the course |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 26.4 |
| 2004-05 | 30.5 |
| 2005-06 | 30.6 |
| 2006-07 | 32.0 |

| Financial year | Percentage not completing the course |
|---|---|
| 2007-08[1] | 34.6 |

[1] To 31 December 2007.

Notes:

1. The training year runs from 1 April to 31 March. Figures relate to those courses which finish in each training year.
2. The figures shown include discharges (those leaving the Army) and reallocations (those who transfer to another Arm or Corps).

Army Training and Recruiting Agency

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of each of his Department's latest (a) ATRA trainee strength by UIN and (b) ATRA trained soldier gains by Arms/Corps. [185720]

Derek Twigg: I am withholding the ATRA trainee strength by UIN analysis because it would disclose personal information, either directly or by combination with other published data.

The latest version of the ATRA trained soldier gains by Arms/Corps was as at 1 March 2007. Copies of this publication will be placed in the Library in due course.

Defence Estates

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many requests for re-powering consented projects submitted to the Defence Estates using his Department's developers pro forma have been objected to since its introduction. [184417]

Derek Twigg: The information is not held in the format requested and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

However, as soon as it becomes apparent that a proposal is for re-powering of an existing scheme (as opposed to a proposal for an entirely new development) that is taken into account when deciding whether or not to raise a concern.

Recent examples where developers have addressed our concerns in regard to re-powering wind farm proposals include cases at Goonhilly, Cornwall and Blyth Harbour, Northumberland. Consequently, in those cases, the Ministry of Defence will not be objecting to the planning applications.

Defence Estates: Cost Effectiveness

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the efficiency savings target is for Defence Estates in 2007-08. [183514]

Derek Twigg: Under the spending review 2004 efficiency programme, the MOD is required to achieve £2.83 billion of cumulative input and output efficiency savings by the end of 2007-08. We are on course to overachieve against our overall efficiency programme target. Defence Estates is expected to contribute at least £95 million of this target.

As part of the 2007 financial planning round, a further efficiency savings target of £2 million was agreed with Defence Estates for 2007-08.

Efficiency savings across the Department are reinvested to fund high priority areas of expenditure, such as support to operations and our personnel, including through sustained investment in accommodation.

Defence: Lobbying

Mr. Carswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when (a) he and (b) his officials had meetings with lobbyists representing the interests of defence contractors over the last 12 months. [174789]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 1 February 2008, Official Report, column 702W, for a list of events organised by the Defence Manufacturers Association which MOD Ministers have attended in the last 12 months.

Records show that no MOD Ministers have met other independent lobbyists representing the interests of defence contractors over the past 12 months. Records for meetings held by MOD officials are not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the total carbon emissions from his Department's estate in each year since 2005; and what estimate he has made of the total carbon emissions from military establishments (a) in the UK and (b) overseas in each year since 2005. [185462]

Derek Twigg: The Ministry of Defence's total carbon emissions, including those from military establishments in the UK and overseas, for 2005-06 are:

Emissions in CO2: 2005-06

|---|---|
| UK Defence Estate | 469.9 |
| Overseas Defence Estate | 54.9 |
| Total | 524.8 |

Figures for 2006-07 are not yet available but will be published later this year in the Sustainable Development Commission's Sustainable Development in Government Report 2006-07 and will be available on their website at:

www.sd-commission.org.uk

Departmental Security

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will list the (a) special advisers and (b) ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to his Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. [182207]

Des Browne: It is established practice not to provide details on pass access to Government buildings for security reasons.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many members of the Senior Civil Service in his Department have received an honour. [187129]

Derek Twigg: There are currently 16 serving Ministry of Defence senior civil servants who have received honours during the past five-year period, starting from the New Year Honours List 2003 to the New Year Honours List 2008 (inclusive). Data is not routinely kept on those officials awarded honours before joining the Department or those officials who are awarded honours in recognition of activities outside the departmental duties.

Military Aircraft: Repairs and Maintenance

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of Fast Jet upgrade and repair was undertaken by the Royal Air Force in each of the last 10 years. [186780]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Civilian contractors have always been employed on certain aspects of the repair and upgrade of RAF aircraft. Since 2004, the depth maintenance of Fast Jets has increasingly been performed by joint RAF/civilian teams. Contracts for aircraft maintenance are output-based and the number of civilian personnel required to achieve the output is decided by the contractor rather than the Ministry of Defence.

Information on the relative numbers of RAF and civilian personnel engaged in Fast Jet upgrade and repair in each of the last 10 years is not centrally held and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Military Bases: Colchester

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what reasons his Department has contracted a private security firm to provide security at Colchester Garrison; how many private security employees have been engaged; when the decision to involve a private security firm was made; what competitive tendering procedure was undertaken; what the (a) value and (b) period of the contract is; and if he will make a statement. [183468]

Derek Twigg: During the deployment of 16 Air Assault Brigade on Op Herrick, as announced on 6 February 2008, Official Report, columns 68-70WS, the Department has contracted a private security firm to provide unarmed guarding during the period of the Brigade's absence at Colchester Garrison. In order to deliver this service, the contractor engaged a total of 18 security personnel.

The decision to contract a local security firm was made in September 2007 following a full investment appraisal. There was a full competitive tendering process in accordance with Ministry of Defence contracts manual and EC public procurement regulations.

The value of the contract is £652,000 and the duration is 10 months to cover the deployment of the brigade, pre deployment training and post tour leave.

Parachuting: Injuries

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many parachute-related (a) injuries and (b) deaths there were in each of the last 10 years in (i) the Army, (ii) the Royal Navy and (iii) the Royal Air Force. [187004]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The MOD introduced the Central Health and Safety project (CHASP) database in 1997 to collect health and safety incident data in the Department, mostly on duty or on MOD property. Although 65 parachute-related incidents have been recorded for the 10-year period 1997 to 2006 (data for 2007 are not currently available), difficulties with CHASP data collection suggest these are likely to represent an undercount of the true figure and details are unreliable. I am therefore unable to provide a detailed breakdown of these figures, and the instance of parachute related injuries over the last decade.

Details on annual parachute-related deaths in the UK regular armed forces for each year during the 10-year period 1997-2006, are listed in the following table.

Table 1: Parachute related deaths in the UK regular armed forces, by service (number), 1997 to 2006

| | All | Naval service[1] | Army | RAF |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| All | 10 | 1 | 6 | 3 |
| 1997 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 1998 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 1999 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| 2000 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 |
| 2001 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| 2002 | 2 | 0 | 2 | 0 |
| 2003 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 1 |

RAF Pershore

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the presence of any radioactive contamination at the former RAF Pershore airfield at Throckmorton as a result of its use as a Vulcan bomber dispersal site. [184059]

Derek Twigg: A land quality assessment was undertaken in 1999, on the part of the former RAF Pershore airfield at Throckmorton used by Defence Evaluation and Research Agency. QinetiQ, to whom the site was later transferred, carried out an additional assessment in 2001.

There are no records of radioactive contamination as a result of use of the site for Vulcan bomber disposals.

Sexual Harassment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many complaints of (a) sexual harassment and (b) sexual discrimination have been made by staff in (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies in the most recent year for which figures are available. [184687]

Derek Twigg: Statistics for complaints made by MOD civil servants prior to April 2007 are not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. Complaints of harassment are raised through the MOD's harassment complaints procedures. Complaints of discrimination are raised using the Department's grievance procedures. The figures for formal complaints of sexual harassment and sexual discrimination raised from April 2007 onwards are as follows:

Table 1: Number of sexual harassment and sexual discrimination complaints in the MOD civil service (April 2007-January 2008)

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Sexual discrimination | 2 |

The following table summarises the figures for sexual harassment and discrimination complaints in the armed forces for the most recent available year from 1 October 2006 to 30 September 2007. These figures are for formal complaints only where the complaint has been made through the service complaints procedures.

Table 2: Number of sexual harassment and discrimination complaints in the Armed Forces (October 2006-September 2007)

| | IRN | Army | RAF | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sexual discrimination | 2 | 5 | 1 | 8 |

Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated within the Ministry of Defence or the armed forces. Revised harassment complaints procedures were published in January 2007. All Service personnel have the right to raise a complaint if they feel they have been treated unfairly whilst in service. This is part of their statutory right of complaint under single-Service redress procedures.

Trade Unions

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what meetings he has had with trade union officials since 1 July 2007; on what dates; and with which trade unions. [179856]

Derek Twigg: Ministers meet many people as part of the process of policy development. It is not normal practice to disclose details of such meetings.

Wind Power

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the average time taken by his Department was to respond to the receipt of a wind farm developer's application using the Department's developers pro forma in each of the last five years; and what the target response time is for such applications. [184410]

Derek Twigg: The average time taken to provide an initial response to completed wind energy pre-planning consultation pro forma, in each of the past five years is:

| | Response time (days) | Number of pre-planning applications |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | [1]56 | 913 |
| 2004 | [1]65 | 714 |
| 2005 | 110 | 738 |
| 2006 | 95 | 806 |
| 2007 | 70 | 906 |

The figures for 2003 and 2004 are estimates based on the paper records kept at that time.

Although we have no formal target, we aim to provide an initial response within 56 days. This aspiration was based on the response times in 2003-04, but the complexity of applications since then has meant that the response time has regrettably been longer than we wish. We have, however, reduced the time taken in each of the last two years and aim to further reduce the time taken in future years.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what meetings his Department has had with wind farm (a) companies, (b) organisations and (c) associations to discuss objections to wind farm applications on the grounds of radar clutter in the last 12 months; and what the outcome was of such meetings. [184411]

Derek Twigg: Many meetings take place with wind farm stakeholders covering numerous issues, including radar clutter. The Ministry of Defence has a number of concerns with turbines over and above effects on radar; for example, low flying and seismometers. Moreover, wind turbines have a number of effects on radar of which clutter is only one.

The information requested is therefore not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what requests for meetings the Department or Defence Estates has received from wind farm developers to discuss objections to wind farm applications on the grounds of radar clutter were declined in each of the last three years; and what the reasons were for the requests being declined. [184412]

Derek Twigg: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many wind farm projects submitted to the Defence Estates using his Department's developers pro forma were rejected in each of the last three years; and what percentage of projects this represented in each of the years concerned. [184416]

Derek Twigg: At the pre-planning stage, Defence Estates does not reject applications, but makes developers aware of concerns which the Ministry of Defence would wish addressed before a formal planning application is submitted. In each of the past three years, the number of wind energy pre-planning consultations received by Defence Estates with which it raised concerns is:

| | Number of wind energy pre-planning consultations to which the MOD raised concerns | Percentage of total wind energy pre-planning consultations received by MOD |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 303 | 41 |
| 2006 | 387 | 48 |
| 2007 | 251 | 28 |

These figures include both offshore and onshore applications.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what meetings the Department has held with wind farm (a) developers and (b) consultants to consider allowing on site his Department's technical and operational staff to discuss with the developers technical issues for specific sites; how many requests for such meetings with developers have been rejected by his Department; and whether it is his policy to allow such meetings to take place in normal circumstances. [184418]

Derek Twigg: The Ministry of Defence (MOD) is always willing to do what is practicable to engage with developers and their consultants to address concerns with proposed wind turbines.

In some cases a meeting will be appropriate to discuss issues, including any mitigation being proposed. In such instances the MOD personnel participating in those meetings will be decided according to the requirements of the case to be discussed.

However, the Department has held no meetings, with either wind farm developers or wind farm consultants, with the specific purpose of considering whether to allow MOD personnel from affected sites to discuss with developers technical issues for those sites. Neither has the MOD declined requests for such meetings.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what pre-application enquiries to his Department or Defence Estates for onshore wind turbines received an objection from his Department in each of the last three years; and what percentage this represented of the overall number of pre-application enquiries received. [184431]

Derek Twigg: The total numbers of onshore wind energy pre-planning consultations received by the MOD with which the MOD raised concerns in each of the past three years are:

| | Number of onshore wind energy preplanning consultations to which the MOD raised concerns | Percentage of total wind energy preplanning consultations received by MOD |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 302 | 41 |
| 2007 | 250 | 28 |

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what planning applications for onshore wind turbines have received an objection from the Department in each of the last three years; at what stage of the planning process these objections were lodged; and what percentage this represented of the overall number of onshore wind farm applications to which his Department had been invited to respond. [184432]

Derek Twigg: In each of the last three years, the number of onshore wind energy planning applications to which this Department objected is:

| | Total number of planning applications received | Number of onshore wind energy planning applications to which the MOD objected | Percentage of total number of objections raised to wind energy planning applications |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 74 | 10 | 13 |
| 2007 | 70 | 9 | 13 |

Records show that on only one occasion was a Ministry of Defence (MOD) objection lodged after the application was considered by the appropriate consenting authority. In that case planning permission had been refused and the developer lodged an appeal. The planning Inspectorate granted the MOD permission to participate in the inquiry, which has been postponed to allow further discussion regarding the MOD's objections.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what planning applications for onshore wind turbines the Department did not initially object to but objected to during a public inquiry in the last three years; and what the reason was for the objection in each case. [184433]

Derek Twigg: There has been no occasion on which the Ministry of Defence objected to a planning application for an onshore wind farm development during a public inquiry after previously not raising an objection.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Aggregates: Environment Protection

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the environmental effects of extraction of primary aggregates. [185220]

Mr. Iain Wright: My Department has not assessed the environmental impact caused by the extraction of primary aggregates.

DEFRA's Aggregates Levy Sustainability Fund has funded research on some of the impacts of extraction through its allocations to CLG, the Mineral Industry Research Organisation (MIRO) and English Heritage. A series of benchmark reports identifying the latest developments in good practice in managing these impacts is due to be launched by MIRO and English Heritage on 12 March 2008. A consultation is currently under way on the priorities for the ALSF from 2008 to 2011 including proposals on research covering the environmental costs of primary aggregates.

Aggregates: Recycling

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department is taking to (a) encourage the use of recycled and secondary aggregates and (b) reduce the use of primary aggregates. [185216]

Mr. Iain Wright: My Department is responsible for Minerals Policy Statement 1, 'Planning and Minerals', which sets out the policy which mineral planning authorities have to have regard in drawing up their mineral plans. The policy statement promotes a hierarchical approach to minerals supply, aiming first to reduce as far as practicable the quantity of material used, then to use as much recycled and secondary material as possible, before finally securing the remainder of material needed from primary extraction.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what percentage of aggregates from demolished buildings was recycled in the latest period for which figures are available. [185226]

Mr. Iain Wright: In England there are three sources of supply of construction aggregates: land won sand and gravel and crushed rock; marine dredged sand and gravel; and aggregates recycled from construction, demolition and excavation waste (CDEW). Of the 202 million tonnes total consumption of aggregates in 2005 aggregates from CDEW contributed about 50 million tonnes.

In managing aggregates supply my Department collects biennially high level data of the contribution CDEW makes to national aggregates supply which is published as the 'Survey of Arisings and Use of Alternatives to Primary Aggregates in England.' The last survey was for 2005 and the survey report is available for download from the Department's website

However we do not disaggregate the data to distinguish the amount of material arising from the demolition of buildings separately from other sources.

Central Manchester Development Corporation: Archives

Kate Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government where the archives of the Central Manchester Development Corporation are kept. [187693]

Mr. Dhanda: The Department for Communities and Local Government does not hold the records of the Central Manchester Development Corporation centrally. However some of the records are archived within the registry at Government office for the north-west.

Council Tax: Tax Rates and Bands

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many houses in the Peterborough City Council area were in each council tax band in each year since 1997. [187244]

[1] Within an authority, the council tax for each valuation band is a fixed ratio to that for Band D. For example, a Band A dwelling will pay 6/9 the Band D amount, and a Band H dwelling w ill pay twice the Band D amount.

The data are provided by the Valuation Office Agency and relate to a particular date in the autumn of each year.

Employment: Discrimination

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether any local authorities have had legal action brought against them on the basis of the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations 2006. [187254]

Mr. Dhanda: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Fire Services: Retirement

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what changes have been made to provisions for ill-health retirement for firefighters since the Fire Service circular of September 2006. [187412]

Mr. Dhanda: No changes have been made to provisions in the Firefighters' Pension Scheme 1992.

The Firefighters' Pension Scheme (England) Order 2006 came into force on 25 January 2007 and gave effect to the New Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2006. Firefighters who have joined the Fire and Rescue Service in England on or after 6 April 2006 are members of this scheme unless they opt out. The ill-health retirement arrangements in this scheme are similar to those in the 1992 scheme and no changes have been made to them since it came into operation.

Fire Services: Safety Measures

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households in (a) Warrington and (b) the rest of Cheshire received home safety advice from Cheshire Fire Service in 2007. [187962]

Mr. Dhanda: The information required is available only for the period January to September 2007, which is provided in the following table:

| Period | Activity | Total |
|---|---|---|
| January to September 2007 | Home fire risk checks | 29,928 |
| January to September 2007 | Smoke alarms installed | 35,173 |

Information on the number of home fire risk checks and smoke alarm installations undertaken by Cheshire Fire and Rescue Service for the period October 2007 to March 2008 is not yet available. Similarly, information on the number of home fire risk checks and smoke alarm installations undertaken by Cheshire Fire and Rescue Service for the Warrington area is not held centrally.

Communities and Local Government has made a total of £26.4 million available to all English fire and rescue services up to 2008, to undertake home fire risk checks and to support further fire prevention work.

Fires

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many fires there were reported to the Fire Service in each year since 1978. [187629]

Mr. Dhanda: Information on the number of primary fires in England is shown in Table 1 as follows, however statistics on the total number of primary fires in England is only available from 1981 onwards. Prior to this, information on the number of primary fires, in England, is limited to subcategories of primary fire.

Government Offices of the Regions: Finance

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the budget was of each of the government offices of the regions in 2007-08; and what the planned budget is of each in each of the next four years. [187336]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The running cost budget for each of the Government offices in 2007-08 is set out in the following table. The provisional budget for 2008-09 has also been included in the table.

| Government office | Budget in 2007-08 | Provisional budget in 2008-09 |
|---|---|---|
| North East | 11,973,230 | 9,356,870 |
| North West | 16,194,170 | 12,221,110 |
| Yorks and Humber | 13,920,590 | 9,102,090 |
| West Midlands | 15,090,000 | 10,236,170 |
| East Midlands | 11,001,300 | 9,082,880 |
| East | 11,567,320 | 9,815,630 |
| South East | 13,212,200 | 11,408,960 |
| South West | 13,795,370 | 10,847,880 |
| London | 16,296,590 | 12,133,810 |

The budgets in 2008-09 have been reduced to reflect the CSR07 savings required. They have also been reduced further as the GO estates budgets are to be managed centrally in the coming year.

Budgets have not as yet been set for 2009-10 or beyond, though further spending review savings will have to be made in future years.

Homelessness

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2007, Official Report, columns 1028-9W, on homelessness, what evidence Chorley borough council received on levels of rough sleeping in Chorley from local organisations working on homelessness before carrying out its rough sleeper count. [187754]

Mr. Iain Wright: Chorley borough council consulted with all key local partners prior to the November 2007 rough sleeper count with a view to identifying which areas should be covered on the count, in accordance with the guidance for local authorities published by Communities and Local Government. The consultation was carried out via the Chorley Homeless Prevention Partnership Group and identified a number of possible sites where rough sleepers may be bedded down in the area. All sites were included on the count route.

Homelessness: Social Services

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what measures the Government have introduced to provide services and support for homeless people since 1997; [185503]

(2) what support the Government provide for homeless young people; and if she will make a statement. [185504]

Mr. Iain Wright: Tackling homelessness is a key priority for this Government and we have made major progress, reducing rough sleeping by 73 per cent. since 1998 and ending the long-term use of bed and breakfast accommodation for families with children under the homelessness legislation.

We strengthened the statutory protection through the Homelessness Act 2002, providing one of the strongest statutory safety nets in the world for homeless families with children and vulnerable people. This includes a requirement for local authorities to have a strategy in place for tackling and preventing homelessness and ensuring that accommodation and support is available to people in their district who are homeless or at risk of homelessness.

Under the Homelessness (Priority Need for Accommodation) (England) Order 2002, we widened the categories of people who have a priority need for accommodation under the homelessness legislation to include, among others, 16 and 17-year-olds and young people aged 18 to 20 previously in care at any time between the ages of 16 and 18.

Since 2003, we have seen a year on year reduction (over 45 per cent.) in the number of households accepted under the homelessness legislation. The number of households in temporary accommodation is also reducing and local authorities are on course to meet the target of halving the number of households in temporary accommodation to 50,500 by 2010.

We have provided significant investment for homelessness prevention. This includes our recent announcement of £200 million homelessness grant funding for local authorities and the voluntary sector over the next three years. This represents the biggest ever cash injection for homelessness services and demonstrates the commitment that reducing homelessness remains a top priority for this Government.

We have also invested £90 million capital funding in 2005-08, to improve hostels and day centres used by rough sleepers so they can move into education and employment and make the transition from the street to a settled home. A further £70 million capital funding is being made available in 2008-11 to build on the success of improving hostels and day centres.

We fund the National Homelessness Advice Service (NHAS) which is a partnership between Citizens Advice and Shelter, to ensure high quality advice on homelessness prevention through the network of participating Citizens Advice bureaux and other voluntary agencies across England.

The Supporting People Programme launched in 2003 has been helping the most vulnerable in society, including young people and people at risk of homelessness, to live independently by providing accommodation and support to help them make the transition to economic and social independence. Since 2003, we have invested Supporting People funding of over £8.7 billion in local authorities to spend on the areas where they have identified need. To date, around £1.3 billion has been allocated to clients who are either homeless or at risk of becoming homeless.

In November 2006, we announced measures to further prevent and tackle youth homelessness. This includes a commitment that by 2010, no 16 or 17-year-olds should be placed in bed and breakfast accommodation by a local authority under the homelessness legislation, except in an emergency. The number of 16 and 17-year-olds in bed and breakfast accommodation has fallen by almost one-third from September 2006, when there were approximately 1,000 young people in bed and breakfast accommodation, to around 700 young people at the end of June 2007.

We are also working to improve access to homelessness mediation across the country (including family mediation for young people), so that there is a universal expectation of such services and we are promoting the use of supported lodgings schemes and other supported housing provision to ensure appropriate accommodation, advice and support is available for young people who can no longer stay in the family home.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many members of the senior civil service in her Department have received an honour. [187131]

Mr. Dhanda: Since Communities and Local Government was created in May 2006, six members of staff in the senior civil service have been awarded an honour, of whom three are still serving in the Department.

Housing: Low Incomes

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the total capital receipts under the right to buy; what the effect of these in public sector borrowing has been; when the revenue received was spent; and what plans she has for the treatment of further revenues.[1] [186841]

[1] Information available at only disproportionate cost
[2] Programmed expenditure
[3] Estimated pooled housing capital receipts

The table shows the total capital receipts from RTB sales of local authority dwellings in England. The figures are net of discount and are as reported by local authorities.

The table also shows the value of capital receipts set-aside from 1997-98 to 2003-04 (the last year in which the set-aside regime existed). Under this regime, with-debt local authorities were required to set-aside a proportion of the capital receipt generated by the disposal of a Housing Revenue Account (HRA) asset, for the repayment of housing debt. When set-aside exceeds RTB receipts, it is because set-aside includes a proportion of receipts from not only RTB, but also whole-stock transfers, non-RTB dwelling sales, and sales of other HRA assets such as housing land.

When capital receipts from the sale of a Government-owned asset are received, the sales reduce public sector net borrowing in a manner such that the amount of sales is equal to the amount of the reduction. To the extent that a proportion of these receipts are retained and spent by the local authorities through pooling or set-aside, then that spending will offset the initial reduction.

Under the set-aside regime, with-debt authorities were free to use the proportion of their housing receipts that had not been set aside for any capital purpose they saw fit. Debt-free authorities were free to use the whole of their housing receipts for any capital purpose. The Department does not record when authorities actually spent these receipts.

From 1 April 2004 set-aside no longer applied to most housing receipts. All local authorities, both with-debt and debt-free, paid over or "pooled" the same amounts to the Secretary of State which would have formerly been set aside. Until the introduction of the pooling regime, set-aside was the mechanism that allowed a proportion of housing capital receipts to be redistributed for investment elsewhere.

When an authority set aside an amount, the need for central Government revenue support for that amount of borrowing through HRA subsidy disappeared, thereby enabling central to provide support for borrowing elsewhere.

RTB sales reduce public sector net borrowing and since receipts are cash and therefore interchangeable with all other capital receipts, they are not hypothecated to any particular spending at any particular time. However, the table shows that the Government have consistently invested more in housing than they have received in receipts. In 2005-06, the amount paid to Government from all housing receipts is estimated to have been nearly £1.1 billion. The amount invested in housing was nearly £5.2 billion, i.e. almost five times the amount received in receipts.

The process of pooling is currently being reviewed as part of the wider review of housing finance.

Housing: Waiting Lists

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households in Cornwall were on waiting lists for homes in each year since 1997. [186630]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to my right hon. Friend the Member for Oldham, West and Royton (Mr. Meacher) on 13 November 2007, Official Report, column 116W.

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many households in Tamworth were on housing waiting lists in each year since 1997. [187755]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given to my right hon. Friend the Member for Oldham, West and Royton (Mr. Meacher) on 13 November 2007, Official Report, column 116W.

Local Authorities: Public Participation

Dr. Richard Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps she is taking to monitor the expenditure of local authorities on LINks; what restrictions there are on the ways in which such local authority money can be spent; and how compliance with such restrictions is monitored by her Department. [183806]

Ann Keen: I have been asked to reply.

The level of the local authority contribution to the local involvement network (LINk) is a matter for individual councils. Government funding for local authorities' responsibilities in this area has been added into Area Based Grant.

As part of its annual reporting to the Secretary of State, a LINk will be asked to declare the amount of funding made available to it in order that it might carry out its activities as set out in the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007.

Local Authorities: Sustainable Development

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department is taking to incentivise councils to promote environmental sustainability with economic growth. [186967]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department has taken a wide range of steps to incentivise councils to promote environmental sustainability with economic growth as set out in a range of documents including the Local Government White Paper and Planning White Paper.

In December 2007, we published, as a package, the annex to Planning Policy Statement 1 on Climate Change and draft Planning Policy Statement 4 on Sustainable Economic Development. When PPS4 is published in its final form these national statements of policy will be applied by councils to achieve sustainable development.

Local Government Finance: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much cash was held in reserve by Tamworth borough council in each of the last 10 years. [187761]

Communities and Local Government Revenue Outturn (RO) returns

Local Government: Carers

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance has been issued to local authorities on taking into account the needs of carers when drawing up local area agreements. [187825]

John Healey: CLG has issued two sets of guidance on local area agreements (LAAs) as follows:

draft statutory guidance 'Creating Strong., Safe and Prosperous Communities', which was published for public consultation on 20 November covering the new legal framework for local area agreements; and operational guidance 'Development of the new LA A framework' covering negotiations of LAAs for 2008-11.

This guidance describes the process for setting targets in local area agreements, drawn from the National Indicator Set (which contains an indicator, NI 135, which specifically addresses the needs of carers). It does not cover how to set individual targets to take into account the needs of carers, as this will be a matter for individual negotiation in each LAA.

Planning: Public Participation

Mr. Hollobone: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what funding she intends to allocate to supporting community engagement when major infrastructure projects are initiated through proposed revised planning procedures; [187769]

(2) if she will ensure that communities affected by proposals for a major infrastructure project in the East Midlands will have access to the services of the East Midlands Planning Aid Service; [187770]

(3) when she expects to announce the funding settlement for the East Midlands Planning Aid Service for 2008-09; [187771]

(4) how many people were assisted by the Planning Aid Service over the past 12 months; and if she will make a statement on community engagement on planning issues; [187772]

(5) how many people were assisted by the East Midlands Planning Aid Service over the past 12 months. [187773]

Mr. Iain Wright: As the Planning White Paper "Planning for a Sustainable Future" made clear, the Government are committed to ensuring that members of the public get the advice and support they need to get involved in the new development consent process for major infrastructure projects proposed under the Planning Bill.

During the Second Reading of the Bill on 10 December 2007, the Secretary of State announced that we would therefore put an extra £1.5 million per annum into Planning Aid, an organisation that helps members of the public and particularly hard-to-reach groups engage in the planning process.

This extra money will ensure that affected individuals and communities are supported so that they can participate effectively in the new planning process for major infrastructure projects and make their views heard.

The Government are considering the precise details of future levels of funding for Planning Aid and will make an announcement soon.

For the 12-month period from December to January 2007, Planning Aid assisted 23,575 individuals and 1,428 community groups. For the same period, the East Midlands Planning Aid service assisted 1,496 individuals and 108 community groups.

Quality of Life

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities make use of the Audit Commission's Quality of Life indicators. [187640]

John Healey: This is an operational matter for the Audit Commission and I have asked the chief executive of the Audit Commission to write to the hon. Lady directly.

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what her definition of quality of life is in relation to the well-being powers of the Local Government Act 2000; [187641]

(2) what assessment she has made of the use of well-being powers of the Local Government Act 2000. [187645]

John Healey: The Local Government Act 2000 gave local authorities the power to do anything which they consider is likely to achieve the 'promotion or improvement' of 'one or more' of the economic, social or environmental well-being of their area. The only limitations on this power are that local authorities are nor enabled through the Act to raise additional funding, or undertake an action that is specifically prohibited elsewhere in law.

The Act did not attempt to set out a definition of 'quality of life'. Instead it required every local authority (in consultation with others) to draw up a strategy setting out how they intend to promote the economic, social and environmental well-being of their particular area over the long term.

The Government carried out an independent evaluation of the take-up and usage of the well-being power. The results are contained in "Formative Evaluation of the take-up and implementation of the well-being power" which can be found on the CLG website.

Quarrying

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what research her Department has commissioned on the relative costs of mineral extraction from (a) land and (b) marine sources in the last five years. [185231]

Mr. Iain Wright: My Department has commissioned no direct work on the relative economic or environmental costs of minerals extraction from land and marine sources in the last five years.

However DEFRA is funding a study to investigate the feasibility of assessing the relative impacts of exploitation of marine and land sand and gravel reserves. The study is due to be completed in March 2008. The project is funded through the Marine Environment Protection Fund, and administered by the Centre for Environment, Fisheries and Aquaculture Science.

Quarrying: Planning Permission

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what criteria she uses to assess planning applications on the extraction of aggregates. [185227]

Mr. Iain Wright: Section 38 (6) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 states that

> "if regard is to be had to the development plan, for the purpose of any determination to be made under the planning Acts, the determination must be made in accordance with the plan, unless material considerations indicate otherwise."

This means that applications will be decided by mineral planning authorities, in accordance with their minerals development plan document, but taking into account other factors, such as Government policy set out in Minerals Policy Statement 1 "Planning and Minerals" and other relevant considerations.

Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the likely impact of the provisions of the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005. [187683]

Mr. Dhanda: The Government are committed to assess the impact of the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005. My Department will carry out an initial evaluation during 2008 involving consultation with business, industry and the Fire and Rescue Service.

Surveys

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government where the first place survey pilots are to take place. [187643]

John Healey: The new Place Survey will gather the views of the public about the work of councils and their partners. The survey is being piloted in each of the following local authorities:

Wychavon District Council;

Buckinghamshire County Council;

Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council; and London Borough of Hackney.

These areas have been selected with the aim of ensuring that results from the pilot will be sensitive to differences between rural, urban, county and district level authorities so the pilot can inform successful delivery of the Place Survey across all areas of England.

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will place in the Library a draft copy of the place survey. [187644]

John Healey: I have placed a copy of the New Place Survey consultation document in the Library of the House.

The consultation ended on 8 February and we are currently analysing the responses to the consultation.

Vehicles: Pollution Control

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what advice she has given to local authorities on implementing the pollution prevention guidelines on vehicle washing and cleaning in policy planning guidance 13; and if she will make a statement. [187003]

Mr. Iain Wright: Planning Policy Guidance note 13: Transport sets out the Government's overall policy on planning for transport. Its objectives are to integrate planning and transport at the national, regional, strategic and local level and to promote more sustainable transport choices both for carrying people and for moving freight. Planning Pollution Statement 23: Planning and Pollution Control, and its Annex 1: Pollution Control, Air and Water Quality set out how the planning system can contribute to improvements in water quality. The policy expects local planning authorities to take into account the diffuse pollution that could be created by a proposed development and any measures the developer proposes to mitigate the impact. Neither documents provide specific advice on vehicle washing and cleaning.

The Environment Agency issued a revised Pollution Prevention Guideline 13 on vehicle washing and cleaning in October 2007. This is good practice guidance for all landowners and tenants to help prevent pollution from vehicle washing and cleaning using automatic wash systems, high pressure or steam cleaners and washing by hand. Local authorities should be aware of pollution prevention guidelines and implement them where it is appropriate to do so. The principal enforcement agencies for pollution prevention guidelines are the Environment Agency, Scottish Environment Protection Agency, the Heritage Service for Northern Ireland and the water companies for pollution and trade effluent respectively. DEFRA is working with the Environment Agency to tackle non-agricultural diffuse water pollution as part of its work under both the water framework directive and 'Future Water', DEFRA's recently published Water strategy. In particular, DEFRA is considering the introduction of simple general binding rules, which will provide a new approach to regulating such activities along with proportionate forms of enforcement, such as fixed penalty notices. A DEFRA consultation on this issue is anticipated later this year.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Agricultural Products: Smuggling

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent on (a) leaflets, (b) posters, (c) other advertising, (d) the branded mobile unit and (e) merchandising to support outreach activity on the risk from illegal imports of products of animal origin in each year since 2001. [185647]

Jonathan Shaw: The following figures refer to money spent by DEFRA:

Leaflets and posters (including printing and distribution)

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 421,000 |
| 2004-05 | 37,991 |
| 2005-06 | 28,906 |
| 2006-07 | 28,013 |
| 2007-08 | 27,926 |

Other advertising (including press, radio, television, internet and outdoor)

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 334,189 |
| 2005-06 | 243,853 |
| 2006-07 | 361,521 |
| 2007-08 | 354,738 |

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 76,286 |
| 2005-06 | 57,178 |
| 2006-07 | 70,538 |
| 2007-08 | 57,967 |

Merchandising to support outreach activity (travel wallets, pens and toothbrush kits)

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 17,010 |
| 2007-08 | 8,235 |

Since April 2003, HM Revenue and Customs has also undertaken a number of publicity activities as part of its Products Of Animal Origin (POAO) anti-smuggling responsibilities.

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate his Department has made of the amount of illegally imported meat entering the UK which was (a) contaminated with virus and (b) not detected in the last 12 months. [185709]

Jonathan Shaw: The endemic nature of exotic diseases in many countries around the world results in a continuous but low risk of infected meat reaching the country through illegal routes. This means that all such seizures are treated as an animal health risk and destroyed, by incineration, in the shortest possible time.

The risk of disease relates to the possibility that animals may consume infectious material in illegal imports. Very small amounts of infectious material may cause disease and are likely to form only a very small proportion of any illegal import. There is thus very little chance of finding infected material by testing samples. Discovering whether any individual seizure is infected is unlikely to contribute significantly to the way that the restrictions relating to imports are enforced.

It is not possible to make an accurate estimate of the amount of illegally imported meat entering the UK which was not detected in the last 12 months because they are illegal and, therefore, clandestine.

Agriculture: Income

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much and what proportion of total income from farming resulted from (a) single farm payments, (b) agri-environment schemes, (c) diversified activity and (d) receipts from food production in each of the last three years. [186341]

Jonathan Shaw: The answer is given in the table shown as follows. 'Receipts from food production' is not available; the value of crop and livestock production has been included.

| | 2005 | | 2006 | | 2007 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | £ million | Percentage of TIFF | £ million | Percentage of TIFF | £ million | Percentage of TIFF |
| Single farm payment | 2,349 | 108 | 2,354 | 102 | 2,292 | 90 |
| Agri-environment schemes | 259 | 12 | 346 | 15 | 410 | 16 |
| Inseparable non-agricultural activities[1] | 674 | 31 | 710 | 31 | 771 | 30 |
| Total crop output | 4,998 | 230 | 5,147 | 223 | 5,791 | 228 |
| Total livestock output (meat, milk and eggs) | 6,544 | 301 | 7,246 | 315 | 7,699 | 303 |
| TIFF | 2,171 | 100 | 2,303 | 100 | 2,538 | 100 |

[1] The diversified activity which is included in TIFF is only that which is considered 'inseparable'. This includes activities such as 'tourist accommodation and catering' and 'farm retailing'.

Agriculture: Standards

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many regulations were (a) implemented and (b) revoked by his Department in each year since 2001; and what estimate he has made of the cost to industry of complying with regulations implemented by his Department in each year since 2001. [185708]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA has commissioned an independent project to review the stock, and establish a comprehensive ongoing record, of general Statutory Instruments introduced since 1 January 2001. The project includes categorising whether SIs are, for example, minor, technical, amending, or revocations. The Department will place in the Libraries of both Houses of Parliament, no later than 31 March 2008, a short report on the outcomes of the project. Non-finalised data shows that, for general SIs, the breakdown is as follows:

| | SIs introduced | SIs revoked |
|---|---|---|
| 2000 | 92 | 39 |

| | SIs introduced | SIs revoked |
|---|---|---|
| 2001 | 143 | 82 |
| 2002 | 115 | 60 |
| 2003 | 105 | 45 |
| 2004 | 133 | 45 |
| 2005 | 139 | 32 |
| 2006 | 144 | 18 |
| 2007 | 165 | 21 |

In 2005, together with other Government Departments, DEFRA embarked on a programme to reduce the administrative burden of regulation by a net 25 per cent., by 2010. At that time, DEFRA's pre-existing administrative burden (i.e. the total cost to business of form filling, dealing with inspections and providing statutory information to third parties) was estimated by PricewaterhouseCoopers at £527.8 million.

DEFRA has published Simplification Plans in each year since 2005. The Department's latest Simplification Plan, Cutting Red Tape, was published in December 2007. It shows that, taking account of new Regulations that have added additional administrative burdens, the overall burden the Department imposes on business should be no more than £395.8 million by 2010, a reduction of £132 million or 25 per cent.

Agriculture: Subsidies

Mr. Atkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many National Reserve applications Stage 1 and Stage 2 appeals were outstanding at the most recent date for which figures are available. [186693]

Jonathan Shaw: As of 8 February 2008, the Rural Payments Agency had six Single Payment Scheme (SPS) National Reserve Stage 1 Appeals and 33 SPS National Reserve Stage 2 Appeals ongoing.

Animal Welfare

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps his Department has taken to monitor the effect on animal welfare of the Hunting Act 2004 over the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [183311]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA has no plans to institute new arrangements to monitor the welfare or population levels of the rural or urban fox, although it will retain an overview of these issues as part of its general animal welfare responsibilities.

Bovine Tuberculosis

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many cases are before the courts on challenges to the accuracy of the test for bovine tuberculosis. [186485]

Jonathan Shaw: One farm business has issued legal proceedings against DEFRA, a date has yet to be set for the claim to be heard.

Their claim for judicial review disputes the validity of the results of gamma interferon TB tests within their herds. The claimant is challenging DEFRA's decision not to re-test (using the tuberculin skin test) cattle within their herd that have had a positive reaction to the gamma interferon test. DEFRA has been put on notice that three other farm businesses are intending to issue proceedings on the same basis, but has agreed with those farmers that their animals will not be slaughtered pending the outcome of the judicial review. It is expected that this case will determine the issues in respect of all four complaints.

Cattle: Monitoring

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will make it his policy to introduce the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service cattle monitoring system in England. [186484]

Jonathan Shaw: I assume that my hon. Friend is referring to the National Animal Health Surveillance System (NAHSS), introduced by the US Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. We have no plans to introduce such a system in England.

On 22 October 2003, the 10-year UK Veterinary Surveillance Strategy was launched. It stresses the importance of working in partnership to provide early warning and rapid detection of disease threats facing the UK. In putting the strategy into practice, the aim is to ensure that surveillance activities are prioritised openly and that a clear, well-defined international evidence base exists for all surveillance reports and recommendations. A further aim is to make best use of the surveillance information that we collect.

The strategy reflects an extensive consultation process across the UK, involving colleagues in Government and the veterinary, farming and wildlife sectors. It is an integral part of the Animal Health and Welfare Strategy launched in June 2004.

Crops: Imports

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much (a) soya bean meal and its derivatives and (b) maize and its derivatives were imported into the UK from each supplying country for each year since 2001, separately identifying where appropriate any amounts which were from GM crops. [185618]

Jonathan Shaw: The following table shows the volume of UK imports of soya bean meal, maize and derivatives from 2001 to November 2007 by country of despatch. It is not possible to separately identify commodities from GM crops in the official overseas trade statistics.

UK imports of Soya bean meal, Maize and derivatives, by country, 2001 to November 2007

Dairy Farming

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many holdings with dairy cows in each county in England there were in each year since 2001. [185648]

Jonathan Shaw: The following table shows the number of registered holdings in England with dairy cows from 2001 to 2006 by county/unitary authority.

Notes:

1. Dairy cows are cows and heifers in the dairy herd which have calved.

2. Estimates have been made for holdings not responding or not selected for the survey.

Departmental Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what audits his Department and its agencies have carried out in relation to personal data and IT equipment in each of the last 10 years. [176462]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA's Internal Audit Division have not conducted any audits specifically focusing on personal data or IT equipment during the period. As departmental policy does not require business areas to undertake audits, information on any they may have carried out could not be collected without incurring disproportionate costs, but a thorough 'wall-to-wall' audit of IT equipment was carried out by IBM in October 2004 when ownership of DEFRA's IT equipment was transferred under the terms of the IT outsourcing contract.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what requirements his Department and its agencies place on contractors in relation to audit of personal data and IT equipment. [176625]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department's IT services are provided mainly by IBM under an outsourcing arrangement. This contract includes provisions for DEFRA and its audit agents to have audit and access rights, including contractor premises, systems and records as may be required for the purposes of verifying the integrity, confidentiality and security of the Department's data and/or personal data.

There are also provisions which require IBM and its sub-contractors to comply with all applicable parts of the Data Protection Acts, specifically the seventh data protection principle, which concerns the unauthorised or unlawful processing of personal data and against accidental loss or destruction of, or damage to, personal data.

Other contracts awarded by DEFRA include standard terms and conditions which place obligations on contractors including requirements for access to audit and compliance with the Data Protection Acts as stated above.

Departmental ICT

Susan Kramer: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many (a) male and (b) female members of staff in his Department were issued with personal digital assistants in each year since 2001; and if he will make a statement. [181355]

Jonathan Shaw: The following table shows how many (a) male and (b) female members of staff, where known, were issued with personal digital assistants in each year since 2001.

| Date acquired | (a) Male | (b) Female | Unknown | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2000—26 January 2005[1] | 40 | 12 | 31 | 83 |
| 2005 (from 27 January 2005)[1] | 15 | 10 | 6 | 31 |
| 2006 | 27 | 25 | 7 | 59 |
| 2007 | 13 | 5 | 13 | 31 |
| Total | 95 | 52 | 57 | 204 |

[1] PDAs purchased prior to 27 January 2005 do not have a purchase date recorded against their entry within the asset management tool and have been given a default acquired date of 1 January 2000.

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the estimated cost was of each of the five largest IT contracts awarded in 2007 by his Department; and what the actual cost has been. [181961]

Jonathan Shaw: IT services and provision was outsourced to IBM in October 2004. IT projects that previously would have required the award of a contract are now, in the main, handled through these arrangements.

However, in March 2007 a new contract was awarded to Atos. The project started in April 2007 and relates to the Genesis application which handles environmental stewardship payments for land managers. The cost of this contract is £21 million over five years. Actual spend during the first year is £500,000 lower than forecast.

Details of IT contracts awarded by the Department's wider Network are not held centrally. Further information would be available only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many of his Department's personal digital assistants were (a) lost and (b) stolen in each of the last five years; and what the value of those items was. [185274]

Jonathan Shaw: The following figures show the reported number of thefts/losses of personal digital assistants from April 2003 onwards:

| | Personal digital assistants including Blackberry devices |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 0 |
| 2004-05 [1] | 1 |
| 2005-06 [1] | 1 |
| 2006-07 [1] | 8 |
| 2007-08 to date [1] | 1 |

[1] Following the outsourcing of IT services to IBM in October 2004, IT equipment is no longer classed as a departmental asset as it forms part of the overall contract for the provision of IT services. All IT equipment therefore belongs to IBM. However, in an effort to reduce the losses of portable IT equipment, advice and guidance on the security of portable IT equipment is made available to staff. There were no reported losses of any personal data.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many (a) press and (b) communications officers his Department employed in each year since establishment. [182521]

Jonathan Shaw: The number of Press Officers in Core DEFRA is tabulated, with the census point for the number of Press Officers, taken as June for each year. The staffing numbers for the Press Office fluctuate during the course of any one year.

The figures in the table exclude numbers for ancillary or support staff, but numbers have varied, ranging from 3 to 7 during the review period.

| Staff numbers as at June | Press Officers |
|---|---|
| 2001 | 22 |
| 2002 | 22 |
| 2003 | 22 |
| 2004 | 18 |
| 2005 | 24 |
| 2006 | 24 |
| 2007 | 20 |

The DEFRA Press Office provides services for the Central Science Laboratory, Government Decontamination Service, Marine and Fisheries Agency, Pesticide Safety Directorate, Veterinary Laboratory Agency, and Veterinary Medicines Directorate.

The number of staff employed in the Press Offices of each of the remaining DEFRA agencies of CEFAS (Centre for Environment, Fisheries and Aquaculture Sciences) and the Rural Payments Agency, in each year since 2001 is tabulated, with the number of ancillary support staff in brackets (The RPA did not have any ancillary staff associated with the Press Office).

| 2001 | 0.02 | 0.2 |
| 2002 | 0.03 | 0.2 |
| 2003 | 0.03 | 0.2 |
| 2004 | 0.68 | 0.2 |
| 2005 | 1.0 (0.16) | 0.2 |
| 2006 | 1.0 (0.24) | 1.0 |
| 2007 | 1.0 | 2.0 |

In addition to support from the DEFRA Press Office, Animal Health (formerly the State Veterinary Service) employs a Head of Communications and an External Communications Manager.

The "White Book" of contacts in Government departments and agencies contains listings for DEFRA and is updated twice yearly.

Farms

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many farms there were in each county in England in each year since 2001. [185649]

Floods

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will publish a break down of funding allocated to implement the final recommendations of the Pitt Report; and how such figures were calculated. [188078]

Mr. Woolas: As I said to the DEFRA Committee on 6 February 2008, my intention with this provision was simply prudent planning to ensure we had a pot of money to implement Sir Michael's final report when it is available.

Kent

Dr. Ladyman: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what funds in the form of (a) revenue payments, (b) capital grants and (c) supported borrowing for which his Department is responsible have been made available to (i) Kent county council, (ii) Thanet district council and (iii) Dover district council in 2007-08. [183056]

Jonathan Shaw: The funds made available in 2007-08 by the Department of Environment, Food and Rural Affairs to these three councils are identified in the tables as follows.

(a) Revenue Payments

|---|---|---|
| Animal Health Framework Agreement | 206,990 | Kent county council |
| Waste Performance and Efficiency Grant | 1,406,715 | Kent county council |

(b) Capital Grants

|---|---|---|
| Kingsdown Beach Management Plan | 222,592 | Dover district council |
| Waste Performance and Efficiency Grant | 1,406,715 | Kent county council |

The revenue and capital funds made available under the Waste Performance and Efficiency Grant (WPEG) represent an aggregate allocation for Kent county council and all the district councils in the Kent area. WPEG is linked to local area agreements in 2007-08 and allocations for all county and district councils are therefore paid as an aggregate sum for collective investment.

(c) No funds have been made available in the form of supported borrowing.

Livestock

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when his Department finalised its guidance on the new rules for sheep and goat identification. [186049]

Jonathan Shaw: Guidance was finalised towards the end of 2007. It could not be finalised sooner because the consultation on the double tagging of sheep and goats did not conclude until 20 November. Guidance was distributed to all sheep and goat keepers on 4 January.

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the time provided for the sheep and goat industry to prepare for the implementation of the livestock movements, identification and tracing: sheep and goats scheme; and if he will make a statement. [186272]

Jonathan Shaw: The derogation from double tagging of sheep was lost because of a high rate of non-compliance with the derogated rules by livestock keepers. Had we not acted quickly to introduce double tagging, sheep keepers throughout the UK could have faced disallowance for failure to comply with the rules set out in EU legislation. The consultation period given was therefore the maximum that could reasonably have been permitted in the circumstances.

Livestock: Disease Control

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with the Welsh Assembly Government on developing common policies on reduction of bovine tuberculosis. [186058]

Jonathan Shaw: Responsibility for bovine TB (bTB) is fully devolved and bTB policy in Wales is a matter for the Welsh Assembly alone. However, both DEFRA and the Welsh Assembly Government, along with the Scottish Government, were signatories to the Government Strategic Framework for the Sustainable Control of bovine TB in GB. In the spirit of the framework officials in my Department are in regular contact with those in the Welsh Assembly Government on the issue.

Meat Products: Imports

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what volume of meat of each type was imported from each country of despatch into the UK in each of the last five years. [185978]

Jonathan Shaw: The following tables show the volume of imports of meat to the United Kingdom from 2002 to November 2007 by country of despatch.

Pigeons: Licensing

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether a licence is required to (a) breed and (b) keep racing pigeons. [185327]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA does not require the breeding and keeping of pigeons to be licensed. However, advice about biosecurity and preventing disease is available for all bird keepers on the DEFRA website or from local Animal Health Offices.

Sheep: Ear Tagging

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his policy is on double-tagging upland sheep; and what estimate his Department has made of the likely financial effects on hill farmers of the double-tagging system. [186191]

Jonathan Shaw: In accordance with EU legislation, all sheep which are not intended for slaughter within 12 months of age must be double tagged. In England, the rules apply to sheep and goats born on or after 1 January 2008 and those not officially identified by that date.

An impact assessment on the introduction in England of double tagging of sheep and goats was prepared. This has been placed in the Library of the House.

Sugar: Quotas

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he expects to announce his decision on sugar quota levels. [185651]

Jonathan Shaw: We informed British Sugar on 6 February 2008 that the Rural Payments Agency has approved an application from the company for restructuring aid. This was based on the renunciation of 13.5 per cent. of its white sugar production quota, amounting to 165,000 tonnes, and the full dismantling of the York sugar factory.

Wines

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) what restrictions apply to the sale of lower alcohol wine (a) within the UK and (b) elsewhere in the EU produced (i) in the UK, (ii) elsewhere in the EU, (iii) in the USA and (iv) in other countries; and if he will make a statement; [186853]

(2) if he will review the restrictions on the sale of lower alcohol wines in the UK; and if he will make a statement. [186857]

Jonathan Shaw: The minimum permitted alcohol content for wine produced and marketed in the EU is laid down in the Common Market Organisation (CMO) for Wine (Council Regulation (EEC) 1493/99). The requirements vary according to the type of wine and the region of production. Wines imported into the EU are, in general, subject to the same requirements, although a number of countries, including the US, have concluded bilateral agreements, which provide for wine produced in conformity with national standards to be imported and marketed in the EU.

The agreement reached in December 2007 on a new wine CMO will provide, in due course, for a streamlining of the process of adopting new wine making techniques in the EU. The UK will continue to press for the consideration and the adoption of internationally recognised alcohol reduction techniques, and thereby allow EU wine producers the ability to utilise these processes in the production and marketing of their wines in the EU.

World War II: Medals

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many applications for the Women's Land Army and Timber Corps badges his Department expects to receive. [186150]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The enthusiasm for the badges has been high. We have currently received approximately 9,000 applications and expect this to increase significantly.

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he expects the design of the badge for Women in the Land Army to be finalised. [186151]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The design of the badge has now been finalised.

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the design of the badge for Women in the Land Army cost; and how much was spent on the design for each of the previous three commissioned badges. [186782]

Jonathan Shaw: The Women's Land Army badge cost £1,100. This is, and has been, the only badge awarded by DEFRA.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he will answer Question 180776, tabled on 16 January by the hon. Member for Southend West; what the reason is for the time taken to reply; and if he will make a statement. [186426]

Jonathan Shaw: I regret the delay in answering the hon. Member for Southend West, this was due to an administrative oversight. The question was answered on 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1341W.

TREASURY

Bank Services

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent estimate he has made of the value of deposits in dormant bank accounts in the United Kingdom; and what steps his Department has taken to inform the public of the funds in these dormant bank accounts. [187219]

Angela Eagle: The Dormant Bank and Building Society Accounts Bill is currently before Parliament. It broadly defines a dormant account as a bank or building society account where there has been no customer-initiated activity for a period of at least 15 years. On this basis, an assessment by banks and building societies suggests that between £250 million and £350 million lies currently unclaimed in banks, and up to £150 million unclaimed in the building society sector.

The Government have encouraged the sector to build on its pre-existing arrangements to reunite dormant account holders with their money. The Government welcome the response of the industry and in particular the publicised launch of "mylostaccount.org.uk" by the British Bankers' Association, Building Societies Association and National Savings and Investments in January. The Government also welcome the commitment of individual banks and building societies to undertake proactive search activity throughout 2008 and up to the introduction of the scheme.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what fees were paid to private contractors for the operation and maintenance of his Department's buildings in the last 12 month period for which figures are available. [187595]

Angela Eagle: The Treasury building at 1 Horse Guards road operates and is maintained under a PFI contract. The annual unitary payment made under that contract is £14.037 million at March 1999 prices. The Treasury building at Rosebery Court in Norwich operates and is maintained under an OGCbuying.solutions framework contract. Payments made under that contract in the 12 months from September 2006 totalled some £814,000.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many press and communications officers were employed by his Department in each year for which figures are available. [187584]

Angela Eagle: The number of press officers employed within the Chancellor's Department continues to be 10 full-time equivalents (FTEs). Currently HMT employs nine full time press officers and will be recruiting to fill the vacancy.

The figure for the Office of Government Commerce is two FTEs.

Dorneywood

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what use civil servants in his Department have made of Dorneywood in the last 12 months. [176407]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Lincoln (Gillian Merron), 30 October 2007, Official Report, column 1077W. Ministers and civil servants have used Dorneywood for official events over the past 12 months. Dorneywood is held in trust for use as an official residence, as has been the case under successive Administrations. It is the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and is also available to Ministers and their civil servants for official engagements. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such engagements.

Food: Prices

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effects of recent increases in food prices on the stability of the economy. [187460]

Angela Eagle: Overall, CPI inflation has remained very close to its 2 per cent. target in recent months, despite the peak in food price inflation. The Government will publish their latest assessment of recent economic developments and prospects in the "Financial Statement and Budget Report" on 12 March, in the normal way.

Inflation

Philip Davies: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 6 February 2008, Official Report, column 1198W to Question 184207, on inflation, if he will calculate the likely effect on the overall rate of inflation of increasing the police force's net pay by (a) 2.5 per cent. and (b) 1.9 per cent. over the next two years. [186504]

Yvette Cooper [holding answer 18 February 2008]: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave him on 6 February 2008, Official Report, column 1198W.

Network Rail: Fines

Norman Baker: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department received in fines levied on Network Rail in each year since its inception; and what his policy is on re-allocating such monies. [180958]

Yvette Cooper [holding answer 22 January 2008]: The Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) has imposed penalties totalling £2.65 million on Network Rail in the last three years.

When a private sector body is fined the receipt does not benefit the budget of the individual body that imposed the fine, instead it returns to the Consolidated Fund and benefits public sector finances.

Pay: Public Sector

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the Answer to my hon. Friend the Member for South Cambridgeshire (Mr. Langley) of 21 January 2008, Official Report, columns 1567-69W, on Pay: Public Sector, when he expects data for 2007 to be available. [185259]

Yvette Cooper: Information on the average earnings index is publicly available from the Office of National Statistics at www.statistics.gov.uk. The average earnings index is found within the monthly release of the Labour Market Statistics. The most recent edition (January) of the Labour Market Statistics can be found at:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/pdfdir/lmsuk0108.pdf

Shropshire

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the value was of each grant provided by his Department, its associated agencies and non-departmental public bodies to (a) Shrewsbury and Atcham Borough Council, (b) Shropshire County Council and (c) Telford and the Wrekin Borough Council in (i) 2006-07 and (ii) 2007-08; and what grants have been planned for 2008-09. [184096]

Yvette Cooper: The Treasury does not give grants to individual local authorities. Information on grants provided by the Department's agencies and non-departmental public bodies is held by the bodies themselves. This information is not held centrally.

Smuggling: Animal Products

Mr. Paice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much has been allocated to tackle illegal imports of products of animal origin in each of the last five years. [185625]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

The Government have significantly increased the amount of money available to tackle illegal imports of Products of Animal Origin (POAO), plants and Plant Based Goods (PBG).

An extra £26 million was spent over the three years 2003-04, 2004-05 and 2005-06. This money was split between DEFRA, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) and the Food Standards Agency (FSA) as shown as follows:

£ million

| | HMRC[1] | FSA[2] | DEFRA[3] |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 4 | 1.5 | 0.5 |
| 2004-05 | 7 | 2 | 1 |
| 2005-06 | 7 | 2 | 1 |

[1] Enforcement and publicity
[2] Step change project with local/port health authorities
[3] Publicity and risk assessment

From 2006-07 HMRC has continued to fund its enforcement activities in line with public service agreement target commitments. Funding continues to be available for DEFRA to examine the risks and help increase public awareness (£500,000 in 2006-07 and £590,590 in 2007-08), and for the FSA for work on inland controls.

Smuggling: Meat

Mr. Paice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many seizures of illegal meat imported into the UK were made in each year since 2001, broken down by (a) country of origin and (b) product type; and what the total weight seized in each year was. [185623]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

During the period 1 April 2001 to 31 March 2002, the number of seizures of illegal meat was 1,242 and Weight (kg) was 18,955. Statistics by specific region are not available for that period.

Seizures of illegal meat for 2002 to 2007 are listed by region in the following table.

1 April to 31 March each year

The following should be noted:

(a) The aforementioned table shows by specific region the number, weight and volume of seizures of meat made from non-EU countries by Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC) at British points of entry (and by staff funded by DEFRA until 11 April 2003), those made by the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development for Northern Ireland (DARDNI) at points of entry in Northern Ireland and those made by inland local/port health authorities where they were able to establish that the illegal products came from non-EU countries. HMRC have been responsible for anti-smuggling controls on products of animal origin (POAO) into Britain since 11 April 2003.

On occasions more than one POAO product at a time will be seized (for example, meat, fish, dairy and honey). This is referred to as a 'multiple seizure'. Up until 31 March 2006, this was only recorded as one seizure against the product of highest weight although the weight of the other products seized was included in the weight recorded for that product. However, the number of seizures by product for the period 1 April 2006 to 31 March 2007 reflect the number of times each product was seized including those from a 'multiple seizure'.

(b) Seizures of illegal meat imported into the United Kingdom (UK) are recorded by region rather than specific country. This is because in some cases it can be difficult to determine the precise country of origin for a particular product and people can often travel to the UK via another country (for example to catch a direct connecting flight to the UK). What is clear is that illegal imports of meat (and other products of animal origin) enter the UK from all over the world.

(c) Seizure figures are not recorded at the level of detail to determine the type of product (for example, chicken, pork etc.).

HEALTH

Agency Nurses: Pay

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the highest hourly rate paid to agency nurses by the NHS was in each of the last three years. [185456]

Ann Keen: This information is not held centrally as it is an operational matter for national health service trusts.

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) male and (b) female binge drinkers, according to the definition of binge drinking used in the Alcohol Harm Reduction Strategy, there were in each year since 2004. [186172]

Dawn Primarolo: The Office for National Statistics (ONS) general household survey provides an estimate of the percentage of men and women who drank more than twice the daily recommendations (three to four units per day for men, two to three units per day for women) on at least one day in the previous week, a measure of binge drinking.

On the method for estimating consumption formerly used by the ONS, in 2004, 22 per cent. of men and 9 per cent. of women drank more than twice the daily recommendations on at least one day in the previous week.

In 2005, 19 per cent. of men and 8 per cent. of women drank more than twice the daily recommendations. For 2006, this figure was 18 per cent. of men and 8 per cent. of women.

In December 2007, the ONS described improvements in the ONS method for estimating alcohol consumption. The improved method takes account of increases in the alcoholic strength of wine, the sizes of glass used and uses better estimates of the alcoholic strength of beers, lagers and ciders.

Using the improved methodology, in both 2005 and 2006, 23 per cent. of men and 15 per cent. of women drank more than twice the daily recommendations on at least one day in the previous week. The figures for 2004 have not been recalculated according to the new methodology.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many alcohol-related categories are in use for assessing accident and emergency admissions. [187479]

Dawn Primarolo: The individual diagnosis codes currently used by the Information Centre for health and social care to define 'alcohol related conditions' for hospital admissions are:

F10 Mental and behavioural disorders due to use of alcohol

K70 Alcoholic liver disease

T51 Toxic effect of alcohol

Of these, the categories used by the Information Centre for health and social care to define 'admissions to hospital via accident and emergency' (A and E) are:

21 = Emergency: via A and E services, including the casualty department of the provider

28 = Emergency: other means, including patients who arrive via the A and E department of another health care provider

Notes:

The Information Centre for health and social care cannot provide data on A and E attendances and when data is provided for 'admissions to hospital via A and E' it is explicitly for in-patient admissions to hospital when they are admitted from category 21 and category 28.

Cancer

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 14 January 2008, Official Report, column 991W, on cancer, how many (a) elective and (b) emergency bed days for cancer (i) in total and (ii) for each cancer type there were in 2006-07; what assessment he has made of the reasons for the trends in (A) elective and (B) emergency bed days for cancer since 1997-98; and what his latest estimate is of the average cost of (1) an elective and (2) an emergency admission for cancer (x) overall and (y) for each cancer type in the latest year for which figures are available. [184216]

Ann Keen: Information on elective and emergency bed days in 2006-07, broken down by cancer type is not currently available.

The latest year for which cost estimates are available for cancer admissions is 2005-06.

The following table provides the average cost of an elective and an emergency admission for all cancers and for each cancer type in the latest year for which figures are available. Note that this includes day cases, which are within the definition of an admission, but exclude regular day and regular night attenders which are not defined as admissions. Figures are in 2005-06 prices.

Cervical Cancer: Screening

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of women aged 25 to 35 years of age have attended a routine smear test in the last 12 months, broken down by primary care trust area. [183760]

Ann Keen: Cervical screening attendance data is collected in five-year age bands, starting at 20-24, we are therefore not able to say what percentage of women aged 25 to 35 have attended a routine screen in the last 12 months. However, the following table gives the percentage of women aged 25-34 and 35-39, broken down by primary care trust.

Notes:

1. National policy for the cervical screening programme is that eligible women aged 25 to 64 should be screened every three or five years. Women aged 25 to 49 are screened every three years, (from 2002 3.5 years) those aged 50 to 64 every five years.
2. Coverage as supplied here relates to the percentage of eligible women aged 25-39 screened within the last 3.5 years

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many women (a) under 25, (b) 25 to 35, (c) 35 to 50, (d) 50 to 60 and (e) over 60 years of age had a CIN 3 graded smear test in each of the last five years for which figures are available; [183761]

(2) how many women under the age of 25 years had a smear test with a CIN 3 result in each of the last five years for which figures are available. [186872]

Ann Keen: Data for CIN3 are aggregated by age and with data for adenocarcinoma, we are not able to spilt them up. The following tables give figures, for the last five years, for women, whose cervical test outcome was CIN 3 and adenocarcinoma.

Women (all ages) where outcome was CIN3 and adenocarcinoma in situ following referral after persistent non-negative sample (low grade—i.e. category 1/8/3 result) for 2001-02 to 2005-06 and April to June 2006

| England | Number |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 2,498 |
| 2002-03 | 3,872 |
| 2003-04 | 3,609 |
| 2004-05 | 3,945 |
| 2005-06 | 4,151 |
| April to June 2006 | 866 |

Women (all ages) where outcome was CIN3 and adenocarcinoma in situ following referral after single occurrence of potentially significant abnormality (high grade i.e. category 7/4/5/6 result) for 2001-02 to 2005-06 and April to June 2006

| England | Number |

Notes:

1. Data for outcome of referrals is a retrospective collection and annual data for this dataset is always a year behind the rest of the published data for cervical screening, however the first quarter for the following year is available and published at the same time, this has been provided for the period April to June 2006 to show the most up to date information available.
2. Figures for 2005-06 and April to June 2006 differ slightly from those published. Arrowe Park Hospital's laboratory data was submitted with the quarter and the annual data the wrong way round.
3. The latest data on cervical screening is available in the Information Centre's publication "Cervical Screening Programme, England 2006-07".
4. Low grade includes the results; inadequate (cat 1), borderline (cat 8) and mild dyskaryosis (cat 3)
High grade includes the results; moderate dyskaryosis (cat 7), severe dyskariosis (cat 4), severe dyskariosis/?invasive carcinoma (cat 5) and ?glandular neoplasia (cat 6)
5. CIN (cervical intra-epithelial neoplasia) is an indicator of the depth of abnormal cells within the cervix
CIN3 is where the full thickness of the surface layer is affected (also known as carcinoma in situ)

Clinical Negligence

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 24 January 2008, Official Report, column 2238W, on clinical negligence, by how much the forecast value of claims in the future has required amendment; and for what reason. [184500]

Ann Keen: This information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The reasons for change in value of future claims settlements can vary from changed information on the specific damage caused to changes in the interpretation of case law and its impact on future settlements. The NHS Litigation Authority (NHSLA) carry out a rigorous review at least twice per annum of all of our models which forecast claims not yet received and keep a constant review of all 'known claims' throughout their life. NHSLA's systems and processes are audited by the National Audit Office who have yet to offer any concern in relation to NHSLA's accounting treatment or indeed the quality of advice they are purchasing from either legal or actuarial professionals.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 24 January 2008, Official Report, column 2238W on clinical negligence, how many claims under the Clinical Negligence Scheme for Trusts there have been relating to care or treatment for cancer since 1995; and what the value has been of such claims. [184501]

| Speciality | Number of claims | Outstanding estimate (£) | Total paid (£) | Total claim (£) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Oncology | 416 | 9,436,113 | 13,864,016 | 23,300,129 |

Community Care

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people and what proportion of the population received continuing healthcare in each primary care trust area in England in each of the last five years. [183767]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Diabetes: Medical Equipment

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what advice has been issued to general practitioners on the prescription to diabetics of blood-testing strips. [183907]

Ann Keen: In September 2002, the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) issued clinical guidelines on Management of Type 2 Diabetes—Managing Blood Glucose. The guidelines include advice on the self-monitoring of blood glucose, and state that although self-monitoring can have benefits, it should only be carried out as part of an integrated self-care package and if the purpose is clear and agreed with the patient.

The guidelines are under review and will be reissued as part of the Type 2 diabetes: the management of type two diabetes (update), expected to be published by NICE in April 2008.

In July 2004 NICE issued clinical guidelines on Type 1 diabetes: diagnosis and management of Type one diabetes in children, young people and adults. These guidelines also state that self-monitoring of blood glucose levels should be used as part of an integrated package to help choice and achieve the best outcomes.

A statement on blood glucose self-monitoring was reissued in February 2005 via the Medical Director, Chief Nursing Officer and general practitioner bulletins to reinforce the message that self-monitoring may prove useful to people in their overall approach to self-care.

Diabetes: Screening

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people (a) were offered and (b) accepted screening for diabetic retinopathy in each year since 2003-04. [184560]

Ann Keen: The following tables show the number of people with diabetes offered screening for diabetic retinopathy and the number of people receiving screening broken down by year.

Doctors: EU Nationals

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what information his Department holds on which European countries' doctors in the UK (a) have come from and (b) are likely to come from in the future, based on current staffing and future projections, as a result of the EU Professional Qualifications Directive for Health Professionals. [186640]

Ann Keen: The European countries that doctors come from is not collected centrally. The NHS Workforce Census does collect the countries where doctors qualified. Such information as is available is shown in the following table.

The European Union Professional Qualifications Directive may have an impact of the future flows from European countries because the directive is about freeing up professional mobility. The flow of doctors will continue to depend upon the requirements of employing organisations and the competitiveness of doctors applying for employment.

Ear Nose and Throat: Surgery

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) adult and (b) child tonsillectomies were carried out in each of the last five years. [186742]

Ann Keen: The numbers of finished admission episodes where the primary or secondary operative procedure was a tonsillectomy for people aged (a) under 18 and (b) 18 and over in each of the last five years is set out in the following table.

| | Age | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Under 18 | 18 and over | Age unknown | Total |

| 2002-03 | 18,541 | 36,321 | 3 | 54,865 |

Notes:

FAE

A FAE is the first period of in-patient care under one consultant within one health care provider. Admissions do not represent the number of in-patients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.

Data quality

HES are compiled from data sent by over 300 national health service trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Assessing growth through time

HES figures are available from 1989-90 onwards. During the years that these records have been collected by the NHS, there have been ongoing improvements in quality and coverage. These improvements in information submitted by the NHS have been particularly marked in the earlier years and need to be borne in mind when analysing time series. Changes in NHS practice also need to be borne in mind when analysing time series. For example a number of procedures may now be undertaken in out-patient settings and may no longer be included in the HES data. This may account for any reductions in activity over time.

Ungrossed Data

Figures have not been adjusted for shortfalls in data (i.e. the data are ungrossed).

All operations count of mentions

These figures represent a count of all mentions of an operation in any of the 12 operation fields in the HES data set. Therefore, if an operation is mentioned in more than one operation field during an episode, all operations are counted.

Health Services: Pilot Schemes

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) for what reasons his Department's Whole System Demonstrator project sites in (a) Newham, (b) Kent and (c) Cornwall did not go live in accordance with the expected timetable; and when he expects each such project site to begin providing services to patients; [183559]

(2) what the (a) target population and (b) evaluation criteria are of the Whole System Demonstrator project sites in (i) Newham, (ii) Kent and (iii) Cornwall; [183560]

(3) what the (a) titles and (b) dates of all documents held by his Department are which concern the (i) planning and (ii) implementation of the Whole System Demonstrator pilot sites in (A) Newham, (B) Kent and (C) Cornwall; and if he will place in the Library a copy of each such document. [183561]

Ann Keen: The Long Term Condition Whole System Demonstrators (WSDs) promised in the White Paper "Our Health, Our Care, Our Say" are exploring the effectiveness of telehealth and telecare in supporting integrated care for those with complex health and social care needs.

The demonstrators involve the provision of integrated care supported by telehealth and telecare to thousands of individuals over a two year period. The demonstrators are charged with determining the business case for the effectiveness of this model of care. This is being facilitated by the development of a robust independent evaluation drawing upon relevant academic expertise.

The development of the evaluation methodology, in conjunction with the three sites, has been complex and a number of research design and operational issues have had to be addressed. However, since a randomised control trial provides an unbiased, balanced, and reliable method for determining whether the complex intervention is effective we have allowed more time for the evaluation methodology to be developed than originally planned. There has also been a requirement for review by a multi-site research ethics committee. We have delayed launching services on a large scale until the evaluation methodology is approved because we want each installation to contribute to the knowledge base we are generating.

Our revised timeline has the evaluated roll out of WSD services commencing in April 2008.

The three WSD sites will be subject to a single evaluation and as such the target population and evaluation methodology is common across all three sites. It is essential to clearly define the target population for the WSD programme so that the results of the detailed evaluation can be set in context. The criteria proposed for individuals in the trial is as follows:

individuals with health care needs of any age who are at risk of current or future hospital admission, due to at least one of the following conditions: heart failure, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease or diabetes. The detailed severity criteria is defined using quality outcome framework indicators.

individuals with social care needs aged 18 and over who:

are currently in receipt of, or considered to have a need for night sitting;

receiving seven or more hours per week of home care or 3.5 or more hours per week of home care plus a meals service (defined by individual not household); receiving one or more days per week of day care;

have had a fall or who are considered at high risk of falling;

a live-in nearby informal carer facing difficulties carrying their current burden of responsibilities; and cognitive impairment/confusion people fulfilling this criterion who are unable to provide written informed consent and do not have a primary informal caregiver available or an advocate will not be approached to participate in the questionnaire study.-

individuals with both health and social care needs as defined above.

The evaluation has been designed to assess the impact of the addition of telehealth and telecare in an integrated care setting on:

patterns of health and social care utilisation;

user reported quality of life, independence and psychological well-being;

carers' quality of life;

practitioners working lives and relationships with patients/service users;

clinical effectiveness; and cost effectiveness of care.

The WSD sites are being supported by the Department, and their project management partner KPMG, to ensure that each site manages to the principles outlined by the OGC's Managing Successful Programmes (MSP) guidance. All the sites have a requirement to produce and manage a consistent set of programme documentation. Each site has a dedicated WSD team and reports to the Department with a weekly flash report and a monthly progress report.

A comprehensive list of planning and control documentation has been produced by each site. The nature of such documentation is that it evolves over the lifecycle of the programme and so there are multiple versions of many documents that reflect this evolution. For each of the three programmes, and their associated sub-projects, there are for example project initiation documents, project plans, risk/issue and dependency logs and communications plans.

The planning documentation contains commercially sensitive information and so it would be inappropriate to place the information in the Library.

Health Services: Private Sector

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to support the involvement of patients and the public in monitoring the effectiveness of services provided for the NHS by the third sector and the private sector. [185566]

Ann Keen: The Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007, set out important new arrangements for the involvement of patients and the public in health and social care, including local involvement networks (LINks). LINks will enable local people to monitor local services irrespective of who provides them.

LINks will build on the work of voluntary and community sector groups; and, enable genuine involvement of a far greater number of people than is currently available, ensuring local communities have a stronger voice in the process of commissioning health and social care and enabling them to influence key decisions about the services they both use and pay for.

In order to ensure that independent sector providers—be they from the private or third sector—co-operate with LINks, we will make directions requiring primary care trusts and local authorities to ensure that their contracts with the independent and third sectors allow LINks entry to appropriate premises and access to appropriate information. This will ensure that LINks will have the same levels of access as they do in the public sector. These changes are aimed at promoting open and transparent communication between communities and the health service, and will develop trust and confidence, increasing accountability to local people.

Malnutrition

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of (a) men and (b) women were underweight in (i) 2005, (ii) 2006 and (iii) 2007, (1) in total and (2) broken down by age. [185602]

Dawn Primarolo: The information is not available in the exact format requested.

Data on underweight prevalence among men and women in England in 2005 and 2006, broken down by age group can be found in the "Health Survey for England 2006 latest trends", published 31 January 2008. The data are presented in table 4 (body mass index) of the "Adult trend tables 2006". This publication and the tables are available in the Library.

Data for 2007 are not available.

Mental Health Services: Restraint Techniques

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will introduce (a) mandatory training for staff who are involved in restraint or other physical interventions in mental health units, (b) an accreditation scheme for trainers in necessary restraint skills and (c) definitive guidance on the management of violence in mental health acute units. [186662]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence published guidelines in 2005 entitled "Short-term Management of Violence and Disturbed Behaviour in Psychiatric In-patient Settings and Emergency Departments". These guidelines state that all service providers should have a policy for training in physical intervention that specifies the frequency and level of training required.

The NHS Security Management Service has developed training for all National Health Service staff in mental health and learning disabilities settings entitled The Promoting Safer and Therapeutic Services training-programme. This does not include training in physical intervention techniques.

The Department and the National Institute for Mental Health in England (NIMHE) are committed to the accreditation of training and regulation of trainers in the prevention and management of aggression and violence and are currently working to ensure the introduction of an effective accreditation system.

NIMHE issued the positive practice standards "Developing Positive Practice to Support the Safe and Therapeutic Management of Aggression and Violence in Mental Health In-patient Settings" in 2004.

On 8 February, consultation ended on definitive guidance by NIMHE entitled "The National Minimum Standards for the Safe and Therapeutic Management of Aggression and Violence in Mental Health In-patient Settings." Responses to this consultation are being considered.

Migraine

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimates he has made of the number of people who experience migraine in (a) England, (b) the North East, (c) Tees Valley district and (d) Middlesbrough South and East Cleveland constituency. [185510]

Ann Keen: We have made no estimates of the number of people living with migraine.

National Centre for Involvement

Dr. Richard Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will require the National Centre for Involvement to provide information, advice and learning opportunities to patients, NHS service users and local involvement networks members in relation to improving consultation at national, regional and local levels in the NHS. [183801]

Ann Keen: The NHS Centre for Involvement (NCI) is a consortium of organisations comprising the University of Warwick, Centre for Public Scrutiny and Long Term Conditions Alliance. The NCI has been contracted by the Department to promote more effective patient and public involvement and consultation and to provide support, advice and guidance to stakeholders in this respect. Key among those receiving the NCI's support are patients and the public themselves.

The NCI is delivering a major programme of work to support those involved in local involvement networks (LINks)—patients, users of social services and the public, as well as those groups and organisations involved in supporting and participating in LINks. The NCI also provides information to members of the public more generally about patient and public involvement in the national health service.

NHS

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the new NHS constitution proposed by the Prime Minister on 7 January will be established by primary legislation. [180449]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We do not propose enshrining the entire constitution in legislation but will legislate if appropriate on specific elements of the constitution.

NHS: Public Participation

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will take steps to ensure that (a) the NHS Centre for Involvement, (b) NHS service users and (c) local involvement networks members improve consultation at national, regional and local levels. [183743]

Ann Keen: The Department is taking a number of steps to improve consultation at all levels. It has contracted with the NHS Centre for Involvement (NCI) to promote and support more effective patient and public involvement and consultation throughout the national health service. The Department is in close contact with the NCI to ensure that the NCI continues to develop its work in this area and constantly seeks to improve the support it offers to the NHS.

Additionally, the Department is currently developing statutory guidance, in accordance with the requirements of section 242 of the NHS Act 2006, which will set out the requirements of NHS bodies to involve and consult patients and the public in the design, development and improvement of health services. The Department is also completing the legislative base for local involvement networks (LINks) which are to be established from April 2008 onwards.

LINks will provide a more flexible and open means by which peoples' views and experiences can inform local services, and enable the NHS to develop a more long-term and meaningful dialogue with the public. As well as the primary and secondary legislation to support LINks, the Department is also developing supportive guidance for those involved in making LINks effective—those who participate in them as well as those organisations which will develop relationships with them. The NCI is also developing a comprehensive package of support to enable LINks to operate at their best.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make provision for a financial loss allowance for members of local involvement networks. [185568]

Ann Keen: Patient and public involvement is key to developing and delivering responsive and accountable health and social care services. For effective involvement, people need to feel supported and that their contribution has been valued. This can be done in a number of ways, including participants being thanked and their contribution acknowledged.

It will be for each Local Involvement Network (LINk) to determine its own policy regarding payment and reimbursement. However, we will remind LINks and host organisations that the Department's "Reward and Recognition" document which is available in the Library and is also on the Department's website at:

www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_4138523

This document provides a useful guide for service providers, users and carers on the principles and practice of service user payment and reimbursement in health and social care.

Tom Levitt: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he will issue guidance to local authorities on the establishment of LINks; and if he will make a statement on progress towards establishing LINks. [186499]

Ann Keen: The NHS Centre for Involvement is in the process of pulling together a compendium of guidance, which will be made available from 1 April 2008.

Since the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007 was enacted in October last year, a great deal of work has been done to ensure that a local involvement network (LINk) is established in each local authority area.

A programme of tools and services will be available to all 150 local authorities, to support them in making arrangements for LINks activities in their area.

Organs: Donors

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people carry donor cards; and how many transplants took place where consent was given by the existence of such a card, in the last 12 months for which figures are available. [185298]

Ann Keen: We do not know exactly how many people carry an organ donor card but a recent survey concluded that around 21 million people carried the card, about 36 per cent. of the population. Almost 15 million people, around 25 per cent. of the population have registered on the Organ Donor Register.

Of the 2,339 organ transplants in the United Kingdom in 2007 from deceased donors, 674, about 29 per cent. were from donors who were registered on the Organ Donor Register.

Palliative Care Standards

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether he plans to fund the continuing work of the Gold Standard Framework Programme to improve end-of-life care in primary care teams and in care homes with central resources. [187270]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Funding has been incorporated into strategic health authority (SHA) NHS bundle to support the continuation of the End of Life Care programme, of which the Gold Standards Framework (GSF) forms an important part. It is for SHAs to decide how this funding should be allocated.

The central team for the End of Life Care programme has also received further funding to support its developing role as the national support team for the future implementation of the End of Life Care strategy. An important part of the team's work will be the continuation of existing initiatives, including the roll out of supporting tools such as the GSF.

Patients' Prospectus

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) when he plans to publish a patients' prospectus, as referred to by the Prime Minister in his speech to King's college London and the Florence Nightingale school of Nursing of 7 January; and if he will make a statement; [183556]

(2) what programmes and services will be provided under the (a) active patient and (b) care at home care options announced by the Prime Minister in his speech to King's college London and the Florence Nightingale school of Nursing of 7 January; how many patients he expects to be cared for through each care option in (A) 2008-09 and (B) 2009-10; whether the care options will receive central Government funding; and if he will make a statement. [183557]

Ann Keen: Departmental officials will be working collaboratively with key stakeholders to develop further detail on the framework for the Patients' Prospectus. A timeframe for publication in 2008 has still to be finalised.

However, in line with the Departments "Supporting people with long term conditions to Self Care—A guide to developing local strategies and good practice" (February 2006), we envisage the Prospectus would illustrate what people might expect broadly under four key areas (care options) for self care/self management:

information;

skills;

equipment, tools and devices; and support networks.

The Prospectus might also cover the wider aspects of self care such as choices about healthy lifestyles.

The number of people who will be cared for through each care option will be locally determined as individuals will make different choices depending on their needs and lifestyle.

This is in keeping with proposals (trailed in "Our NHS, Our Future") to provide greater personalisation and control for people with long term conditions, and the "Operating Framework: for the NHS in England 2008-09", published 13 December 2007, which expects primary care trusts (PCTs) to improve care for people with long term conditions and to ensure more choices for these patients. We expect PCTs to roll out choice to all people in their area with a long term condition, with local flexibility on the pace and priorities.

Funding to support the delivery of improved care and support for people with long term conditions is included in PCTs main allocations. Consistent with shifting the balance of power, local empowerment and local area agreements, decisions on the level of investment in this approach will be decided locally.

Prostate Cancer

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many radical prostatectomies for the treatment of prostate cancer were carried out in the NHS in each year since 1997-98 (a) in total, (b) broken down by commissioning authority and (c) broken down by provider organisation. [184264]

Ann Keen: Information on the number of prostatectomies broken down by primary care trust and national health service trust for the period requested has been placed in the Library. It is not possible to identify separately the number of radical prostatectomies.

JUSTICE

Community Service Orders: Foreigners

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many foreign nationals are serving community sentences. [187109]

Mr. Hanson: Information on the nationality of offenders being supervised by the Probation Service under community sentences is not collected centrally.

Debt Collection: Standards

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice who in HM Courts Service is responsible for ensuring compliance with the national standards for enforcement agents by (a) county court bailiffs, (b) authorised High Court enforcement officers and their bailiffs and (c) enforcement companies and their employees contracted for magistrates enforcement; what compliance checks were undertaken in 2007; and if he will make a statement. [187008]

Maria Eagle: County court bailiffs are subject to civil service recruitment and the civil service code governs their behaviour. They are subject to strict controls over their conduct, exceeding the national standards, and discipline under civil service disciplinary procedures.

Oversight of the conduct of authorised High Court enforcement officers (HCEOs) is delegated by the Lord Chancellor to the senior master of the Queen's bench division of the High Court.

The principles and concepts contained within the national standards for enforcement agents are encapsulated in the contracts that HMCS holds with those firms employed by them to enforce warrants issued by the magistrates courts. Management of these contracts is the responsibility of regional contract managers employed by HMCS.

During 2007 the regional contract managers received monthly performance reports and held regular meetings to discuss issues, complaints and the provision of services generally. Centrally a review of both performance and compliance with the terms of the contract is undertaken bi-annually. In addition these companies were audited against their ability to meet contract protocols during 2007. As a result no contract breaches were identified.

Departmental Consultants

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what consultancy contracts his Department issued in each year since 2005; what the (a) value, (b) purpose and (c) contractor was in each case; and whether the consultant's report is publicly available in each case. [181881]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice was established on 9 May 2007. For the years 2005-06 to 2006-07, information for contracts awarded by the former Department for Constitutional Affairs and those bodies that were formerly part of the Home Office and which are now part of the Ministry of Justice is available in the Library of the House.

Information on contracts awarded in the first half of the current financial year across the Ministry of Justice is also provided.

The information on contracts awarded by the National Offender Management Service in 2005-06 and the Office for Criminal Justice Reform in the years 2005-07 is not recorded centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Full information on contracts awarded by HM Prison Service in 2006-07 is not available.

Engaging consultancy support offers the Ministry of Justice a fast and flexible way of obtaining skills and experience that are not available in house. Additionally, it is an efficient and cost effective way of meeting ad hoc requirements and provides better value for money than expanding our permanent workforce.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many ministerial residences were available to his Department's Ministers and those of its predecessors in each of the last 10 years. [178884]

Maria Eagle: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer given by my hon. Friend, the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Cabinet Office (Mr. Watson) on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W.

Driving Offences: Cycling

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many cyclists, broken down by (a) sex, (b) age group and (c) police area were (i) prosecuted and (ii) convicted of going through a red traffic light in each of the last five years for which information is available; [186394]

(2) what the average fine was for a cyclist convicted of going through a red traffic light in each of the last 10 years. [186395]

Maria Eagle: Information held by my Department cannot separately identify cyclists from other road users who have been prosecuted under various statutes that cover "going through a red traffic light".

The number of persons proceeded against at magistrates courts and convicted at all courts for offences that cover "going through a red traffic light", by gender, age group (under 18 years, and 18 years and over), and police force area in England and Wales for the years 2002 to 2006 can be found in the following tables 1 and 2.

The average fine given to those convicted of offences which cover "going through a red traffic light" in England and Wales for the years 1997 to 2006 can be found below in table 3.

Table 1: Number of persons under the age of 18 years proceeded against at magistrates courts and convicted at all courts, for offences under the Road Traffic Act 1988 Sec 35 and 36, by gender, and police force area, in England and Wales, for the years 2002 to 2006[1, 2, 3, 4]

[1] These data are on the principal offence basis.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

[3] Staffordshire police force were only able to submit sample data for persons proceeded against and convicted in the magistrates courts for the year 2000. Although sufficient to estimate higher orders of data, these data are not robust enough at a detailed level and have been excluded from the table.

[4] Statute: Road Traffic Act 1988 sections 35 and 36. Offence description: Offences connected with bicycles: neglect of traffic directions.

[5] Data from the court proceedings database cannot separately identify offences related to "going through a red traffic light" from other offences for neglect of traffic directions under the Traffic Act 1988 as they are grouped together.

Driving Offences: Mobile Phones

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) males and (b) females have been (i) arrested, (ii) prosecuted and (iii) convicted for using their mobile telephones while driving since the legislation banning their use while driving was introduced, broken down by (A) age group and (B) police area. [186396]

Maria Eagle: Information requested on arrests for the offence of 'use of a hand held mobile phone while driving' is not collected centrally.

Available information on prosecutions and convictions in the period from 1 December 2003 to end 2005 (latest available) is provided in the following tables. 2006 data will be available later this year.

The majority of use of hand held mobile phone while driving offences are dealt with under the fixed penalty notices scheme. The fixed penalty notice is intended to be a quick and simple system in giving an offender the opportunity to resolve the matter without attending court. However, failing to pay the amount due within the specified time will result in the non-endorsable £30 fine becoming £45 and being registered as a fine at a local magistrates court. The tables do not include fixed penalty notices but do include cases where fixed penalty notices were originally issued but not paid and subsequently referred to court.

Lisbon Treaty

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what discussions he has had on the potential effect of the Lisbon treaty on the principle of habeas corpus. [186121]

Mr. Straw: Detailed discussions have taken place on all aspects of the Lisbon treaty. The treaty requires no change to our laws in this area.

Negligence: Health Services

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many legally-aided clinical negligence cases were closed in 2007; and how many of these cases resulted in an award of damages or a settlement involving an agreement to pay damages or compensation. [187920]

Maria Eagle: Figures covering the whole of 2007 will not be available until after the end of the current financial year. However, 5,584 legally aided clinical negligence cases were closed in 2006-07. In 160 of these cases, the solicitors reported that the outcome was unknown, as the client had ceased to give instructions or was proceeding under other funding or as a litigant in person. Of the remaining cases, 300 resulted in an award of damages, and 1,708 in a settlement involving an agreement to pay damages or compensation.

Offenders: Housing

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what plans there are to close ClearSprings operation in Kemsley; [187822]

(2) what planning requirements there were for the establishment of the ClearSprings house in Kemsley. [187821]

Mr. Hanson: Planning permission is not required; and the local authority has not asked that it be sought. The Kemsley property was previously residential and remains in residential use by those renting it while benefiting from the Bail Accommodation and Support Service.

The property at Kemsley currently being used for the Bail Accommodation and Support Service will be released when alternative property can be sourced to meet the demand for 10 bed spaces spread over three locations in Kent, as identified by the South East Regional Offender Manager.

Prison Officers

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans he has to introduce a long service medal for prison officers in addition to the Director General's long service award. [178597]

Maria Eagle: The option of introducing a long service medal for prison officers is under active consideration within the Ministry of Justice.

Prisoners: Dietary Supplements

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans he has to introduce free vitamin supplements for prisoners. [187588]

Maria Eagle: There are no plans to introduce free vitamin supplements for all prisoners in England and Wales. The National Audit Office report HM Prison Service Serving Time: Prisoner Diet and Exercise (HC 939, 2005-06) noted that, on the whole, meals offered to prisoners were in line with the Government's recommendations on energy and nutrients.

Prisoners: Dyslexia

Mr. Burns: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when the results of the Government's investigation into early intervention programmes on prisoners suffering from dyslexia, as referred to by the former Prime Minister, Official Report, 23 May 2007, column 1270, on dyslexia and criminality, will be published; and if he will make a statement. [181507]

Mr. Hanson: The identification of prisoners with dyslexia and the provision of additional support is an important theme in the Learning and Skills Council's recent publication, "Developing the Offender Learning and Skills Service: The Prospectus". The LSC publication incorporates the findings of the Prison Reform Trust research on learning disabilities, "No-one Knows", published last year. Appropriate assessments and the provision of additional support are an important part of increasing prisoners' employability on release which in turn is a key factor in reducing re-offending.

Prisoners: Pay

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he will bring the Prisoners Earnings Act 1996 and associated secondary legislation into force. [187102]

Mr. Hanson: The Act is complicated and prescriptive and it is calculated that in its present form it would cost substantially more to administer than it would raise in revenue. In view of this the Government do not intend to make an order to bring the Act into force.

Prisons: Repairs and Maintenance

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much was spent on buildings and structural maintenance in each prison built (a) between 1995 and to date, (b) between 1980 and 1995, (c) between 1930 and 1980 and (d) before 1930 in each of the last 10 years for which figures are available. [187111]

Mr. Hanson: The information requested is in the following tables. Prisons have been categorised by year of original construction. Where for example camps/ country houses have been converted to prison use, this may not equate to the date of first use as a prison.

Figures include all centrally managed maintenance and development work and do not include minor local expenditure.

Figures do not include new accommodation under recent capacity expansion programmes.

Figures do not include privately managed prisons. All new prisons built since 1995 have been private sector operated with the exception of HMP Kennett which has only recently opened and has not yet incurred any maintenance expenditure.

Young Offenders

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many children were held in prison in each of the last 10 years, broken down by (a) sex, (b) age of first admission and (c) type of offence. [186736]

Mr. Hanson: Figures showing the number of under 18-year-old prisoners under immediate custodial sentence held in all prison establishments in England and Wales by gender and offence type between 1997 and 2006 can be found in the following table. Information on the age of prisoners at first admission is not available.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1040W, on departmental public relations, which public relations company was contracted for the (a) digital switchover campaign and (b) licensing campaign. [187788]

Margaret Hodge: The public relations company Harrison Cowley was used for the digital switchover campaign and the licensing campaign.

Departmental Security

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will list the (a) special advisers and (b) Ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to his Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. [182206]

Mr. Sutcliffe: It is established practice not to provide details on pass access to government buildings for security reasons.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187864]

Mr. Sutcliffe: For the 2006-07 financial year, the percentage of working days lost attributed to stress is 13 per cent. of total sickness absence.

The Department for Culture, Media and Sport has a legal obligation to provide a safe working environment for all employees and guidance is available for staff and managers on how to manage stress effectively.

As part of our attendance, health and well being programme for staff we have a range of policies in place to reduce work related stress. These include: Stress Management policy and Sickness Absence policy, which includes guidance on making reasonable adjustments. We also offer a full range of flexible work patterns to support work-life balance and have health awareness pages on our intranet. We have appointed a DCMS board member as the Health and Well-Being Champion. In addition, staff have access to our Employee Assistance Programme (counselling service) and onsite gym with a programme of exercise and yoga available.

Film

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what funding is available for foreign film production companies to make films in the United Kingdom. [187357]

Margaret Hodge: The UK Government provide film tax relief for qualifying films. Foreign filmmakers working in partnership with British film companies may be eligible for such relief. In order to qualify, their films need either to pass the UK's cultural test or qualify as an official UK co-production. Films should be intended for theatrical release, meet a minimum UK spend requirement of 25 per cent. and be made by a film production company within the UK corporation tax net.

In addition, the UK Film Council provides national lottery funding for film development and production projects; approximately £19 million per year is available. Foreign filmmakers can access this funding by collaborating with companies that are registered and centrally managed in the UK or in another member state of the European Union or European economic area. The provision to allow companies registered in other states of the European Union or European economic area is to ensure compatibility with the general legality principles of the treaty on European Union (the Maastricht treaty).

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many British and foreign film company collaborations have taken place in the last 10 years. [187359]

Margaret Hodge: Between 1997 and 2007, 631 films made either with foreign finance or under the arrangements for official co-productions have been produced in the UK.

There may have been additional collaborations outside the framework for official co-productions. The Government do not maintain central records of such collaborations.

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many British and foreign film company collaborations have taken place in the last 12 months. [187360]

Margaret Hodge: Between January and December 2007, 54 films made either with foreign finance or under the arrangements for official co-productions have been produced in the UK.

There may have been additional collaborations outside the framework for official co-productions. The Government do not maintain central records of such collaborations.

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many collaborations there have been between British and Indian film companies in the last 10 years. [187361]

Margaret Hodge: We are finalising a treaty to allow for official co-productions between UK and Indian film companies. We are expecting to see up to 10 UK-Indian co-productions made within the first two years. We estimate that this will result in expenditure in the UK of approximately £88 million and in Indian spend of approximately £62 million.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many members of the Senior Civil Service in his Department have received an honour. [187130]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Department for Culture, Media and Sport currently has three members of the senior civil service who have received an honour.

National Lottery: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much was paid in grants from Lottery funds to organisations in Tamworth in each of the last five years, expressed (a) in cash terms and (b) as a percentage of the Staffordshire total. [187781]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The total value of grants awarded in the local authority area of Tamworth in each of the last five complete financial years, and as a percentage of the Staffordshire total, is set out in the table.

The information is location specific. That is, the figures include only grants that are specific to a location in the region and exclude grants that might have gone to addresses in the region, but are not otherwise related to it.

| Financial year | Total value of grants awarded in Tamworth (£) | Staffordshire total (£) | Tamworth total as a percentage of Staffordshire total |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 58,017 | 6,353,181 | 0.91 |
| 2005-06 | 525,530 | 8,468,002 | 6.21 |
| 2004-05 | 36,882 | 9,966,699 | 0.37 |
| 2003-04 | 545,206 | 23,363,864 | 2.33 |
| 2002-03 | 703,320 | 14,219,555 | 4.95 |

The Department's Lottery Grants Database is searchable at:

www.lottery.culture.gov.uk

and uses information supplied by the Lottery distributors.

Playing Fields: Planning Permission

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1044, on planning permission: playing fields, how many applications were (a) approved, (b) rejected and (c) withdrawn; and what percentage of those approved were considered to represent a significant change to sporting provision, broken down by region since 2001. [188013]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The information requested, broken down at a regional level, could be provided only at disproportionate cost. However, a table showing the total number of planning applications nationally on playing fields on which Sport England were consulted for all years since 2001 broken down by numbers (a) approved, (b) rejected or withdrawn and (c) yet to be decided is given as follows. Many of these applications are from clubs/schools wanting to improve the quality of their sports facilities.

| | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Approved | 695 | 807 | 959 | 910 |
| Rejected or withdrawn | 161 | 148 | 122 | 177 |
| Yet to be decided | 129 | 342 | 332 | 184 |
| Total | 985 | 1,297 | 1,413 | 1,271 |

Regional Arts Councils: Disclosure of Information

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what his policy is on the dissemination of information to the public by regional arts councils. [186811]

Margaret Hodge: It is a long standing, fundamental principle that the Arts Council operates at arm's length from the Government, which ensures that decisions about the arts are taken by people in the Arts Council whose job it is to develop and support the arts, and not by Ministers. The Arts Council is committed to a policy of openness and transparency and makes information available to the public on a routine basis. Among others, this can include Council minutes, advice and guidance on funding programmes and research reports. The Arts Council's publication scheme gives details of what information is publicly available and can be found on their website:

www.artscouncil.org.uk/publications/publication_detail.php?sid=1&id=413

<http://www.artscouncil.org.uk/publications/publication_detail.php?sid=1&id=413>

Sports: Capital Investment

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much capital has been allocated to evening sports clubs for young people in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) England in each year since 1997. [187067]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Funding is allocated by DCMS for Capital Projects throughout England, but no records are kept by DCMS or Funding Distributors (NDPBs) on what purpose building projects that benefit from this funding are used for. It is therefore not possible to provide an answer to this question.

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much capital has been allocated to sport in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) England in each year since 1997. [187072]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The following tables show how much capital Exchequer and lottery funding DCMS has allocated to sport in the requested categories:

(a) Jarrow

| Financial year | Total (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 0.287 |
| 2002-03 | 0.000 |

| 2004-05 | 0.040 |

(b) South Tyneside

| Financial year | Total (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 0.023 |
| 2000-01 | 0.311 |
| 2001-02 | 0.000 |
| 2002-03 | 2.416 |

| 2005-06 | 32.050 |
| 2006-07 | 33.363 |
| 2007-08 | 6.295 |

Figures given prior to 2001-02 are lottery only as Sport England advises that it is not possible to provide the requested information for Exchequer funding back to 1997. This is because they changed their budget management software at the start of 2001-02 and they do not have information before that date readily available.

Sports: Drugs

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will bring forward measures to assist the governing bodies of UK sports in excluding participants who have been found guilty of the illicit use of performance-enhancing drugs from selection to represent their country in international or representative competitions; and if he will make a statement. [187811]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The World Anti-Doping Agency's (WADA) Code is the international framework of anti-doping rules, setting out the minimum sanctions applicable to those found guilty of breaching them. A key aim of the code is the harmonisation of anti-doping rules across countries and sports.

However, the Code does not restrict sport's national or international federations from applying further sanctions to athletes found guilty of an anti-doping rule violation, should they choose to do so.

Stonehenge: Conservation

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what proposals English Heritage has made for future provision for the protection of the Stonehenge World Heritage Site; and if he will make a statement. [185632]

Margaret Hodge: The Stonehenge World Heritage Site is currently protected through existing designations and planning systems. Changes proposed by my Department in the Heritage White Paper in March 2007 will improve protection through inclusion of World Heritage Sites in the new unified register and through improvements to the planning system. English Heritage is currently facilitating a revision of the Stonehenge World Heritage Site Management Plan being undertaken by all key stakeholders. This will review policies for the practical protection and management of the World Heritage Site and is due to be completed and sent to UNESCO by January 2009. My Department has also asked English Heritage to lead the project for environmental improvements (including new visitor facilities) at Stonehenge in time for the 2012 Olympics.

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will place in the Library a copy of his report to the UNESCO World Heritage Committee on the future of Stonehenge; and if he will make a statement. [185633]

Margaret Hodge: I am placing a copy of the 2008 Reactive Monitoring Report for the Stonehenge, Avebury and Associated Sites World Heritage Site in the Libraries of both Houses. The Report was sent to the UNESCO World Heritage Centre on 30 January 2008.

Tourism: Balance of Payments

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the balance of payments was for the tourism industry in each of the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [187642]

Margaret Hodge: The tourism balance of payments deficit was as follows:

| | Amount (£ billion) |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 4.8 |
| 1998 | 6.8 |
| 1999 | 9.5 |
| 2000 | 11.4 |
| 2001 | 14.0 |
| 2002 | 15.2 |
| 2003 | 16.7 |
| 2004 | 17.3 |
| 2005 | 18.1 |
| 2006 | 18.4 |

The latest Office of National Statistics figures, released on 15 February, show that the deficit was down by £120 million in the three months to December 2007, compared to the same period in 2006.

Tourism: North East

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what estimate he has made of the average spend per head per day of domestic tourists visiting the North East in each of the last five years. [184902]

Margaret Hodge: The table shows the average expenditure per trip and per night for domestic overnight trips to the North East region for the latest five years.

North East: average expenditure[1] of domestic overnight tourists[2]

| | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Average spend per trip[3] | 181 | 172 | 180 | 177 | 159 |
| Average spend per night[3] | 65 | 62 | 66 | 61 | 57 |

[1] Expenditure includes items such as package holidays, accommodation, travel to and from the destination and during the trip, services and advice, buying clothes, eating and drinking out, shopping, entertainment and other items relating to the trip.
[2] The methodology for the UKTS changed in 2005 meaning that comparisons with previous years should be treated with caution. This change occurred as a result of concerns with the quality of 2004 data, which is thought to be an under-representation of the true position.
[3] Figures are rounded.
Source:
UK Tourism Survey (National Tourist Boards)

Also, average expenditure during tourism day visits made to, or within, the North East was £25.40 in 2002-03 (source: Leisure Day Visits Survey). It is not possible to provide a time series for this information as the surveys are run intermittently and on a non-consistent basis; therefore, this is our best estimate for this period.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

ACTIS

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what (a) investment positions and (b) subsequent disposals have been made by Actis since 2004; and what the (i) original investment and (ii) sale proceeds were in each case. [186737]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Actis manages funds not only for Government (through CDC) but also for other private equity investors. Details of Actis' investments and sale proceeds are commercially confidential. However, key targets within its 2004-08 business plan are on target to be met or exceeded. This has enabled substantial re-investment to be undertaken by CDC. Additional information on CDC's investments is included in its annual report and accounts.

Africa: HIV Infection

Stephen Hesford: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what recent reports he has received of commitments made by African governments to support HIV prevention efforts; and if he will make a statement. [186040]

Gillian Merron: Many African countries have made specific commitments on HIV prevention that are articulated in their National AIDS plans. For example, the new South African National Strategic Plan (2007-11) for HIV and AIDS identifies HIV prevention as one of its four priorities. The plan includes the following targets: 80 per cent. on anti-retroviral therapy (ART) by 2011; 50 per cent. reduction of new HIV infections by 2011; 70 per cent. of the adult population to be tested; and a target to reduce mother to child transmission to 5 per cent.

Regionally, African Union (AU) member states have made key commitments to scale up evidence based HIV prevention services. For example, African Union Health Ministers unanimously agreed the Maputo Plan of Action in September 2006, which included commitments to achieve better family planning, improved contraceptive commodity security and action to reduce unsafe abortion.

Bangladesh: Overseas Aid

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much funding his Department is providing for humanitarian programmes in Bangladesh. [187933]

Mr. Thomas: The total UK aid to Bangladesh proposed to be spent in 2007-08 is just over £116 million. This includes just over £10 million of funding for emergency assistance to meet the humanitarian needs of people affected by the floods and by Cyclone Sidr in 2007.

Chad: Overseas Aid

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions he has had with the Office for the Co-ordination of Humanitarian Affairs and the UN about the establishment of a humanitarian corridor for aid into Abeche in Chad to enable aid agencies to respond to the humanitarian need. [186965]

Gillian Merron: We have been in continuous contact with the Office for the Co-ordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA), with the World Food Programme United Nations Humanitarian Air Service (WFP UNHAS) and with other partners in Abeche and N'Djamena about the situation in eastern Chad. We recognise that this air bridge is of critical importance in maintaining ongoing support to existing refugee, IDP and host population caseload.

Over the last week, WFP UNHAS has established a regular service linking Yaounde (Cameroon) to Abeche, and is now looking at the possibility of re-establishing the N'Djamena-Abeche air link.

Departmental Expenditure

Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much funding from his Department has been channelled through UK-based, non-governmental organisations in each of the last five years through (a) Programme Partnership Agreements, (b) country budgets, (c) humanitarian central budgets, (d) other budget lines and (e) in total; and how much funding in each category is to be made available in 2007-08. [187921]

Mr. Thomas: Total DFID expenditure channelled through UK Civil Society Organisations (CSOs) in each of the last five years and planned expenditure for 2007-08 through the Civil Society Challenge Fund and Partnership Programme Agreements are set out in the following table. The table also includes planned funding in respect of the Development Awareness Fund and the Strategic Grant Agreement for 2007-08.

DFID also provides ad hoc funding to agencies and CSOs working in country or at a regional level responding to specific emergencies. DFID's Conflict, Humanitarian and Security Department (CHASE) estimates that in 2007-08 £8 million was spent on humanitarian relief across a range of natural disasters, from an earthquake in Peru to cyclones and floods in Bangladesh, India, Mexico, North Korea and Pakistan, to winter shelter for extreme winter conditions in Kyrgyzstan. Of this, £5 million was provided through NGOs.

There is no central allocation of funding through CSOs for humanitarian assistance projects or other parts of the DFID programme.

Multilaterals also allocate funding to CSOs—among these are the European Commission, the United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR), the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). Because multilaterals do not report the proportion of their expenditure allocated to CSOs, DFID is unable to attribute multilateral expenditure to CSOs.

DFID expenditure through UK CSO's for 2002-03 to 2006-07 and planned expenditure for 2007-08

[1] Actual
[2] Planned
[3] Includes Development Awareness fund and the Strategic Grant Agreement only

Final expenditure figures for 2007-08 will not be available until after the end of the fiscal year.

Departmental Film

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the cost to his Department was of funding the promotional film on ethical consumerism in connection with Valentine's Day. [187763]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The cost of producing the video was £8,500. The purpose of the video was to inform people's shopping decisions in advance of Valentine's Day, and to raise awareness of how ethical shopping can reduce poverty in developing countries. It ran on the DFID website, YouTube and one other commercial site for two days before Valentine's Day.

Development Aid

Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to support inclusive and equitable development strategies that increase investment in pro-poor sectors. [187924]

Gillian Merron: The UK Government support developing country governments to ensure that increased investment and growth is included appropriately in their overall poverty reduction strategies (PRSs). This is a key component of the new public service agreement (PSA) 29 on poverty reduction. Our involvement and support will be both through our bilateral programme and through our influence on other development agencies.

There are a range of sectors which can bring high benefits for the poor-for example, agriculture. DFID's policy paper 'Growth and poverty reduction: the role of agriculture' sets out the various ways in which DFID is supporting inclusive and equitable development strategies. This is available at:

http://www.dfid.gov.uk/Pubs/files/growth-poverty-agriculture.pdf.

Female Genital Mutilation

Stephen Hesford: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what recent research has been commissioned by his Department on the subject of female genital mutilation; and what steps his Department has taken to (a) raise international awareness of this issue and (b) dispel culturally-entrenched myths surrounding the practice; and if he will make a statement. [186039]

Gillian Merron: The UK Government provided £5.5 million to the United Nations (UN) Special Programme of Research, Development and Research Training in Human Reproductive Health (HRP) between 2005 and 2008. HRP supports research in the area of Female Genital Mutilation.

DFID strongly supports efforts to eliminate FGM and other harmful traditional practices as part of our sexual and reproductive health, maternal health and gender equality strategies. DFID has supported advocacy events globally and in Africa-for example funding events in 28 African countries and Geneva to mark International FGM Zero Tolerance Day on 6 February 2007; and supporting an Africa Regional workshop on child protection and FGM in Kenya in 2006 and an African Parliamentarians Conference on FGM in 2005. DFID is a member of the Donor Working Group on Female Genital Mutilation/Cutting (FGM/C) that brings together key actors at the international level, and which held a panel at the Women Deliver Conference in October 2007.

Health

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what mechanisms to engage civil society in the international health partnership have been established. [187435]

Gillian Merron: The UK is committed to ensuring that civil society organisations (CSO) are involved in the International Health Partnership (IMP). CSOs are not only a critical partner in delivering health services in many developing countries, but they can also play an important role in holding partners to account at the global and country level.

The UK has engaged with CSO partners both before and after the launch of the IMP. In October, DFID hosted a meeting in London with several CSOs. Since then the eight health agencies (H8) leading on the IHP have regularly consulted with CSOs and they are currently developing a strategy for ongoing CSO engagement. A key meeting called by the H8 to review progress in developing country compacts will be held in Lusaka later this month, and several CSOs will be attending.

Kenya: Surveys

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the cost was of the survey commissioned by his Department on conditions for workers on Kenyan flower farms; and if he will publish the results of the survey. [187764]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: DFID funded the Natural Resources Institute to undertake a project assessing the social impact of the adoption of codes of practice. This looked at the impact on the welfare and livelihoods of workers, worker households and other local stakeholders of the introduction of codes of practice in the Kenyan cut flower industry and the wine industry in South Africa.

The total cost of the project was £247,999, of which £124,916 was for the Kenyan portion of the research. The final report on the Kenyan flower industry was published in February 2006.

The report can be accessed with the following link:
http://www.nri.org/NRET/final_ Kenya_ main_ report.pdf

Mineral Waters

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much his Department has spent on mineral water in each of the last three years. [187671]

Mr. Thomas: DFID has recently changed its restaurant service provider, and detailed records are not available. However, we estimate that DFID has spent in the region of £10,500 per annum over the last three years. Bottled water was provided for some official meetings in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money. Since January 2008, however, we no longer purchase bottled mineral water, but instead use bottled filtered mains water that is prepared on site. This change was made on the grounds of economy and environmental benefits.

Natural Disasters

Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what resources his Department has provided for disaster risk reduction strategies in countries prone to disasters. [187922]

Mr. Thomas: DFID's current financial management system does not record total resources spent on disaster risk reduction (DRR) centrally, because DRR programmes can be included under a range of types of assistance, from education (for example DRR education in schools) to infrastructure (for example earthquake-proof building).

However, DFID has a commitment to allocate approximately 10 per cent. of the funding it provides in response to each natural disaster to prepare for and mitigate the impact of future disasters, where this can be done effectively. Under this commitment, DFID has pledged £7.5 million following the Indian Ocean Tsunami; £5.5 million following the Pakistan earthquake and £500,000 following the Yogyakarta (Indonesia) earthquake. Other examples of support for DRR at country level include: £50 million for the Chars (river islands) Livelihoods Project in Bangladesh which aims to increase livelihood security for £6.5 million vulnerable people in flood-prone districts; £3.8 million to an insurance fund to provide Caribbean Governments with fast payouts after natural disasters; and £2.9 million for a consortium of NGOs in Niger to help communities prevent food security crises.

DFID also provides funds for multilateral and regional organisations working on DRR. We have provided: £3 million for the United Nations international strategy for disaster risk reduction; £4.38 million for the World Bank's global facility for disaster risk reduction; £2.5 million for the ProVention Consortium; £2.15 million for the International Federation of the Red Cross; £3.3 million for the Pan American Health Organisation for DRR programmes; as well as some resources through its £7 million annual contribution to the United Nations Development Programme's Bureau for Crisis Prevention and Recovery (BCPR).

Natural Disasters: Children

Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to ensure that development strategies in countries prone to disasters include measures for managing and mitigating the impacts of disasters on children. [187923]

Mr. Thomas: DFID is committed to supporting international and national efforts to prevent and mitigate the effects of natural disasters in poorer disaster-prone countries. DFID is providing £3 million over three years (2006 to 2009) to the United Nations international strategy for disaster reduction (ISDR), which launched the global campaign "Disaster Risk Reduction Begins at School" in 2006. The campaign promotes the 'disaster-proofing' of school buildings, inclusion of disaster risk reduction (DRR) in school curricula and the active role children can play in promoting DRR in their communities. Examples of activities include: a consultative meeting in Kenya on DRR for Education Ministry officials from 19 African countries. This inspired the Mozambican Ministry of Education and Culture, with the support of the Mozambique Red Cross Society, to implement DRR training in 76 schools, reaching 4,400 children.

DFID also supports Action Aid's "Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) through Schools" project and Plan UK's "Children and Young People at the Centre of Disaster Risk Reduction and Management" project, for which DFID is providing £2.8 million and £2.9 million respectively over five years. In Bangladesh, Action Aid have funded an interactive learning kit for children on DRR, aimed at helping children learn about disaster risk and take action to reduce risk. In Sierra Leone, Plan UK is providing DRR training for 30 children's groups and 28 schools.

Somalia: Asylum

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many Somali refugees he estimates are now in each neighbouring country; and what assistance his Department is providing to those refugees in each country. [186279]

Gillian Merron: UNHCR is the UN agency with principal responsibility for protecting and assisting refugees. The latest estimates from the United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) for the number of Somali refugees resident in countries neighbouring Somalia are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Djibouti | 8,642 |
| Ethiopia | 19,572 |
| Kenya | 182,000 |

The UK provides its primary support to refugees through the UNHCR. In 2007 the UK was the sixth largest donor to UNHCR for its global operations with contributions amounting to $56.2 million. The European Commission Humanitarian Office (ECHO) is the second largest contributor to UNHCR. The UK provides 17.39 per cent. of ECHO'S funding. The United Nations Central Emergency Response Fund (CERF), also provides assistance to UNHCR for refugee assistance in these countries. DFID has provided 14.8 per cent. of funding available in the CERF in 2008 to date.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Child Support

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of parents with care whose entitlement to child support has been altered as a result of the 6 April 2006 changes allowing increased pension contributions to be deducted from income assessed for child support; and if he will make a statement: [188071]

Mr. Plaskitt: No such estimate has been made. However, maintenance arrangements in force before 6 April 2006 will have changed only if the Child Support Agency has been notified of a relevant change of circumstances by either parent.

None of the organisations representing parents has raised these concerns with the agency, and the matter has not been the subject of any complaint the agency has received. Therefore very little evidence exists to suggest that non-resident parents are exploiting the current rules on pension contributions in a way which unreasonably reduces their child support liability. If such a case were to arise, the Child Support Agency is able to adjust liabilities in specified exceptional circumstances where the usual rules may not operate fairly. For example, in either child support scheme, it is possible to adjust the child support liability where the net income of the non-resident parent used in the calculation is inconsistent with their lifestyle. In such cases, this action will be considered by the agency following an application by the parent with care.

Child Support Agency: Private Sector

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the results of outsourcing of Child Support Agency work, with particular regard to (a) response times and (b) quality of work delivered. [183913]

Mr. Plaskitt: The administration of the Child Support Agency is the matter for the Chief Executive. He will write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty, dated 21 February 2008:

In reply to your recent parliamentary question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what assessment he has made of the results of outsourcing of Child Support Agency work with particular regard to (a) response times and (b) quality of work delivered. [183913]

As part of the Operational Improvement Plan, the Agency contracted out some of its enforcement work to private debt collection agencies, Eversheds LLP and iQor, and the management of our clerical case load to Vertex Data Science Ltd.

Although the Agency has contracted out the maintenance of its clerical cases to Vertex Data Science Ltd, the performance targets set by the Secretary of State apply to all Child Support cases, regardless of whether they are clerical or not.

In addition, the Agency's Client Service Standards apply to cases maintained by Vertex Data Science Ltd.

Formal monthly governance arrangements are in place to measure and discuss Vertex performance against these targets and standards. Weekly meetings between Vertex and Agency operational managers also take place to track performance.

The number of cases that need to be processed clerically is larger than was initially expected. Consequently, in order to ensure we maintain a good standard of service to our clients, we returned some of the cases being handled by Vertex to our other centres. This process began in July 2007 and was completed in September 2007.

The Agency now retains responsibility for clerical cases until the first payment stage, including processing some cases previously passed to Vertex (CSA Bolton) which were awaiting initial assessment and payment scheduling. Thereafter, these cases will be sent to CSA Bolton to ensure on-going maintenance compliance.

These changes have allowed Vertex to focus on case maintenance, keeping more money flowing to more children, and have resulted in an improvement in the service offered to clients.

The forthcoming upgrade to the CS2 computer system will result in a significant reduction in the number of cases that need to be processed clerically. The process will be re-assessed at that point.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Departmental Computer Software

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether the source code copies of core application software used by his Department and its agencies and supplied by third parties are held in escrow. [186908]

Mr. Timms: The Department assesses the need to put any of its core application software source code into escrow on a case by case basis. Where appropriate, the Department will then enter into an escrow agreement for the relevant code to be placed with the escrow agent.

Departmental Cost Effectiveness

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1547W, on departmental cost effectiveness, what the administrative cost to his Department was of paying benefits into bank accounts in each of the last 10 years; and how many and what proportion of benefits claims were paid directly into bank accounts in each of the last 10 years. [185593]

Mr. Plaskitt: Information is not available in the format requested.

The following table shows (a) the number of benefit accounts paid into a bank or building society account and (b) the proportion of benefit accounts paid into a bank or building society account in each of the last five years.

Phasing out order books and paying the vast majority of customers by direct payment will save the taxpayer around £1 billion between 2005 and 2010.

| | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Administrative cost of paying into a bank account (£ million) | 1.2 | 2.8 | 3.1 | 4.4 | [1]4.2 |
| Number of benefits accounts paid into a bank account[2] (million) | 8.4 | 12.3 | 14.9 | 15.3 | 15.8 |
| Proportion of benefit accounts paid into a bank account[2] (percentage) | 44.2 | 62 | 74.6 | 76.1 | 78 |

[1] Includes forecast for final quarter of financial year. [2] Figures have been provided by DWP Information Directorate and are based on snap shot as at October of that year.

Figures refer to the number of benefit accounts live and in payment on the specified date, and not the number of benefit claims, customers, or POCA accounts. People in receipt of more than one benefit/pension are counted for each separate benefit/pension in payment. People who have their benefit/pension combined and paid at the same time are only counted through the paying benefit

Departmental Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what obligations his Department and its agencies place on contractors in relation to the audit of personal data and IT equipment. [176472]

Mrs. McGuire: Contracts awarded by the Department include standard terms and conditions which place obligations on contractors in relation to confidentiality of information, security of equipment and auditing requirements. These clauses specify that:

contractors must have prior written consent from the Department before disclosing any confidential information obtained during or arising from the contract; and the Department and the National Audit Office have unrestricted access to their accounts, files and records; and the Official Secrets Acts and, when appropriate, the Social Security Administration Act, apply to those contractors.

Where contractors handle personal data, the Department has built in additional data protection clauses, which require the contractor to comply with the Data Protection Act.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by his Department in each of the last 10 years. [183300]

Mrs. McGuire: Prior to 6 August 2007, all vehicles used by DWP were owned by the Department. Since then the Department has leased all its vehicles. Consequently no vehicles have been purchased since 2006-07 financial year.

Information on purchases prior to April 2003 is not held centrally. The number of vehicles purchased between April 2003 to April 2007 is provided as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 390 |
| 2004-05 | 448 |
| 2005-06 | 315 |
| 2006-07 | 402 |

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many overseas visits by officials in his Department took place in each of the last 10 years; which countries were visited; and how much was spent on such visits in each such year. [181591]

Mrs. McGuire: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Employment and Support Allowance

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many and what proportion of new claimants on the new employment and support allowance are expected to claim (a) the employment portion and (b) the support portion when the new allowance is introduced; [180135]

(2) when the Government plans to announce the level of the new employment and support allowance; and what preliminary work his Department has carried out on the level of that allowance. [180136]

Mrs. McGuire: We are projecting a total of 567,000 new claims for 2008-09 as a whole. From October 2008 new customers will claim Employment and Support Allowance. Prior to that date incapacity benefit and income support will be available. These benefits will also be available after October 2008 to those protected by the linking rules.

The most severely disabled people claiming Employment and Support Allowance will be placed in the Support Group and will receive a higher rate of benefit. Early estimates are that around 10 per cent. of new customers to ESA will be in the Support Group. Over time, as proportionately more people in the work-related activity group leave the benefit, the proportion will rise to around 20 per cent. of the longer term ESA caseload.

We will be laying the main ESA regulations in the coming weeks and they will include the rates of the benefit. Analysis has been undertaken and an appropriate rate for ESA will be set in order to meet our aspirations for welfare reform.

Equality: Public Sector

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will place in the Library a copy of each of the guidance notes produced on procurement and race, disability and gender public sector equality duties published respectively by the Commission for Racial Equality, the Disability Rights Commission and the Equal Opportunities Commission. [176257]

Barbara Follett: I am placing copies of the following publications in the Library:

The duty to promote race equality: Race Equality and Procurement in Local Government: A guide for (local) authorities and contractors (CRE)

The duty to promote race equality: Public Procurement and Race Equality: Guidelines for local government (CRE)

The duty to promote race equality: Race Equality and Public Procurement: A guide for public authorities and contractors (CRE)

The duty to promote race equality: Public Procurement and Race Equality: Guidelines for public authorities (CRE)

Public procurement and race equality: Briefing for suppliers (CBI and CRE)

Procurement and the Disability Equality Duty: Implications of the Disability Equality Duty for Public Procurement and the Management of Public Sector Contracts (DRC)

Guidance for Great Britain: Procurement: Gender equality duty (EOC)

Health and Safety Executive: Expenditure

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was spent by (a) the Health and Safety Executive and (b) the Health and Safety Commission in each year since 2005-06; and how much is expected to be spent in 2008-09. [186683]

Mrs. McGuire: The following table sets out the amount spent by Health and Safety Commission/Executive for the period requested. The forecast expenditure for 2008-09 will be available once the Health and Safety Commission/Executive agrees its spending review 2007 settlement with the Department for Work and Pensions.

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions which local authorities in London did not spend the whole of their discretionary housing payments budget in 2006-07. [185976]

Mr. Plaskitt: The London local authorities that did not spend the whole of their discretionary housing payment allocation for 2006-07 are:

Camden
Harrow
Havering
Hillingdon
Kensington and Chelsea
Kingston-upon-Thames
Lambeth
Lewisham
Merton
Newham
Red bridge
Richmond-upon-Thames
Southwark
Sutton
Tower Hamlets Wandsworth
Westminster

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many households received discretionary housing payments in each London local authority area in 2005-06. [185977]

Mr. Plaskitt: The information is not available.

Industrial Health and Safety: Standards

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what targets the Health and Safety Executive set for reducing (a) the incidence of injury, (b) the incidence of ill health, (c) the incidence of working days lost and (d) the numbers of recorded major hazard precursor incidences in each year since 1997, broken down by region; and whether these targets were met in each year. [186680]

Mrs. McGuire: The Health and Safety Commission set three targets to reduce the incidence rates of work-related fatal and major injury, ill health and working days lost as part of its 'Revitalising Health and Safety' strategy launched in 2000. This was the first time HSC/E had set national targets of this sort. These were not annual targets, but cover a 10-year period to 2009-10, using 1999 to 2000 as the baseline year, and sought reductions of:

- work-related fatal and major injury—10 per cent. reduction from the baseline;
- work-related ill health—20 per cent. reduction from the baseline; and
- work-related days lost—30 per cent. reduction from the baseline.

HSE's current PSA targets (2005-06 to 2007-08, using 2004-05 as a baseline) are designed to contribute to these longer term targets—aiming for a 3 per cent. reduction in work-related fatal and major injuries, 6 per cent. reduction in work-related ill health and 9 per cent. reduction in work-related days lost over the life of the PSA. The following table shows the official published statistics for each year from 1999 to 2000 to 2006-07 against the PSA target for comparison purposes.

HSE has only had formal targets relating to major hazard for the current PSA period (2005-06 to 2007-08). The table shows the major hazards targets for 2007-08 and progress towards them.

All HSE's targets cover Great Britain as a whole; although regional statistics are published, the targets, and progress towards them, are not broken down regionally or locally.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Peterborough

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many jobseeker's allowance claimants in Peterborough constituency had been claiming for (a) more than three months, (b) more than six months, (c) more than nine months and (d) more than 12 months, including any period for which a person may have been on the New Deal but returned to jobseeker's allowance immediately afterwards, at the most recent date for which figures are available. [174410]

Mr. Plaskitt: The additional information on spells on the New Deal is not available except at disproportionate costs. Following is a table showing information on continuous spells of claimant unemployment. We are collecting information on repeat spells on benefit which we will place in the Library in the new year.

Jobseeker's allowance claimants by continuous duration of claim, Peterborough: November 2007

Now Let's Talk Money

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department has spent on the "Now let's talk money" programme. [184847]

Mrs. McGuire: HM Treasury allocated £5.4 million to the Department for Work and Pensions to deliver the "Now let's talk money" campaign.

During 2006-07 and 2007-08 £4.9 million will have been spent on a range of activities to increase awareness among excluded consumers of the availability of suitable financial services; awareness raised via intermediary organisations and direct marketing. This includes £0.5 million through a special projects fund, with a balance of £0.5 million spent on the same during 2008-09.

Nuclear Power Stations: Safety

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the future demand for Health and Safety Executive inspectors of nuclear facilities; and if he will make a statement. [186681]

Mrs. McGuire: The Health and Safety Executive (HSE) estimates in current circumstances that around 230 full-time equivalent nuclear safety inspectors will be required at the peak of its programme of nuclear regulatory work. That estimate takes account of expanding work for HSE on assessing three designs for new reactors, an understanding of programmes for Ministry of Defence nuclear facilities, and Government plans for nuclear decommissioning. The figure excludes inspectors of other disciplines employed by HSE who are also involved in regulating nuclear facilities in other areas.

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many inspectors of nuclear facilities were employed by the Health and Safety Executive in each year since 2004, broken down by region. [186682]

Mrs. McGuire: The Health and Safety Executive has employed the following number of nuclear safety inspectors within its Nuclear Directorate (ND) since 2004:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 162 |
| 2005-06 | 161 |
| 2006-07 | 157 |
| 2007-08 (as at 14 February 2008) | 155 |

Except for two inspectors based in HSE's London Office all nuclear safety inspectors operate from HSE's headquarters in Bootle, Merseyside and are not located in regions.

Pensioners: Income

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the annual income was of the average pensioner household in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) the UK in each year since 1997. [186962]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Information cannot be provided at a lower level than Government office region, averaged over three years. Information that is available is set out in the following table.

Average net annual income before housing costs for all pensioner units, in real terms

£ per week, 2005-06 prices

| | North East | Great Britain | United Kingdom |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 to 1999-2000 | 10,600 | 12,300 | n/a |
| 1998-99 to 2000-01 | 10,800 | 12,800 | n/a |
| 1999-2000 to 2001-02 | 11,300 | 13,300 | n/a |
| 2000-01 to 2002-03 | 12,100 | 13,800 | n/a |
| 2001-02 to 2003-04 | 12,600 | 14,200 | n/a |
| 2002-03 to 2004-05 | 13,100 | 14,500 | n/a |
| 2003-04 to 2005-06 | 13,200 | 14,900 | 14,900 |

Notes:
1. Net income before housing costs is gross income less income tax payments, national insurance contributions, contributions to occupational and private pension schemes, local taxes, maintenance and child support payments, and parental contributions to children living away from home. Gross income is from all sources received by the pensioner unit, including income from social security benefits, earnings from employment, any private pension, and tax credits.
2. Based on survey data and as such subject to a degree of sampling and non sampling error.
3. Figures are based on the average of three years' data for government office regions as single year estimates do not provide a robust guide to year-on-year changes. Great Britain and United Kingdom figures (where available) are included on the same basis for comparison: further information for single years at a national level are available in the publication "Pensioners' Income Series 2005-06 (Revised)".
4. Figures have been rounded to the nearest 100.
5. Pensioner units are either pensioner couples or single pensioners.
6. Pensioner couples are couples where one or more of the adults are state pension age or over.

Pensions: Edinburgh

John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people were in receipt of (a) the state pension and (b) pension credit in (i) Edinburgh East, (ii) Edinburgh North and Leith, (iii) Edinburgh South, (iv) Edinburgh South West and (v) Edinburgh West parliamentary constituencies in the latest period for which figures are available. [187436]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The information is in the following table.

| Parliamentary constituency | State pension individual recipients | Pension credit household recipients |
|---|---|---|
| Edinburgh East | 14,180 | 4,550 |
| Edinburgh North and Leith | 13,460 | 3,600 |
| Edinburgh South | 14,520 | 2,810 |
| Edinburgh South West | 14,510 | 3,330 |
| Edinburgh West | 18,770 | 3,360 |

Notes:
1. Figures are as at May 2007 and are rounded to the nearest 10.
2. Pension credit household recipients are those people who claim either for themselves only or on behalf of a household.

Poverty

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number and proportion of people in (a) Cornwall, (b)

the south-west and (c) England who live below the poverty level. [186625]

Mr. Timms: Specific information regarding low income for the United Kingdom is available in 'Households Below Average Income 1994-95 to 2005-06'. The threshold of below 60 per cent. contemporary median income is the most commonly used in reporting trends in low income.

Available information is shown in the following table. Information below the level of Government office region is not available.

Number and proportion of individuals in the south-west and England living in households with below 60 per cent. of median income based on three year averages, 2003-04 to 2005-06

|---|---|---|---|---|
| South-west | 0.7 | 15 | 0.9 | 19 |
| England | 8.4 | 17 | 10.5 | 21 |

Notes:
1. Three survey year averages are given for the south-west and England, as robust single year estimates cannot be produced because of the sample sizes for individual regions.
2. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication 'Households Below Average Income' (HBAI) series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.
3. The figures are based on OECD equalisation factors.
4. Tables show numbers in millions rounded to the nearest 100,000.

Social Security Benefits

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the administrative cost is to his Department of paying benefits claims by means other than post office card accounts and bank accounts; and how many and what proportion of benefit claims are paid in this way. [185595]

Mr. Plaskitt: The total cost of paying benefit claims by cheque is currently around £1.79 per transaction. This is made up of various components including stationery, postage and costs incurred by the Alliance and Leicester Commercial Bank plc. Around 300,000 (less than 2 per cent.) of customers are paid solely by cheque. The vast majority (98 per cent.) are paid by Direct Payment into an account.

Social Security Benefits: Foreigners

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people from (a) Cyprus, (b) the Czech Republic, (c) Estonia, (d) Hungary, (e) Latvia, (f) Lithuania, (g) Malta, (h) Poland, (i) Slovakia and (j) Slovenia claimed benefits for the first time in each month since 1 May 2004. [185112]

Mr. Plaskitt: The information is not available in the format requested.

No information is available for Cypriot and Maltese nationals; people from these countries are not subject to the same labour market restrictions as the A8 nationals.

Limited information on the number of applications, by A8 nationals, for income support, income-based jobseeker's allowance and pension credit is available in the "Accession Monitoring Report; May 2004 to September 2007", a joint online report by the Border and Immigration Agency, Department for Work and Pensions, HM Revenue and Customs and Department for Communities and Local Government; copies of which have been placed in the Library.

The report is available online at:

www.bia.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/aboutus/Reports/accession_monitoring_report/

Social Security Benefits: Post Office Card Account

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the administrative cost to his Department of paying benefits into Post Office card accounts was in each year since April 2003; and how many and what proportion of benefits claims were paid into Post Office card accounts in each of the last 10 years. [185594]

Mr. Plaskitt: The following table shows (a) the cost of paying benefits into Post Office card accounts, (b) the number of benefit accounts paid into a POCA, and (c) the proportion of benefit accounts paid into a POCA, and for each year since the Post Office card account was introduced in April 2003.

| Financial year | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cost of paying benefits into POCA (£ million) | 76 | 138 | 159 | 152 | [1]148 |
| Number of benefits accounts paid into a POca[2] (million) | 0.04 | 1.95 | 4.5 | 4.36 | 4.15 |
| Proportion of benefit accounts paid into a POca[2] (percentage) | 0.2 | 10 | 23 | 22 | 20 |

[1] Includes forecast for final quarter of financial year.
[2] Figures have been provided by DWP Information Directorate and are based on snap shot as at October of that year.

Note:
Figures refer to the number of benefit accounts live and in payment on the specified date, and not the number of benefit claims, customers, or POCA accounts. People in receipt of more than one benefit/pension are counted for each separate benefit/pension in payment. People who have their benefit/pension combined and paid at the same time are only counted through the paying benefit. The figures shown for 2003 and 2004 reflect the fact that customers were gradually being migrated from order books during this period.

State Retirement Pensions

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the north-east and (d) the UK have received the basic state pension in each of the last 30 years. [186669]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The available information is in the following table.

Numbers in receipt of any basic state pension

| | Jarrow parliamentary constituency | South Tyneside local authority | North-east Government office region | GB |

Sunbeds: Young People

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment the Health and Safety Executive has made of the levels of use of (a) sunbed salons and (b) unsupervised sunbed salons by under 18-year-olds since 1990. [185447]

Mrs. McGuire: The Health and Safety Executive has made no such assessments. There is a commitment in the Government's Cancer Reform Strategy that the Department of Health will gather more information about the number and distribution of sunbeds and the scale of sunbed use by minors.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Arms Trade: Export Controls

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government plans to take to strengthen controls on the export of arms. [186849]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 18 February 2008]: On 6 February 2008 the Government published their initial response to a public consultation carried out as part of the 2007 review of export control legislation. The response can be viewed on BERR's website at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/europeandtrade/strategic-export-control/legislation/export-control-act-20Q2/review/index.html

The initial response commits the Government to (1) extending export laws to control the brokering and trafficking, by UK persons anywhere in the world, of small arms, man portable air defence systems (MANPADs), and those cluster munitions that cause unacceptable harm to civilians; (2) extending controls on the export and trading of torture equipment to include sting sticks; (3) starting ED negotiations to introduce a new EU-wide torture end use control, which would enable all EU states to make licensable—and therefore refuse—the export of any equipment believed to be for use in acts of torture; and (4) rationalising the licensing treatment of long range missiles and unmanned air vehicles.

Business: Sustainable Development

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (1) what contribution his Department will make to the funding of programmes run by (a) Business Link and (b) the Manufacturing Advisory Service for the provision of advice on resources efficiency to businesses in 2008-09; [178615]

(2) what contribution his Department plans to make to the funding of programmes run by (a) Business Link and (b) the Manufacturing Advisory Service for the provision of advice on resources efficiency to businesses in 2008-09. [178616]

Malcolm Wicks: In 2008-09, BERR will provide the following levels of funding for Business Link and Manufacturing Advisory Service (MAS):

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| Business Link: | 141.7 |
| MAS: | [1]5 |

[1] expected to be at least match funded by RDA contributions

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will bring forward proposals to require businesses above a certain size to put in place sustainability strategies and to submit them to his Department. [187905]

Malcolm Wicks: It is not Government's role to inquire into the sustainability of individual firms. Business must ensure its own long term competitiveness in a low carbon economy and investors must satisfy themselves that they are investing in companies equipped to meet future environmental and social challenges.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many Ministerial residences were available to his Department's Ministers and those of its predecessors in each of the last 10 years. [183188]

Mr. Thomas: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend, the Parliamentary Secretary, Cabinet Office on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W

Energy: Fees and Charges

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent meetings his Department has held with energy companies to discuss the premium paid by pre-payment customers for gas and electricity; and what progress has been made in encouraging energy suppliers to reduce this premium. [187226]

Malcolm Wicks: I last met representatives of the six the largest suppliers and Ofgem on 31 January, with the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. We both expressed strongly our growing concern about rising tariff differentials.

Gas and electricity suppliers have been considering their tariff structures and two companies have equalised their standard credit and prepayment prices for electricity, while one offers prepayment customers a lower price for both fuels than that paid by standard credit customers.

The Government will continue to work with Ofgem to ensure we do all we can to encourage customers to switch to the best payment method. There are considerable benefits to be had—customers changing supplier and payment type (eg credit to direct debit) should see an average saving of around £130, and may even make larger savings of up to £200.

Fuel Poverty

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform with reference to the answer of 15 October 2007, Official Report, column 805W, when he will publish his Department's analysis of which of the major six energy companies offer a proportional programme of assistance. [184293]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 4 February 2008]: We will publish our analysis in the UK Fuel Poverty Strategy 6th Annual Progress Report later this year.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will make a statement on progress towards the Government's target of eradicating fuel poverty (a) in England by 2010 and (b) in the UK by 2016 to 2018. [184864]

Malcolm Wicks: We have been successful in reducing fuel poverty between 1996 and 2005 by 3 million vulnerable households across the UK.

However, as indicated in our most recent UK Fuel Poverty Strategy 5th Annual Progress Report www.berr.gov.uk/energy/fuel-poverty/strategy/index.html energy prices since 2003 have had an impact on households in fuel poverty.

The Government remain committed to our fuel poverty targets, working together with those key stakeholders including the energy suppliers, voluntary groups, energy efficiency scheme managers and campaigning organisations to ensure that appropriate progress is made.

Fuels: Prices

Mr. Salmond: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent assessment he has made of the impact on the rural economy of the cost of petrol and diesel. [186301]

Malcolm Wicks: The Department has not specifically undertaken an assessment of the impact of the cost of petrol and diesel on the rural economy. However, prices in rural and remote areas, where distribution costs are higher and the degree of retail competition is lower, will typically be higher than the UK average.

The Government recognise the importance of transport in rural areas and has provided grant funding to develop and enhance local rural bus and community services.

Furniture

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what support his Department has provided to (a) the furniture manufacturing industry and (b) its supply chain in the last 10 years; which elements of such support have been provided on a regional basis; and what plans he has to fund future assistance to the (i) furniture manufacturing sector and (ii) its supply chain to support its global competitiveness. [182233]

Malcolm Wicks: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer to her earlier question on 11 December 2006, Official Report, column 805W, which detailed the financial support to the furniture sector since 1990. Since that time we have continued to provide funding towards UK First, the furniture industry forum, and will continue to do so until March 2008. UK Trade and Investment continues to help the furniture sector succeed overseas with support under the Tradeshow Access Programme and the sector forms a component of the strategy to market the UK's creative industries overseas. In the regions Advantage West Midlands has set up Furniture West Midlands to support the sector and Furniture Link, managed by Business Link London, is helping furniture companies to develop business opportunities. In addition the Government Businesslink service offers a range of support solutions to companies in all sectors. Support is also available through the Manufacturing Advisory Service and under the Technology Programme if the industry can address the technology priorities identified by the Technology Strategy Board.

Industrial Diseases: Compensation

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what agreement his Department has made with CMC insurers about the CMC/CMR co-morbidity report costs for service claims under the miners' compensation claim scheme. [188568]

Malcolm Wicks: No specific agreement has been made between the Department and the Coal Mining Contractors' (CMC) insurers with respect to the costs of CMC and Coal Mining Related co-morbidity reports for services claims under the Vibration White Finger scheme.

However, 50 per cent. of reasonable costs incurred by the CMC insurer for the co-morbidity medical will be reimbursed under the existing reimbursement agreements between the Department and the CMCs.

Low Carbon Buildings Programme

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what plans he has for the future of the low carbon buildings programme; and if he will make a statement. [187271]

Malcolm Wicks: From a total budget of £86 million made available through the low carbon buildings programme, we have committed approximately £26 million to 5,700 household, community group, public, private and charitable sector projects to date.

We are currently exploring options for raising awareness in the programme and encouraging uptake in grants, in consultation with stakeholders, including industry representatives.

Grants of up to £2,500 per property remain available to households, and grants of up to £1 million remain available to public sector organisations and charitable bodies through to 2009. Further details on the household stream are available at:

www.lowcarbonbuildings.org.uk and detailed information regarding grants available to public sector organisations and charitable bodies are available at:

http://www.lowcarbonbuildingsphase2.org.uk/

Beyond LCBP, electricity technologies are supported by the renewables obligation (RO) and CERT will apply to microgeneration technologies from April 2008. More significant changes to the RO are planned for 2009 including differentiated levels of support to different technologies in order to encourage a larger contribution from emerging renewable technologies. This change will benefit microgenerators (i.e. generators under 50 kW), including all PV. We will also be looking at support for microgeneration as part of the renewable energy strategy.

Microgeneration

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate his Department has made of the number of domestic microgeneration installations, broken down by type; and if he will make a statement. [187227]

Malcolm Wicks: An Energy Saving Trust report commissioned by the then DTI and completed in 2005 estimated that there were approximately 82,000 microgeneration installations in the United Kingdom by the end of 2004. We are currently commissioning further research to provide up to date estimates.

The following table sets out installations by technologies taken from the EST data plus installations under Government grant programmes from 1 April 2005 to the end of December 2006.

| Technology | Number of installations | Total number of grant funded installations to end December 2006 |
|---|---|---|
| Wind | 650 | 883 |
| Hydro | 90 | 107 |
| Ground source heat pumps | 546 | 1,251 |
| Biomass | 150 | 422 |
| Solar water heating | 78,470 | 81,494 |
| PV | 1,301 | 2,143 |
| Micro CHP | 990 | 990 |
| Other | 5 | 34 |
| Total | 82,202 | 87,323 |

[1] EST report end March 2005
[2] Total likely to be higher

For installations under the low carbon buildings programme, which started in April 2006, please see the latest statistics on domestic installations at:

http://www.lowcarbonbuildings.org.uk/info/stats/

Microgeneration: Standards

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what targets he has set for installing heat producing microgeneration in settlements of fewer than 10,000 in homes classified as (a) hard to treat and (b) hard to reach. [187438]

Malcolm Wicks: We currently have no specific targets for installing microgeneration technologies in these areas.

BERR and the local regional development agencies have each provided £1 million in co-funding to each of two demonstration programmes in North-East England and Yorkshire and Humberside, which consist of a number of projects to provide mains gas or renewables technologies to deprived communities. Each of these programmes has a target of helping 20 communities and installing measures in 2,000 homes in each RDA area.

We will also be examining the benefits of wider microgeneration targets in accordance with the requirements of the Climate Change and Sustainable Energy Act 2006.

Mining: Pensions

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what time limit the current split between beneficiaries and Government of future valuation surpluses from the Mineworkers Pension Scheme are subject to; and if he will meet trustees to discuss these arrangements. [187831]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The equal division between beneficiaries and Government of periodic surpluses in the Mineworkers' Pension Scheme is a fundamental element of the arrangements established in 1994 whereby the Government provides an insolvency guarantee to the scheme. These arrangements are not time limited. Although my officials are in regular dialogue with scheme representatives on a range of issues, I have no immediate plans to meet the trustees.

Mobile Phones: Contracts

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform whether mobile telephone providers have a statutory obligation to inform their customers when they have reached the end of their mobile contract. [180378]

Malcolm Wicks: Mobile telephone operators are under no statutory obligation to inform their customers when the minimum term of a mobile contract has ended.

Nuclear Power Stations: Decommissioning

Mr. McGrady: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the timescale is for decommissioning nuclear sites; and what estimate he has made of the prospects for achieving targets set for decommissioning such sites. [187065]

Malcolm Wicks: The Nuclear Decommissioning Authority (NDA) has responsibility for the decommissioning and cleaning up of the historic civil public nuclear sites, including the Magnox nuclear power stations. A life cycle description of each site for which the NDA is responsible, including key decommissioning milestones, is set out in the NDA strategy, which is available on the NDA website at:

www.nda.gov.uk.

Office of Communications: Finance

Mr. Godsiff: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what financial contributions were made by (a) O2, (b) Vodafone, (c) 3, (d) Orange, (e) T-Mobile and (f) Virgin Mobile to Ofcom in the last year for which information is available. [187018]

Malcolm Wicks: The matter raised is the responsibility of the independent regulator, the Office of Communications (Ofcom), which is accountable to Parliament rather than Ministers. Accordingly, I have asked the Chief Executive of Ofcom to reply directly to the hon. Member. Copies of the Chief Executive's letter will be placed in the Libraries of both Houses.

Offshore Industry: Taxation

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much the Government paid to (a) the Isle of Man and (b) Northern Ireland in relation to UK Continental Shelf receipts in each year since 2004. [187443]

Malcolm Wicks: The following table shows how much the Government have paid to (a) the Isle of Man and (b) Northern Ireland in respect of a share of UK Continental Shelf receipts since 2004:

Payments to Isle of Man and Northern Ireland

£000

| Financial year | Isle of Man | Northern Ireland |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 0 | 13,175 |
| 2004-05 | 0 | 1,527 |
| 2005-06 | 0 | 1,317 |
| 2006-07 | 0 | 1,392 |

Power Stations: Carbon Sequestration

Mr. Meacher: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform if he will make it his policy to require the use of carbon capture and storage technology as a condition for approval of the new Kingsnorth power station in Kent. [187032]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 21 February 2008]: No decision on the application for consent to build a new coal-fired power station at Kingsnorth has yet been taken.

Renewable Energy: National Grid

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what renewable energy projects have been built which are not connected to the national grid. [186995]

Malcolm Wicks: I am not aware of any large-scale renewable electricity projects that have been built but which are not connected to the national grid.

Microgeneration is used in off-grid applications, for example to power parking meters. There may also be domestic microgeneration projects which remain off-grid due to the property owners' choice. The Department does not hold statistics relating to these projects. As I understand it, larger distributed energy installations that use a private wire network for the distribution and supply of electricity tend to maintain a grid connection, for example to maintain supply in the event of a failure of their own generating plant. These installations could operate in what is known as "island-mode", using their own generation in the event of a cut in grid supply, but we are not aware of any that choose to operate off grid at all times.

In addition, there are some renewable energy developments, such as renewable heat projects, that do not generate electricity and so do not require connection to the grid.

Sellafield

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the design capacity of the Sellafield Mox Plant is; and how many tonnes of mixed oxide fuel were manufactured at the plant in each year since it was opened. [188164]

Malcolm Wicks: I am advised by the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority that the original design capacity for the Sellafield Mox Plant, based on largely unproven technology, was 120tHM (tonnes heavy metal) per annum. From assessments during uranium comr. sioning in 2001, this was revised to 72tHM. Justification of the plant was approved in October 2001. Output as finished fuel assemblies has been as follows:

|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 0.0 |
| 2003-04 | 0.0 |
| 2004-05 | 0.3 |
| 2005-06 | 2.3 |
| 2006-07 | 2.6 |

Telecommunications: Fees and Charges

Sir Michael Spicer: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform whether he has received the report from Ofcom concluding its review of communications providers' additional charges; and if he will make a statement. [185745]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The independent regulator the Office of Communications (Ofcom) announced on 6 June 2007 that it would carry out a full review of communications providers' additional charges. Ofcom is accountable to Parliament rather than Ministers. Ofcom expects to announce the conclusions of its review soon, and progress may be monitored on its website: www.ofcom.org.uk.

Utilities: Prices

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government have taken to regulate utility bill price increases in the last three years. [182001]

Malcolm Wicks: Neither the Government nor Ofgem regulate overall prices in the energy supply markets, which are competitive markets. Ofgem does regulate charges in monopoly sectors of the energy markets, including transmission and distribution, and these charges form part of consumers' energy bills.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government have taken to encourage energy providers to minimise utility bill price rises. [182002]

Malcolm Wicks: The Government do not interfere in commercial pricing decisions in the energy supply markets, which are competitive markets.

However we are concerned about the impact of higher prices on vulnerable people and we continue to encourage energy suppliers to adopt social tariffs and to restrict price rises for the most vulnerable. In the Energy White Paper, we called for suppliers to increase their help to vulnerable customers. The level of help has now increased from £40 million to £56 million during winter 2007-08 with around 700,000 households benefiting. All these companies have committed to continuing their programmes of assistance for the next three years.

Wind Power: Licensing

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer of 1 February 2008, Official Report, column 699W, on wind power (licensing), what proportion of future offshore renewables applications he expects to be for wind farms generating over 100 MW of power. [187031]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The size of future offshore wind farms in development consent applications will depend on the outcome of the Strategic Environmental Assessment on offshore energy currently underway, future Crown Estate competitions for options for site leases and proposals put forward by wind farm developers.

For the Crown Estate's Round 1 competition in 2001 for demonstration-scale offshore wind farm projects, it was a requirement for proposals to be under 100MW in scale. Under the Round 2 competition in 2003, for commercial-scale projects, only one lease option was granted for a proposal under 100MW. My Department expects that while some proposals may be for offshore wind farms under 100MW, it is likely that the majority of future offshore wind farm proposals will be over 100MW.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Sports: Finance

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much has been drawn down by each local education authority from New Opportunities for PE and Sport funding; and how many projects have received funding. [187491]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 21 February 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

In England, £495.16 million of the £581.25 million of funding available for the New Opportunities for PE and Sport (NOPES) has been allocated direct to Local authorities. This has helped them to support 1,365 capital projects, developing or refurbishing over 2,300 sports facilities. The following table shows NOPES allocations by local authority; draw-down by local authorities against those allocations; and the numbers of projects and sports facilities supported.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Council Housing: Property Transfer

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much gap funding was provided for stock transfers in each year since 1997; how such funding has been financed; and if she will make a statement. [164916]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave him today to PQ 162805.

Council Tax: Gloucester

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance has been issued to Gloucestershire County Council on the account to be taken of the flooding of summer 2007 in the setting of its council tax precept for 2008-09. [188187]

John Healey: While Government have not provided guidance to local authorities on how they should set their council tax precept we have made it clear that we expect the national average increase in council tax to be substantially below 5 per cent.

In July 2007 Communities and Local Government wrote to the chief executives of flood affected authorities to remind them of powers around council tax discounts and business rate relief that would enable them to provide financial relief to affected taxpayers.

In addition to any statutory council tax discounts that may apply to those forced out of their homes by flooding, local authorities have discretionary powers, under section 13A of the Local Government Finance Act 1992, to grant discounts of up to 100 per cent. to householders who have been affected.

Local authorities can also consider whether non-domestic properties hit by flooding should be liable for empty property rates and/or whether to exercise their discretionary powers under section 49 of the Local Government Finance Act 1988 to grant hardship rate relief in respect of occupied or empty properties.

Devolution: Wales

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make it her policy to designate the Welsh Assembly Government as a statutory consultee on national policy statements impacting on Wales. [188170]

John Healey: As we made clear in the white paper "Planning for a Sustainable Future (Cm 7120)" published in May 2007, Welsh, Scottish and Northern Ireland ministers will be statutory consultees in the development of relevant national policy statements.

Eco Towns

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when her Department expects to announce which eco-town bids have been shortlisted. [187343]

Caroline Flint: We are carrying out an initial sift of eco-towns proposals across Government and its agencies. This will give a preliminary indication of the sustainability and infrastructure potential of these schemes in relation to the criteria set out in the eco-towns prospectus, including their approach to transport and the environment. We are also contacting local authorities and regional bodies, in areas where schemes look to have the potential to go forward to a shortlist for consultation. We hope to publish this shortlist in early March 2008 for consultation with the public, wider stakeholders and local authorities.

Eco-Towns: Essex

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether she has received any bids for new eco-towns in Essex in the last six months. [187828]

Caroline Flint [holding answer 22 February 2008]: We have received more than 50 expressions of interest from both the public and private sector for eco-town schemes. At this stage, I am not able to disclose the details of bids, in view of the Department's process and the interests of bidders, but we will be publishing a shortlist in the near future for full consultation with the public, wider stakeholders and local authorities.

Gambling: Internet

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which countries are on the white list of approved nations allowed to operate an internet gambling service in the UK. [187481]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 21 February 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

Tasmania and the States of Alderney and the Isle of Man are the only three jurisdictions or countries that have been added to the 'whitelist' which allows gambling operators licensed in these jurisdictions to advertise remote gambling in the UK as if they were an EEA state.

Any operator that wishes to operate an internet gambling site from Great Britain (ie has remote gambling equipment located in Great Britain) would require an operating licence from the Gambling Commission.

Health and Safety Executive

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 15 January 2008, Official Report, column 778W, on the Health and Safety Executive, if she will place in the Library copies of the correspondence between the Health and Safety Executive and the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister relating to the water heaters of the type involved in the fatalities in 2002 and 2007. [178622]

Mr. Iain Wright: Copies of correspondence between the Health and Safety Executive (HSE) and the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister in 2003 and between the HSE and Communities and Local Government in 2006-07 have today been placed in the House of Commons Library.

Home Information Packs: Finance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much has been spent on home information packs from the public purse; how much has been spent on associated (a) legal fees and (b) external advisers; and how much is budgeted to be spent in the remainder of this financial year; [176231]

(2) how much has been spent on publicity, marketing and communications relating to home information packs to date. [176180]

Caroline Flint: An update was given to the hon. Member on 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1313W.

Homes and Communities Agency: Thames Gateway

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will bring forward proposals for a system by which the proposed Homes and Communities Agency will engage with hon. Members representing constituencies in the Thames Gateway area; and if she will make a statement. [184626]

Caroline Flint: The Government's response to the Public Accounts Committee report into the Thames Gateway outlined that the views of hon. Members representing constituencies in the Thames Gateway are being sought by the Department as to how this communication and dialogue can be improved and strengthened. The Department intends to meet with the Thames Gateway Parliamentary Group to discuss how the programme can most effectively engage hon. Members. We plan to continue to use this and other avenues to ensure that the Homes and Communities Agency builds on this work when it takes over responsibility for the Thames Gateway.

Housing: Low Incomes

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what gap funding payments by her Department to registered social landlords to support large scale voluntary transfers were made in respect of each local authority area in (a) 2004-05, (b) 2005-06 and (c) 2006-07; and how much is estimated to be paid in respect of each such area in 2007-08. [162805]

Mr. Iain Wright: £182 million has been made available over the period of the 2004 Spending Review, up to 2007-08, for gap funding payments to registered social landlords taking negatively valued housing stock from local authorities under large scale voluntary transfer arrangements. These grant payment arrangements enable sufficient private finance to be levered in to enable full Decent Homes investment programmes to be undertaken by RSLs after transfer. We have currently entered into 28 gap funding arrangements with RSLs. Payments to those RSLs under these arrangements are made from the Department's Capital DEL budget.

Details of the gap funding grant payments to date and current 2007-08 forecasts by local authority area are in the following table. The table does not include possible grant payments in the current year in respect of gap funding arrangements with RSLs that have yet to be finalised.

We estimate that about £2 billion of private finance is likely to be levered in to support Decent Homes investment programmes by RSLs taking housing stock, where gap funding arrangements are in place.

Housing: Planning

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 1 February 2008, Official Report, column 691-2W, on housing: planning, what record was taken of the views of hon. Members at the briefing held by Government Office North West in December 2001; whether a record of those views was passed to Ministers; what steps have been taken to ensure that the views of hon. Members were accurately recorded; and if she will place a copy of the record in the Library. [186000]

Caroline Flint [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The briefing held by Government Office North West in December 2007 was an informal briefing to provide hon. Members with an overview of Housing Growth Point Expressions of Interest, which had been submitted in the North West, and as such no formal record of the meeting was taken. The Government Office North West did note the key issues raised by hon. Members and wrote to all relevant local authority chief executives outlining these. This letter also invited them to engage with, and consult, hon. Members, if they had not already done so. Any specific issues which hon. Members raised relating to individual local authorities were included in letters to relevant chief executives by Government Office North West.

Infrastructure Planning Commission: Wales

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions she, other Ministers in her Department, and her officials have had with representatives of (a) the Welsh Assembly Government and (b) the Sustainability Committee of the Welsh Assembly on the creation of a new Infrastructure Planning Commission and minimisation of the number of non-departmental public bodies. [188168]

John Healey: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of Sate and I have both had discussions about the creation of a new Infrastructure Planning Commission with the Minister for Environment, Sustainability and Housing in the Welsh Assembly Government. I have not had discussions with representatives of the Sustainability Committee of the Welsh Assembly but I have received a copy of their report on the Planning Bill.

Job Creation: Thames Gateway

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the number of jobs which will be created in the Thames Gateway area which will be taken by people already resident in the area; and if she will make a statement. [184623]

Caroline Flint: The Thames Gateway Delivery Plan, launched by the Prime Minister in November 2007, announced that we now expect to see 225, 000 new jobs created in the Thames Gateway area by 2016, significantly more than previous estimates.

The Government are dedicated to ensuring that existing residents of the Gateway share in the economic benefits of the area's regeneration and are equipped with the skills required to secure the new, high- value jobs being created. The Thames Gateway delivery plan announced a pan- gateway skills plan developed by the Learning and Skills Council to invest £1.6 billion in teaching and learning, and £850 million in new building for further education. The delivery plan also reiterated our commitment to a Thames Gateway guarantee of assured progression, ensuring that every level three course on offer in the Gateway leads directly to entry to a suitable level four course for learners who want to progress further.

This new employment will therefore benefit both existing and new residents as the Gateway becomes an increasingly attractive place to live. However the precise balance will inevitably depend upon the investment decisions of private sector investors in the Gateway over the next few years.

Multiple Occupation: Foreign Workers

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government has taken on (a) eviction practices and (b) temporary homelessness in multi-occupancy housing areas with large migrant worker populations. [187316]

Mr. Iain Wright: People living in Houses in Multiple Occupation have the same rights and protection as other tenants in the private rented sector. They cannot be asked to move out without adequate notice and cannot usually be evicted without a court order. We have, however, commissioned an independent policy review of the private rented sector, to improve our understanding of the sector and how it is operating, which is due to report in October. Eviction practices is an issue that may well be considered in the context of this review.

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government have taken in relation to car usage and parking provision in multi-occupancy housing areas with large migrant worker populations. [187317]

Caroline Flint: Local authorities have powers to implement permanent or temporary traffic management or parking controls, and are best placed to do so.

The Government's Planning Policy Statement 3 "Housing", issued in November 2006, states that local planning authorities should, with stakeholders and communities, develop residential parking policies for their areas, taking account of expected levels of car ownership, the importance of promoting good design and the need to use land efficiently.

Planning: Lancashire

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make a statement on the use of section 106 monies at Royal Ordnance, Lancashire. [188565]

Mr. Iain Wright: The making and implementation of planning obligations (also known as 'Section 106 Agreements'), under the terms of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990, are matters for local planning authorities and those with an interest in a piece of land. The Secretary of State would not normally be involved, and in the case referred to she has had no dealings with any of the planning obligations which are in place, and which are recorded, and required to be made available for inspection by the public on the local authority's planning register. She will therefore not be making a statement about the developer contributions agreed in the planning obligations.

Planning: Renewable Energy

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of (a) the likely impact of allowing for the off-site provision of renewable energy sources in planning decisions on the renewable energy industry and (b) the ability of off-site provision to contribute to the Government's targets for building zero-carbon houses; and if she will make a statement. [167072]

Caroline Flint: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 31 January 2008, Official Report, column 588W, which explains how our new Planning Policy Statement (PPS) on climate change sets out how local plans should help secure much greater use of local renewable and low-carbon energy in new development. The final PPS is supported by an impact assessment (available on the Department's website).

'Building a Greener Future' policy statement (available on the Department's website) set out the definition of zero carbon new homes. It recognises that there may be certain circumstances or particular sites where it may be difficult for developers to achieve zero carbon without considering off-site solutions. As new evidence emerges about costs and practicalities, and as technologies develop, we will develop the definition of zero carbon for the purposes of building regulations, after full consultation and within a sensible time frame that will allow the industry to adjust before the planned changes in 2016.

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of how much onsite renewable energy capacity will be delivered in England as a result of the 2016 Zero Carbon Homes initiative in (a) 2010, (b) 2013 and (c) 2016, as referred to in the answer of 29 October 2007, Official Report, column 681W, on renewable energy. [167185]

Caroline Flint: The regulatory impact assessment published alongside 'Building a Greener Future' policy statement in July 2007 (both available on the Department's website) indicates that the requirement to meet the zero carbon standard in new homes from 2016 will result in an additional amount of energy being sourced from renewable sources compared to a scenario without the policy. It also suggests that this additional amount of renewables as a result of the policy could be equivalent to around 1 per cent. of the total UK electricity demand by 2020. The modelling did not disaggregate capacity from on-site renewables.

Property

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will introduce legislation requiring all properties to display a number or name. [187005]

Mr. Iain Wright: Communities and Local Government has no plans to introduce legislation of this nature.

Rented Housing: Rents

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects to announce her decision whether to return to the basic rent restructuring formula with caps and limits or extend rent restructuring to reduce the steepness in the trajectory guideline and actual rent rises. [164190]

Caroline Flint: Communities and Local Government consulted on the mechanism for the setting of guideline rents in the Housing Revenue Account (HRA) subsidy regime in August. The options consulted on were guideline rents predicated on a rent convergence date of 2011-12, or extending the convergence date to lower annual guideline rent increases. A decision on the preferred option (extending the convergence date to 2016-17, solely for the purpose of calculating guideline rents in the HRA subsidy system for 2008-09) was included in the HRA subsidy determination for 2008-09 which was issued in draft for consultation on 23 November 2007 and in final form on 15 January 2008.

Zero Carbon Homes Taskforce

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the criteria were for deciding on the membership of the Government's Zero Carbon Homes Taskforce; and if she will appoint representatives of providers of affordable housing to the taskforce. [175007]

Caroline Flint: We welcome the contribution which providers of affordable housing can make towards our zero carbon homes programme.

The 2016 Taskforce was established to identify the barriers to implementation of the zero carbon 2016 target, and to put in place measures to address them. Therefore the membership of the Taskforce consists of representatives of the principal industries and stakeholders that have a role to play in achieving this, for example housebuilders, energy companies and local authorities. There are no plans to extend the current membership of the Taskforce.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Alcoholic Drinks: Licensing

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many supermarkets in England and Wales (a) applied for and (b) were granted (i) an extension of their alcohol sales licence and (ii) a 24-hour licence in (A) 2006 and (B) 2007. [187453]

Mr. Sutcliffe: This information is not held centrally.

However, DCMS Statistical Bulletin on Alcohol, Entertainment and Late Night Refreshment Licensing, published on 8 November 2007, shows that between April 2006 and March 2007 there were 917 supermarkets and stores with a 24-hour alcohol licence in force on 31 March 2007 in England and Wales (based on 83 per cent. of all licensing authorities).

Archaeology

Richard Younger-Ross: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many staff have been employed on the portable antiquities scheme since it started. [187792]

Margaret Hodge: The numbers of staff employed on the Portable Antiquities Scheme since it started are as follows:

| | Scheme status | Full-time staff | Part-time staff | Total staff |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1997 | Pilot | 6 | — | 6 |
| 1998 | Pilot | 12 | — | 12 |

| 2006 | National | 35 | 15 | 50 |
| 2007 | National | 35 | 15 | 50 |
| 2008 | National | 35 | 14 | 49 |

Arts Council of England: Bassetlaw

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what information his Department holds on the number of visits made to Bassetlaw constituency by staff of Arts Council England over the last three years. [187779]

Margaret Hodge: My Department does not hold this information. The Arts Council have informed me that they do not collect information about visits made by staff to individual constituencies.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many of his Department's personal digital assistants were (a) lost and (b) stolen in each of the last five years; and what the value of those items was. [185277]

Mr. Sutcliffe: In the past five years the following have been lost or stolen:

| | Lost | Stolen |
|---|---|---|
| 2008 | 0 | 0 |
| 2007 | 4 | 0 |
| 2006 | 3 | 2 |
| 2005 | 0 | 0 |
| 2004 | 3 | 1 |
| 2003 | 1 | 0 |

My Department does not hold information regarding the value of the items.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many (a) mobile telephones, (b) personal digital assistants and (c) laptop computers issued to departmental staff were reported (i) lost, (ii) missing and (iii) stolen since 2001. [184325]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Since 2001 staff in my Department have reported:

PDA's—15 lost and 7 stolen

Laptops—1 lost, 1 missing and 2 stolen.

My Department does not hold this information on mobile telephones.

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many of his Department's staff retired on the grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187889]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The number of staff who retired on the grounds of stress related illness in each of the last three years is nil.

The Department for Culture, Media and Sport has a legal obligation to provide a safe working environment for all employees and guidance is available for staff and managers on how to manage stress effectively.

As part of our attendance, health and well being programme for staff we have a range of policies in place to reduce work related stress. These include: stress management policy and sickness absence policy, which includes guidance on making reasonable adjustments. We also offer a full range of flexible work patterns to support work-life balance and have health awareness pages on our Intranet. We have appointed a DCMS Board member as the Health and Well-Being Champion. In addition staff have access to our Employee Assistance Programme (counselling service) and on-site gym with a programme of exercise and yoga available.

Departmental Sick Pay

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the cost of sickness pay to staff within his Department was in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187508]

Mr. Sutcliffe: From the 2006-07 financial year, the average cost of sick pay per staff member who has taken sick leave is £468.

As part of our attendance, health and well being programme for staff we have a range of policies in place these include: Sickness Absence policy, which includes guidance on making reasonable adjustments. We also offer a full range of flexible work patterns to support work-life balance and have health awareness pages on our intranet We have appointed a DCMS board member as the Health and Well-Being Champion. In addition, staff have access to our Employee Assistance Programme (counselling service).

Film

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what measures are in place to encourage British film companies to collaborate with foreign film companies. [187358]

Margaret Hodge: The UK Government currently have active bi-lateral film co-production agreements with Australia, Canada, France, Jamaica, New Zealand and South Africa. The aim of these co-production agreements is to encourage cultural and economic collaboration between film makers from signatory countries.

The UK has also ratified the European convention on cinematographic co-production, the Council of Europe fund established to promote co-operation among European states in the field of film production. 38 Council of Europe states have signed up to the convention, including all 27 European Union member states. The UK Government are also in the process of negotiating further film co-production agreements with a number of countries including India and Morocco, in order to secure increased inward investment for the UK and encourage communities and cultures in both participating countries to share and develop ideas.

Tourism: North East

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what estimate his Department has made of the number of people who were involved in work-based training in the tourism sector in the North East in each of the last five years. [184978]

Margaret Hodge: The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) North East has provided data for each of the last five years on the number of people "starting" and "completing" work-based learning in travel and tourism and in hospitality and catering. This includes apprenticeships and advanced apprenticeships, where the learner gains a National Vocational Qualification (NVQ), and also training in the workplace which results in an NVQ. The LSC has also provided data on the number of people "starting" and "completing" learning through "Train to Gain" since it was rolled out nationally in 2006.

Learners involved in work-based learning in travel and tourism and hospitality and catering in the North East

| | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Starts | 1,641 | 1,275 | 898 | 824 | 707 |
| Completions | 533 | 495 | 442 | 411 | 447 |
| Percentage completing | 32.5 | 38.8 | 49.2 | 49.9 | 63.2 |

Learners involved in travel and tourism and hospitality and catering through Train to Gain in the North East

| | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Starts | — | — | — | — | 794 |
| Completions | — | — | — | — | 283 |
| % completing | — | — | — | — | 35.6 |

People 1st are currently conducting an in-depth analysis of apprenticeships in the sector, which will include an identification of the job roles of apprenticeships, the content of learning and how to improve completion rates. This work will be outlined in an Apprenticeships Strategy in April 2008, and forms part of the industry-led National Skills Strategy for hospitality, leisure, travel and tourism, which my Department actively supports.

Government have recently committed to a new measurement for apprenticeships. Whereby we measure the number of starts and the number of successful completions. This replaces the historic "Average in Learning" which takes an average of the numbers on an apprenticeship at any point in a given year. Further details about these measurements can be found in the January 2008 report outlining the findings of the Government's Review of Apprenticeships:

www.dius.gov.uk/publications

"Train to Gain"—the national skills service for employers—will be vital for work-based learning in the tourism sector and will play a key role in transforming the nation's skills base. In November 2007, Government published a "Train to Gain Plan for Growth", setting out our ambitions on better meeting employer needs. This includes tailoring the service to meet the skills needs of employers in each sector through a sector compact with Sector Skills Councils, including one with People 1st for the tourism sector. My Department is actively involved in supporting this work as part of the sector's National Skills Strategy.

VisitBritain: Finance

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much grant-in-aid his Department provided for VisitBritain in each year since its establishment; and how much he expects his Department to provide to VisitBritain in each of the next three years expressed in 2007-08 prices. [186235]

Margaret Hodge [holding answer 18 February 2008]: VisitBritain's total allocation of grant in aid, from its establishment in March 2003 to the end of the next spending review period, was (and will be) as follows:

£ million

| | Actual grant-in-aid | At 2007-08 prices |
|---|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 47.9 | 53.4 |
| 2004-05 | 48.4 | 52.5 |
| 2005-06 | 48.9 | 51.4 |
| 2006-07 | 49.9 | 51.5 |
| 2007-08 | 49.9 | 49.9 |
| 2008-09 | 47.9 | 46.6 |
| 2009-10 | 45.4 | 43.0 |
| 2010-11 | 40.9 | 37.7 |

The figure for 2006-07 is part of the £350 million invested by the public sector in tourism support, across the UK (based on figures returned to DCMS). Of that £350 million, £101.1 million was central Government funding for VisitBritain and the regional development agencies. Central Government funding for tourism in 1997-98 was £44.7 million.

DEFENCE

Armed Forces: Deployment

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many servicemen and women are serving in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [187931]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: As at 18 February 2008, there were 4,100 service personnel in Iraq and 7,100 in Afghanistan.

The number of personnel in theatre will naturally fluctuate on a daily basis for a variety of reasons, including leave (rest and recuperation), temporary absence for training, evacuation for medical reasons, the roulement of forces and other factors.

Armed Forces: Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many service personnel were involved in disciplinary or criminal proceedings as a result of (a) firearms and (b) other military equipment being sold illegally in each of the last five years. [187367]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Available information is shown in the following tables. Because data are captured using different methods for each of the three services, the definition of the "Firearms" category is not wholly comparable across all three.

The figures provided are based upon individuals dealt with summarily or by courts-martial. Other military equipment has been considered to be any MOD asset.

Army

| | Firearms | Other military equipment |
|---|---|---|
| 2003 | 0 | 0 |

| 2005 | 0 | 0 |
| 2006 | 1 | 2 |
| 2007 | 0 | 5 |

Disciplinary offences by other ranks which were dealt with summarily are not recorded centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces: Foreigners

Mr. Marshall: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many armed forces personnel are citizens of countries other than the UK, broken down by nationality. [184708]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 18 February 2008, Official Report, columns 72-73W, to the hon. Member for Westbury (Dr. Murrison).

Armed Forces: Publications

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library copies of the joint service publications (a) JSP 567, (b) JSP 584, (c) JSP 70 and (d) JSP 712. [175455]

Derek Twigg: JSP 567 (Contractor Support to Operations (CSO): Policy Overview) is currently being considered for release and a version will be available shortly. I have placed copies of JSP 584 (New Financial Assistance Regulations for Reservists and their employers) and JSP 712 (Working with databases) in the Library of the House. JSP 712 provided guidance on working with databases for all the IT systems that were currently in use in 2001. With the advent of the Defence Information Infrastructure (DII) in 2005, no further updates were made to existing IT systems or applications and the decision was made to mothball JSP 712.

JSP 70 is not recognised as a JSP document.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by (i) the Cabinet Office, (ii) No. 10 Downing street in each of the last 10 years; and how many were (A) owned and (B) purchased by the Office of the Minister for the Olympics since its establishment; [178919]

(2) how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by the (i) Cabinet Office and (ii) Prime Minister's Office in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of such penalties was in each year. [183350]

Mr. Watson: The Information requested is not separately identified in the Cabinet Office Resource Accounting System and can be provided only at disproportionate cost. In respect of vehicles provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick) on 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1008W.

National Security Committee

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster on how many occasions the National Security Committee has met since it was formed; and what the purpose was of each of those meetings. [188367]

Edward Miliband: The Ministerial Committee on National Security, International Relations and Development (NSID), and its sub-committees, exist to consider issues relating to national security, and the Government's international, European and international development policies. Details of these Committees' membership and terms of reference are available in the Library of the House or can be viewed at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/secretariats/committees/nsid.aspx

It is established practice that information relating to the proceedings of Cabinet Committees, including the number of meetings held and topics discussed, is not disclosed.

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in which department or office the support staff of the National Security Committee is based; how many staff support the Committee; and from which budget they are funded. [188404]

Edward Miliband: Like all Cabinet Committees, the Ministerial Committee on National Security, International Relations and Development (NSID) and its sub-committees are supported by a small secretariat within the Cabinet Office. Departments across Government are involved in supporting the work of NSID and its sub-committees.

National Security: Departmental Responsibilities

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the responsibilities of the (a) Home Department, (b) Foreign and Commonwealth Office, (c) Ministry of Defence, (d) Department for Communities and Local Government, (e) Department for International Development and (f) Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform will be under the forthcoming National Security Strategy. [188400]

Edward Miliband: The National Security Strategy will cover the responsibilities of a wide range of Departments, including those identified.

National Security: Ministerial Responsibility

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster who the lead Minister is with responsibility for the National Security Strategy. [188401]

Edward Miliband: The National Security Strategy is overseen by the Ministerial Committee on National Security, International Relations and Development, which includes Ministers from key departments and is chaired by the Prime Minister.

National Security: Public Participation

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what further consultations are planned before the National Security Strategy is published. [188402]

Edward Miliband: The Cabinet Office has discussed the National Security Strategy with a number of individuals and organisations and is continuing to do so prior to its publication.

National Security: Publications

David Davis: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster when the National Security Strategy will be published. [188403]

Edward Miliband: The National Security Strategy will be published shortly.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Bulls

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer of 6 February 2008, Official Report, column 1278W, on bulls, in what way his Department has supported the Beyond Calf Export forum; and what resources have been committed to such support for 2008-09. [186774]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA officials and Ministers have played an active role in the work of the Beyond Calf Export forum, whose report has recently been published.

Forum stakeholders will now be working within their sectors of the farming and food industry to establish commercially viable alternatives to calf exports. Those alternatives are not dependent on Government intervention but, as recognised in the report, DEFRA and other authorities have a role facilitating collaboration. A further meeting of the forum is planned for June 2008 to review progress. DEFRA will be taking a keen interest in that progress and will facilitate collaboration if it is needed. No specific financial resource has been allocated for this.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Aral Sea

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 6 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1160-61W, on the Aral Sea, what representations he has made to the Uzbekistan government on the effect of irrigation for cotton farms in Uzbekistan on the Aral Sea. [187041]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Our ambassador in Tashkent discussed issues relating to cotton, including irrigation and the Aral sea, when he called on Mr. Elyor Ganiev, Uzbek Minister for Foreign Economic Relations, on 17 January 2008. Our ambassador has also discussed cotton irrigation and the Aral sea with Professor Victor Dukhovny, the Uzbek Government representative at the Interstate Commission for Saving the Aral Sea. Professor Dukhovny advises the Uzbek Government on these and other related topics regarding the Aral sea.

Botswana: Human Rights

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations his Department has made to the Botswana government on the Botswana High Court ruling in December 2006 that the Botswana government had illegally removed Kalahari bushmen from their tribal lands; and whether his Department has received recent reports on the Botswana government's response to this ruling. [187046]

Meg Munn: My right hon. Friend the then Minister for Trade, Investment and Foreign Affairs (Mr. McCartney), raised the court ruling with President Mogae of Botswana when he visited in June 2007. Our high commissioner in Gaborone followed this up by raising it with both the Botswana Vice President and the Foreign Minister. Since then our high commission in Gaborone, working closely with EU partners, has maintained regular contact with the Government of Botswana on the issue of the San community. We continue to encourage the Government of Botswana to take an inclusive approach to finding a sustainable solution to the future use of the Central Kalahari Game Reserve, underlining the importance of dialogue and negotiation with the San (Bushmen).

Our high commission is in regular contact with representatives of the San Community and non-governmental organisations, through whom they receive assessments on the implementation of the court ruling.

Egypt: Religious Freedom

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made on behalf of Egyptian citizens on trial for apostasy in that country. [187966]

Dr. Howells: We regularly raise a range of human rights issues with the Egyptian government, including concerns about freedom of religion. I did so directly with the visiting Speaker of the Egyptian Parliament on 21 January 2008. Although there are no plans for my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary to raise with the Egyptian government the specific subject of Egyptian citizens on trial for apostasy, we will continue to raise such concerns at other levels.

We welcome the recent decision of the Supreme Administrative Court in Egypt which ruled that Christians who converted to Islam were entitled to convert back to Christianity without adverse consequence.

Foreign Workers: Doctors

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many foreign doctors were granted visas in (a) 2007 and (b) each of the last 10 years. [187155]

Dr. Howells: This information is not readily available and could be obtained only by examining individual application forms and this would incur disproportionate cost.

Iran: Religious Freedom

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the Iranian authorities in respect of the Iranian government's proposed Bill for Islamic penal law, with particular reference to section 5 and those of non-Muslim faiths. [188471]

Dr. Howells: We are aware that a new draft Islamic penal code is currently being considered by the Iranian Parliament. We have concerns about this draft law; in particular the provisions set out in section five in relation to apostasy, heresy and witchcraft, which stipulate that these offences should be punishable by death. If the draft is adopted, it would be the first time that the death penalty is set down in Iran's criminal law for apostasy. We are concerned that these articles would constitute a violation of Iran's international human rights obligations, such as the right to freedom of religion and belief, and the provision that in countries that retain death penalty, the sentence of death may be imposed only for the most serious crimes. We are particularly concerned about the impact the new law, if adopted, would have on non-Muslim faiths in Iran. We are following developments closely and are currently discussing with our EU partners what representations to make on this matter.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department has taken to encourage the Iranian authorities to protect the freedom of belief of the Baha'i community in Iran. [188487]

Dr. Howells: The Government remain very concerned by the situation of the Baha'i community in Iran. The Baha'i faith is not recognised as an official minority religion under the Iranian Constitution and Iranian Baha'is face systematic discrimination and persecution. We regularly raise our concerns about the treatment of Baha'is with the Iranian authorities, bilaterally and through the EU. On 22 January, the EU presidency, with strong UK support, raised specific concerns about the treatment of the Baha'i community in Iran during a meeting with the Iranian Ministry of Foreign Affairs. In this meeting the EU expressed opposition to all forms of discrimination, in particular regarding freedom of religion. Most recently, on 7 February, the EU presidency issued a public statement expressing concern about the deteriorating situation of the Baha'i minority. We have also taken action at the UN; in December 2007 the UN General Assembly adopted a resolution about the human rights situation in Iran. The resolution, which was co-sponsored by the UK and all other EU member states, expressed very serious concern about increasing discrimination against religious minorities in Iran and the situation of the Baha'is in particular. We will continue to urge the Iranian authorities to uphold the right to freedom of religion and belief as described in Article 18 of the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, to which Iran is a state party.

Kenya: Politics and Government

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the impact on the Kenyan economy of the political situation in that country. [187212]

Meg Munn: Various reports have shown that the current conflict has already created significant impact on the Kenyan economy and this is likely to deteriorate further. Members of the federation of Kenyan employers are reporting losses of £1.6 billion. The Kenya Private Sector Alliance, representing most major businesses, has estimated that 400,000 jobs have been lost and economic growth is expected to slow to 4 per cent. Inflation is set to rise and the tourism industry has been crippled. The agriculture sector has also been heavily affected, which will also have long term effects on Kenya's economy.

We are working with our partners to address the humanitarian situation. The Department for International Development programme is under review. Future levels and modes of aid delivery will depend on the extent to which a political solution can be achieved, that addresses the underlying causes of the conflict and provides lasting solutions.

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether his Department plans to encourage the Kenyan political community to reach a political settlement through the use of sanctions; and if he will make a statement. [187213]

Meg Munn: The current focus is on restoring stability to Kenya through political dialogue and agreement. We continue to fully support Kofi Annan and his panel of Eminent Persons. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary's statement on 13 February urged Kenya's leaders to set aside entrenched positions and resolve to find a way forward through dialogue, negotiation and compromise. Individuals who stand in the way of progress will have to face the consequences. The Government have not ruled out any options if no progress is made in the talks.

The possibility of the use of such measures was also discussed at the EU's General Affairs and External Relations Council in Brussels on 18 February.

Kosovo: European Union

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what contribution the Government are making to the European Union's judicial and policing mission to Kosovo; and if he will make a statement. [187774]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The UK fully supports the European Security and Defence Policy Policing and Rule of Law mission to Kosovo, and plans to second approximately 70 police and civilian personnel to it. The common costs of the mission are funded from the Common Foreign and Security Policy budget, to which the UK contributes 17 per cent.

Overseas Residence: Prisoners

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what (a) powers he has and (b) actions are open to him to take to secure the freedom of a UK national abducted by a regime which has expressed the intent of inflicting cruel and inhuman treatment upon him; and if he will make a statement. [188533]

Meg Munn: The UK provides consular assistance to British nationals in difficulty abroad in accordance with the Government's consular policy, which can be found in the document "Support for British Nationals Abroad: A Guide", also available at www.fco.gov.uk/travel.

Sudan: Peacekeeping Operations

Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what financial contribution the Government are making to the United Nations-African Union Mission in Darfur. [187628]

Meg Munn: All members of the UN will fund the UN-African Union hybrid peacekeeping force in Darfur (UNAMID) through their assessed contributions. The budget for UNAMID, agreed in December 2007, is US$1.28 billion for 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008. The UK's share of the assessed costs for this budget is just under 8 per cent.

HEALTH

Accident and Emergency Departments: Admissions

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what research has been undertaken since June 2007 into the causes of the increase in emergency readmissions to hospital, particularly for people over 75 years of age; [184714]

(2) what research has been undertaken since June 2007 into rates of emergency re-admission to hospital, particularly for people over 75 years of age. [184889]

Mr. Bradshaw: In 2007 the Department commissioned the National Centre for Health Outcomes Development (NCHOD) to analyse trends in hospital re-admission rates and identify the most likely main causal factors.

The NCHOD study examined a large number of potential causes but the findings were inconclusive and their interim report in August 2007 recommended that further more detailed studies were required. A copy of this report will be placed in the Library shortly.

The Department is currently undertaking further analysis and has committed to share final results of this work with the Health Select Committee.

Agency Nurses

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the NHS spent on the employment of agency nurses in each of the last three years. [185455]

Ann Keen: The information requested is set out in the following table:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 400 |
| 2005-06 | 321 |
| 2006-07 | 193 |

Notes:

1. Trust Financial returns (TFR3B), primary care trust financial returns (PFR3B) and Strategic Health Authority financial returns (HFR25B)
2. Information on agency staff spend by Staff Group is not collected from foundation trusts (FTs). The number of FTs differs for each year. As at 31 March there were 25, 32 and 59 FTs in 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07 respectively.

Antidepressants: Suicide

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many of those who committed suicide were taking prescribed anti-depressant medication at the time of death from 1997 to 2007. [186060]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: This information is not held centrally.

Breast Cancer: Essex

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many breast cancer screenings there were in Essex in each of the last five years. [185315]

Ann Keen: There are three breast-screening units in Essex: Colchester and Chelmsford, Epping and South Essex (Southend). The most recent year for which data are available is 2005-06.

The numbers of women aged 45 and over screened at each unit in each of the last five years for which data are available are set out in the following table. While the national breast screening programme targets women aged 50 to 70 there are some women in the age range 45 to 49 who are invited to be screened, the majority of whom are women aged 49 who have been called for their first routine screening a few months early.

Number of women aged 45 and over screened at Colchester and Chelmsford, Epping and South Essex (Southend) breast screening units in each of the last five years for which information is available

| | Number of women screened | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Breast Screening Unit | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 |
| Colchester and Chelmsford | 20,579 | 21,966 | 20,121 | 23,684 | 28,221 |
| Epping[1] | 13,703 | 15,601 | 15,078 | 8,143 | 814 |
| South Essex (Southend) | 15,386 | 16,422 | 17,538 | 18,321 | 20,936 |
| Total | 49,668 | 53,989 | 52,737 | 50,148 | 49,971 |

Note:
Screening at Epping Breast Screening Unit (which covers West Essex) was suspended between November 2004 and January 2006.

Capita

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was paid by his Department to Capita Group plc and its subsidiaries in each financial year since 2000; which contracts were awarded by his Department to Capita Group plc in each year since 2000-01 to the most recent available date; what the cost was of each contract; what penalties for default were imposed in contract provisions; what the length was of each contract; whether the contract was advertised; how many companies applied for the contract; how many were short-listed; what criteria were used for choosing a company; what provision was made for renewal without re-tender in each case; and if he will make a statement. [180700]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not currently hold individual contract details in the format requested. To do so would attract disproportionate cost. However, a new system will be introduced in April 2008 called SHOWA, which will be able to gather future information of this nature for the Department.

Details of the amount paid to Capita and its subsidiaries by the Department from 2004 are set out as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 980,447 |
| 2005-06 | 1,997,939 |
| 2006-07 | 1,865,918 |
| 2007 to date | 1,460,316 |

The expenditure relates to payments recorded in the Department's integrated financial information system and credited against Capita Group plc or its subsidiaries. The records used to provide this information only go back as far as the beginning of 2004. To try to retrieve earlier details would attract a disproportionate cost, as these data are archived and not easily accessible.

Care Homes

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the consistency of methodology used in compiling continuing care statistics in England; and if he will make a statement. [187488]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 21 February 2008]: Information on continuing healthcare is collected from primary care trusts as part of the local delivery plan return process. From this financial year the data are being collected quarterly, prior to this date the collection was annual. When this change to the frequency of the collection was made, the data definition for continuing care was also clarified. These changes were made to improve data quality and better monitor the implementation of the "National Framework for Continuing Healthcare and National Health Service-funded Nursing Care".

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the effects of the new care assessment tool for determining whether patients receive NHS continuing healthcare on the number receiving such care; and if he will make a statement. [187489]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The "National Framework for Continuing Healthcare and National Health Service funded Nursing Care" was implemented on 1 October 2007 and it is too soon to conclusively gauge its impact. We will review the Framework and the decision support tool in September 2008.

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people received continuing care (a) in total and (b) per 50,000 of population in each primary care trust area in England in each quarter of 2007. [187490]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 21 February 2008]:
The information requested is shown in the following table.

Cervical Cancer: Screening

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he is taking to increase the take-up rate of cervical screening; and if he will make a statement. [185343]

Ann Keen: Women invited to participate in the national health service cervical screening programme need to understand the potential benefits and harms in doing so and to be able to make an informed choice about whether or not they wish to take part in the programme.

This is why all eligible women receive a national information leaflet on cervical screening, Cervical Screening - The Facts. This leaflet is included with each screening invitation and contains comprehensive and understandable information about cervical screening. It is available at:

www.cancerscreening.nhs.uk/cervical/publications/in-04.html

The cancer reform strategy noted concerns about the fall in the number of young women taking up their invitation to be screened. That is why the NHS cancer screening programme have commissioned the Improvement Foundation to undertake work at a local level targeting this age group. The lessons learned from this work, due in 2009, will be shared with strategic health authorities and local screening programmes to develop best practice.

The NHS cancer screening programmes' press office is developing an information pack to be issued to all local screening programmes and also developing a public relations strategy, including articles in appropriate media publications, posters etc. In addition, Cancer Research UK have commissioned research on this issue, which we will monitor closely and will share the findings.

Continued local action in this area is also essential and we will continue to monitor levels of cervical screening coverage through the office for national statistics/information centre annual cervical screening statistical bulletin.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list the special advisers employed in his Department since 6 May 1997; and what the (a) start and (b) end date of employment was in each case. [184368]

Mr. Bradshaw: Since 2003, the Government have published on an annual basis the names and numbers of special advisers in each pay band. For the most recent information I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend, the Prime Minister on 22 November 2007, Official Report, 147-50WS.

Information on the employment of special advisers prior to 2003 was provided at regular intervals and is available in the Library.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1689W, on departmental public expenditure, what the minor claims which were abandoned on value for money grounds were; and what the value of each such claim was. [184437]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department's two agencies, the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency and Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency do not use 0845 or 0870 telephone numbers.

Disabled: Norwich

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will break down by (a) age group and (b) type of disability the number of people with disabilities under the age of 35 in Norwich, North constituency in the most recent period for which figures are available. [185608]

Angela Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question, transferred from the Department of Health, asking for a breakdown by (a) age group and (b) type of disability, of the number of people with disabilities under the age of 35 in Norwich North Constituency, in the most recent period for which figures are available. (185608)

The 2001 Census did not ask a question on disability but did ask a question about limiting long-term illness. I have therefore provided the figures for the number of people in Norwich North Constituency with a limiting long-term illness, by 5 year age bands:

| Age | Number |
|---|---|
| 0 to 4 | 130 |
| 5 to 9 | 249 |

| 25 to 29 | 514 |
| 30 to 34 | 654 |

Note:

A 2001 Census Commissioned table (C0886) was produced to provide these figures.

Disabled: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many of those under the age of 25 resident in Tamworth constituency have a disability, broken down by (a) type of disability and (b) age group. [186790]

Angela Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question, transferred from the Department of Health, asking how many of those under the age of 25 resident in Tamworth Constituency have a disability, broken down by (a) type of disability and (b) age group. (186790)

The 2001 Census did not ask a question on disability but did ask a question about limiting long-term illness. I have therefore provided the number of people in Tamworth Constituency with a limiting long-term illness by 5 year age bands:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 0-4 | 174 |
| 5-9 | 321 |
| 10-14 | 353 |
| 15-19 | 327 |
| 20-24 | 275 |

A 2001 Census Commissioned table (C0886) was produced to provide these figures.

Fair Trade Initiative

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his Department's policy is on the use of fair trade goods (a) in staff catering facilities and (b) at official departmental functions and meetings; and if he will make a statement. [183850]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has no formal policy for the purchase of fair trade goods, as there are no mandatory policy requirements in place for the procurement of fair trade products by central Government Departments.

The Department is however committed to promoting and supporting fair and ethical trading wherever possible.

Forced Marriage

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will ensure that information on helplines and access to support for victims of forced marriage or persons in fear of forced marriage is made available to the public through health service networks. [184350]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Guidance to assist health professionals who suspect cases of forced marriage was produced by the Home Office/Foreign and Commonwealth Office Forced Marriage Unit and the Department of Health. Published in June 2007, this guidance was widely circulated and advertised to national health service and social care staff. The guidance is intended to help all health professionals recognise the warning signs of forced marriage, understand the danger faced by women and to respond to their needs efficiently and effectively. As well as practical information, the guide contains a poster that can be displayed, and which gives the telephone number of the Forced Marriage Unit's confidential helpline.

Hearing Impaired: Health Services

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people had been waiting for more than six weeks for a hearing assessment on the latest date for which information is available; and what estimate has been made of the number likely to be waiting more than six weeks in March 2008. [186014]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Data are collected for all audiology assessments, including hearing assessments. The number of waits over six weeks for audiology assessments has fallen by 98,000 or 73 per cent. over the last year to 36,400 at the end of November 2007. The national health service is on track to ensure that no patients will wait longer than six weeks for an audiology assessment by the end of March 2008.

Hearing Impaired: Standards

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will make it his policy to implement and monitor an 18-week target within which audiovestibular patients with hearing and balance disorders must be dealt with by the NHS. [187647]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Patients referred for surgical or medical consultant-led care, will be covered by the target of treatment within 18 weeks of referral by December 2008. Local health bodies will not be credible in claiming success on meeting the 18 week target if large numbers of patients are affected by long waits for audiology treatment. From April 2008, the Department will collect information on waits for direct access audiology treatment for patients who are referred directly to audiologists or clinical scientists in audiological medicine.

Hepatitis

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people with (a) hepatitis C and (b) HIV have (i) committed suicide and (ii) had contact with NHS mental services while receiving NHS drug treatment since 1997. [186616]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: This information is not held centrally.

Home Care Services

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what progress has been made on the inclusion of domiciliary care workers on the social care register; when he expects this work to be completed; and if he will make a statement. [187346]

Mr. Ivan Lewis [holding answer 20 February 2008]: We hope to open the register to domiciliary care workers in late summer this year.

Officials are currently working closely with the General Social Care Council (GSCC) on this issue and are considering the mechanism for registration with the GSCC.

NHS: Legal Costs

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost to the NHS Business Services Authority was of taking Mr. Phil Mitchell of Ticknall to court for payment of a penalty charge; and if he will make a statement. [185403]

Ann Keen: On 13 August 2007, the NHS Business Service Authority (NHSBSA) issued a claim via the county court to recover a total amount of £339 from Mr. Mitchell. The court fee for issuing the claim was £40. There was also a hearing fee of £50 as Mr. Mitchell filed a defence. The travel costs of a representative of the NHSBSA attending the hearing were £48.

The case went to court on 9 January 2008. The judge ordered Mr. Mitchell to pay £189 for the treatment.

NHS: Public Participation

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the budget was for (a) community health councils, (b) each community health council, (c) patient involvement forums and (d) each patient involvement forum in the last full financial year of their operation; and what the budget is for (i) local involvement networks and (ii) each local involvement network in the first full financial year of their operation. [185569]

Ann Keen: Community Health Councils (CHCs), Patient and Public Involvement Forums (PPIFs) and local involvement networks (LINks) all support a stronger voice for patients and the public. However, they all have different functions, geographical coverage and support infrastructure. Furthermore, LINks differ from CHCs and Forums because they cover social care as well as health services.

Funds allocated to support CHCs, forums and LINks were distributed through three very different mechanisms—via Department of Health Regional Offices and health authorities for CHCs, via the Commission for Patient and Public Involvement in Health (CPPIH) and Forums Support Organisations (FSOs) to Forums and through local authorities (LAs) and hosts for LINks.

In the case of CHCs and PPIFs, it is not possible to provide exact figures for each CHC and PPIF. However, we can provide an indication of average allocation based on total funding divided by the number of CHCs and PPIFs. We can identify the allocation made available to each LINk, as the funding route is direct from the department to each individual LA.

Nutrition

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many nutritionists the national health service employed in (a) Southend, (b) Essex and (c) England and Wales in each of the last five years for which information is available. [186248]

Ann Keen: The latest published annual national health service workforce census does not separately identify the number of nutritionists who work in the NHS because nutritionists are grouped together with dieticians in the census.

There were 10 dieticians employed by Southend Hospitals NHS Trust in 2006, the latest period for which figures are available. The figures for the previous five years are nine in 2005, 10 in 2004 and six in both 2003 and 2002.

There were 81 dieticians employed by NHS trusts in Essex in 2006, 73 in 2005, 72 in 2004, 63 in 2003 and 58 in 2002.

There were 3,413 qualified dieticians employed in the NHS in England in 2006, an increase of 1,240 (57 per cent.) since September 1997. There were 3,407 employed in 2005, 3,235 in 2004, 3,122 in 2003 and 2,906 in 2002.

The following table gives the breakdown:

Notes:
In October 2006 various mergers took place; Colchester PCT and Tendring PCT merged to form North East Essex PCT. Basildon PCT, Thurrock PCT, Billericay, Brentwood and Wickford PCT merged to form South West Essex PCT. Epping Forest PCT, Harlow PCT and Uttlesford PCT merged to form West Essex PCT.
The figures have been aggregated accordingly by the current organisation title.
More accurate validation processes in 2006 have resulted in the identification and removal of 9,858 duplicate non-medical staff records out of the total workforce figure of 1.3 million in 2006. Earlier years' figures could not be accurately validated in this way and so will be slightly inflated. The level of inflation in earlier years' figures is estimated to be less than 1 per cent. of total across all non-medical staff groups for headcount figures (and negligible for full-time equivalents). This should be taken into consideration when analysing trends over time.

The information on dieticians employed in the NHS in Wales is not collected by the Department. The information will be available from the devolved administration in Wales.

Pathology: Children

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many qualified paediatric pathologists were practising in each coroner's district in each of the last five years. [184740]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested. Data on the numbers of pathologists are collected by the Royal College of Pathologists, but are not broken down by coroners' districts. Royal College of Pathologists' data show that the number of qualified consultant paediatric/perinatal pathologists practising in England in each of the last five years is shown in the following table:

| | Number of paediatric/perinatal pathologists |

Peripheral Arterial Disease

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for what reasons peripheral arterial disease is no longer included in the quality and outcomes framework; and if he will make a statement. [184319]

Mr. Bradshaw: There have never been any indicators in the quality and outcomes framework (QOF) for peripheral arterial disease.

Skin Cancer

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many skin cancer patients were diagnosed where use of sunbed salons was a contributing factor in their condition in each of the last five years for which records are available. [187730]

Angela Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how many skin cancer patients have been diagnosed where use of sunbed salons has been a contributing factor in their condition in each of the last five years for which records are available. [187730]

The use of sunbed salons as a contributing factor in skin cancer is not recorded. The most recent available figures for newly diagnosed cases of malignant melanoma of skin registered in England are for the year 2005. Figures for the years 2001 to 2005 are in the following table.

Teenage Pregnancy

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many girls aged (a) under 16 years and (b) 16 to 17 years became pregnant in (i) the Metropolitan Police area of London, (ii) Birmingham and (iii) England and Wales in each of the last three years; and how many of those pregnancies were followed by (A) a live birth and (B) abortion. [186968]

Beverley Hughes: I have been asked to reply.

The numbers of conceptions to girls under 16 and of conceptions to 16 and 17 year old girls and the percentage resulting in maternity or abortion in each of the last three years for which data are available (2003-05) in the Greater London Government office region, in Birmingham, in England and in England and Wales are provided in the following table. # HOME DEPARTMENT

Migrant Workers: Cambridgeshire

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her most recent estimate is of the number of migrant workers there were in (a) Cambridgeshire, (b) Peterborough and (c) North East Cambridgeshire constituency in each of the last three years. [187207][1]

Angela Eagle: I have been asked to reply.

The information request falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

1. [Official Report, 3 March 2008, Vol. 473, c. 2MC.]

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on what the most recent estimate is of the number of migrant workers in (a) Cambridgeshire, (b) Peterborough and (c) North East Cambridgeshire in each of the last three years. (187207)

The Office for National Statistics compiles statistics on migrant workers for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS). The National Statistics method for estimating the number of migrant workers employed in the UK is routinely based on the number of people at a given time who were born abroad, are of working age (16-64 for men, 16-59 for women), and in employment. This question has been answered on this basis. It means, for example, that some people who are UK nationals will be included in the total of "foreign born" and that people who are working but are above state pension age are not included.

APS estimates at this detailed level are only available consistent with population estimates published in February and March 2003 and are not comparable with the estimates published in the Labour Market Statistics First Release on 13 February 2008, which are based on latest population estimates.

The table attached, shows the numbers of working age in employment who were not born in the UK and were resident in the county of Cambridgeshire, Peterborough UA and North East Cambridgeshire constituency, for the twelve month periods ending in June for 2005, 2006, 2007 from the APS. The July to June 2007 APS dataset is the most recent which is currently available. The table also shows the numbers of non-UK born persons as a percentage of all working age in employment, in these areas.

When interpreting these figures, it is important to bear in mind that the APS is not designed to cover everyone who is present in the UK. The survey may undercount the numbers of people who were born overseas. The reasons are set out in the table footnote.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

Number of migrant workers in Cambridgeshire, Peterborough and North East Cambridgeshire in the last three years

| | Cambridgeshire | | Peterborough | | North East Cambridgeshire | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 12 months ending June each year | Employment level (thousand)[1] | Non-UK born persons in employment as percentage of all in employment[2] | Employment level (thousand)[1] | Non-UK born persons in employment as percentage of all in employment[2] | Employment level (thousand)[1] | Non-UK born persons in employment as percentage of all in employment[2] |
| 2005 | 19 | 6 | 5 | 7 | 2 | 4 |
| 2006 | 33 | 12 | 7 | 9 | 3 | 6 |
| 2007 | 41 | 15 | 12 | 16 | 4 | 9 |

[1] Includes males aged 16 to 64 and females aged 16 to 59.
[2] Denominator for percentage does not include respondents who did not answer the question on country of birth.
Notes:
1. Estimates are subject to sampling variability.
2. It should also be noted that the country of birth question in the APS gives an undercount because:
it excludes certain people who have been resident in the UK for less than six months.
it excludes students in halls who do not have a UK resident parent.
it excludes people in most other types of communal establishments (e.g. hotels, boarding houses, hostels, mobile home sites, etc.).
it is grossed to population estimates which exclude migrants staying for less than 12 months.
microdata are grossed to population estimates consistent with those published in spring 2003 which are significantly lower than the latest population estimates.

Missing Persons

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many vulnerable adults were reported missing to the police in 2007; and what estimate she has made of the number of such people who became victims of crime whilst missing. [187964]

Mr. McNulty: This information is not currently centrally available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The Government are, through the new National Policing Improvement Agency's (NPIA) Missing Persons Bureau (which will become operational from 1 April 2008), exploring how data relating to missing persons should best be captured, recorded and shared in the future.

National Security

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the oral statement of the Prime Minister of 14 November 2007, Official Report, columns 667-72, on national security, if she will publish the work commissioned by the Economic Research Council, King's College and the Royal Society for Arts on dealing with radicalisation at home and abroad. [181183]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 22 January 2008]: We understand that the Economic and Social Research Council, which is independent, will publish findings of their commissioned work in due course. The Government welcome this and other contributions to the crucial effort of developing common understanding of radicalisation towards violent extremism and of the best ways to tackle it.

Offensive Weapons: Crime

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent representations she has received on the merits of creating specific offences for (a) carrying and using a knife in a violent attack and (b) carrying a knife in a violent attack. [180808]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 21 January 2008]: The Government are committed to reducing instances of all types of violent crime including knife crime and to see that offenders are brought to justice.

We do not currently have plans to create new specific offences in relation to knife crime. The new Tackling Violence Action Plan, published on 18 February focuses on a range of actions to ensure robust enforcement of the existing criminal law, including those currently in force in relation to the possession of knives. Current sentencing guidelines include the use of weapons as an aggravating factor to be taken into consideration by the courts when considering sentencing.

Police: Expenditure

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost of employing police officers was as a percentage of the total budget for each police force in England for each year since 1990. [176041]

Mr. McNulty: Data on the cost of employing police officers on a force by force basis going back to 1990 is not held centrally. Projected spend on police salaries, including overtime, national insurance contributions and employer's pension contributions, in 2007-08, accounts for some 80 per cent. of overall projected gross police service revenue expenditure (including police staff, and based on Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy data).

Police: Finance

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what advice her Department will give to police authorities on allocation of the surplus from the budget set aside to meet a 2.5 per cent. pay award for police officers from 1 September 2007. [179483]

Mr. McNulty: None. It is for police authorities to determine how they use the resources available to them to ensure the best possible service to the public.

Police: Interpreters and Translators

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the average time (a) English speaking individuals and (b) non-English speaking individuals requiring interpreters were held in custody in the latest period for which figures are available, broken down by police force. [186136]

Mr. McNulty: This information is not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer of 12 December 2006, Official Report, column 1061W, on police interpreters, how much was spent on interpreters and translators by police forces in England and Wales in (a) 2003-04, (b) 2004-05, (c) 2005-06, (d) 2006-07 and (e) 2007-08 to date. [188086]

Mr. McNulty: This information is not collected centrally. Decisions on the distribution of resources are matters for the Chief Officer and the Police Authority.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 26 November 2007, Official Report, column 192W, on police: interpreters and translators, if she will make it her policy to collect information on the amount spent by police forces on interpreters. [187842]

Mr. McNulty: There are no plans to collect this information centrally.

Police: Manpower

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers there were in the Derbyshire Police Authority area in each year since 1997. [187035]

Mr. McNulty: The information requested is shown in the following table.

Police officer strength[1] (FTE)[2] in Derbyshire police force area, 31 March 1997 to 31 March 2007

| As at 31 March: | Number |
|---|---|

| 2005[3] | 2,070 |

| 2007[3] | 2,023 |

[1] This table contains full-time equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.

[2] Full-time equivalent excludes those on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave.

[3] Comparable strength (excludes those on career breaks, or maternity/paternity leave). The Police Numbers Task Force (2001) recommended that a clear presentation was made of the numbers of staff employed by police forces including those seconded into the force and those on any type of long or short-term absence. These new calculations were first used in 2003, and are not comparable with data prior to March 2003. The data from 2003 onwards used here are termed comparable because they have been calculated on the old basis to allow comparison.

Police: Vehicles

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) injuries and (b) deaths were caused by accidents in which police vehicles were involved in each of the last 10 years, broken down by police force. [186467]

Mr. McNulty: The available information relates to the numbers of casualties and degree of injury from road traffic collisions resulting from immediate/emergency response and police pursuits on public roads involving all police forces in England and Wales.

These data have been collected centrally from 2002-03 and are provided in the following tables.

Number of casualties resulting from those road traffic accidents during immediatelemergency response, from 2002-03 to 2006-07

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Written Questions: Government Responses

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills when he expects to answer Question 164208, tabled on 9 November 2007. [187033]

Mr. Lammy: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given on 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 424W.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Afghanistan: Reconstruction

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development pursuant to the answer of 18 December 2007, Official Report, column 1353W, on Afghanistan: reconstruction, if he will place in the Library copies of the two studies completed by the Stabilisation Unit into (a) UK provincial reconstruction teams (PRTs) in Helmand and Basra and (b) the review of the Helmand PRT deployment. [186706]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Both studies are classified as they consider in detail the capabilities of, and operational constraints faced by, the UK's Provincial Reconstruction Teams in Helmand and Basra. As such it would not be appropriate to place them in the Library of the House.

Burma: Education

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much of his Department's contribution to the multi-donor trust fund for education in Burma has been spent on (a) state schools, (b) monastery schools and (c) other non-state schools since contributions began. [188263]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The multi-donor education fund, managed by UNICEF, is designed to help poor Burmese children to complete primary education by helping to cover the costs of schooling which parents would otherwise have to meet themselves. It pays for items such as educational materials and repairs to school buildings.

In 2007, the first year of its operation, the fund spent £2,880,000. DFID contributed £740,000 of the total. 66 per cent. of the fund (£1,900,000) was spent on local-level support for children in state schools, and 24 per cent. (£700,000) on support for children in monastic and affiliated schools and pre-schools run by NGOs and communities. The remaining 10 per cent. (£280,000) was spent on technical support, including monitoring the distribution and usage of supplies. In the first year 12 per cent. of the primary age population benefited from the work of the fund. In the same period, DFID spent a further £910,000 on support for community-managed pre-schools through Save the Children.

None of DFID's funds go to the central Ministry of Education.

Chad: Overseas Aid

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether there are plans to increase the humanitarian assistance to Chad. [186213]

Gillian Merron: The humanitarian situation in Chad and in western Darfur remains fluid. The rapidly changing humanitarian situation means that DFID is urgently reviewing its funding commitments.

In the financial year 2007-08, DFID has committed £6.5 million to Chad through humanitarian agencies. These include ICRC (£600,000), UNHCR (£2 million) UNOCHA (£260,000), Oxfam (£330,000), WFP (£1.8 million) and Islamic Relief (£500,000). Through these agencies, DFID is contributing to the provision of water and sanitation facilities, food, shelter and other relief items for refugee, IDP and host populations.

Chad: Sudan

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment has been made of the effect that the security situation in Chad is having on the humanitarian situation in Darfur; and if he will make a statement. [186214]

Gillian Merron: Clashes between the Justice and Equality Movement, allegedly supported by the Government of Chad, and Sudanese armed forces, allegedly supported by Chadian rebels, have led to deterioration in security in West Darfur. The area north of El-Geneina, the capital of West Darfur, has been particularly heavily affected by these clashes, with media reports suggesting 12,000 additional displaced civilians, the looting and destruction of humanitarian relief centres and at least 160,000 vulnerable civilians currently cut off from receiving aid.

Humanitarian agencies are attempting to assess the scale and nature of needs in the area but are being hampered by the ongoing clashes.

The humanitarian implications for Darfur of the escalation in violence inside Chad remain unclear at present.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many external contracts his Department held with public relations companies in each of the last 10 years; and what the total cost of those contracts was. [183164]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Nine contracts were awarded by the Department for International Development (DFID) to public relations companies in the last 10 years, at a total cost of £527,645.

These data have been extracted from readily available information and may not be comprehensive. To undertake an extensive interrogation of records over the last 10 years would incur disproportionate cost.

Developing Countries: Overseas Aid

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development with what countries the European Commission has (a) discussed and (b) entered into millennium development goals contracts. [187927]

Mr. Thomas: The European Commission has discussed its proposals to establish millennium development goal (MDG) contracts with member states, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the World Bank, Africa Caribbean and Pacific (ACP) states and non-governmental organisations (NGOs). The proposal is not yet finalised, and the Commission has not yet entered into any MDG contracts.

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what indicators the European Commission has developed to ensure that millennium development goal (MDG) contracts are effective in achieving the MDGs, with particular reference to MDG5. [187928]

Mr. Thomas: Monitoring frameworks for the proposed MDG contracts will include health and education indicators at a minimum, and may also cover anything clearly linked to the MDGs, including issues related to growth. Specific indicators linked to payments will be agreed when contracts are being designed.

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development to what extent (a) national parliaments and (b) sexual and reproductive health and rights organisations will be involved in the preparation of (i) the European Commission millennium development goal (MDG) contract proposals, (ii) the development of MDG contracts and (iii) the monitoring of results. [187929]

Mr. Thomas: The European Commission has been developing its proposals for a millennium development goal (MDG) contract for some time. We are not aware of any specific engagement, to date, with national parliaments or sexual and reproductive health and rights organisations.

The Commission's guidelines on Global Budget Support encourage delegations to consult with groups such as NGOs, professional associations and trade unions over the design of budget support programmes. The guidelines recommend that monitoring should be used to promote ownership and accountability, and that key stakeholders—including parliaments, local governments and non-state actors—should participate at key moments in performance reviews.

India: Children

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what funding his Department provides to India to tackle (a) malnutrition and (b) poor sanitation affecting children under five. [188032]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: At the national level, DFID is providing £252 million to the Government of India's Reproductive and Child Health Programme (RCH II) which is tackling child ill-health and malnutrition through antenatal care, promotion of early breastfeeding, treatment of diarrhoea, and education on health and sanitation. DFID has also committed £75 million to UNICEF to work in eight disadvantaged states to provide better services for undernourished babies and children. DFID also supports India's Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS), the main response of the Government of India to child malnutrition. We are providing £1 million to help redesign the programme so that it more effectively reaches its target of 36 million children under six and 7.7 million pregnant and nursing women. DFID's considerable support (£350 million since 2003) to the Government of India's education programmes is also contributing to improved sanitation and nutrition through empowerment and awareness raising.

At the state level, tackling malnutrition is a key element of DFID's health sector support programmes in Orissa (where we are contributing £50 million), Madhya Pradesh (£60 million) and Andhra Pradesh (£40 million). The Government of West Bengal has launched a nutrition strategy targeting children under three in the state's six poorest districts. DFID will provide up to £12 million over the next three years to support this strategy, with another £100 million to strengthen general health services in the state.

DFID's rural livelihoods programmes (five state-level programmes totalling £153 million) have reduced hunger for millions. Households in these areas report fewer days without sufficient food, increased production of food staples, and improved access to food and incomes.

India: Females

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to (a) tackle barriers to educational access for girls and (b) improve female literacy in India. [188033]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: DFID has spent £350 million on education in India since 2003. This has mostly helped fund the Government of India's Sarva Shiksa Abhiyan (Education for All) programme which aims to get all India's children, particularly girls, into elementary school. This has resulted in enrolments rising from 160 million in 2003 to over 190 million in 2007. The programme's targeting of girls has resulted in numbers of girls and boys being close to equal at the primary level (up to age 11) and is likely to be achieved at upper primary level (11 to 14) by 2010. DFID also recently committed £35 million in support of the Government of India's women's empowerment programme, Mahila Samakhya, which helps women and girls in rural areas to overcome discrimination and access educational opportunities.

Sarva Shiksa Abhivan and Mahila Samakhya are both working towards improved female literacy in India. Sarva Shiksa Abhivan is doing this by bringing girls into elementary education. Mahila Samakhya supports over 7 million adolescent girls and women across rural India to help them to read and write. It targets those sub- districts where female literacy rates are known to be significantly lower than average.

India: Infant Mortality

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to ensure that economic growth in India has a positive impact on infant mortality; and if he will make a statement. [187776]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Despite India's impressive economic growth, illness and death rates among infants and children remain unacceptably high. DFID is working with the Government of India to tackle this issue through more effective delivery of health services for poor people, women and children.

DFID supports two of the Government of India's national programmes to reduce child and maternal mortality. We are providing £252 million to Reproductive and Child Health II, a programme that is improving access to skilled birth attendance and emergency obstetric care for pregnant women; and providing new born care, immunisation and other health services for children. We are also providing £128 million for the Government's polio immunisation programme, which aims to eradicate the polio virus in India.

At the state level, DFID is supporting health sector programmes in the four states of West Bengal, Orissa, Andhra Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh. As well as working to strengthen health services these programmes support more effective joint working between health, nutrition, education, and water and sanitation departments—to tackle the multiple causes of child ill-health.

DFID is also funding UNICEF to improve the implementation of Government programmes—focused particularly on child and maternal health—in eight disadvantaged and highly populous states, including Bihar and Uttar Pradesh.

Kosovo: Housing

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the work of the Kosovo Property Agency and its predecessor, the United Nations Housing and Property Directorate; what support his Department is providing to this agency; and if he will make a statement. [187702]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Kosovo Property Agency has established mechanisms to resolve property claims in Kosovo and restore property rights to persons displaced by the 1999 conflict. Since its establishment in March 2006 the agency has resolved 3,346 cases.

In 2007 the UK provided €500,000 (£335,660) support to the Kosovo Property Agency through the Global Conflict Prevention Pool.

Timor Leste: Overseas Aid

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether there are plans to increase assistance provided to East Timor. [187936]

Mr. Thomas: There have been no reports that the current political crisis has resulted in increased numbers of internally displaced people, which might justify additional humanitarian funding. DFID, however, remains abreast of the situation and a representative from the British Embassy in Jakarta is currently visiting East Timor. The Government of East Timor generates an increasing income from oil revenues, and a multi-donor trust fund has been established to assist the Government's delivery of the East Timor National Development Plan (NDP). DFID provided £1 million to this trust fund in 2006-07 and again in 2007-08.

JUSTICE

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many members of the senior civil service in his Department have received an honour. [187122]

Mr. Wills: We do not routinely keep records of those officials awarded honours before joining the Department, those awarded honours not related to official duties, or those holding more than one award. This information could be collected only at disproportionate cost.

We do keep records of those officials who have received State honours on the recommendation of this Department. Since the establishment of the Ministry of Justice in May 2007 three members of the senior civil service have received an honour, broken down as follows:

CB: 2

CBE: 1

Similar records were kept by the former Department for Constitutional Affairs. Since 1992, 36 members of the senior civil service received awards following departmental recommendation, broken down as follows:

Knighthood: 1

CB: 12

CBE: 21

QBE: 2

Computer Misuse Act

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) prosecutions and (b) convictions there have been for unauthorised (i) access to computer material, (ii) access to computer material with intent to commit or facilitate commission of further offences and (iii) modification of computer material under the Computer Misuse Act 1990. [187287]

Mr. Straw: The number of defendants proceeded against at magistrates courts and found guilty at all courts for various offences relating to "computer material", in England and Wales for the year 2006 can be found in the following table.

Number of defendants proceeded against at magistrates courts and found guilty at all courts for various offences relating to "computer material," in England and Wales for the year 2006[1, 2]

| Statute | Offence description | Prosecuted | Found guilty |

| Computer Misuse Act 1990 Sec. 1 | Unauthorised access to computer material | 4 | 4 |

[1] These data are on the principal offence basis.

[2] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Offenders: Deportation

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners held in HM Prison Bullwood Hall and HM Prison Canterbury on 18 February 2008 had completed their custodial sentences and were awaiting deportation; and how many of those who remain in custody are up to (a) one month, (b) three months, (c) six months, (d) 12 months and (e) more than 12 months beyond the date of sentence completion. [187110]

Mr. Hanson: As at 18 February 2008, nine detainees at Bullwood Hall had completed their custodial sentences and were awaiting deportation. Eight of these were less than one month beyond sentence completion and one was more than three months but less than six months beyond the date of sentence completion. As at the same date, one detainee at Canterbury had completed his sentence and was awaiting deportation. He had completed his sentence less than one month earlier. All are being held under immigration act powers.

Over 4,200 foreign national prisoners were removed or deported from the UK in 2007. This means that the Border and Immigration Agency has removed over 80 per cent. more foreign national prisoners than in 2006.

Prisoners: Foreigners

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what proportion of those foreign national prisoners released from a custodial sentence had served more than half of their sentence in each of the last 10 years. [187104]

Mr. Hanson: To establish the information requested would entail the manual inspection of all the relevant prisoner files which would involve disproportionate cost.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many foreign national prisoners are (a) serving sentences of (i) six months or less, (ii) six to 12 months, (iii) 12 to 24 months, (iv) two to four years, (v) four to eight years, (vi) determinate sentences of more than eight years, (vii) indeterminate sentences for public protection with minimum tariffs of categories set out in (i) to (vi) and (b) serving life sentences, broken down by those who have minimum tariffs of (A) under five, (B) five to 10 and (C) more than 10 years. [187108]

Mr. Hanson: The following table gives information on the numbers of foreign national prisoners held in all prison establishments in England and Wales at the end of December 2007 showing sentence length as recorded on the prison service system.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Total | 7,560 |
| Less than or equal to six months | 600 |
| Greater than six months less than 12 months | 430 |
| 12 months to less than four years | 2,070 |
| Four years to less than or equal to 10 years | 2,990 |
| 10 years to less than Life | 620 |
| IPP | 270 |
| Life | 580 |

Information on the lengths of tariffs of individual prisoners is not available and could not be provided without disproportionate cost.

For the proportion of total prisoners who are foreign nationals, Council of Europe data on foreign national prisoners held in other major western countries reveal much higher proportions, for example in Austria (43 per cent.), Spain (33 per cent.), Germany (28 per cent.) and France (21 per cent.) than the figure for England and Wales (14 per cent.), based on 2006 population data.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Rape: Sentencing

Mr. Spring: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many of those convicted of rape in (a) the East of England and (b) Suffolk were given (i) an immediate custodial sentence, (ii) a community sentence and (iii) a (A) conditional and (B) absolute discharge in each of the last five years. [187114]

Mr. Hanson: The requested information is contained in the following table.

The East of England has been defined by police force area, and includes:

Derbyshire
Nottinghamshire
Lincolnshire
Leicestershire
Northamptonshire
Cambridgeshire
Norfolk
Suffolk

Offender sentenced to immediate custody, community sentences or discharge for rape[1, 2] in Eastern England and Suffolk, 2002-2006

Young Offenders: Lancashire

Dr. Tony Wright: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when the evaluation of the peer panels in Lancashire will be published; and when a decision will be made on the extension of the project. [186951]

Mr. Hanson: The peer panel project in Lancashire is in its very early stages and evaluation of it has not yet begun. Expressions of Interest to carry out the evaluation have been invited and the deadline for responses is 4 March. At this moment it is not possible to say when the evaluation will be completed. In the light of that no decision about extending the project has been considered or made.

Mr. Laws: To ask the Prime Minister what the running costs were of 10 Downing street in (a) 2005-06 and (b) 2006-07; and how much they are expected to be in 2007-08. [172784]

The Prime Minister: As a result of accounting changes it is not possible to provide comparable figures for the financial year 2005-06.

[186993]

Jim Fitzpatrick: UK airports are not required to keep records of passenger items that they have confiscated and subsequently disposed of.

Before anyone can be allowed airside access for departing flights, all travellers and their luggage must be screened for prohibited articles in airport search areas.

Many parts of the Department are involved in handling personal data in relation to its varied functions, and central records are not kept of the different kinds of losses that could be construed to fall within the scope of this question.

Departmental Databases

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what databases are (a) owned and (b) maintained by (i) her Department and (ii) its agencies. [185417]

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will list the special advisers employed in her Department and its predecessors since 6 May 1997; and what the (a) start and (b) end date of employment was in each case. [184376]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Since 2003, the Government have published on an annual basis the names and numbers of special advisers in each pay band. For the most recent information I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend, the Prime Minister on 22 November 2007, Official Report, columns 147-150WS.

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will list the (a) special advisers and (b) ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to her Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. [182258]

Driving: Elderly

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will bring forward proposals to simplify the process whereby those who reach the age of 70 years can receive a new driving licence. [188056]

Jim Fitzpatrick: A web-based facility was introduced in June 2007 to allow drivers aged 70 and over to renew their driving licence entitlement on line. This supplements the existing paper based renewal facility.

There are no other plans to introduce further facilities for the licence renewal process for drivers at age 70 and over.

Eurostar North Pole Depot: Finance

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much funding from the public purse was spent on the Eurostar North Pole depot. [187717]

Mr. Tom Harris: North Pole depot was originally built by European Passenger Services Ltd (EPSL), a subsidiary of British Rail, in 1991-02 for £75 million. The facility was built to service what is now known as the Eurostar train fleet.

Under the arrangements for the Government to fund the provision of the new Eurostar maintenance depot at Temple Mills, Eurostar (UK) Ltd agreed to relinquish its interests in North Pole Depot for zero cost. The depot transfer to BRB (Residuary) Ltd. ownership was completed on 31 January 2008.

The asset transferred from Eurostar (UK) Ltd to BRB (Residuary) Ltd on 31 January 2008, under the arrangements for providing Eurostar (UK) Ltd with a new depot at Temple Mills. This transfer involved no costs to the public purse. BRB (Residuary) Ltd is now responsible for managing all the costs and benefits of North Pole depot.

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many members of the senior civil service in her Department have received an honour. [187119]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Since New Year 2003, 12 members of staff in the senior civil service in the Department and its agencies have been awarded an honour, of whom four are still serving.

Motor Vehicles: Ownership

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will bring forward proposals to clarify the responsibilities of the seller and new owner of a vehicle under the form V5 process to ensure that the legal owner and registered keeper are always the same person. [188057]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) maintains a register of vehicles and associated keepers. It does not record owners of vehicles. There are no plans to change this approach.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what powers she has to take action against a previous owner of a vehicle who has not filled in the relevant paperwork to transfer the title of registered keeper according to the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency. [188058]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Failure to notify sale, transfer, destruction or export of a vehicle is a criminal offence that can result in a fine of up to £1,000 under Section 59 of the Vehicle Excise and Registration Act 1994 (VERA).

Private Roads: Lancashire

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport who is responsible for the unadopted road at the side of 21 Market street, Adlington, Lancashire. [188564]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I have no information on the specific circumstances at Adlington. In general, if a road is unadopted, the responsibility for the maintenance of it lies with the property owners that front the road concerned.

[188502]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department for Transport does not hold this information. However, this information should be available from Network Rail, as the owner and operator of the national rail network. The hon. Member should contact Network Rail's chief executive at the following address for a response to his question:

Iain Coucher

TREASURY

Alcoholic Drinks: Children

Norman Lamb: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many children died as a result of drinking alcohol in the last (a) 12 months and (b) five years, broken down by (i) strategic health authority, (ii) age and (iii) sex. [187201]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 21 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many children died as a result of drinking alcohol in the last (a) 12 months and (b) five years, broken down by (i) strategic health authority, (ii) age and (iii) sex. (187201)

Children

Mr. Laws: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what proportion of children were living with (a) both birth parents, (b) one birth parent and (c) no birth parents in each year since 1987, broken down by social class. [187143]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what proportion of children were living with (a) both birth parents, (b) one birth parent and (c) no birth parents in each year since 1987, broken down by social class. (187143)

This information is only available from the 2001 Census. It is not possible to readily identify whether children are living with their birth parents from other sources.

The question asks for the proportion of children by the number of birth parents in the family. In the 2001 Census the number of children living with both birth parents can be obtained from the number of children living in couple families that are not stepfamilies plus the number of children living in stepfamilies who are children of both parents. The number of children living with one birth parent can be obtained from the number of children living in couple stepfamilies who are the stepchild of one of the partners plus the number of children living in lone parent families. All other children living in households have been considered to be living with neither birth parent. This group will include children living with a step-parent only and those living with other relatives but not a birth parent.

Table 1, attached, shows the proportion of dependent children in households in England and Wales by number of birth parents and the NS-SEC of the household reference person, according to the 2001 Census. The table refers to children living in households only, because we cannot provide the requested information for children living in communal establishments. According to the 2001 Census, the number of dependent children in communal establishments in England and Wales was 47,643.

From 2001 the National Statistics Socio-economic Classification (NS-SEC) has been used for all official statistics and surveys as a replacement for social class. In some cases, the household reference person may not necessarily be a birth parent of the child.

Comparable data from the 1991 Census are not available because stepfamilies were not separately identified in 1991. Family data are available on an annual basis for recent years from the General Household Survey (GHS) and the Labour Force Survey (LFS). However, these surveys do not readily identify children in families by the number of birth parents.

Dependent children in households by parent status and NS-SEC of household reference person (HRP)—England and Wales

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Higher managerial and professional occupations | 90 | 9 | 1 | 1,636,093 |
| Lower managerial and professional occupations | 80 | 19 | 1 | 2,608,709 |
| Intermediate occupations | 59 | 39 | 1 | 776,259 |
| Small employers and own account workers | 85 | 13 | 2 | 1,348,021 |
| Lower supervisory and technical occupations | 81 | 17 | 1 | 1,237,363 |
| Semi-routine occupations | 57 | 41 | 2 | 1,364,120 |
| Routine occupations | 68 | 30 | 2 | 1,306,668 |
| Full-time student | 30 | 62 | 8 | 118,037 |
| Never worked, long-term unemployed, not classifiable for other reasons | 28 | 67 | 5 | 1,269,996 |
| Total dependent children | 70 | 28 | 2 | 11,665,266 |

Notes:
1. Cells in this table have been randomly adjusted to avoid the release of confidential data.
2. "No birth parents" includes children living with grandparents where no parent is present and children living with step-parents only.
3. Children under 16 living with a partner or child are included in the "no birth parents" category.
4. NS-SEC is calculated according to the household reference person (HRP) and is not necessarily that of either birth parent.
5. An error in processing has resulted in under estimation of the numbers of economically inactive people aged 65-74 who had never worked in tables containing these data throughout England and Wales. Users are advised either to restrict analyses of ever worked and NS-SEC to the economically active population and to economically inactive people aged under 65, or to combine the "never worked" and "not classifiable for other reasons" categories when analysing NS-SEC. The latter is the approach adopted by ONS in the production of commissioned tables and has been used in this case.

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department and its agencies spent on (a) sponsoring newspaper or publication supplements and (b) funding advertorials in newspapers and other publications in the last year for which figures are available. [187624]

Angela Eagle: In 2006-07 OGCbuying.solutions spent £23,000 on publication supplements. National Savings and Investments could not provide the information within the disproportionate costs threshold. For details of spending by the Treasury and the remaining agencies, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 8 October 2007, Official Report, column 219W.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many ministerial residences were available to his Department's Ministers in each of the last 10 years. [183352]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him by the Parliamentary Secretary for the Cabinet Office on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W.

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff in his Department retired on grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187497]

Angela Eagle: None.

Departmental Security

Chris Grayling: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will list the (a) special advisers and (b) ministerial appointees in possession of a security pass enabling access to his Department's main building in the month prior to the prorogation of Parliament for the 2005 general election. [182257]

Angela Eagle: It is established practice not to provide details on pass access to Government buildings for security reasons.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187868]

Angela Eagle: In financial year 2006-07 the percentage of absences due to stress-related conditions was 14 per cent. of the total working days lost to sickness absence in the HM Treasury.

Departmental Sick Pay

Angus Robertson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the cost of sickness pay to staff within his Department was in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187522]

Angela Eagle: This information is available only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how many overseas visits by officials in his Department took place in each of the last 10 years; which countries were visited; and how much was spent on such visits in each such year; [181593]

(2) how much his Department spent on travel (a) within and (b) outside the UK for officials in each of the last 10 years; and what percentage of his Department's overall expenditure was spent on such travel in each such year. [181631]

Angela Eagle: For details of overseas visits I refer to the answer given to the right hon. Member for Maidenhead (Mrs. May) on 25 July 2007, Official Report, column 1186W. Spending on UK travel in 2006-07 was £506,000. For details of UK travel in earlier years I refer to the answer given by the then Financial Secretary (Mr. Healey) to the hon. Member for Rayleigh (Mr. Francois) on 29 November 2006, Official Report, column 719W.

Since 1999, the Government have published on an annual basis a list of all overseas visits by Cabinet Ministers costing in excess of £500, as well as the total cost of all ministerial travel overseas. Copies of the lists are available in the Libraries of the House. All travel is undertaken in accordance with the civil service management code and the ministerial code.

External Contracts

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 31 January 2008, Official Report, column 671W, on external contracts, how many external consultancy contracts his Department held in each year for which figures are available; and what the total value of those contracts was. [187803]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer given to the hon. Member for Broxbourne (Mr. Browne) on 22 January 2008, Official Report, columns 1957-58W.

Financial Institutions: Bank of England

Adam Price: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether any financial institutions other than Northern Rock have asked the Bank of England for financial assistance in the last 12 months. [188189]

Jane Kennedy: The Bank of England does not disclose whether or not it has received requests for financial assistance.

Foreign Workers

Mr. Laws: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many migrant workers from (a) inside and (b) outside the EU were in employment in the UK in each quarter since 1984. [187149]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question about how many migrant workers from (a) inside and (b) outside the EU have been in employment in the UK in each quarter from 1984 to 2008. (187149)

The attached table gives figures for Q4 from 1992 on a seasonal quarter basis and from 1997 on a calendar quarter basis. These estimates have not been seasonally adjusted. Comparable estimates are not available prior to 1992 or for 1998 and 2000.

The data for analysing migrant workers comes from the Labour Force Survey. The National Statistics method for estimating the number of migrant workers employed in the UK is based on the number of people at a given time who were born abroad, are of working age (16 - 64 for men, 16-59 for women), and in employment. This question has been answered on this basis.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

Gold and Foreign Exchange Reserves

Mr. Lilley: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much in net ounces of gold has been sold from the foreign exchange reserves since 1997; what the net proceeds have been from those sales; and what the current value would be of the amount sold. [187192]

Angela Eagle [holding answer 20 February 2008]: 395 tonnes of gold were sold from the reserves between July 1999 and March 2002 and re-invested in interest-bearing foreign currency assets. Other central banks have adopted similar policies. The total proceeds were around $3.5 billion, equivalent to around £2.3 billion (using exchange rates at the time of the sales). On 15 February 2008, the current market value of the gold sold was around $11.5 billion, equivalent to around £5.8 billion.

The programme was part of a restructuring of the foreign currency and gold reserves aimed at achieving a better-balanced portfolio. As a result of the programme a one-off reduction in risk of approximately 30 per cent. was achieved, as measured by a type of widely used financial risk model—Value-at-Risk.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many members of the senior civil service in his Department have received an honour. [187118]

Jane Kennedy: In the last five years five members of the senior civil service currently serving in the Treasury have received an honour.

This does not include any awards that may have been received that are not related to official duties, or awards held by staff before joining the Department, as this data is not routinely held.

Income

Mr. Allen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much a single earner on average earnings with two children earned in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007. [187302]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Colin Mowl, dated 22 February 2008:

The National Statistician, has been asked to reply to your parliamentary question asking how much a single earner on average earnings with two children earned in *(a)*1997 and (b) 2007. I am replying in her absence. (187302)

The Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE) is the principal spurge of statistics on employees' earnings. The information requested is not available from the ASHE because the survey does not collect details of employees' family circumstances. The labour force survey (LFS) collects information about each member of participating households and can therefore be used to estimate how many people are in employment with two children. However, the LFS cannot be used to estimate their average earnings. This is because statistics on. lone parents and couples are produced from the LFS household datasets, which do not contain information on earnings within each family unit.

Income: Equality

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of (a) the income inequality gap and (b) changes to this differential since 1997; and what measures he plans to introduce to address income inequalities. [187414]

Jane Kennedy: Measures of household income inequality are published annually by the Department of Work and Pensions in "Households Below Average Income" and by the Office for National Statistics in "The Effects of Taxes and Benefits on Household Income".

The Government have implemented a comprehensive programme to promote employment opportunity for all and a fair society in which everyone shares in rising national prosperity, including the introduction of the new deals, the national minimum wage and tax credits.

Income: Nottingham

Mr. Allen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many families in Nottingham North constituency were in receipt of no more than the national minimum wage in the latest period for which figures are available. [187304]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your parliamentary question about the number of families in Nottingham North who were in receipt of no more than the national minimum wage in the latest period for which figures are available. [187304]

The Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE) is the principal source of statistics on employee earnings. However, since the ASHE does not collect information about family status, estimates for the number of families paid below the national minimum wage are not available. They are available by region and by age group (16 to 17-years-olds, 18 to 21-year-olds and 22 and over) for the UK.

A guide to measuring low pay and associated articles can be found on the National Statistics website at:

http://www.statistics.gov.uk/StatBase/Product.asp?vlnk=5837

Lone Parents

Danny Alexander: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many working age lone parents his Department estimates lived in each region in the UK in each year since 1997, broken down by sex. [187705]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 22 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on how many working age lone parents lived in each region in the UK, broken down by sex in each year since 1997. (187705)

The information requested is given in the table attached. The figures in the table are estimates from the Labour Force Survey (LFS) for the three month period ending in June of each year for 1997, 1999 and 2000 to 2007. Comparable estimates for 1998 and 2000 are not currently available.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

National Insurance Fund

Paul Flynn: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage increase in the basic state pension could be paid in the years from 2009-10 to 2012-13 by using the national insurance fund's excess of receipts over payments projected by the acting Government Actuary for that period. [185406]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

The NIF is not just for state pension expenditure but for other contributory benefits such as incapacity benefit and contribution-based jobseeker's allowance.

National insurance contributions and associated social security benefits operate within the Government's fiscal rules designed to ensure sound public finances and when there is a surplus it is invested in public services. Any surplus of NICs over social security benefits in any one year (the NIF surplus) is not therefore an extra resource available to spend.

The NIF is maintained under the control and management of Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs.

Quality of Life

Jo Swinson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what definition of quality of life he uses. [187626]

Jane Kennedy: Productivity and employment are the key determinants of growth and therefore of living standards. However, a large volume are of other data also important indicators for a broader measure of quality of life, such as those on crime, working hours, social capital, social demography and health.

Revenue and Customs: Fraud

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff in HM Revenue and Customs have been investigated for fraud in the last 12 months. [187632]

Jane Kennedy: From 1 April 2007 to date, there have been 35 completed investigations into suspected fraudulent activity by staff. HMRC is a large organisation employing approximately 88,000 staff.

Revenue and Customs: Training

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what training courses were attended by staff working at HM Revenue and Customs in each of the last three years; and what the cost of such courses was. [187625]

Jane Kennedy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him on 8 October 2007, Official Report, column 220W. The information requested would be available only at a disproportionate cost.

Tax Avoidance

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the tax revenue lost due to tax avoidance in each financial year since 1997. [187216]

Jane Kennedy: This information is not available.

As part of the avoidance disclosure regime, first introduced in 2004, promoters of schemes have to disclose to HMRC the details of the schemes developed and users should notify HMRC of a scheme in their tax return. For the last two years HMRC has published on its website a quarterly analysis of the number of avoidance schemes disclosed at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/avoidance/avoidance-disclosure-statistics.htm

Tax Avoidance: Companies

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps his Department is taking to reduce the amount of tax revenue lost due to avoidance by large corporations; and if he will make a statement. [187215]

Jane Kennedy: The Government are committed to tackling avoidance and in recent years has taken a number of steps to identify and close down opportunities for avoidance. For example, they have introduced a disclosure regime which requires those designing and selling tax avoidance schemes to provide HM Revenue and Customs with details of those schemes within five days of them being first marketed. On receipt, the schemes are assessed for tax risk and consideration whether an urgent announcement of a legislative fix is needed to prevent extensive use of the scheme.

Recent Finance Acts have all contained measures to close various loopholes in the tax system used by avoiders, most of these informed to some extent by information from the disclosure regime. This year will be no exception. In each of the last four budgets there have been revenue protection measures averaging around £1½ billion a year.

In addition to these legislative counteractions, HMRC has in place a comprehensive anti-avoidance strategy, published on its website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/avoidance/vision-strategy.htm

Tax Credit

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what percentage of tax credit awards are currently experiencing technical difficulties having been unresolved for six months or more; and what plans he has to resolve such difficulties. [183051]

Jane Kennedy: The information is not available in the format requested.

Tax Yields: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much the Government raised in tax from (a) Tamworth constituency and (b) Staffordshire in each of the last five years. [187939]

Jane Kennedy: Information on the total amount of tax raised in Tamworth and Staffordshire is not available.

Taxation: Music

Mr. Amess: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what (a) grants and (b) tax incentives the Government has made to the UK popular music industry in the last 10 years; what the cost to the public purse has been of such (i) grants and (ii) tax incentives in that period; what recent representations he has received on support for the industry; and if he will make a statement. [186369]

Jane Kennedy: No specific tax incentives for the UK popular music industry have existed in the last 10 years. The Treasury holds no records of any representations having been made on the subject of specific tax incentives or grants for the music industry. The Treasury has not made any grants to the music industry during the period.

Robert Neill: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the cost to the public purse has been to date of the contract between HM Revenue and Customs, on behalf of the Valuation Office Agency, and Rightmove.co.uk Plc. [183271]

Jane Kennedy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for Meriden (Mrs. Spelman) on 20 June 2007, Official Report, column 1861W. Expenditure in the year 2007-08 will be available in the Valuation Office Agency's annual report and accounts, when published.

Welfare Tax Credits: Fraud

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people were prosecuted in (a) 2006-07 and (b) 2007-08 for tax credit fraud; how many people were found guilty; and how much money was fraudulently obtained in each such case where proceedings are complete. [187591]

Jane Kennedy: There were 183 prosecutions and 163 convictions for tax credits fraud in 2006-07.

Figures for 2007-08 are not yet available.

Working Tax Credit

Danny Alexander: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what estimate he has made of the distribution of expenditure via (a) working tax credit, (b) child tax credit, (c) the childcare element of working tax credit and (d) the disability element of child tax credit, broken down by household income quintile; [186975]

(2) what estimate he has made of the number and proportion of families eligible for (a) working tax credit, (b) child tax credit, (c) the childcare element of working tax credit and (d) the disability element of child tax credit in each income quintile. [186976]

Jane Kennedy: Estimates of the proportion of households in each income quintile with entitlements to tax credits in 2007-08 and a quintile breakdown of estimated entitlements by value is provided in the following table.

| | Tax credits | |
|---|---|---|
| Household income quintile[1] | Percentage households with entitlements | Percentage total entitlements (value) |
| 1 | 37 | 48 |
| 2 | 36 | 30 |
| 3 | 33 | 14 |
| 4 | 26 | 6 |
| 5 | 4 | 1 |

[1] Households ranked according to equivalised income after direct taxes and benefits

Entitlements to tax credits are modelled using family resources survey data, and are subject to sampling variation. Estimates are provided for tax credits overall; eligibility for working tax credit increases total tax credit entitlement but does not necessarily mean that a family will receive working tax credit. It is not possible to provide reliable estimates for the childcare element of working tax credit or the disability element of child tax credit in isolation.

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what proportion of families received the childcare element of the working tax credit during the last year for which data are available; and if he will make a statement. [187092]

Jane Kennedy: Estimates of the total number of families benefiting from tax credits and the number of in-work families benefiting from the childcare element, based on final family circumstances and incomes at 4 December 2007, are published in the HMRC publication "Child and Working Tax Credits Statistics December 2007", which is available on the HMRC website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-dec07.pdf

Depending on their income, families are generally eligible for the childcare element if they are working at least 16 hours a week, or in the case of a couple, both partners are working at least 16 hours a week. Their child must be in registered or approved childcare.

Working Tax Credit: Nottingham

Mr. Allen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many families in Nottingham North constituency were in receipt of working families tax credit in the most recent period for which figures are available. [187303]

Jane Kennedy: Working families' tax credit was replaced by child and working tax credits in April 2003.

Estimates of the number of recipient families of working families' tax credit in 2001-2002, broken down by constituency, appear in the HMRC quarterly WFTC and DPTC geographical analyses. These publications are available on the HMRC website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/wftc/wfdptc_ geog.htm

Estimates for 2005-06 of the number of in-work families with tax credit awards, by constituency, based on final family circumstances and incomes for 2005-06 are published in "Child and Working Tax Credits Statistics Finalised Annual Awards 2005-06. Geographical Analysis." This publication and provisional estimates for the number of in-work families by constituency with tax credit awards as at selected dates in 2006-07 and 2007-08 are available on the HMRC website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/personal-tax-credits/cwtc-geog-stats.htm

WALES

Departmental Correspondence

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how many letters his Department received in each of the last five years. [187075]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The total number of letters received in each year from 2003 were as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 826 |
| 2004 | 740 |
| 2005 | 722 |
| 2006 | 518 |
| 2007 | 493 |

This figure does not include interdepartmental correspondence, this can be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Minister for Women and Equalities what estimate she has made of the number of polygamous unions there are in the UK involving (a) three and (b) four people. [185351]

Barbara Follett: No estimate has been made of the number of polygamous unions there are in the UK involving (a) three and (b) four people.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Child Support Agency: Private Sector

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how much private agencies have collected on behalf of the Child Support Agency since such companies were first contracted to provide collection services on 7 July 2006; [183810]

(2) how many debt collection cases for child support have been referred to private agencies; in how many such cases has (a) full collection and (b) partial collection been secured; and how the performance of private agencies compares to cases handled directly by the Child Support Agency over the same period since 7 July 2006. [183811]

Mr. Plaskitt: The administration of the Child Support Agency is the matter for the chief executive. He will write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty, dated 22 February 2008:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how much private agencies have collected on behalf of the Child Support Agency since such companies were first contracted to provide collection services on 7th July 2006 [183810] and

How many debt collection cases for child support have been referred to private agencies; in how many such cases has (a) full collection and (b) partial collection been secured; and how their performance compares to cases handled directly by the Child Support Agency over the same period since 7th July 2006, [183811]

The Agency contracted both Eversheds Limited Liability Partnership and iQor (formerly known as Legal and Trade) to collect debt on some of the Agency's cases from July 2006. By the end of 2007, over 63,000 cases had been referred to these debt collection agencies, who have to date collected debt from 15,619 cases, amounting to £9.3 million. Of those 15,619 cases, 3,092 cases have been repaid in full.

While it is not possible to compare directly as there are differences in the enforcement tools employed by the Agency and the debt collection agencies, the total amount of maintenance collected and arranged from all sources for the period was over £1.4 billion of which £159.6 million was arrears.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the total carbon emissions from his Department's estate in each year since 2005. [185463]

Mrs. McGuire: Total carbon emissions for the Department of Work and Pensions, as reported in the annual Sustainable Development in Government reports since 2005 are as follows:

| | KgC |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 59,098,569 |
| 2006-07 | 60,063,793 |

These figures are calculated by the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs and do not reflect the substantial volumes of renewable electricity secured by the Department during those years.

Employment Schemes

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people have found sustained employment through Workstep; and what his Department's annual expenditure on Workstep has been in each year since the scheme was introduced. [178739]

Mrs. McGuire [holding answer 30 January 2008]: Around 2,900 individuals have been recorded as progressing to sustained employment on the Workstep programme up to the end of September 2007.

Information about the Department's annual spend on Workstep is in the following table.

Workstep spend and numbers helped

| | Spend (£ million) | Number of individuals who received supported employment |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 59.3 | 14,170 |
| 2003-04 | 74.2 | 15,270 |
| 2004-05 | 68.7 | 16,620 |
| 2005-06 | 69.2 | 17,260 |
| 2006-07 | 63.9 | 17,200 |

Housing Benefit: Antisocial Behaviour

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the Answers of 18 February 2008, Official Report, columns 235-36W, on housing benefit: anti-social behaviour, how many (a) individuals and (b) households (i) in each of the nine pilot areas and (ii) in the UK were (A) the subject of an order for possession on grounds of anti-social behaviour and subsequently left the property and (B) unreasonably refused to engage with the help and support offered as specified in a written warning notice while in receipt of housing benefit in the latest period for which figures are available. [188609]

Mr. Plaskitt: As part of the sanction process, when a possession order is served on a household, the court clerk sends a copy of the order to the Department for Work and Pensions. To date, DWP has not been notified by the court of any relevant orders for possession in the eight pilot areas.

Information on the numbers of orders for possession on grounds of antisocial behaviour in the UK is not available.

State Retirement Pensions

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment for benchmarking purposes he has made of the provision of state pensions in the UK in comparison with other European countries. [185048]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 6 February 2008]: Direct comparisons of levels of state pensions between countries can be misleading, as differences may be due to underlying economic conditions or policy choices, such as different costs faced by pensioners and the presence of other policies targeting the welfare of elderly people.

In contrast with many other European countries, the UK's policy on retirement income provision envisages the state providing benefits that act as a foundation for private saving, and not the state as being the sole provider. The UK state pension system is also structured differently than that in other European countries, in that it targets spending on those on lower incomes, rather than aiming at providing the same level of generosity to all income groups.

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development report, "Pensions At A Glance 2007", published on 7 June, confirms that the UK targets the greatest resources on those most in need and that the UK has a very redistributive pension system that is more generous towards people on lower incomes.

Eurostat data indicate that the median income of UK persons aged 65+ (adjusted for cost of living differences), are much higher than the EU average and is the fifth highest in Europe.

The OECD also noted that 'changes to the public pension system since 1997 have increased future benefits for low earners', with average pensions for this income group up by seven percentage points, while > 'recent reforms in France, Germany and Japan have cut benefits by around 15-20 percent'.

The average pension promise in 16 OECD countries studied was cut by 22 per cent. In only two countries—Hungary and the United Kingdom—did pension promises increase on average.

This Government are committed to further improve this situation. In fact, the latest assessment of the European Commission on UK pension policy, published at the end of January, endorsed our recent pension reforms, stating that > "these reforms will ensure that recent achievements in reducing pensioner poverty are secure into the future".

Unemployment

Alan Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many of those classified as workless households were (a) families with dependants, (b) two parent households, (c) lone parent households, (d) single parent households and (e) claiming incapacity benefit in the last period for which figures are available. [188566]

Mr. Timms: Data on workless households are drawn from the labour force survey. It is not possible to provide data relating to households and individuals on benefits from the labour force survey. The available information is in the table.

Number of working age workless households by type. Great Britain: Quarter 2 (April, May, June) 2007

| | Thousand |
|---|---|
| Two parent household with dependent children | 293 |
| Lone/single parent household with dependent children | 684 |
| Other household with dependent children | 11 |
| Total number of workless households with dependent children | 989 |

Notes:
1. Figures are rounded to the nearest thousand. Totals may not sum due to rounding.
2. The figures show the number of working-age households with dependent children where no adult work[r].
3. A working-age household is a household that includes at least one person of working age (a woman aged between 16 and 59 or a man aged between 16 and 64).
4. Workless individuals are those who are either International Labour Organisation unemployed or economically inactive (that is, not in employment).
5. A dependent child is defined as a child aged under 16 or aged under 19 and in full-time education.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Leader of the House how much was spent by her Office on (a) alcohol and (b) entertaining in the last 12 months. [187959]

Helen Goodman: Following the machinery of government changes in May 2007, the Leader of the House of Commons office forms part of the Cabinet Office. Information prior to May 2007 is available only at disproportionate cost.

The Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster will be answering this question shortly on behalf of the Cabinet Office.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Carbon Emissions: Business

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) how many FTSE 100 companies meet minimum reporting guidelines on greenhouse gas emissions; [187420]

(2) what steps have been taken to encourage FTSE 100 companies to include information on carbon dioxide emissions in their annual reports. [187421]

Mr. Woolas: The Government require companies and industries to report on their Greenhouse Gas emissions, including $CO_2$, in a standardised way. For example, all installations taking part in the EU Emissions Trading Scheme must monitor and report their $CO_2$ emissions in accordance with guidelines produced by the European Commission.

The Carbon Reduction Commitment, which will come into force in 2010, will require companies involved in the mandatory trading scheme to monitor their energy use and report it annually in a standardised format. This will cover a large number of FTSE 100 companies.

In addition, from 1 October 2007, quoted companies have been required to ensure that their Business Review includes information on environmental matters to the extent necessary for an understanding of the development, performance or position of the company's business. The first reports under this new regime will not be published until later this year.

The Government have also supported the work of the Carbon Disclosure Project. This is a voluntary investor-driven approach aimed at encouraging companies to disclose greenhouse gas emissions data. In 2007, 91 per cent. of FTSE 100 companies disclosed to CDP. This is an increase from 83 per cent. in 2006.

Carbon Emissions: China

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will commission research to measure the level of carbon emissions resulting from the production of goods in China for the export market in 2007. [187791]

Mr. Woolas: We have no plans to commission research to measure the level of global carbon emissions from the production of goods in China for the export market. Estimates of the carbon dioxide emissions from the Chinese economy as a whole are available from the International Energy Agency.

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with ministerial colleagues on the carbon dioxide emissions from operation of their Departments' computer hardware. [187902]

Mr. Woolas: While I have had no discussions, DEFRA officials are fully engaged on a cross departmental basis in taking forward initiatives to reduce the carbon and energy footprint of the Government's information technology estate.

The Chief Technology Officer's (CTO) Council Green Information and Communications Technology (ICT) Delivery sub group was set up in December to review our needs and produce actionable toolkits for both Government and its industry suppliers. DEFRA participates in the CTO Green ICT working group promulgating and promoting best practice across Departments, including a "Top Tips list for Green ICT" shortly to be placed on the DEFRA website.

All central Government Departments are currently mandated to purchase IT equipment to minimum energy efficiency specifications. These specifications are continually under review and we are carrying out an analysis of more rigorous sustainable standards that we aim to recommend as best practice to all Government Departments in the near future.

Eller Brook Stream

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs who is responsible for Eller Brook stream at the rear of the property on Ellerbrook Close, Heath Charnock, Chorley. [188563]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 22 February 2008]: Eller Brook at this location is classified as an 'ordinary watercourse'. Managing flooding from ordinary watercourses is the responsibility of the local council, in this case, Chorley borough council.

Chorley borough council has permissive powers to address flooding issues.

Environmental Action Fund: Finance

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what funding has been budgeted for the biodiversity elements of the Environmental Action Fund/Countdown 2010 Fund in

(a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11; how much funding is available for biodiversity projects under the funds run by non-governmental organisations in 2008-09; and if he will make a statement. [188725]

Joan Ruddock: Natural England's budget for 2008-09 was announced on 21 February and final decisions on budget allocations for the Environmental Action Fund/ Countdown 2010 have yet to be made. Figures for Natural England's budget in future years will be announced in due course.

I will ask Natural England's chief executive to write to the hon. Member when these figures have been confirmed.

Fuel Poverty: Standards

Mr. Gauke: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the implications would be of the Government not meeting its target of eradicating fuel poverty by 2016. [188717]

Mr. Woolas: We remain committed to the eradication of fuel poverty. Our aim in England, restated in 'Fuel Poverty in England: The Government's Plan for Action', is to eradicate fuel poverty, as far as reasonably practicable, by 22 November 2016. The target for the UK as a whole is 2016-18.

Tackling fuel poverty is a priority for the Government. DEFRA will continue to discharge its duties and responsibilities under the Warm Homes and Energy Conservation Act 2000 with the aim of ensuring, as far as is reasonably practicable, that people do not live in fuel poverty by the set date.

As with any target with a statutory basis, failure to achieve this carries the risk of a legal challenge. We do not take this risk lightly and remain committed to achieving the 2016-18 target across the UK.

Genetically Modified Organisms: Crops

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what plans he has to change arrangements for field trials for GM crops in relation to transparency of operations and identification of crops. [188456]

Mr. Woolas: We have no specific plans to change the existing arrangements for publishing GM crop trial locations on the DEFRA website. We are, however, keeping this issue under general review, because there are a small minority of people who seem to be intent on destroying any GM trials. This is a concern if legitimate and potentially beneficial research is either being discouraged or not allowed to proceed.

Genetically Modified Organisms: EU Action

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of whether qualified majority voting in the Council of Ministers will apply to UK policy on regulating growth of genetically modified crops in the UK. [187925]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 21 February 2008]: Decisions on proposals for the commercial cultivation of GM crops are taken at European Union level. Consistent with the EU legislation, the UK voting position is based on what the scientific evidence indicates about the safety of each crop in question for human health and the environment. DEFRA consults the relevant authorities in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland before the UK position is finalised. There are no plans for the UK position to be determined on the basis of qualified majority voting.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what discussions he has had with HM Treasury on the effects reducing the Warm Front grant will have on the move away from oil installed heating systems to low carbon systems or renewables. [187439]

Mr. Woolas: DEFRA has had no discussions with HM Treasury regarding this issue. DEFRA is continuing to actively assess the suitability of alternative low carbon technologies to integrate into Warm Front.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: Cost Effectiveness

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what mechanisms are in place to ensure that Warm Front grants provide value for money. [186198]

Mr. Woolas: DEFRA employs independent quality assessors, who have completed two reviews of Warm Front pricing. These reviews have shown that Warm Front charges provide value for money.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: Heating

Jon Trickett: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the process is for servicing boilers installed under the Warm Front scheme; how often boilers and central heating appliances are serviced under the Warm Front scheme; what the response time is when boilers or central heating appliances are reported faulty under the Warm Front scheme; what the procedure is, under the Warm Front scheme, for those left without heating or hot water when appliances fitted under Warm Front break down; and whether there is a procedure for emergency situations when such boilers or heating appliances break down. [186981]

Mr. Woolas: Gas boilers installed or repaired under Warm Front receive two annual service visits. These are carried out approximately 12 and 24 months after the date of installation.

Warm Front customers who have received a gas boiler have access to a 24 hour breakdown line, which operates seven days a week and 365 days a year. In the majority of cases this service provides either a same day or next day response. Temporary heaters will also be provided under certain circumstances.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the average size was of Warm Front grant approved in Tamworth constituency in each of the last three years. [187940]

Mr. Woolas: Over the last three scheme years, the average cost of each grant approved is as follows:

| Scheme year | Average spend (£) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 1,211.59 |
| 2006-07 | 1,030.75 |
| 2007-08 | 1,788.31 |

National Bee Unit: Finance

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much he has spent in the National Bee Unit in each year since 1997; how much he intends to spend over the next five years; and if he will make a statement. [188436]

Joan Ruddock: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 30 October 2007, Official Report, column 1089W.

Nitrate Vulnerable Zones

Mr. Letwin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the average length of closed periods will be under the new regime for nitrate-vulnerable zones. [188228]

Mr. Woolas: Manures and manufactured fertilisers cannot be applied in nitrate-vulnerable zones during defined closed periods. Proposals set out in the recent consultation for redefining the closed periods for organic manures have been developed using a targeted approach based on soil type, land use (arable or grassland) and rainfall. Under those proposals, the average length of the closed periods would be just over four months. There are no proposals to redefine closed periods for manufactured fertilisers.

Sites of Special Scientific Interest: Standards

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) whether the public service agreement target to ensure that 95 per cent. of sites of special scientific interest are in favourable condition by 2010 remains in place; [188723]

(2) what discussions he has had with ministerial colleagues on the public service agreement target to ensure that 95 per cent. of sites of special scientific interest are in favourable condition by 2010. [188728]

Joan Ruddock: We remain committed to achieving the public service agreement target to bring 95 per cent. of sites of special scientific interest by area into favourable or recovering condition by 2010. This target will become a departmental strategic objective under the new natural environment public service agreement.

Within the Major Landowners Group, my officials meet regularly with representatives of other organisations with a significant role in delivery of this target. This provides a mechanism for identification of emerging issues and ensures that they are discussed at the appropriate level.

Tree Preservation Orders: Guildford

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if his Department will give consent to Guildford borough council for tree protection orders to be placed on its departmental land at Epsom Road, Guildford prior to its forthcoming sale and disposal to a housing developer. [186271]

Joan Ruddock: As part of the preparation for a planning application at the Guildford site DEFRA has undertaken a joint survey with Guildford borough council of the trees and, under the guidance of the tree preservation officer has identified a number of trees that are worthy of retention (some having been identified as restricting the sustainable growth of others).

DEFRA has no objection to the principle of imposing a TPO but would not expect this to be undertaken while in the ownership of DEFRA, pending disposal.

DEFRA is awaiting confirmation from the council as to the identification of those trees to which an Order would relate.

Wildlife: Environment Protection

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will bring forward proposals for a statutory regime to govern the adaptation of wildlife habitats in response to climate change; and if he will make a statement. [187553]

Joan Ruddock: The Government believe that the current regime adequately covers any adaptation of wildlife habitats that may be required in response to climate change.

Last year we published "Conserving biodiversity in a changing climate: guidance on building capacity to adapt", which is directed at those who plan and deliver conservation of terrestrial biodiversity.

The UK was also the first country to produce a national Biodiversity Action Plan in response to the Convention on Biological Diversity signed in Rio de Janeiro in 1992. The UK Biodiversity Action Plan comprises both species and habitats action plans. In 2007, the UK Biodiversity Partnership published a new list of priority habitats, containing 65 habitat types. These priority habitats are a focus for conservation during the next decade and the impacts of climate change will feature in conservation actions.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what species are to be removed from Schedule 4 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981; what mechanisms will be put in place to monitor the effect on wild populations of such species; and what the expected cost is of such monitoring. [187844]

Joan Ruddock: The list of species to be removed from Schedule 4 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 has not been finalised and will be subject to further discussions with the devolved administrations. I hope the revised schedule will take effect from 1 October this year.

The Joint Nature Conservation Committee and the Statutory Nature Conservation Agencies support a range of bird surveillance and monitoring schemes in the United Kingdom, usually in partnership with specialist non-government organisations. Surveillance schemes may include annual or periodic assessment of population size and distribution and allow trends in both to be derived. Schemes are tailored to provide comprehensive coverage of common and rare species in both breeding and non-breeding seasons. Monitoring is undertaken as part of the JNCC's and Statutory Nature Conservation Agencies' statutory obligations and would not incur any additional costs.

TRANSPORT

Dartford Tunnel

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the average number of (a) daily and (b) annual crossings made at the Dartford Crossing, broken down by vehicle category, was in the last five years. [188868]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The figures requested are in the following tables.

Dartford Tunnel: Tolls

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent representations she has received on the Dartford Crossing tolls. [188867]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Department for Transport received several thousand representations in response to the consultation on the Dartford Crossing charges that finished in March last year. These included representations from local residents, trade associations, local government and local MPs. The views expressed in these responses have been taken into account in the proposals for a local residents' discount scheme, issued for consultation on 15 February 2008.

Driving: Licensing

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when she plans to publish the consultation document on fitness to drive. [188252]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We intend to consult on options for change to health and driver licensing arrangements later this year.

Motor Vehicles: Lighting

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate her Department has made of the likely increase in annual fuel consumption resulting from the requirement to have daytime running lamps on motor vehicles. [188257][1]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Research undertaken for the Department for Transport indicated that the requirement for new types of motor vehicle to be equipped with dedicated daytime running lamps would result in an increase of about 5 per cent. in fuel consumption.

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer of 4 February 2008, Official Report, column 788W, on motor vehicles: safety, what provisions have been agreed with her EU counterparts on the exemption of vehicles registered for road use before the commencement of the relevant European directive from the mandatory use of daytime running lights or their equivalent. [188253]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Following EU decisions on daytime running lights (DRL) issues, a European Directive will require new vehicle types to be equipped with dedicated DRLs from early 2011 (cars, vans) and summer 2012 (other vehicles). Vehicles registered before these dates will not be required to be retro-fitted with DRLs or to use existing lights as an equivalent.

Roads: Repairs and Maintenance

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what guidelines her Department has issued to statutory authorities on (a) measuring the level of degradation of road surfacing and (b) the time scales for resurfacing each of the categories of degraded road surfacing. [188517]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Local highway authorities have a duty under the Highways Act 1980 to maintain the highways in their charge. As part of the Best Value regime, they are required to report annually on the condition of those highways. Guidance on the calculation of such Best Value Condition Indicators, including reference to the road surface condition parameters to be measured, is provided on the Department's website.

Decisions on what maintenance should be undertaken, and when, is a matter for each individual highway authority. The Department endorses 'Well-maintained Highways' (TSO, 2005) produced by the UK Roads Board, which provides best practice guidance on maintenance management.

Sexual Harassment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many complaints of (a) sexual harassment and

1. [Official Report, 3 March 2008, Vol. 472, c. 22MC.]

(b) sexual discrimination have been made by staff in (i) her Department and (ii) its agencies in the most recent year for which figures are available. [184682]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Due to the low number of sexual harassment and sexual discrimination complaints in the Department for Transport and its agencies, this information is withheld on the grounds of confidentiality.

Transport: Finance

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment she has made of the merits of ring-fencing local authority grants to community transport providers. [188055]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The conditions attached to the Department's grants to local authorities, or other bodies, reflect the particular circumstances of each case. However, it is Government policy to reduce the proportion of total local authority funding which is given by means of ring-fenced grants to enable more decisions about local issues to be made locally.

The level and form of local authority support for community transport is a matter for local decision.

It is for each local authority to determine the conditions which apply to any grants they provide for community transport providers.

Travel: Concessions

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will make it her policy to extend the concessionary travel scheme to (a) long distance coach travel and (b) other forms of public transport. [183107]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Since 2003 there has been a half-fare concessionary travel scheme for older and eligible disabled people on long distance coaches. It is a voluntary scheme but the major providers of long distance coach services take part. The scheme will continue following the introduction of the England-wide free off-peak local bus travel concession in April. There are no proposals at present to extend statutory concessionary fares to forms of transport other than local buses.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Department of Resources: Pay

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission, what pay grades are applicable to members of staff working for the Department of Resources. [186170]

Nick Harvey: As at 31 January 2008, the Department of Resources employed 136.28 full-time equivalent staff (FTE), broken down as follows:

| Pay band | FTE |
|---|---|
| Band SCS2 | 1 |
| Band SCS1A | 1 |
| Band SCS1 | 4 |
| Band A1 | 3.21 |
| Band A2 | 14.79 |
| Band B1 | 21.18 |
| Band B2 | 19.2 |
| Band C | 42.4 |
| Band D1 | 27.5 |
| Band D2 | 1 |
| Sandwich Student | 1 |
| Total | 136.28 |

An organisational chart detailing individual pay bands for staff can be found on the Department of Resources intranet site.

Members: Allowances

Mr. Martyn Jones: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission, what percentage of the Department of Resources staff time is spent administering the allowances of hon. Members. [186171]

Nick Harvey: About one quarter of all departmental staff time is devoted to administering Members' allowances. This equates to some 35 full-time equivalent staff.

Security

Mr. Hayes: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission, (1) how many persons who are not nationals of EU member states hold a parliamentary pass; [188572]

(2) how many non-European nationals hold a parliamentary pass. [188577]

Nick Harvey: There are currently 1,312 valid parliamentary passes issued to individuals whose nationality is other than British.

Records are not held in a form which distinguishes the number of non-European from European nationals.

WALES

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much was spent by his Department on (a) alcohol and (b) entertaining in the last 12 months. [187952]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My Department spent a total of £12,631.87 on entertaining in the last 12 months. The figures for entertaining are not split between alcohol and food, and these could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much was claimed in reimbursable expenses by Senior Civil Service staff in his Department in the last 12-month period for which figures are available. [187548]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The amount claimed by senior civil service staff in the financial year 2006-07 was £2,582.79.

Departmental Property

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what property has been lost or stolen from his Department since 1997; and what the cost of replacement was. [187465]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The Wales Office was established in July 1999. Since 1999 our records show that we have lost:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| Three mobile handsets | 40 |
| Ancillary cabling for a laptop | 107 |
| Two security passes | 0 |
| Digital camera | 100 |
| Train ticket | 144 |

There have been no items reported stolen.

Departmental Sick Pay

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what the cost of sickness pay to staff within his Department was in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187507]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The cost of sickness pay is not readily available in the format requested, and obtaining this could be achieved only at disproportionate cost.

However, in 2006-07, which is the latest year for which figures have been published, of all Government Departments the Wales Office had the lowest number of days lost due to sickness per member of staff, at just 1.6 days in the year.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales how much his Department spent on first class travel in the last 12 months for which figures are available, broken down by staff grade. [187658]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My Department has spent the following amounts on first class travel in 2007:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| Ministerial travel | 2,836.32 |
| Officials | 89,606.73 |

The breakdown by staff grade can be obtained only at a disproportionate cost.

My Office is split over two sites, namely London and Cardiff, and staff are required to travel frequently between both offices. The Wales Office, however, makes good use of advanced ticket bookings to achieve value for money.

Fair Trade Initiative

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales if he will take steps to promote Fair Trade Fortnight 2008 among staff within his Department; and if he will make a statement. [189500]

Mr. Paul Murphy: My Department does not have any in-house catering facilities. Where possible, taking account of value for money, fair trade products are used.

To support Fair Trade Fortnight 2008, an e-mail, alerting all staff to the event, and linking them to the Fair Trade website, has been sent.

OLYMPICS

Humanitarian Assistance Unit

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what the cost of her Department's Humanitarian Assistance Unit was in each of the last three years. [186987]

Tessa Jowell: The total cost of the unit and its work since it was established in 2005 is as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06[1] | 663,000 |
| 2006-07 | 659,000 |
| 2007-08[2] | 420,500 |

[1] Not full year
[2] To date

Olympic Games 2012: Gun Sports

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Minister for the Olympics whether she has plans to move the 2012 Olympics shooting events to sites other than Woolwich. [188744]

Tessa Jowell: There are no plans to move the shooting event to an alternative venue.

The Royal Artillery barracks at Woolwich was selected as the venue for Olympic and Paralympic shooting events in 2012 following feedback from the International Olympic Committee and consultation with the International Shooting Federation and British Shooting (the national governing body). Woolwich has the advantage of being close to the Olympic Park and Village, which will improve the athlete and spectator experience. The decision to stage the event at Woolwich is now part of the Host City Contract with the IOC.

Olympic Games 2012: Wildlife

Tom Brake: To ask the Minister for the Olympics what recent progress has been made on the relocation of (a) wildlife and (b) feral cats from the Olympic site at Stratford; and if she will make a statement. [187076]

Tessa Jowell: In parallel with ongoing site clearance and preparation works, the Olympic Delivery Authority continues its comprehensive ecology programme to ensure the preservation and protection of wildlife in the Olympic Park. Where possible, habitats are being safeguarded and will remain in place but, where wildlife cannot be protected sufficiently on-site, the ODA is working with the nearby Waterworks Nature Reserve and Hackney council to create alternative habitats in the local area. The ODA is also preparing a small nature reserve at East Marsh to become home to a variety of wildlife including birds, frogs, spiders and beetles with planting scheduled to commence in the spring.

To date, thousands of newts and hundreds of toads have been translocated to specially created ponds on the Waterworks Reserve and aquatics experts have moved fish away from the clearance and dredging works on the Pudding Mill river to the nearby river Lea. New nest areas suitable for the breeding and feeding patterns of kingfishers and sand martins have also been created at the Waterworks.

The ODA is also working with the Celia Hammond Animal Trust (CHAT) to ensure the well-being and safe capture of any feral cats remaining on the site. To date, around 170 cats have been safely taken off site for re-homing by the trust. The ODA continues to work closely with the trust to allow access to those areas safe from construction activities.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Embassies: Industrial Disputes

Mark Durkan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what undertakings were given to staff at the British embassy in Dublin on local labour relations procedures and the treatment of industrial relations disputes. [187044]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Our embassy in Dublin has regularly informed staff that it is committed to handling labour relations in accordance with good employer practice, local employment law and the (non-binding) procedural agreement signed in 2003 between our embassy and the Unite trade union.

Mark Durkan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps are being taken to promote dialogue between the British embassy in Dublin and the Unite trade union within the framework of the Labour Relations Commission apparatus in Ireland. [187247]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Our embassy in Dublin and Unite, acting on behalf of the embassy's local Staff Association, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement on the consequences for staff of the restructuring of the UK Trade and Investment section on 21 February.

Embassies: Redundancy

Mark Durkan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) voluntary and (b) compulsory redundancies of Irish employees are planned at the British embassy in Dublin; and if he will make a statement. [187249]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Three compulsory redundancies were made recently at our embassy in Dublin, as a result of UK Trade and Investment's (UKTI) wider restructuring of their global network in line with their new strategic priorities.

Our embassy and Unite, acting on behalf of the embassy's local Staff Association, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement on the consequences for staff of the restructuring of the UKTI section.

Equatorial Guinea: Human Rights

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the record of Equatorial Guinea in (a) according fair trials to and (b) observing the human rights of individuals held captive in Black Beach prison. [188534]

Meg Munn [holding answer 22 February 2008]: The Government have serious concerns over Equatorial Guinea's human rights record.

We are aware of recent reports that express concern over the situation in Equatorial Guinea as regards individuals' right to a fair trial and the country's observation of human rights. Such reports include the Amnesty International Report 2007 and the report of the UN Working Group on Arbitrary Detention, available at:

http://thereport.amnesty.org/document/15

http://www.unhchr.ch/huricane/huricane.nsf/view01/E3F5F640A5C8217FC125731A002D604D?opendocument

While such reporting indicates that conditions in Black Beach prison are improving, following the introduction of a new block in 2005, the overall situation remains of concern.

Iraq: Asylum

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many Iraqi locally-employed staff were granted asylum in 2007; and how many he expects to be granted asylum in 2008. [185043]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 5 February 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

The information on how many Iraqi locally employed staff were granted asylum in 2007 is not collated centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

It would not possible to speculate how many Iraqi locally engaged staff may be granted asylum in 2008 as every asylum application is considered on its individual merits in accordance with the criteria defined in the 1951 UN Convention relating to the status of refugees.

Kosovo

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with his counterparts in (a) Spain, (b) Cyprus, (c) Greece, (d) Romania, (e) Bulgaria and (f) Slovakia on the declaration of independence of Kosovo. [187789]

Mr. Jim Murphy: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed Kosovo's declaration of independence with his colleagues from EU countries, including from Spain, Cyprus, Greece, Romania, Bulgaria and Slovakia at the 18 February General Affairs and External Relations Council.

The Council unanimously agreed conclusions setting out a clear EU response to developments in Kosovo. The EU has agreed a range of political and practical assistance to Kosovo (deploying a police and rule of law mission and special representative; assisting with economic and political development). The conclusions noted that member states could decide on their relations with Kosovo in accordance with national practice.

I also refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement made by my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary on Kosovo on 19 February 2008, Official Report, columns 20-22WS.

Simon Mann

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 180W, on Simon Mann, what the reasons are for his view that the (a) threat and (b) use of sanctions against Equatorial Guinea would be incompatible with securing the welfare of Simon Mann. [188532]

Meg Munn [holding answer 22 February 2008]: As stated in my written answer to the hon. Member on 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 180W, the Government's main concern is for Mr. Mann's immediate welfare.

Our objective in dealing with the Equatorial Guinean authorities is to maintain open lines of communication, with a view to regular access to Simon Mann and ensuring that he is treated in line with international standards.

We do not believe that sanctions would be conducive to facilitating dialogue with the Equatorial Guinean government.

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to the government of Equatorial Guinea declining to accept the legitimacy of any trial of Simon Mann by that government following his abduction to that country from Zimbabwe. [188531]

Meg Munn [holding answer 22 February 2008]: The issue of the legality of Mr. Mann's removal from Zimbabwe and its implications for any subsequent trial are a matter for Mr. Mann's legal representatives to take forward in Zimbabwe and Equatorial Guinea.

We have expressed our concern to the Zimbabwean authorities following Mr. Mann's transfer to Equatorial Guinea.

The Equatorial Guinean authorities have assured us that Mr. Mann will receive a fair trial, in accordance with international law, and that he will be free to appoint a lawyer.

We will make representations to the Equatorial Guinea authorities if Mr. Mann's trial does not follow internationally recognised standards for a fair trial.

Timor Leste: Politics and Government

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the political and security situation in East Timor; and if he will make a statement. [187938]

Meg Munn: We were extremely concerned to learn of the attacks on President Ramos-Horta and Prime Minister Gusmao on 11 February and hope that Dr. Ramos-Horta makes a speedy recovery. A Foreign and Commonwealth Office official visited Dili last week and met with a variety of key interlocutors. He assessed the security situation to be calm, although outbreaks of violence could happen without warning.

There can be no justification for these attacks. We hope that law enforcement authorities will be able to bring those responsible for the outrage to justice and that stability will be maintained in East Timor. My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister has written to Prime Minister Gusmao, condemning the attacks.

We fully support the vital work of the UN Mission to East Timor and the International Stabilisation Force in their efforts to help bring about peace and stability.

UN World Conference Against Racism

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his Libyan counterpart on Libya's intentions in chairing the preparatory committee for the 2009 UN World Conference Against Racism. [188754]

Mr. Jim Murphy: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has not discussed this with his Libyan counterpart. UK officials in Geneva are engaged in talks with other delegations on the preparatory process.

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what proposals he has made to put anti-semitism on the main agenda of the 2009 UN World Conference Against Racism. [188755]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The Government believe that it is vital to avoid a repeat of the disgraceful anti-Semitism that occurred at the 2001 World Conference Against Racism.

We want the Durban Review Conference to assess how states have implemented the 2001 Durban Declaration and Programme for Action. The agenda for the Conference is not yet clear. The UK was among a small number of countries that worked hard to ensure that the issue of anti-Semitism was included in the 2001 Declaration and Programme for Action. We will seek to ensure that anti-Semitism receives due attention at the Durban Review Conference.

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what Ministerial involvement is planned in the preparatory committee for the 2009 UN World Conference Against Racism. [188756]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The United Kingdom will be represented at the preparatory committee for the Durban Review Conference by our Mission to the Office of the United Nations in Geneva. There are no plans for Ministers to attend.

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with the Canadian government on its decision not to attend the 2009 UN World Conference Against Racism. [188757]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Officials from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office have been in discussions with their Canadian counterparts on the Durban Review Conference. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has not discussed this with the Canadian Government.

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with European Union Ministers on the preparations for the 2009 UN World Conference Against Racism. [188758]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The Durban Review Conference has not yet been discussed at the level of European Union Foreign Ministers. It has, however, been a regular item on the agenda of meetings at official level.

Vietnam: Religious Freedom

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with the Government of Vietnam on the treatment of the Underground Church in that country. [187430]

Meg Munn: Together with our EU partners, we regularly discuss human rights issues, including religious freedom, with the Vietnamese authorities. The biannual EU-Vietnam Human Rights Dialogue is the main forum for raising our concerns. Our ambassador in Hanoi attended the last dialogue, which was held in Hanoi on 19 December 2007. We also discuss the issues with the Government of Vietnam, both bilaterally and with our EU counterparts.

We are aware of reports of the continued harassment of some religious groups in some areas. We have urged the Vietnamese authorities to increase awareness and capacity among local authorities, to guarantee the right of all religious groups to practise their faith freely in the community through full implementation of the appropriate legislation, and to adhere to their international human rights obligations. Regulations, in force since 2004, establish criteria for the recognition of hitherto non-sanctioned religious groups.

I raised our concerns on human rights with the Vietnamese Foreign Minister at the Association of South East Asian Nations summit in Singapore on 23 November 2007 and with the Deputy Foreign Minister during his visit to London on 29 November 2007. Additionally, I raised the issue with the Vietnamese ambassador on 9 October 2007.

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with the Government of Vietnam on the imprisonment of church leaders in that country. [187431]

Meg Munn: We are concerned at the arrests and sentencing of a number of human rights defenders, including some campaigning for increased religious freedoms, in Vietnam and have made numerous representations to the Vietnamese authorities on the plight of these individuals.

We co-operate closely with our EU partners in Hanoi on human rights issues, including on the question of religious freedoms. The biannual EU-Vietnam Human Rights Dialogue, which was established in 2003, is the main forum for raising our concerns. Our ambassador in Hanoi attended the most recent dialogue, which took place on 19 December 2007 in Hanoi.

I raised our concerns on human rights with the Vietnamese Foreign Minister at the Association of South East Asian Nations summit in Singapore on 23 November 2007 and with the Deputy Foreign Minister during his visit to London on 29 November 2007. Additionally, I raised the issue with the Vietnamese ambassador on 9 October 2007.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Departmental Correspondence

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many people were employed in his Department's ministerial correspondence unit in each of the last five years; and how much it cost to run the unit, including utilities and other expenses, in each year. [187050]

Mr. Woodward: Although the Northern Ireland Office does not have a dedicated ministerial correspondence unit, there are staff within the Belfast and London private offices that act as correspondence clerks as part of their duties.

The measurement of the costs relating to the time spent completing correspondence duties could be achieved only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Stationery

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department spent on stationery in each of the last five years. [187057]

Mr. Woodward: The following table shows the amount the Northern Ireland Office, excluding its Agencies and non-departmental public bodies, has spent on stationery in each of the last five years.

| Financial year | Stationery costs (£) |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 315,435 |
| 2003-04 | 299,858 |
| 2004-05 | 297,183 |
| 2005-06 | 320,590 |
| 2006-07 | 314,784 |

Departmental Temporary Employment

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what average hourly rate his Department paid to employment agencies for agency staff in each year since 1999, broken down by employment agency. [187795]

Mr. Woodward: The average hourly rate paid to employment agencies for agency staff used by the Department is not readily available, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Historical Enquiries Team

Mrs. Iris Robinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many cases the Historical Enquiries Team are investigating; and how many staff there are currently associated with the team. [187833]

Paul Goggins: The Historical Enquiries Team is to examine all deaths attributed to "The Troubles" from January 1969 to the Good Friday Agreement in 1998; this equates to 3,268 deaths which occurred in 2,516 incidents (an incident is described as a case). To date 1,039 cases have been allocated to the HET business process.

HET currently have a total of 175 staff.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many members of the senior civil service in his Department have received an honour. [187121]

Mr. Woodward: Four members of staff in the Northern Ireland Office have received an honour.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Pay

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much was claimed in reimbursable expenses by senior Civil Service staff in his Department and its agencies in the last 12-month period for which figures are available. [187542]

Mr. Thomas: The total claimed in reimbursable expenses by senior civil servants in DFID in the last 12 months was £111,005.

This figure relates to claims made directly through our UK systems. It is not possible to include reimbursable costs claimed through our local accounting sections overseas without incurring disproportionate cost.

All reimbursable expenses are made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development which countries have been visited by officials from his Department in each year for which information is available. [187581]

Mr. Malik: A list of countries visited, for years which information is readily available, has been placed in the Library of the House. The data reflect all overseas visits for UK-based officials. It is not possible to provide information on visits carried out by staff based overseas other than visits back to the UK, without incurring a disproportionate cost.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many members of the Senior Civil Service in his Department have received an honour. [187123]

Gillian Merron: Of the 96 senior civil servants currently employed by the Department for International Development, four have received an honours award.

Overseas Aid

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the compatibility of programmes funded by the European Commission on the Millennium Development Goals with (a) the Global Business Plan on MDGs 4 and 5 and (b) the International Health Partnership. [188720]

Mr. Thomas: Both the Global Business Plan on MDGs 4 and 5 and the International Health Partnership aim to deliver more effective aid in support of national health plans and priorities. The European Commission is a signatory to the IHP and the UK continues to work closely with the Commission in ensuring the aid it provides is consistent with these principles. The EC does not have specific MDG 'programmes'. Our main interest with regard to their support for the MDGs is at the country level.

In 2007, the EC published the majority of its country strategy papers for the period to 2013. Many of these were completed before donors agreed the GBP and the IHP. DFID considered these CSPs against a range of criteria, including their adherence to the legal and policy base and alignment with the priorities of the partner country as set out in their national plans—this is in line with the principles of the IHP. Our assessment is that those which have so far been presented have generally met these criteria.

Senegal: Mauritania

Mr. Sarwar: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether the UK plans to contribute to the UN High Commissioner for Refugees' appeal for funds to help repatriate black Mauritanians who have been in exile in Senegal. [187405]

Gillian Merron: There are no plans to contribute to the appeal.

SCOTLAND

Children: Poverty

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what assessment he has made of the recommendations of the Third Report of the Scottish Affairs Committee Session 2007-08, on Child Poverty in Scotland, (HC 277); what discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on the Report; and what steps his Department plans to take to implement recommendations set out in the Report. [187314]

David Cairns: The Government are considering the recommendations contained within the Committee's report on Child Poverty in Scotland, and will respond in full in due course.

Ministers at the Department for Work and Pensions are aware of the report, and my officials are in regular contact with counterparts in DWP who are contributing to the content of the Government response.

We will work with other Government Departments to implement any necessary actions identified in our response.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was spent by his Department and its agencies on (a) alcohol and (b) entertaining in the last 12 months. [187956]

David Cairns: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 19 October 2007, Official Report, column 1363W. The Scotland Office maintains records for expenditure on hospitality in each financial year but does not distinguish that part spent on alcohol.

Departmental Translation Services

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much was spent on translation services by his Department in (a) 2003-04, (b) 2004-05, (c) 2005-06, (d) 2006-07 and (e) in 2007-08 to date. [188001]

David Cairns: The Scotland Office does not separately record any costs associated with translations.

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what documents his Department translates for people in the UK who do not speak English. [188002]

David Cairns: The Scotland Office does not offer translation services to the public.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many members of the senior Civil Service in his Department have received an honour. [187120]

ELECTORAL COMMISSION COMMITTEE

Departmental Accountancy

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission whether the Electoral Commission (a) conducted or (b) commissioned work into incomes and expenditures of below-threshold accounting units for the accounts for 2003. [186153]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it wrote in 2004 to all registered party accounting units to inquire as to whether their total income or gross expenditure was greater than £25,000 for the 2003 financial year; and to ask those whose income or expenditure was under this threshold to confirm this in writing. The purpose of the exercise was to confirm which accounting units should be submitting accounts to the Commission and which should not. No further work was carried out.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the Answer to the hon. ## Efficiency Savings

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what efficiency savings the Electoral Commission plans to make over the next three years. [186096]

Peter Viggers: The resource budget agreed by the Speaker's Committee for the Commission covering the four years 2007-08 to 20010-11 is a 'cash flat' amount of £23,995,000 (including the £2 million annual Policy Development Grant budget) in each of the four years. The Commission is required to absorb all pay and non-pay inflation over this period and to do so it will have to deliver efficiency savings of on average at least 2 per cent. or £480,000 in each year.

The Electoral Commission informs me that it has already secured recurrent savings of £625,000 in 2007-08 and as the first stage of its efficiency plan for 2008-09 has identified specific savings of £250,000.

Gershon Review

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what assessment the Electoral Commission has made of the effect of the Gershon review on its activities. [186097]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it takes into account the Gershon principles and findings when reviewing its expenditure and efficiency plans, which are discussed with the Speaker's Committee.

Labour Party: Elections

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission if he will place in the Library a copy of the guidance that was sent by the Electoral Commission to participants in the Labour Party deputy leadership campaign in relation to reporting donations given towards their campaign. [186162]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that its guidance to participants in the Labour party deputy leadership campaign was contained in the letters sent to candidates on 18 May 2007, copies of which are already in the Library.

Political Parties: Finance

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 15 January

2008, Official Report, column 1084W, on political parties: finance, whether the Electoral Commission plans to commission consultants to assist it in its research on the operation of the political levy and political funds. [186069]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has no plans to commission consultants to assist this research, which is limited to considering the existing legislative framework and background information on how the political levy and political funds currently operate.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 29 January 2008, Official Report, columns 181-2W, on political parties: finance, if he will place in the Library copies of the letters sent by the Electoral Commission to the (a) Labour leadership and deputy leadership candidates in May 2007 and (b) Liberal Democrat leadership candidates in October 2007. [186071]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has done so.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission how much expenditure the Electoral Commission incurred in severance and redundancy pay in each year since the Commission was established. [186072]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that the cost of severance and redundancy pay incurred in each calendar year since its establishment was as follows:

| | Expenditure (£) | Number of individuals |
|---|---|---|
| 2001 | 0 | 0 |
| 2002 | 68,524 | 1 |
| 2003 | 0 | 0 |
| 2004 | 0 | 0 |
| 2005 | 61,642 | 2 |
| 2006 | 59,826 | 1 |
| 2007 | 203,905 | 11 |
| 2008 | 19,065 | 1 |

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the Answer of 15 January 2008, Official Report, column 1085W, on political parties: finance, what the timetable is for the Electoral Commission's planned research into the political levy and political funds. [186100]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that the research into trade union funding is limited to considering the existing legislative framework and background information on how the political levy and political funds currently operate.

The research will be completed following a meeting between Commission staff and the Certification Officer, expected to take place next month.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 15 January 2008, Official Report, column 1085W, on political parties: finance, if the Electoral Commission will request Sir Hayden Phillips to submit his background work into trade union funds and political funds to assist the Commission's research into trade union political funds and political levies. [186183]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has made arrangements to meet officials who performed research on trade unions for the review of party funding recently completed by Sir Hayden Philips.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 15 January 2008, Official Report, column 1085W, on political parties: finance, if the Electoral Commission will seek to obtain copies of constituency development plans made between the Labour Party and trades unions to assist its research into trade union political funds and the political levy. [186184]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it does not plan to obtain copies of constituency development plans made between the Labour party and trade unions as this is beyond the scope of the research.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Horsham of 25 January 2008, Official Report, column 2280W, on political parties: finance, if he will name the accounting units of the Labour Party which had accounting units below £25,000 in (a) 2004 and (b) 2007. [186286]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that 578 out of 690 accounting units of the Labour Party responded in 2004 to confirm that their total income and gross expenditure for the 2003 financial year were below the reporting threshold of £25,000. A full list of those who responded has been placed in the library.

The Commission has reviewed the canvass of registered accounting units performed in 2007. The results of the capvass are incomplete and the Commission intends to update its records by working with the parties and undertaking a new canvass of accounting units in 2008.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Horsham of 25 January 2008, Official Report, column 2280W, on political parties: finance, if he will place in the Library copies of the accounts provided to the Commission by associations under the threshold. [186287]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that these documents are held in paper form and copies can be provided only at disproportionate cost. However, the accounts are available for inspection in the Electoral Commission's London office on request.

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 15 January 2008, Official Report, column 1084W, on political parties: finance, if the Electoral Commission will be inviting evidence from interested parties to assist the research into trade unions political funds and the political levy. [186288]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has no plans to invite contributions from interested external parties.

Trade Unions: Constituencies

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission whether the Electoral Commission holds copies of Labour party trade union constituency development plans. [186161]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it does not hold copies of Labour party trade union constituency development plans.

Trade Unions: Finance

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission if the Electoral Commission will undertake research into funding of trades unions through (a) the Trade Union Modernisation Fund and (b) other public funding. [186185]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that it has no plans to undertake such research.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many and what percentage of staff in his Department have received written warnings for breaching standards of behaviour or attendance in each month in the last five years. [181267]

Mrs. McGuire: The Department introduced a new personnel computer system incrementally from November 2006, being fully implemented by April 2007. The following information reflects the number of staff with a written warning for (a) breaching standards of behaviour; or (b) unsatisfactory attendance recorded on that system from April 2007 in each month to December 2007.

Information prior to April 2007 is held on a number of legacy systems. The cost of extracting this information in the format requested from these, and clerical records, for the period prior to April 2007 would be at a disproportionate cost.

The percentage of DWP staff receiving written warnings is calculated on the total number of staff employed by DWP in each month.

| As at 2007: | Unsatisfactory attendance written warning issued | Number of written warnings for unsatisfactory attendance as a percentage of all DWP staff | Standards of behaviour written warning issued | Number of written warnings for standards of behaviour as a percentage of all DWP staff |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| April | 137 | 0.11 | 46 | 0.04 |
| May | 165 | 0.13 | 34 | 0.03 |
| June | 167 | 0.14 | 41 | 0.03 |
| July | 175 | 0.14 | 47 | 0.04 |
| August | 172 | 0.14 | 29 | 0.02 |
| September | 165 | 0.14 | 32 | 0.03 |
| October | 167 | 0.14 | 41 | 0.03 |
| November | 185 | 0.16 | 42 | 0.04 |
| December | 114 | 0.10 | 33 | 0.03 |
| Total | 1,447 | | 345 | |

Pension Education Fund

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how his Department plans to measure the performance and efficacy of the pension education fund. [183535]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DWP has commissioned an independent case study evaluation to:

Explore the impact of the fund initiatives on individuals' knowledge and attitudes towards planning for retirement and on savings behaviour;

Provide evidence to help assess the potential role that a trusted third party can play in delivering pensions information; and Explore providers' experiences of setting up and running the initiatives.

Research has been conducted with 14 Pension Education Fund schemes selected to ensure coverage of a range of different types of initiatives. In-depth interviews were the main research tool in this study, through which the research organisation have collected detailed information on providers' experiences of setting up and running particular initiatives, on employers' experience of participating, and on the influence that funded activities have had on individuals' attitudes to retirement planning and saving for retirement.

In addition, all 26 schemes are being monitored through contract management processes and PEF funded organisations are conducting their own evaluations to understand their perspectives on delivery.

A DWP research report on the evaluation will be published in spring 2008.

Notes:

1. The PEF offered funding to local and national not-for-profit organisations (such as trade unions, charities, trade associations and the voluntary sector) to use innovative ways to increase financial awareness and encourage working people to provide for their retirement, especially among those that might be at more risk of undersaving.

2. The principle is to provide impartial and accurate information on pensions and retirement planning via trusted third parties to individuals (employees and self-employed people) in the workplace, where practicable.

3. The projects are running between January 2006 and March 2008.

4. Closing date for applications was 2 September 2005.

5. 55 applications were received and examined against financial and quality criteria and the process overseen by an Independent Decision Panel.

6. 26 were accepted, covering all Government Office regions and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland, and a range of organisational types including charities, trade unions, employer groups and the voluntary sector.

7. Information is being delivered by the projects using a variety of methods including group events, one to ones, websites, CDs, information booklets/packs and by training intermediaries and union members who return to the workplace and cascade information.

Social Security Benefits: Offenders

Nick Herbert: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what state benefits offenders in England and Wales are eligible for while serving (a) community service sentences and (b) custodial sentences. [178705]

Mr. Plaskitt [holding answer 29 January 2008]: Convicted offenders serving community service sentences are entitled to any benefits for which they qualify, in the same way as any other person.

In general, DWP benefits are not payable to convicted prisoners in custody. However, since 1995 and subject to certain qualifying conditions, those serving short sentences of 13 weeks or less may continue to receive housing benefit and council tax benefit. This ensures that people with very short sentences do not become homeless upon release.

Tax Allowances: Pensioners

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department has spent on administering the 25 pence old age allowance in each year since its introduction; and how many people over 80 received the allowance in the most recent year for which figures are available. [173446]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The age addition is an automatic payment made to eligible pensioners. The cost of administering the age addition is a relatively small element of the administration costs of The Pension Service and is not separately available.

The latest available information as at March 2007 is that there are around 2,693,300 pensioners in receipt of the 25p age addition.

Notes:

1. Data is taken from a 5 per cent. extract of the Pension Service Computer System, therefore figures are subject to a degree of sampling variation. They are also adjusted to be consistent with the overall caseload from the Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study.

2. Figures are rounded to the nearest hundred.

3. This figure includes everyone who is eligible to receive the age addition in GB and overseas, not everyone who is aged 80 or over.

John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what the cost of paying the over 80s age-related allowance is expected to be in 2007-08; [180976]

(2) how many people receive the over 80s age allowance. [180972]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 25 January 2008]: The age addition is an automatic payment made to eligible pensioners. The cost of administering the age addition is a relatively small element of the administration costs of the Pension Service and is not separately available.

The latest available information as at March 2007 shows that there are around 2,693,300 pensioners in receipt of the 25p age addition. The estimate of the 2007-08 expenditure is £33 million.

Notes:

1. Data relating to the number of pensioners are taken from a 5 per cent. extract of the Pension Service Computer System, therefore the figure is subject to a degree of sampling variation. It is also adjusted to be consistent with the overall caseload from the Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study.

2. The figure relating to the number of pensioners is rounded to the nearest hundred.

3. The figure relating to the number of pensioners includes everyone who is eligible to receive the age addition in GB and overseas, not everyone who is aged 80 or over.

4. The figure relating to the value of age addition payments covers payments made to those in Great Britain and overseas.

5. The figure relating to the value of age addition payments has been rounded to the nearest million.

Vocational Guidance: Carers

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps he has taken to ensure that (a) effective advice and support is available to those who wish to return to work after undertaking caring responsibilities and (b) that his Department's staff are trained to provide that advice and support. [188990]

Mr. Timms: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, Lesley Strathie. I have asked her to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Lesley Strathie, dated 25 February 2008:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question asking what advice and support is available to those who wish to return to work after undertaking caring responsibilities and also that Department for Work and Pensions staff are trained to provide that advice and support. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as chief executive of Jobcentre Plus.

Everyone returning to work, and who is claiming jobseeker's allowance, will discuss and agree the steps that will offer the best chance of finding work. This information is recorded in the jobseeker's agreement, which is reviewed at regular intervals. Customers are given information and advice about the range of Jobcentre Plus services, including our telephony based job-matching service (Jobseeker Direct) and our internet job bank, and how to make best use of these and other vacancy sources.

People are usually required to attend their nearest Jobcentre Plus office on a fortnightly basis to discuss what they have been doing to find work and to see what further support, if required, can be offered in terms of jobsearch or training/re-training.

To continue to receive jobseeker's allowance, people must usually be available for work for a minimum of 40 hours per week. However, restrictions on hours/days are allowed for customers who have caring responsibilities, which can be restricted to a minimum of 16 hours a week.

People who are particularly disadvantaged in the labour market can access additional help through early entry to the new deal, providing more intensive help through the support of a personal adviser and a range of opportunities to help overcome more significant barriers to employment. Similarly, early access is available to Programme Centre provision, which can provide additional help for those people who need to improve motivation and confidence, and their basic jobsearch skills.

With regard to staff training, Jobcentre Plus has a diverse customer base and a comprehensive programme of learning designed to equip advisers with the full range of knowledge and skills required to support all our customers. A new Adviser Skills Learning Routeway was introduced in September 2005, which is supported by an efficient learning routeway providing advisers with key knowledge and skills.

We work closely with external partners in the development of learning products and in the up-skilling of our advisers, ensuring that additional modules are designed and delivered when required to deal with specific customer needs. These partners are professionals and are recognised as experts in their field and are able to provide the specialised knowledge and understanding of specific customer groups.

I hope this information is helpful and assures you of our intent to provide people with the best possible service, aimed at helping them into work as soon as possible.

DEFENCE

Advertising

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 963-64W, on advertising, what his Department's marketing costs were in each year for which figures are available; and what percentage of his Department's overall expenditure those figures constituted. [187805]

Derek Twigg: While marketing activity occurs across the Department this is not as a discrete function, but rather as an integrated element of strategic communications, press, PR, internal communications or e-media.

As a result, information on departmental expenditure on marketing alone is not held centrally and could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces Compensation Scheme: World War II

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence with reference to the compensation scheme for former civilian internees of the Japanese in the Second World War, on what date the qualification requirement that recruitment of applications had to have taken place in the UK was introduced in relation to service abroad with the Government counting towards the 20-year residency qualification; and if he will make a statement. [186105]

Derek Twigg: The then Under-Secretary of State announced on 26 June 2006, Official Report, columns 9-10, that the detailed rules of the Far Eastern Prisoners of War Scheme 20-year residence criterion, which allow applicants to demonstrate the required close link to the UK on the basis of post-January 1945 residence in the UK, were being published and implemented that day. The rules, which were the subject of consultation with the Association of British Civilian Internees—Far East Region, allow periods employed outside the UK—whether with the British Government or otherwise—to count towards the 20 years providing there is reasonable evidence of an intention to return to this country; this will most likely be the case with postings from the UK. There is, however, no requirement that the individual should have been in the UK when recruited; if a person's employment was contracted on the basis that they would otherwise have been resident in the UK and that they would travel to the UK at its termination, that would qualify.

Armed Forces: Health Services

Alan Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how the new facilities of (a) a swimming pool and (b) a gymnasium at the Defence Medical Rehabilitation Centre, Headley Court will be funded. [184707]

Derek Twigg: There are currently a hydrotherapy pool and five separate gyms (four in current use) at the Defence Medical Rehabilitation Centre, Headley Court. One of the gyms needs to be refurbished. The unit also makes regular use of a local authority swimming pool at Leatherhead. These facilities are publicly funded.

A new charity, Help for Heroes, has offered to raise funds to build a swimming pool and gym, as part of a new rehabilitation complex at Headley Court. We warmly welcome this generous offer to enhance the unit's existing facilities. The rehabilitation of military patients on the site, which is itself owned by a charitable trust, has for many years benefited from charitable donations and it is entirely appropriate that such funding should be blended with public funding in this way. We shall work closely with the charity as its proposals are developed.

We would expect Headley Court to take charge of the management of the new rehabilitation complex, including the provision of military or civilian staff to man it.

We are also continuing to invest significantly from public funds in new buildings. We opened a new 30-bed ward annex last year (costing £1.7 million). Work is now starting on a 58-bed accommodation block for patients and staff (costing about £4 million). We are also considering a longer term development plan to improve accommodation and clinical facilities across the site, and thus maintain the first-class capability that Headley Court currently offers.

Armed Forces: Manpower

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of each of his Department's (a) trained officer target structures, (b) trained soldier target structures and (c) Army Output Map produced since 2005-06. [185721]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Targets for trained officers and soldiers, by capbadge, are given in the Army Monthly Manning Report, copies of which are available in the Library of the House. Two Army Output Maps have been produced since 2005-06. I will place copies in the Library of the House.

Armed Forces: Military Decorations

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will institute the practice of wearing a wound stripe or other honour award for soldiers wounded in action. [188631]

Derek Twigg: We currently have no plans to introduce the practice of wearing a wound stripe or other honour for soldiers wounded in action.

Today all servicemen and women in Iraq and Afghanistan receive a medal once they have met the qualifying criteria, which reflects the risk to life and limb of the servicemen and women and the rigour of the operations upon which they are deployed. The medals are issued automatically in the event of death or injury that leads to evacuation from theatre, regardless of how long individuals have served on the operation.

In addition, a number of those wounded on operations have also received gallantry awards.

Our primary aim must be to provide the injured with the medical care that they require and to support them where appropriate via the War Pensions Scheme and the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme.

This is a complex issue which is kept under constant review by the Military Chiefs of Staff and they are the best placed to make the appropriate recommendations.

Capita

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what meeting: (a) he, (b) Ministers in his Department and (c) officials have held with (i) directors and (ii) senior executives of (A) Capita Group plc and (B) its subsidiaries since 1 January 2001; what the (1) location and (2) duration of each meeting was; whether a record of each meeting was kept; and if he will make a statement. [180702]

Des Browne: Ministers and civil servants meet many people as part of the process of policy development and advice. It is not the usual practice of Government to disclose details of such meetings.

Departmental Contracts

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) objective and (b) value was of each contract placed with (i) Deloitte and Touche, (ii) Ernst and Young, (iii) KPMG, (iv) PricewaterhouseCoopers and (v) PA Consulting by his Department and its agencies in each year since 2004-05. [179021]

Derek Twigg: The information available from centrally held records is shown in the following table. Some information could be held under other names or outside central records. In addition, the information on objectives missing for a few of the older contracts quoted has been archived and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

| Contractor name | Objective | Maximum current contract value (£000) |

Departmental Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether personal data for which his Department is responsible is (a) stored and (b) processed overseas; and if he will make a statement. [176022]

Derek Twigg: Personal data, mainly on MOD employees and their dependents, for which the Department is responsible are stored and processed in permanent and deployed units overseas, but within UK jurisdiction. Similar data are also held on overseas based and locally employed staff by Defence Attachés in British embassies. The volume of personal data held outside the Defence overseas footprint is not currently held centrally. As part of the departmental response to the Cabinet Office-led Review into data handling procedures in Government, an internal review is currently establishing a more comprehensive assessment of personal data held and accessed overseas.

Departmental Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much was spent by his Department and its agencies on (a) alcohol and (b) entertaining in the last 12-month period for which information is available. [187783]

Derek Twigg: Information on alcohol expenditure is not recorded centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. I also refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 24 April 2007, Official Report, column 1014W, to the hon. Member for Upper Bann (David Simpson).

As regards expenditure on hospitality and entertainment, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 22 October 2007, Official Report, column 11W, to the hon. Member for Upper Bann (David Simpson).

Expenditure on official entertainment is subject to departmental regulation and compliance with the principles of propriety set out in Managing Public Money and in the Treasury's handbook on Regularity, Propriety and Value for Money.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of his Department's Main Building staff were uniformed staff in each of the last 10 years. [186781]

Derek Twigg: Individual defence installations do not routinely publish personnel data, as different organisations and agencies are responsible for the same location or site. Figures for the stationed location of UK Regular Forces and civilian staff are only available at local authority level using centrally held data.

The number and percentage of military personnel stationed in MOD Main Building prior to 1 April 2007 are not centrally held and could not be collated without incurring disproportionate cost.

I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 30 April 2007, Official Report, column 1462W, to the hon. Member for Forest of Dean (Mr. Harper).

Departmental Official Hospitality

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to his answer of 30 January 2008, Official Report, column 368W, on departmental official hospitality, if he will arrange for copies of the Hospitality Books kept by Ministers, members of the senior civil service and commanding officers to be placed (a) in the Library and (b) on a publicly accessible page on his Department's website. [187025]

Derek Twigg [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The Government are committed to publishing an annual list of hospitality received by departmental board members. Information for 2007 will be published in due course. Hospitality received by Ministers over the registrable limits are declared as appropriate in the Registers of Members' or Peers' Interests. All Hospitality Books are subject to external compliance testing by the National Audit Office.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Ministerial residences were available to his Department's Ministers in each of the last 10 years. [183183]

Derek Twigg: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for West Bromwich, East (Mr. Watson) on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W.

Departmental Property

Mr. Devine: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many of his Department's properties in Scotland have been declared unfit for habitation. [182536]

Derek Twigg: The information requested is not held centrally and it will take time to determine what information could be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

I will write to my hon. Friend at the earliest opportunity.

Substantive answer from Derek Twigg to Jim Devine:

I undertook to write to you in answer to your Parliamentary Question on 30 January 2008, (Official Report, column 368W), about the number of Ministry of Defence (MOD) properties in Scotland that have been declared unfit for habitation.

I should explain that properties can be uninhabited for various reasons, such as they are awaiting demolition or undergoing major repair, modernisation or upgrade work. All occupied properties are regarded as being of a habitable standard. A record of all MOD property in Scotland that is uninhabitable is not held centrally and could only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what property has been lost or stolen from his Department since 1997; and what the cost of replacement was. [187406]

Derek Twigg: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. A summary of Losses and Special Payments has been published in the Notes to the MOD's Annual Report and Accounts since 2001-02 and, before then, in the MOD's Appropriation Accounts, copies of which are available in the Library of the House.

Departmental Reports

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library the most recent briefing team reports from (a) the Chief of the General Staff, (b) the Chief of the Air Staff and (c) the First Sea Lord. [186052]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Army is the only one of the three services that currently operates a briefing team—the Chief of the General Staff's Briefing Team—and a copy of its most recent report, that for spring 2007, is available in the Library of the House. I refer the hon. Member to the answer my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Defence gave on 27 November 2007, Official Report, column 308W, to the hon. Member for Banbury (Tony Baldry).

Departmental Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the cost of parking tickets paid by his Department and its agencies was in 2007. [187582]

Derek Twigg: Drivers are liable for payment of any fines while driving service vehicles and there is therefore normally no cost to the Department. There may, exceptionally, be cases when recovery of fines proved to be impossible, but these records are not held centrally.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much and what percentage of his Department's expenditure was spent on officials' travel costs in each year for which figures are available. [187583]

Derek Twigg: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. All travel is conducted in accordance with the guidelines set out in the civil service management code.

Guided Weapons

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the United Kingdom has participated in the theatre missile defence system integration test bed tests at NATO's test facility near The Hague in 2008. [188165]

Des Browne: The UK participates in the integrated test bed programme through our interest in NATO's Active Layered Theatre Ballistic Missile Defence programme. The UK Government has no direct military involvement in the ITB.

Gurkhas

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many members of the Royal Ghurkha Rifles (a) applied for indefinite leave to remain in the United Kingdom and (b) left the Army in 2007. [187429]

Derek Twigg: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 100W, to the hon. Member for North Wiltshire (Mr. Gray). Serving Ghurkhas can not apply for indefinite leave to remain in the UK.

During the period 1 April 2007 to 20 February 2008 a total of 18 officers and other ranks from the Royal Ghurkha Rifles left the Army.

Iraq: Armoured Fighting Vehicles

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether there are any plans to gift (a) Mastiffs, (b) Warriors, (c) Scimitars, (d) Boxers and (e) other armoured vehicles to Iraqi forces. [183078]

Des Browne: We have no further plans for the gifting of armoured vehicles to the Iraqi Security Forces.

I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 21 January 2008, Official Report, columns 1601-603W, that refers to the 79 refurbished armoured Land Rovers which have already been gifted.

Iraq: Military Equipment

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1602W, on military equipment: Iraq, where the Government sourced the 6,500 AK47 assault rifles; and how much was paid for them. [187081]

Des Browne: The assault rifles were purchased from a commercial contractor in Poland as part of the UK's efforts to prepare the Iraqi Security Forces to be self-sufficient in undertaking their own security. The total cost was €760,000.00.

Iraq: Weapons

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what measures are in place to track and monitor the final destination of gifted arms and equipment in Iraq. [183083]

Des Browne: It is not practicable for the UK to track and monitor each item of equipment once it has been gifted to the Iraqi Security Forces. This is rightly the responsibility of the Chain of Command of the Iraqi Security Forces. In our mentoring and training engagement with the Iraqis, we continue to advise on the development of appropriate accounting and auditing procedures.

Wind Power

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what onshore wind farm applications his Department did not initially object to but later objected to in the last three years; and what the reasons were for doing so. [184434]

Derek Twigg: There are a number of reasons why a late objection may have to be made; these include new information being made available, a change in Ministry of Defence requirements, or an improved understanding of the effects of wind turbines.

In many cases a wind farm proposal changes significantly between the pre-planning consultation sent to the MOD and the final planning application. It is essential, therefore, that we assess the development in its final state using all available evidence. In some cases it will mean raising an objection when earlier we hadn't; in others we may be able to lift an objection we had previously registered.

Over the past three years the MOD did not initially object to onshore wind farm applications, but did so later in the following cases:

| Site name | Reason for MOD objection |
|---|---|
| Wryde Croft | Unacceptable implications for Air Traffic Control (ATC) radars at RAF Coningsby, RAF Cottesmore, RAF Cranwell, RAF Waddington and also with the Precision Approach Radar (PAR) at RAF Wittering. |
| Wandylaw | Unacceptable implications with Air Defence (AD) radar for the Remote Radar Head (RRH) Brizlee Wood in Northumberland. |
| Green Rig | Unacceptable interference with the ATC radars at RAF Spadeadam. |
| French Farm | As for Wryde Croft. |
| Nutsgrove | As for Wryde Croft. |
| Routh | Unacceptable interference on AD radar at RRH Staxton Wold in Yorkshire. |
| Ray | Unacceptable effect on the ATC radars at RAF Spadeadam. |
| Fallago Rig | Unacceptable effect on the AD radar at the RRH at Brizlee Wood in Northumberland. |

World War II: Medals

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will issue a medal for those who served in Bomber Command during the Second World War. [188629]

Derek Twigg: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave the hon. Member for Hartlepool (Mr. Wright) on 4 July 2007, Official Report, columns 1041-42W.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Christmas

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much his Department's agencies spent on (a) Christmas cards and (b) postage of Christmas cards in each year since 1997. [182446]

Mr. Thomas: The information requested is as follows:

UK Trade and Investment

(a) The following has been spent on Christmas cards:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 18,303.00[1] |
| 2006 | 11,031.00[1] |
| 2007 | 9,112.50[2] |

[1] Paper card
[2] e-card

Figures from 1997 to 2004 are not available.

(b) There is no separate record of postage costs for sending paper cards in 2005 or 2006.

Companies House

(a) The following has been spent on Christmas cards:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 602 |
| 2003 | 618 |
| 2004 | 880 |
| 2005 | 590 |
| 2006 | 580 |
| 2007 | 494 |

Figures from 1997 to 2001 are not available.

(b) The amount spent on postage of Christmas cards is not kept as a separate record.

The Insolvency Service has not sent any Christmas cards.

Departmental Advertising

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what percentage of his Department's expenditure was on advertising in each year since establishment. [182987]

Mr. Thomas: My Department's committed spending on campaign advertising in the current financial year, procured through the Central Office of Information, is £881,482.27, as at 8 February 2008.

My Department's total spending on recruitment advertising, to date, since 1 April 2007, procured through the Central Office of Information is £9,681.53, as at 8 February 2008.

Detail of other advertising expenditure is not held centrally. It is thus not possible to express this figure as a percentage of overall expenditure.

Departmental Assets

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the book value of departmental assets sold was in each financial year since 1997-98; and what revenue was generated from each such sale. [184880]

Mr. Thomas: Details of fixed assets sold by the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform for the period 1997-98 to 2006-07 are as follows:

| Financial year | Book value of assets sold transferred (£) | Proceeds including transfers to OGDs (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | n/a | n/a |
| 1998-99 | n/a | n/a |
| 1999-2000 | n/a | n/a |
| 2000-01 | n/a | n/a |
| 2001-02 | n/a | n/a |
| 2002-03 | n/a | n/a |
| 2003-04 | n/a | n/a |
| 2004-05 | 9,474 | [1]9,474 |
| 2005-06 | 2,140,630 | [1]2,140,630 |
| 2006-07 | 10,192 | [1]10,192 |
| Total | 2,160,296 | 2,160,296 |

n/a = Not available.

[1] Assets transferred to OGDs are transferred at net book value, with no loss to the transferor department and no gain to the transferee department.

Note:

The information for financial years 1997-98 to 2003-04 is not readily available as it has been transferred to a historical archive system. To obtain the information would incur disproportionate costs.

Departmental Databases

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what databases are (a) owned and (b) maintained by (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies. [185426]

Mr. Thomas: The Department owns 165 databases as at 1 June 2007, of which 75 are maintained by departmental staff and 90 are maintained by external companies.

DBERR agencies—Companies House and the Insolvency Service—have been asked to respond directly to the hon. Member.

Departmental Telephone Services

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what agencies under his Department's responsibilities use (a) 0845 and (b) 0870 telephone codes for customer inquiries; how many 0845 or 0870 telephone codes each agency uses; and how much revenue was generated by each of these codes for each agency in each of the last five years. [183963]

Mr. Thomas: Each agency for which the Department is responsible has been asked to provide separate written response to the hon. Member.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what average hourly rate his Department and its predecessors have paid to employment agencies for agency staff in each year since 1999, broken down by employment agency. [187917]

Mr. Thomas: Departmental policy is that agency staff are engaged where it is not possible to source the skills for the task from within the Department but the expectation is that the appointment would be time-limited.

Further information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Heating: Sustainable Development

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what representations officials in his Department have made to the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs in advance of the forthcoming meeting of the Consulting Forum under the Eco-design of Energy-using Products Directive on requirements for boilers and water heaters. [189045]

Malcolm Wicks: Officials in my Department have been in close contact with their colleagues in DEFRA and are working together as proposals are developed by the European Commission, taking advice from industry and other stakeholders.

DBERR and DEFRA ran a joint stakeholder workshop specifically on the proposed requirements for boilers and heaters on 4 February to help inform UK Government policy at the forthcoming Consultation Forum.

Intimidation

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many cases of bullying have been reported in (a) his Department and (b) its agencies in each of the last 12 months. [182842]

Mr. Thomas: During the calendar year 2007, the latest period for which information is available, five formal grievances in which bullying was specifically alleged were raised within the Department.

Information on agencies will be provided by separate letter from the relevant chief executives.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Mark Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform when his Department will reply to the letters from the hon. Member for Cities of London and Westminster of 30 August, 10 October, 26 November 2007 and 2 January 2008 on the concerns about Companies House and identity theft of his constituent Nigel Walmsley. [181462]

Mr. Thomas: I apologise for the delay in responding to the hon. Member's letter. This was due to an administrative error. A response will be issued shortly.

Music: Health Hazards

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, if he will bring forward proposals for a statutory maximum limitation on the permitted volume of personal MP3 players. [178774]

Mr. Thomas: The European Commission has asked the Scientific Committee on Emerging and Newly Identified Health Risks for an opinion on the potential health risks of exposure to noise from personal music players and mobile phones which include a music playing function. The Committee has been asked to report back to the Commission by March 2008.

We will consider whether there is any need for domestic measures following an analysis of the Scientific Committee's report and in the light of decisions taken by the Commission in respect of Community action.

Non-Departmental Public Bodies: Finance

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the operating costs of (a) the National Consumer Council, (b) Energywatch, (c) Postwatch and (d) Consumer Direct were in (i) 2005-06 and (ii) 2006-07. [185758]

Mr. Thomas: The information is as follows:

Operating costs

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| (a) National Consumer Council | |
| 2005-06 | 3.9 |
| 2006-07 | 3.5 |
| (b) Energywatch | |
| 2005-06 | 12.289 |
| 2006-07 | 11.792 |
| (c) Postwatch | |
| 2005-06 | 10.228 |
| 2006-07 | 8.893 |
| (d) Consumer Direct | |
| 2005-06 | 18.354 |
| 2006-07 | 17.329 |

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the forecast outturn operating cost of (a) the National Consumer Council, (b) Energywatch, (c) Postwatch and (d) Consumer Direct is for 2007-08. [185759]

Mr. Thomas: The information is as follows:

Forecast outturn operating costs for 2007-08 for:

(a) National Consumer Council:

£3.5 million.

(b) Energywatch:

The expected forecast for Energywatch's operational costs for 2007-08 is £10.783 million.

(c) Postwatch:

£9 million.

(d) Consumer Direct:

The OFT are in the process of reforecasting the outturn costs of Consumer Direct at the moment and they estimate the operational costs for 2007-08 will be £18.875 million.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the budgeted operating cost is for (a) the National Consumer Council and (b) Consumer Direct in 2009-10. [185761]

Mr. Thomas: The information is as follows:

Budgeted operating cost:

(a) National Consumer Council in 2009-10

The National Consumer Council (NCC) will cease to exist with effect from 30 September 2008, when a new consumer body (new NCC) will be established out of consolidating the existing NCC, Postwatch and energywatch. Work on establishing the new body is now underway, including work on compiling detailed indicative costs for 2009-10, which will be considered as part of the 2008 departmental business planning exercise.

(b) Consumer Direct in 2009-10

The budget has not been set. The OFT works on a year by year basis and the figure will not be determined until the next financial year.

Nuclear Power

Alan Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what proportion of generating capacity was out of service in UK nuclear power stations in each of the last 10 years. [188602]

Malcolm Wicks: Planned or unplanned closures of this nature are commercial and/or technical decisions for the companies that own and operate the power stations to take in conjunction with the relevant health and safety authorities. My Department therefore does not keep records of the operating decisions of individual power stations.

However, information on plant load factors is available. The load factor is actual generation for a given year taken as a percentage of theoretical maximum potential generation. It is impossible for any power station to generate at full capacity throughout the year. There will be periods when it will not generate owing to lack of demand, routine maintenance and unplanned repairs. The load factors for UK nuclear power stations for the most recent 10 years for which data are available are as follows:

| | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 79.1 |
| 1998 | 80.1 |
| 1999 | 77.5 |
| 2000 | 70.5 |
| 2001 | 76.1 |
| 2002 | 75.1 |
| 2003 | 77.8 |
| 2004 | 71.8 |
| 2005 | 72.4 |
| 2006 | 69.3 |

Personal Information

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform which (a) companies based in the United States and (b) UK subsidiaries of US companies were contracted to his Department and its agencies to provide services involving the use, storage, processing and analysis of databases of personal information held by the Government on UK citizens in each of the last five years. [183858]

Mr. Thomas: On (a) my Department is not aware of any contracts held by it with companies based in the United States to provide services involving the use, storage, processing and analysis of databases of personal information held by the Government on UK citizens. On (b) this information is not collected or held centrally by my Department.

I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister on 21 November, Official Report, column 1179. The review by the Cabinet Secretary and security experts is looking at procedures within Departments and agencies for the storage and use of data. A statement on Departments' procedures will be made on completion of the review. The review is now due to conclude in the spring.

Reconstruction: Iraq

Margaret Hodge [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The DCMS Five Year Plan 'Living Life to the Full', published in March 2005, included a proposal to develop the Creative Sparks initiative by 2010.

From 2005 we trialled the idea of a cultural offer for children and young people in three areas of the country—Telford, Durham and Bournemouth and Poole—through the Cultural Hubs programme. We have also continued to develop our cultural programmes aimed at children and young people, including Creative Partnerships, the education element of Renaissance in the Regions and the Strategic Commissioning Programme for Museums and Galleries.

We will now take these programmes forward under the new title of 'Find your Talent'. As announced on 13 February 2008 a series of ten regional pilots will be selected by the summer.

It is not possible to give figures for the number of pupils who have taken part in the activities listed in the question, but the 'Taking Part' survey shows that young people took part in the following levels of activity:

(a) Played a musical instrument to an audience: 21 per cent.

(b) Rehearsed or performed in a play: 38 per cent.

(c) Visited a museum or gallery: 55 per cent.

(d) Visited a library: 72 per cent.

(e) Visited a historic environment site: 72 per cent.

The data relate to activities done in and out of school by 11 to 15 year olds living in private households in England. The interviews were conducted between January and December 2006.

The 10 pilots under the 'Find your Talent' scheme will be asked to audit the level of provision and the take-up of cultural activities by children and young people.

Creative Sparks Initiative: Expenditure

The sum of £25 million has been set aside over the next three years by the DCMS, the Department for Children, Schools and Families, Arts Council England and the Museums, Libraries and Archives Council to establish 10 local area pilots where a full range of partners will trial different ways of delivering a comprehensive cultural offer. In the interim period, the DCMS and DCSF have continued to invest significant amounts in cultural programmes aimed at children and young people. Andy Burnham: The DCMS 'Taking Part' survey is being used to measure progress against this public service agreement.

The most recent results were published in December 2007 in the following table. They provide a comparison between the baseline figures and the second-year results of the survey. The statistics show no significant change from year one to year two.

We are working closely with the cultural sector's strategic delivery bodies—Arts Council England, English Heritage and the Museums, Libraries and Archives Council—to ensure that we maximise our impact on increasing participation rates.

These bodies deliver through a range of programmes and initiatives with cultural organisations at regional and local level. This includes investment in programmes such as Renaissance in the Regions, which has seen visits to local museums and galleries by people from the PSA3 priority groups up by over 30 per cent. since 2002-03; free admission to formerly charging sponsored museums in England, where attendance has gone up by 98 per cent. since 2001; record investment in Arts Council England's regularly funded organisations of £326 million this year; and Heritage Open Days, which receives its core funding from English Heritage, where 850,000 people visited some of 3,500 buildings last year, making it England's largest voluntary cultural event.

The museums and galleries indicator is defined as at least one attendance at a museum or gallery during the past 12 months.

| | Year 1 | Year 2 |
| Black and minority ethnic | 35.5 | 33.6 |

Tourism: Standards

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport (1) what target his Department has set for tourism growth in the period 2008-11; [187171]

(2) when he plans to announce a new tourism growth target for 2008-11; [187172]

(3) what progress his Department has made towards the target of increasing turnover in the tourism industry to £100 billion by 2010, as described by his predecessor, the right hon. Member for Stalybridge and Hyde, in departmental media release 140/05, dated 20 October 2005; and if he will make a statement. [187562]

Margaret Hodge [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The present DCMS strategic target for tourism growth is total UK turnover of £100 billion by 2010. This was agreed with the industry, the Regional Development Agencies and the Local Government Association in 2004, and announced in the policy document "Tomorrow's Tourism Today". The industry's turnover was £85.6 billion in 2006, compared to £74.2 billion in 2003.

Since 2004 the outlook for the UK tourism industry has changed considerably, particularly because of the opportunities of the 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. Accordingly, DCMS announced in October 2007 in "Winning: A tourism strategy for 2012 and beyond", that it would work with the industry and its public sector partners towards agreeing a revised strategic target for tourism.

From 1 January 2007 to 31 December 2007, 5,727 vacancies were advertised, of which (a) 2,916 were advertised on the public part of the site and (b) 2,811 on the civil service and accredited non-departmental public bodies staff-only section of the civil service recruitment gateway website.

The Cabinet Office does not keep separate records of numbers of other communication staff, who do not all work in the central communications unit.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many civil servants employed by his Department have no job description. [185181]

Accident and Emergency Departments: Cornwall

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of accident and emergency patients in Cornwall had a trolley wait of over four hours in the latest period for which figures are available. [186503]

Mr. Bradshaw: Information on the percentage of patients not placed in a bed, in a ward, within four hours of a decision to admit (commonly referred to as a 'trolley wait') is reported by National Health Service Hospital Trusts.

This is published quarterly as part of the Department's "Quarterly Monthly Accident and Emergency (A and E) Services Central Return" (QMAE) dataset. Information is collected at trust level, and Royal Cornwall Hospitals NHS Trust reports that 0.2 per cent. of patients were in this position for the period July to September 2007. This is the latest period for which figures are available.

This information is for admissions via type 1 (major) A and E departments only.

Ambulance Services: Lancashire

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many ambulances are operating in (a) Lancashire and (b) Chorley; [186438]

(2) how many paramedics are based in Chorley. [186439]

Mr. Bradshaw: Information relating to the number of ambulances operating in Lancashire, including those in Chorley, as well as the number of paramedics who might be based in Chorley, is not held centrally. These data can instead be obtained direct from the North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust.

The headcount for paramedics in the North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust in 2006 was 1,175. The figures for 2007 will be available in March.

Aphasia

Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people have been diagnosed with (a) aphasia, (b) dyspraxia and (c) dysproxia, broken down by (i) strategic health authority area, (ii) primary care trust and (iii) constituency in each of the last three years. [188773]

Ann Keen: Information on the number of people diagnosed with specific medical conditions, including aphasia and dyspraxia/dysproxia, is not collected.

Autism

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent representations he has received on establishment of a national strategy on autism and Asperger's syndrome; and if he will make a statement. [186735]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: We have not received any representations on the establishment of a national strategy on autism and Asperger's syndrome.

However, I recently attended the launch of the National Autistic Society's I Exist campaign which calls on the Government to demonstrate national leadership by encouraging implementation of good practice at a regional and local level.

It is for local authorities to manage their priorities and decide how resources should be distributed, taking into consideration locally identified needs and assessments of individuals.

"Better Services for people with an autistic spectrum disorder: A note clarifying current Government policy and describing good practice" was published on 16 November 2006. It clarifies the nature and intent of existing Government policy as it relates to adults with an autistic spectrum disorder (ASD). A copy of this document is available in the Library.

Aviation

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spent on (a) business and (b) first-class air travel in the last 12 months. [171247]

Mr. Bradshaw: For the Financial year 2006-07, the Department spent £672,048 on business-class air travel and £6,350 on first-class air travel.

Baby Care Units

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was paid out in financial support schemes or discount schemes by hospitals for family costs incurred while babies needed care in a neonatal unit last year; and how many families used this service. [186741]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not held centrally.

Basildon Hospital: Clostridium

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 4 February 2008, Official Report, columns 870-72W, on Basildon Hospital: clostridium, when information for January to December 2007 will be made available. [188895]

Ann Keen: The Health Protection Agency publishes these data on their website and final figures for the year January to December 2007 for all NHS acute trusts in England, including Basildon and Thurrock University Hospitals Foundation Trust, will be available in July 2008. Once this information is available, a copy will also be placed in the Library.

Bowel Cancer: Screening

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he is taking to ensure that the Eastern regional bowel cancer screening hub (a) catches up and (b) keeps pace with other regional hubs in terms of (i) invitations sent, (ii) kits sent and (iii) kits returned. [188778]

Ann Keen: The pace of rollout in each screening hub is governed by a strategy agreed with the local strategic health authorities which reflect local circumstances. The roll-out of bowel cancer screening is administered from the Eastern Regional Bowel Cancer Screening Hub.

Cancer

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, by what means he plans to measure the extent to which (a) primary care trusts and (b) cancer networks give high priority to raising public awareness of cancer risk factors; and what sanctions there will be for (i) primary care trusts and (ii) cancer networks which do not do this. [183974]

Ann Keen: Primary care trusts (PCTs) are funded to meet the healthcare needs of their populations, which will include the provision of cancer services. PCTs are expected to plan for and commission services, and to monitor delivery of those services against local agreements. PCT and cancer networks are jointly responsible for making local decisions about the services needed, and are expected to use local information to assess the need for local awareness initiatives. PCTs are responsible for driving and managing change locally.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, what the timetable is for ensuring that GPs and primary care professionals have fast access to relevant diagnostic tests for cancer; and how he plans to measure progress towards this objective. [183997]

Ann Keen: It is the responsibility of primary care trusts to ensure that general practitioner and primary care professionals have appropriate and timely direct access to diagnostic tests, and to determine whether these diagnostic facilities should be provided in acute general hospitals or in community settings, on the basis of local circumstances and the needs of their local populations.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 14 January 2008, Official Report, column 992W, on cancer, whether the information on projected cancer in-patient costs placed in the Library expresses costs in real or cash terms. [184229]

Ann Keen: All the cost estimates are in real terms with a base year of 2005-06.

Cancer: Drugs

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the National Cancer Director's forthcoming review of cancer drugs will evaluate geographical variations in the use of cancer drugs (a) approved by and (b) awaiting appraisal by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence. [186269]

Ann Keen: The National Cancer Director's forthcoming review of cancer drugs will evaluate the usage of National Institute of Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE)-approved cancer drugs. It will not evaluate the usage of cancer drugs awaiting appraisal by NICE.

It is expected that the evaluation report will be published before the end of the year.

Cardiovascular System: Diseases

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government have taken to reduce the incidence of death from cardiovascular disease among people under 75 since 1997. [188903]

Ann Keen: The national service framework (NSF) for coronary heart disease (CHD) published in March 2000 sets a 10-year framework for action to prevent disease, tackle inequalities, save more lives, and improve the quality of life for people with heart disease.

The implementation of the NSF has led to a reduction in premature mortality, improved diagnostic and treatment facilities, faster care and better prevention of heart disease.

The target set out in 'Saving Lives: Our Healthier Nation' to reduce deaths from cardiovascular disease (CHD and stroke and related diseases) by 40 per cent. in people under 75 by 2010 has been met five years early. The mortality rate fell by 40.3 per cent. between 2004 and 2006 over the 1995-97 baseline. This means that we are now saving nearly 31,000 lives per year from cardiovascular disease.

This progress is set out in detail in the recent report 'Building for the future', a copy of which has been placed in the Library and which is also available at www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publicationsandstatistics/Publications/PublicationsPolicyAndGuidance/DH_083060.

Cervical Cancer: Screening

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, what (a) target and (b) timetable he has for reducing the variation of cervical cancer screening coverage between primary care trusts; when he plans to measure the performance of this policy; and by what means. [183975]

Ann Keen: It is for primary care trusts (PCTs) working in partnership with their strategic health authorities, local screening services and local stakeholders to provide appropriate cervical screening services for their local populations, which includes increasing coverage. Participation can be improved by engaging with potential users at a community level.

To incentivise services to encourage higher coverage, we will explore moving to an activity-based system for funding screening services. We are at the early stages of this exploration, and are focusing on how cancer screening can fit within the existing "payment by results" system. National health service cancer screening programmes will also encourage the sharing of best practice in improving accessibility for all groups. There is a need to ensure that health inequalities are tackled with targeted programmes that increase the uptake of screening in poor communities and in black and ethnic-minority communities. Commissioners in PCTs with low coverage will wish to develop these programmes.

We will continue to monitor levels of cervical screening coverage through the Office for National Statistics/Information Centre for health and social care annual Cervical Screening Statistical bulletin.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, on what date he expects all women to be informed of the result of their cervical screening test within two weeks of its being taken. [183976]

Ann Keen: Paragraph 3.14 of the Cancer Reform Strategy states that all women should receive the results of their cervical screening tests within two weeks by 2010.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy what (a) target and (b) timetable he has set for tackling the falling participation of women aged 25 to 35 in cervical cancer screening. [183977]

Ann Keen: It is for primary care trusts (PCTs) working in partnership with their strategic health authorities (SHAs), local screening services and local stakeholders to provide appropriate cervical screening services for their local populations, which includes tackling the falling participation in women aged 25 to 35.

In order to tackle the fall in coverage among younger women, national health service cancer screening programmes have commissioned the Improvement Foundation to undertake work at a local level targeting this age group. The lessons learned from this work, due to be completed in 2009, will be shared with SHAs and local screening programmes to develop best practice. The NHS cancer screening programmes' press office is developing an information pack to be issued to all local screening programmes and is also developing a public relations strategy, including articles in appropriate media publications and posters. In addition, Cancer Research UK has commissioned research on this issue, which we will monitor closely. We will share the findings.

Continued local action in this area is also essential, and we will continue to monitor levels of cervical screening coverage through the Office for National Statistics/Information Centre for health and social annual Cervical Screening Statistical bulletin.

Chronic Fatigue Syndrome

Ian Stewart: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what evidential basis changes were made in 2005-06 to the NHS Direct Health Encyclopaedia in relation to possible causes of chronic fatigue syndrome, to remove references to altered immune response due possibly to infections such as glandular fever or hepatitis neurotoxins and to immunisation; and what medical references were taken into consideration. [186130]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not held centrally, but may be available from the Chairman of NHS Direct Trust.

Clostridium

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients were infected with (a) clostridium difficile and (b) MRSA as recorded by the mandatory surveillance system, broken down by NHS trust in 2006-07; and what those figures are per 1,000 admissions of patients aged over 65 years. [185564]

Ann Keen: The mandatory surveillance system operated for the Department by the Health Protection Agency (HPA) provides data on the number of reports of methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) bloodstream infections and Clostridium difficile (C. difficile) infection. All acute national health service trusts in England are obliged to report all cases of MRSA bloodstream infections and C. difficile infection processed by their laboratories and the data are published at trust level.

Mandatory surveillance of MRSA bloodstream infections was introduced in April 2001 and in 2004 for C. difficile for patients aged 65 and over, and has been extended to all patients aged two and over from April 2007.

The HPA publishes these data on its website, so this information and any further information on the number of MRSA infections for NHS acute trusts is available at www.hpa.org.uk/infections/topics_az/hai/Mandatory_Results.htm.

and the number of C. difficile infections for NHS Acute Trusts is available at:

www.hpa.org.uk/infections/topics_az/hai/Mandatory_Results.htm

The quarterly mandatory surveillance data on C. difficile and MRSA are also available in the Library. These will be updated each quarter.

Rates per 1,000 bed days are available for those aged 65 years and over for C. difficile in the above table for C. difficile. Rates for the over-65 age group are not available for MRSA. However, the MRSA enhanced surveillance scheme introduced in 2005 provides limited data. An analysis of data[1] for cases diagnosed between April 2006 and March 2007 where age was provided showed that 69 per cent. of cases occurred in people aged 65 years and over.

Departmental Computer Software

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether the source code copies of core application software used by his Department and its agencies and supplied by third parties are held in escrow. [186909]

Mr. Bradshaw: It is a contractual requirement for the National Programme for Information Technology main suppliers to ensure all source code copies of core software supplied for the national programme systems and services, including that supplied by their subcontractors, are placed in escrow. Outside the National Programme, source code developed for the Department by third parties is held by the Department.

The core business application for the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency, Sentinel, is supplied by Accenture and is held in escrow. For all other applications developed by third parties, the source code is supplied to the agency by the third party and held by the agency themselves.

Bespoke applications that are developed for the NHS Purchasing and Supplies Agency are normally held in escrow.

Departmental Data Protection

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many confirmed security breaches of databases controlled by his Department occurred in each of the last five years; whether the breach resulted from internal or external sources in each case; how many records were compromised on each occasion; and what estimate was made of the total number of records accessible to the individuals concerned. [173687]

Mr. Bradshaw: Except in exceptional cases, when it is in the public interest, it has been the policy of successive Governments not to comment on breaches of security.

Departmental Freedom of Information

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of Freedom of Information requests received by his Department have given rise to responses that have been published by his Department. [180219]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has adopted a selective disclosure log, whereby only the most interesting and high-profile pieces of information are published. Between 1 January 2005 and 30 September 2007, 2 per cent. of Freedom of Information requests received by the Department gave rise to responses that were published by the Department. However, we periodically publish a list of all requests that have resulted in release of information, providing brief subject details and advice that the information may be obtained on request. The last such list, published in August 2007, covered information released between October and December 2006.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department paid in bonuses to press and communication officers in each of the last 10 years; and what the (a) highest and (b) lowest such bonus was in each of those years. [182719]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not have a 'communication officer' grade or job title so the figures provided are for press officers. Some officers in Directorates other than Communications have some media, press or communications liaison responsibility, but this is not recorded in a consistent or economically retrievable form. Figures given as follows are therefore for the communications Directorate alone. The figures for 2003-04 are estimates. Figures are given for complete financial years.

| Financial year | Special bonus total | Senior civil servant (SCS) bonus total | Total bonuses | Maximum bonus | Minimum bonus |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 2,700.00 | 4,577.00 | 7,277.00 | 4,577.00 | 1,000.00 |
| 2005-06 | 1,000.00 | 7,850.00 | 8,850.00 | 7,850.00 | 250.00 |
| 2004-05 | 1,311.50 | 6,859.00 | 8,170.50 | 6,859.00 | 111.50 |
| 2003-04 | 3,000.00 | 0.00 | 3,000.00 | 500.00 | 500.00 |

The Department changed its payroll provider in 2003-04. Information on performance bonus payments prior to 2004-05 is available only from individual payslips. To retrieve this information would therefore involve disproportionate cost.

The figures provided include bonuses paid to press officers who are Senior Civil Servants under pay arrangements common across the civil service and special bonuses paid to press officers under schemes operated by the Department and its Agencies.

Senior Civil Service bonuses reward excellent performance during the year, on the basis of a judgment of how well people perform relative to their peers. This covers the extent to which objectives are met and how they are achieved, and has regard to how leadership behaviours and professional skills are demonstrated and how stretching objectives are.

Special bonuses are awarded for a number of different reasons. The most common of these are an outstanding contribution in a particularly demanding situation, job loading becoming temporarily very heavy, a high level of commitment and resolution to get a job done, special efforts to produce results, cover for a high level of absence, and a contribution over and above what would normally be expected for the job and of the person or team concerned. Special bonuses can be paid either to individuals or to a group or team of staff at any point in the year, and only for additional duties undertaken which will not be recognised through annual pay awards.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many external contracts his Department held with public relations companies in each of the last 10 years; and what the total cost of those contracts was. [183166]

Mr. Bradshaw: Expenditure outlined as follows is for outsourced public relations from financial years 2001-02 to 2006-07. Information related to contractual values prior to 2001 is held on legacy systems and is therefore not accessible.

| Financial year | Annual expenditure (£) | Number of contracts let |
|---|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 1,076,400 | 14 |
| 2002-03 | 1,320,000 | 16 |
| 2003-04 | 1,370,100 | 13 |
| 2004-05 | 1,125,700 | 16 |
| 2005-06 | 1,005,200 | 16 |
| 2006-07 | 1,859,700 | 17 |

Departmental Publicity

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been spent by his Department on advertising in the last 12 months. [167956]

Mr. Bradshaw: The following table outlines cost of departmental advertising in the last full fiscal year for which completed records are available, 2006-07.

Departmental advertising campaigns expenditure summary for 2006-07

| Campaign | 2006-07 (£ million) |
|---|---|
| Alcohol (Department of Health (DH) contribution to campaign run jointly with the Home Office (HO)) | 1.90 |
| Child Immunisation | 1.97 |
| Drugs (DH contribution to campaign run jointly with the HO) | 3.13 |
| Flu | 1.16 |
| Hepatitis C | 0.53 |
| Immunisation | 2.80 |

Departmental advertising campaigns expenditure summary for 2006-07

| Campaign | 2006-07 (£ million) |
|---|---|
| Maternal and Infant Nutrition/Breastfeeding | 0.73 |
| NHS Direct | 0.32 |
| Pandemic Flu Preparedness (Standby Materials) | 0.57 |
| Teenage Pregnancy (DH contribution to campaign run jointly with Department for Children, the Schools and Families) | 2.00 |
| Sexual Health | 7.30 |
| Social care / worker recruitment | 2.69 |
| Smoking | 21.53 |
| 5 a Day | 0.92 |

Departmental Sustainable Development

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department is on course to meet the Sustainable Operations on the Government Estate targets to (a) source at least 10 per cent. of its electricity from renewables by 31 March 2008 and (b) increase recycling figures to 40 per cent. of waste by 2010. [181316]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Department has, since 2004-05, purchased 100 per cent. of the electricity for its main London administrative estate from renewable sources.

In 2005-06, 91 per cent. of the waste removed from our London administrative estate was recycled.

Notes:

1. The figure represents waste removed from our five London buildings (Skipton House, Wellington House, Richmond House, Eileen House, Hannibal House). It excludes waste removed from Quarry House, Leeds (building managed on behalf of Department for Work and Pensions). It also excludes redundant information technology equipment.

2. The recycling figures differ from those quoted in the 2006 "Sustainable Development in Government" report, which include waste removed from sites occupied by our two executive agencies, NHS Purchasing and Supplies Agency, and Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much his Department spent on travel (a) within and (b) outside the UK for officials in each of the last 10 years; and what percentage of his Department's overall expenditure was spent on such travel in each such year. [181534]

Dawn Primarolo: In 2000-01 the Department moved to resource-based accounting, so the information provided has been restricted to the period 2000-01 to 2006-07. During this period the Department spent approximately 2.25 per cent. of its administrative budget on travel. This information is shown in the following table:

| | UK travel spend (£) | Overseas travel spend (£) | Percentage of departmental admin costs |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 4,272,127 | 190,704 | 2 |
| 2005-06 | 4,883,804 | 942,076 | 2 |
| 2004-05 | 3,770,537 | 250,257 | 1 |
| 2003-04 | 7,217,286 | 503,351 | 3 |
| 2002-03 | 6,779,266 | 410,130 | 3 |
| 2001-02 | 7,121,249 | 425,580 | 3 |
| 2000-01 | 6,586,987 | 361,411 | 3 |

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's internal guidance on answering Questions tabled by hon. Members. [166444]

Mr. Bradshaw: In accordance with the ministerial code, Ministers are accountable for their answers to parliamentary questions. The Department follows Cabinet Office guidance in its handling of such questions.

Depressive Illnesses

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people were diagnosed with depression in England in each of the last 10 years. [187590]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Approximately 90 per cent. of people with a mental health problem are treated in primary care. Information is not collected centrally about diagnoses for any condition in primary care, so data are not available in this format.

Diamorphine

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of UK demand for diamorphine has been met by the NHS's normal suppliers in each of the last five years; how shortfalls in supply have been addressed; and if he will make a statement. [186660]

Mr. Bradshaw: The supply picture for diamorphine injection (ampoules) for the national health service in England for the years 2002 to 2006 is shown in the following table.

Diamorphine injection supplied by year: England: hospital and community

Units in thousands

| | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 10 mg (total) | 1,218 | 1,271 | 1,275 | 552 | 682 |
| 100 mg (total) | 410 | 440 | 451 | 169 | 141 |
| 30 mg (total) | 839 | 872 | 908 | 408 | 557 |
| 5 mg (total) | 1,366 | 1,448 | 1,444 | 496 | 218 |
| 500 mg (total) | 30 | 37 | 29 | 20 | 22 |

In March 2007 the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency (NHS PASA) estimated the following availabilities, against historic demand, by strength:

| | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 5 mg | 26 |
| 10 mg | 84 |
| 30 mg | 100 |
| 100 mg | 31 |
| 500 mg | 100 |

A combination of the analyses highlights that there has been a significant recovery in the supply of 10 mg and 30 mg strengths against historic demand.

However, prescribing of these two strengths has not returned to original levels and there has been an excess in the supply of these strengths against current demand as a result.

In the case of the 5 mg and 100 mg strengths the supply position has not recovered. There is an ongoing shortage of these strengths and it is not possible to estimate true current demand as a result.

When the shortage of diamorphine first arose in December 2004, the remaining supplier immediately increased its production, and the Department took steps to ensure that adequate supplies of alternative painkillers were available. In addition, the Department issued an alert to the national health service via the chief medical officers cascade system, warning health care professionals about the shortage and advising them to avoid wastage, and to consider alternative painkillers wherever possible and reserve diamorphine supplies for those patients whose need was greatest. Both suppliers are now fully in production. The supply situation improved during 2007, and is expected to continue doing so during 2008.

Disabled: Computers

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much funding his Department provided for people with disabilities to assist them with learning to use computers in each year since 2001. [185040]

Bill Rammell: I have been asked to reply.

The Department has not collected separate statistics on how much funding it provides for specific groups to assist them with learning to use computers since 2001. The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

As part of the overall funding of the Government's e-learning strategy, funding was used to create infrastructure and was aimed at sectors such as further education and institutions such as colleges. The main thrust was to put technology in place, to develop the content of e-learning materials, including adaptations to enable ease of access by disabled people, and to develop staff to use technology with different groups. This has led to projects designed to support the effective use of computers by vulnerable groups such as disabled people.

For example, between 2004 and 2006 the Learning and Skills Council and the Joint Information Systems Committee provided £250,000 supporting 27 projects in specialist colleges designed to increase confidence and motivation among disabled learners and create innovative technical solutions to meet individual needs, including learners with complex disabilities.

Until 2005 the then Department for Education and Skills partly funded two national Aids to Communication in Education centres supporting learners with learning disabilities with grants of approximately £400,000 per year. These centres still exist and are self-financing.

My Department does recognise how important it is for disabled people to use computers effectively, and a number of projects have been established to improve usage and give disabled people the confidence and skills to use all forms of information and computer technology (ICT) effectively. As part of its responsibilities under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995, my Department ensures that its delivery partners are working to eliminate discrimination and this includes ensuring access to technology.

Drugs: Advisory Services

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of calls to the national drugs helpline which have been unanswered as a consequence of staff shortages in each year since the helpline's inception. [186789]

Dawn Primarolo: The national drugs helpline ceased in England in March 2003 and was replaced by the FRANK helpline in April 2003.

The Central Office of Information (COI) advises that FRANK has received 2,114,533 telephone calls since its inception as at 31 December 2007. A total of 1,818,497 of those telephone calls were answered.

COI advise that overall there are no problems regarding staff shortages. Calls which are unanswered are as a consequence of callers who may hang up before speaking to a live adviser or who are routed to an interactive voice response system.

Anticipated demand can be exceeded owing to unknown media activity—something relating to drugs appears on television or in the national daily press and the FRANK helpline number is quoted. In these instances, staffing levels are increased to cope with the peak according to their availability. However, despite this, there may be occasions when response performance varies.

General Practitioners

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on what dates representatives from his Department have met representatives of general practitioners to discuss changes to the quality and outcomes framework in the last six months. [184516]

Mr. Bradshaw: NHS Employers conduct negotiations on the General Medical Services Contract with the General Practitioners Committee (GPC) of the British Medical Association. Officials from the Department are not normally present. Within the last six months, an official from the Department of Health attended only one meeting of the Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) Negotiating Sub Group, on 23 August 2007 as an observer. Wider meetings between Department officials and representatives of the GPC do also take place regularly but not specifically to discuss changes to the QOF.

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he has taken to enable people to register with a GP practising outside the primary care trust area in which they live. [185775]

Mr. Bradshaw: Regulations allow a practice to accept a person living outside its boundary on to its list of national health service patients if it wishes to do so. In accepting a patient, a practice has obligations to provide certain services such as home visits. If the practice is unable to fulfil this obligation, it is a reasonable ground to refuse a person living outside a practice area.

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of hours per week GPs spent on practice-based commissioning in the most recent period for which figures are available. [185825]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not routinely collect information centrally on the number of hours per week general practitioners spend on practice-based commissioning.

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he has taken to increase the number of open GP lists. [185934]

Mr. Bradshaw: Primary care trusts will only grant a general practitioner practice closed list-status once both parties have made reasonable endeavours to keep the list open and the conclusion is that this is not possible.

The Department is currently exploring, as part of the Next Stages Review being undertaken by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State (Lord Darzi), whether further action is needed to better ensure patients have more choice of practices with which to register.

General Practitioners: Finance

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the likely financial impact on GP surgeries of the removal of funding for choice and booking and access to directed enhanced services; and if he will provide financial support for surgeries which are adversely affected. [185828]

Mr. Bradshaw: In each of the last two years, primary care trusts have invested £158 million, equating to an average £19,000 per practice, to fund the Access and Choice Directed Enhanced Services. It was always intended that these schemes would end on 31 March 2008. This money will be available to support PCTs and practices in agreeing improvement in patient access to their general practice.

Under proposals put to the General Practitioner Committee this money would be used by PCTs to pay general practices for providing extended opening of 30 minutes per week for every 1,000 patients on their list size. There would be no compulsion placed on practices to do this, but should an average GP practice of 6,000 patients take it up and provide the expected minimum three extended hours per week, it could expect to receive £19,000 per year. When practices choose not to provide such services to their patients, this money will not be available to them.

General Practitioners: Standards

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will estimate the overall cost to the public purse in (a) 2005-06, (b) 2006-07 and (c) 2007-08 of reviewing the quality and outcomes framework. [184554]

Mr. Bradshaw: NHS Employers are funded by the Department to take forward negotiations with the General Practitioners Committee of the British Medical Association on changes to the General Medical Services Contract. Funding is not identified separately for the review of the Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) except for a contract for a period of three years starting from April 2006 to commission an independent expert panel to advise on the review of the QOF. The total value of the contract for the three-year period is £799,364 (excluding VAT).

Health and Social Care Services: Autism

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what mechanisms his Department has to ensure the continuity of health and social care services provided for children with autism and Asperger's syndrome as they make the transition to adulthood. [183400]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) is the lead Department on transition from children's to adult services, and on social care for children. However, the Department of Health launched good practice guidance at a conference in March 2006, "Transition: getting it right for young people", a copy of which is available in the Library. The same good practice guidance as applies to children with autistic spectrum disorders applies to those with any other condition. The 2007 report, "Aiming High for Disabled Children" proposed a transition support programme for 14 to 19-year-olds and DCSF has allocated £19 million to pilot arrangements.

Health Services: Cuba

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will visit Cuba to assess best practice in biotechnology and health facilities in that country. [183916]

Dawn Primarolo: We are aware of the considerable work my hon. Friend has done with Cuba through his chairmanship of the all-Party Parliamentary Group. However, owing to other commitments, Ministers have no plans to visit Cuba at the present time.

Health Services: Private Sector

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to promote the involvement and consultation of patients and the public who receive NHS services through the third sector and the independent sector. [185567]

Ann Keen: Under section 242 of the National Health Service Act 2006, all NHS organisations are required to involve service users in the planning, development and operation of health services. This duty does not apply directly to third-sector and independent-sector organisations.

NHS organisations which commission services from the third and independent sector must specify in their contractual arrangements that service users shall be systematically involved in the planning, development and operation of services, and that such involvement shall be evidenced and reported as part of contract performance.

The involvement of users in services provided by third-sector and independent-sector organisations shall be developed and promoted in the forthcoming statutory guidance for section 242 to be published in the summer of 2008.

Health Services: Voluntary Work

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how much West Sussex Primary Care Trust has spent on promoting volunteering in the local health service in the last two years; [186747]

(2) how many employees of West Sussex Primary Care Trust volunteer; and what the trust's policy is on facilitating volunteering. [186823]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: As these are matters for West Sussex primary care trust, the Department does not collect this information. The hon. Member may wish to approach the PCT directly for the details.

Heart Diseases: Cheshire

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department has taken to improve outcomes in coronary health care in (a) Warrington and (b) Cheshire in the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [185582]

Ann Keen: The National Service Framework for Coronary Heart Disease, published in March 2000, set out a 10-year framework for action to prevent disease, tackle inequalities, save more lives, and improve the quality of life for people with heart disease. An estimated 178,000 lives have been saved since 1996.

The target set out in "Our Healthier Nation" (OHN) to reduce deaths from cardiovascular disease (coronary heart disease and stroke and related diseases) by 40 per cent. in people under 75 by 2010 has been met five years early. The mortality rate has fallen by 40.3 per cent. between 2004-06 over the 1995-97 baseline.

Inequalities in the death rate from heart disease, stroke and related diseases among the under-75s have been narrowing for the past eight years, and we are on track to meet a 40 per cent. reduction target in the gap by 2010. The death rate has reduced by 32 per cent. since 1995-97.

In 1997 the number of deaths from cardiovascular disease was 69,133 but by 2005 this figure fell to 42,886, a reduction of over 26,000 deaths per year.

The initiatives outlined above such as the National Service Framework and the targets in OHN will have had an impact across both Cheshire and Warrington, as well as nationally.

In addition, a £600 million programme of hospital building is continuing to provide new or expanded cardiac facilities in the places where they are most needed. There has been a £125 million investment in improved diagnostic and treatment facilities (combined departmental and national lottery fund money) which has supported the building and equipping of 90 new or replacement catheterisation laboratories in England, increasing the capacity previously available by more than 50 per cent.

More locally, a new cardiac catheter laboratory was opened at the Warrington general hospital in January 2006. The hospital also has a dedicated eight-bed coronary care unit providing monitoring and urgent treatment for patients with acute coronary conditions.

Heart Diseases: Health Services

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on links between cardiac arrest survival rates and the time taken for the patient to reach a hospital. [188256]

Ann Keen: The Department has neither commissioned nor evaluated research on links between cardiac arrest survival rates and the time taken for the patient to reach hospital.

The national service framework for coronary heart disease and other guidance in this area is based on the best available evidence, and departmental policy recognises the importance of ensuring that an emergency ambulance response reaches the patient as quickly as possible. The ambulance response time target for calls to people with potentially life-threatening illnesses and conditions (which includes cardiac arrest) is for 75 per cent. of cases to be responded to within eight minutes irrespective of location.

For heart attack (blockage of a coronary artery by a blood clot which may lead to a cardiac arrest if not treated quickly), the Department has not commissioned research, but research results have been taken into account in the formulation of policy on heart attack treatment. There is accumulating evidence that angioplasty leads to better longer-term outcomes than clot-busting drugs even if it takes longer to deliver.

Hospital Beds

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 31 January 2008, Official Report, column 643W, on hospital beds, if he will investigate the discharges of patients from Hampshire hospitals into the community. [187082]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Primary care trusts (PCTs) are responsible within the national health service for commissioning and funding services for their resident population. It is for Hampshire hospitals and the PCTs that commission their services to ensure that patients are appropriately discharged into the community.

More generally, on 1 October 2007 the NHS implemented the National Framework for Continuing Healthcare and NHS-funded Nursing Care which contains guidance on assessing the care needs of patients. If a full assessment for continuing healthcare is required, it must be completed before discharge from hospital can proceed.

Hospitals: Infectious Diseases

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research has been (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the effectiveness of one-off deep cleaning of hospitals in preventing the spread of healthcare-associated infections. [187200]

Ann Keen: As set out in the written ministerial statement on 17 January 2008, Official Report, columns 38-39WS, following completion of the deep clean of the national health service on 31 March 2008, the Department will work with strategic health authorities (SHAs) to draw up examples of where a deep clean has had a demonstrable effect in improving patient care and experience, and will share these across the NHS.

SHAs will take the lead on evaluation locally as the impact of each trust's programme will be different and no single measurement method will pick up all the benefits, particularly as trusts may be implementing a range of measures to improve cleanliness and tackle healthcare-associated infections.

Improvements in patient experience and environment may be measurable through

Patient Environment Action Team scores; scores on National Specifications for Cleanliness;

compliance with the "Code of Practice for the Prevention and Control of Healthcare Associated Infections";

compliance with Department of Health national core standards; health care Commission in-patient survey scores; and infection rates.

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the risk of airborne transmission of infectious diseases, such as MRSA and clostridium difficile in hospitals; and if he will make a statement. [188719]

Ann Keen: This reply only covers methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) and Clostridium difficile (C. difficile).

The available evidence for MRSA and C. difficile is that the main route of transmission is via inadequately cleaned hands, hence the Department's focus on good hand hygiene and cleaning (especially of frequently touched areas). There is little evidence to suggest that airborne exposure is a significant transmission route. The Department continues to monitor any new evidence and is aware of some evaluations of air decontamination systems that are ongoing in national health service settings, the results of which will be reviewed when they are available.

Influenza: Vaccination

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many pensioners aged 65 years and over received free influenza inoculations in (a) the Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) the UK in each year since it became available. [186963]

Dawn Primarolo: The information requested is shown in the following table by the relevant health trust or authority, as this is how the data are collected.

Kent

Dr. Ladyman: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what funds in the form of (a) revenue payments, (b) capital grants and (c) supported borrowing for which his Department is responsible have been made available to (i) Kent county council, (ii) Thanet district council and (iii) Dover district council in 2007-08. [183059]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: No grants have been made from the Department to district councils (Thanet district council and Dover district council). The following table lists the funds, separated into revenue payments, capital grants and supported borrowing, provided by the Department to Kent county council in 2007-08. Local authorities (LAs) were notified of these grants through relevant LA social services letters and circulars.

| Adults social care | 0.816 |
| Mental Health | 0.382 |
| Total | 1.198 |

Notes:
1. The National Healthy Schools Programme is delivered through the Standards Fund, for which the Department of Health provides the majority of funding but the Department for Children, Schools and Families also contributes.
2. The funding is to local healthy schools partnerships, so is to be shared by LAs with partner primary care trusts.

Leukaemia: Drugs

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what discussions his Department has held with Surrey Primary Care Trust on making available the treatments (a) dasatinib and (b) nilotinib to patients with imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia; [186264]

(2) what representations he has received in the last 12 months on the issue of the availability of access to (a) dasatinib and (b) nilotinib for the treatment of chronic myeloid leukaemia; how many representations were received from (i) clinicians, (ii) patients and (iii) others; what the content was of the representations; and if he will make a statement. [186266]

Ann Keen: The Department has held no discussions with Surrey primary care trust on making available the treatments dasatinib and nilotinib to patients with imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia. It is for primary care trusts (PCTs) locally to decide whether to make these treatments available to patients.

The Department has received various correspondence from clinicians, patients and others about dasatinib and nilotinib. This correspondence mainly raises issues of access to dasatinib and nilotinib and the possibility of their appraisal by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE).

My right hon. Friend the Minister of State, Department of Health, my right hon. Friend the Member for Bristol, South (Dawn Primarolo), is minded to refer dasatinib and nilotinib for the treatment of imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia as part of the 17th wave of referrals to NICE. NICE has consulted with stakeholders on the remits and scopes for this appraisal. The Minister of State will make a final decision on whether to refer the topic to NICE following the outcome of NICE's consultation.

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the variations between primary care trust areas in patients' ability to access the treatments (a) dasatinib and (b) nilotinib for imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia. [186268]

Ann Keen: No assessment has been made of the variations between primary care trust areas in patients' ability to access the treatments dasatinib and nilotinib for imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia.

However, Ministers are minded to refer dasatinib and nilotinib for the treatment of imatinib-resistant chronic myeloid leukaemia to the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) as part of the 17th work programme. NICE has consulted stakeholders on the remits and scopes for this appraisal. Ministers will make a final decision on whether to refer the topic to NICE following the outcome of NICE's consultation.

Lighting: Health Hazards

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research he has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the effect of compact fluorescent lightbulbs on people suffering from Meniere's disease. [187646]

Ann Keen [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The Department has not commissioned any research on the effects of compact fluorescent light bulbs on those living with Meniere's disease.

Maternity Services: Finance

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of the NHS budget was spent on maternity services in 2006-07. [187262]

Ann Keen [holding answer 20 February 2008]: Estimates of national health service expenditure on maternity and reproductive health are available from programme budgeting returns. In the 2006-07 financial year, estimated gross NHS expenditure on maternity and reproductive health was £2.9 billion, accounting for 3.5 per cent. of total expenditure.

NHS

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) hospitals and (b) NHS organisations Ministers in his Department have visited since taking up their posts. [185561]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is as follows.

| Minister | Hospitals | NHS organisations |
|---|---|---|
| Secretary of State for Health (Alan Johnson)[1] | 25 | 11 |
| Minister of State for Health Services (Ben Bradshaw)[1] | 11 | 13 |
| Minister of State for Public Health (Dawn Primarolo)[1] | 0 | 9 |
| Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Health Services (Ann Keen)[1] | 12 | 9 |
| Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Care Services (Ivan Lewis)[2] | 9 | 3 |
| Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State (Lord Darzi)[1] | 12 | 9 |

NHS: Finance

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) pursuant to the answer of 11 December 2007, Official Report, column 525W, on NHS finance, how much of the difference referred to is accounted for by (a) the transfer of impairments to annually managed expenditure and (b) latest forecast technical underspends on non-cash; [184476]

(2) what methodology is used by his Department to establish its Spending Review baseline. [184477]

Mr. Bradshaw: In line with the treatment of all baselines in the comprehensive spending review, the resource baseline for the national health service was set at the level of expected spend excluding exceptional, time limited and one-off items.

As a result, £250 million was transferred from the NHS Departmental Expenditure Limit to NHS Annually Managed Expenditure of funding for impairments. The forecast technical underspend was £560 million.

In addition, the NHS DEL was increased by £60 million to reflect an in-year transfer of funding responsibility from personal social services.

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much loan interest (a) West Sussex Primary Care Trust and (b) each of the hospital trusts in West Sussex paid back to the NHS in each of the last three years. [186739]

Mr. Bradshaw: Information on interest paid on loans by primary care trusts is not collected centrally.

The following table sets out the interest paid by national health service trusts in Sussex in 2006-07. Information for earlier years was not collected centrally.

Interest paid on loans by NHS trusts in Sussex, 2006-07

| NHS trust | £000 |
|---|---|
| Brighton and Sussex University Hospitals | 39 |
| East Sussex Hospitals | 5 |
| Surrey and Sussex Healthcare | 68 |

NHS: Public Participation

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the amount of work undertaken by (a) community health councils, (b) patient involvement forums and (c) local involvement networks. [185570]

Ann Keen: The rationale for arrangements to strengthen the voice of local people is to widen and broaden people's influence over their services, rather than to reflect the amount or quality of the work undertaken by Community Health Councils (CHCs) and patient and public involvement (PPI) forums.

We know from listening to people during the review of patient and public involvement that more people want to have a greater say about their local services. It is no longer appropriate to have a PPI system which is based around scrutiny of individual services. The new local involvement networks will be able to consider both health and social care, so that PPI can be joined up across the entire patient journey. Crucially, we want more people involved having influence in different ways according to their lifestyle, experience and skills. We will build on the existing experience and knowledge from patients' forums.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will list the former community health councils and their corresponding patient forums and local involvement networks. [185571]

Ann Keen: There were 184 Community Health Councils and in the main they reflected local authority boundaries, although there were a number of exceptions to this rule.

There is no direct correlation between the areas covered by CHCs and patient and public involvement forums, as forums relate to national health service organisations rather than to a specific geographical area.

There will be 150 local involvement networks corresponding exactly to the number of local authorities with social services responsibilities.

NHS: Recruitment

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of advertisements for IT jobs in the NHS specified that the applicant needed NHS IT experience in the latest period for which figures are available. [187269]

Ann Keen [holding answer 21 February 2008]: NHS Jobs does not collect information on the content of individual vacancy listings.

Obstetrics: Screening

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimate he has made of the cost of adding screening for vasa praevia to standard prenatal testing; [188233]

(2) what assessment he has made of the feasibility of adding screening for vasa praevia to standard prenatal testing; [188234]

(3) how many people died from vasa praevia in each year since 2001. [188235]

Ann Keen [holding answer 22 February 2008]: Routine screening for vasa praevia is not available in hospitals in England. This is because it is a technically difficult condition to detect, even for a highly skilled ultrasonographer with the appropriate specialist equipment (for example, a colour Doppler scanner). Therefore, routine screening for vasa praevia is not currently advocated by the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists (RCOG) or recommended by the National Screening Committee (NSC). Should the RCOG change its advice we will consider this and refer it to the NSC.

The total number of deaths involving mention of vasa praevia on the death certificate in England and Wales for 2001 to 2005 (the most recent years for which figures are available) is shown in the following table.

All these deaths were in neonates—that is, babies under 28 days of age:

| | Neonatal deaths |
|---|---|
| 2001 | 1 |
| 2002 | 0 |
| 2003 | 2 |
| 2004 | 1 |
| 2005 | 0 |

Notes:
1. Figures for 2001-05 were extracted using the International Classification of Diseases ICD 10th revision code P02.6
2. The database of deaths in England and Wales was searched for deaths in 2001-05 with any mention of the ICD-10 codes 069.4, 'Labour and delivery complicated by vasa praevia' (maternal code) or P02.6 'Fetus and Newborn affected by other and unspecified conditions of umbilical cord'. The text of the certificates with P02.6 was then searched for the term 'vasa praevia'.
3. Data on stillbirths have not been included.

Organs: Donors

Gordon Banks: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what research he has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the difference between the reported rates of public support for organ donation and outcomes in securing organ donations; and if he will make a statement. [188628]

Ann Keen: Research carried out by UK Transplant in 2003 showed that 90 per cent. of people state their support for organ donation, but only 25 per cent. of people register on the Organ Donor Register. In its first report, the Organ Donation Taskforce placed great emphasis on understanding the reasons for this, along with the relatively high levels of family refusal to donation and this will be reflected during the implementation phase. The Secretary of State (Alan Johnson) has asked the Taskforce to continue its work in order to look at the potential impact of a system of presumed consent for organ donation.

Palliative Care: Children

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what funding has been included in primary care trust allocations for 2008-09 in order to enable them to meet the new children's palliative care strategy in (i) building a sustainable service of palliative care networks, including children's hospice services and (ii) supporting community nursing teams; and if he will make a statement. [187979]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: General allocations to primary care trusts (PCTs) are not broken down into funding for individual services. It is for PCTs to decide how best to resource the priorities set out in the national health service operating framework for 2008-09.

Section two of the operating framework under 'Priorities' states

"disabled children: identifying actions and setting local targets on improving the experience of, and ranges of services for, children with disabilities and complex health needs and their families. This includes significantly increasing the range of short breaks, improving the quality and experience of palliative care services, improving access to therapies and supporting effective transition to adult services."

On 19 February, we launched the first ever national strategy for children's palliative care, 'Better Care: Better Lives'. The strategy will assist local commissioners, providers and regulators in devising local strategies to enable every child and young person with a life-limiting or life-threatening condition access to high-quality, family-centred, sustainable care and support with services provided in a setting of choice according to the child's and family's wishes. It sets out clear expectations for improving choice, access and continuity of care, and seeks to place palliative care at the centre of local children's service provision.

We also announced an additional £20 million in funding to enable the children's hospices and hospice at home grant to continue in 2009-10 and 2010-11 with £10 million available in each year.

Patient Choice Schemes

Mr. Walker: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of hours per week GPs spent using the Choose and Book system in the most recent period for which figures are available. [185824]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not collect information centrally on the number of hours per week that general practitioners spend using Choose and Book.

Benchmarked timings have been published showing the average length of time taken to use Choose and Book when it is correctly configured:

to log on to the system takes about 9 seconds; to generate an appointment request takes about 38 seconds; or to book an appointment takes 47 seconds.

These times are how long it takes the computers to respond, and do not take into account the time required for the clinical and booking conversation that is needed with the patient.

Post-Mortems: Children

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many post-mortem examinations were carried out on children aged between five and 15 years in each coroner's district in each of the last five years. [184742]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is not available in the format requested. The Office for National Statistics collects data on the deaths of children in England aged between five and 15 years where a post-mortem examination has been carried out. It is not broken down by coroner's district. The information available is shown in the following table.

Death registrations in England by post mortem type, ages 5 to 15[1]

| | Post mortem authorised by a coroner | Post mortem authorised by a doctor | Not known by whom post mortem authorised |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006 | 493 | 22 | 4 |
| 2005 | 533 | 18 | 5 |
| 2004 | 507 | 18 | 1 |
| 2003 | 579 | 19 | 2 |
| 2002 | 571 | 25 | 4 |

Information is not collected centrally on how many of those post-mortem examinations were carried out by paediatric pathologists.

Prostate Cancer

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of multi-disciplinary teams for urological cancer. [184259]

Ann Keen: Information about the effectiveness of individual urology multi-disciplinary teams (MDTs) can be found within local cancer network peer review reports. These are in the public domain and can be accessed on the Cancer Quality Improvement Networks System website at:

www.cquins.nhs.uk/published_reviews.php

A national overview of the findings from the recent round of cancer peer review (2004-07) is due to be published shortly. This will include summary information about urology MDTs.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the post-operative mortality rate for radical prostatectomy (a) in total and (b) broken down by strategic health authority area. [184261]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many representations his Department has received from (a) patients and (b) clinicians on treating prostate cancer on the NHS in the last six months; what the content of these representations was; and if he will make a statement. [184262]

Ann Keen: The main forum through which patients and clinicians make representations to the Department of Health is the Prostate Cancer Advisory Group (PCAG). As part of our commitment to working in partnership, the Government welcomed the establishment of the Prostate Cancer Charter for Action in January 2003 and acted upon its call to establish the PCAG, chaired by Professor Mike Richards, the National Cancer Director. The overall remit of the PCAG is to facilitate collaboration between the Department, the voluntary sector and patient and professional groups to advise Ministers, the National Cancer Director and the Department on the development of policy on prostate cancer.

The PCAG last met on 26 June 2007, and treatment issues discussed were:

progress on the Cancer Reform Strategy (CRS);

the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) clinical guideline on "prostate cancer: diagnosis and treatment";

the pilot multi-disciplinary team training programme;

brachytherapy;

implementation of the NICE improving outcomes guidance (IOG) on urological cancers and NICE cancer drug appraisals.

The PCAG is next due to meet on 18 March 2008, following publication of the NICE clinical guideline "Prostate cancer: diagnosis and treatment".

I met representatives of the Prostate Cancer Charter for Action on 7 November 2007, and treatment issues discussed were the important role of cancer nurse specialists, patient experience, the Career Research Society and clinical outcomes data.

In addition, since 1 August 2007, the Department has received 57 items of correspondence from patients and clinicians on a wide variety of subjects relating to prostate cancer. Since 6 November 2007, the Department has received 26 parliamentary questions on prostate cancer.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of specialist urological cancer teams in England. [184265]

Ann Keen: There were over 100 urology local teams and over 50 urology specialist teams in England at the time of the 2004-07 round of the national cancer peer review.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of (a) consultant urologists and (b) consultant oncologists he estimates have expertise in urological cancers. [184267]

Ann Keen: Data are not collected centrally on the number of urologists and oncologists specialising in urological cancers.

The last work force census showed that as of 30 September 2006, there were 510 consultants working in urology and 482 consultants working in clinical oncology.

There are 1,556 extra cancer consultants since 1997 (a 49.3 per cent. increase) and 3,341 (65.7 per cent.) extra consultants in other specialties who spend a significant amount of their time caring for cancer patients.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of prostate cancer patients had prostate cancer diagnosed at (a) clinical stage I or II, (b) clinical stage III and (c) clinical stage IV in the latest period for which figures are available; and what assessment he has made of the way in which these proportions have changed over time. [184268]

Ann Keen: The Department does not publish statistics on the stages at which prostate cancer is diagnosed. The "Cancer Reform Strategy", published last December, highlights the need to collect and use high quality data on clinical outcomes with adjustments for stage of disease. Part of the new National Cancer Intelligence Network's work will be, in due course, to co-ordinate the collection and analysis of this data.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cancer networks have a (a) lead clinician, (b) nurse director and (c) service improvement lead for the Improving Outcomes Guidance for urological cancers. [184277]

Ann Keen: In terms of the "Improving Outcomes in Urological Cancers" guidance, posts would be at multidisciplinary team (MDT) rather than cancer network level. The most recent round of peer review (2004-07) found that for urological cancer:

100 per cent. and 99 per cent. of local and specialist urological cancer MDTs had a lead clinician respectively;

96 per cent. and 100 per cent. of local and specialist urological cancer MDTs had a clinical nurse specialist respectively; and 92 per cent. and 96 per cent. of local and specialist urological cancer MDTs had service improvement leads respectively.

Seroxat

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many prescriptions for Seroxat were issued by general practitioners in England from 1997 to 2007. [186059]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not hold information on prescriptions issued by general practitioners.

South Central Ambulance NHS Trust: Vacancies

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many (a) operational and (b) non-operational posts are vacant in the Buckinghamshire division of South Central Ambulance NHS Trust; [187947]

(2) how many members of staff have resigned from (a) operational and (b) non-operational posts in the Buckinghamshire division of South Central Ambulance NHS Trust since its inception; [187948]

(3) how many members of staff there are in (a) operational and (b) non-operational posts in the Buckinghamshire division of South Central Ambulance NHS Trust; [187949]

(4) how many members of staff in (a) operational and (b) non-operational posts are on sick leave in the Buckinghamshire division of South Central Ambulance NHS Trust. [188011]

Ann Keen [holding answer 21 February 2008]: The requested information on the number of staff on sick leave, and the number of staff who have resigned is not collected centrally. These are matters for South Central Ambulance Service National Health Service Trust, and the hon. Member may wish to approach the Chief Executive of the Trust for this information.

Information on number of staff in post, and number of vacant posts is not available in the requested format. Information is held at NHS trust level, and is provided in the following tables, for all categories of staff at South Central Ambulance Service NHS Trust. ### Strokes: Rehabilitation

Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he is taking to improve access to speech and language therapy for people with communication difficulties following strokes; and if he will make a statement. [188774]

Ann Keen: The National Stroke Strategy published last December sets out the vision for modernising services and delivering the newest treatments for stroke. The strategy makes clear that people who have had strokes should be able to access high-quality rehabilitation and receive support from stroke-skilled services as soon as possible after they have had a stroke, available in hospital, immediately after transfer from hospital and for as long as they need it. Stroke care networks are being developed to provide support for service providers and commissioners locally to improve the services they offer.

The national health service has the resources to fund these changes to stroke services, having seen record levels of investment and a period of significant expansion in the workforce. There has been a 36 per cent. increase in the number of speech and language therapists (SLTs) working in the NHS, bringing the total to 6,623 (NHS staff census September 2006 headcount). The number of SLTs entering training has increased by 65 per cent. since 1998-99. We acknowledge the significant value of SLTs in the management of swallowing, speech and communication disorders following a stroke. In addition we have announced spending proposals totalling £105 million to provide national support for implementation of the National Stroke Strategy.

Suicide: Drugs

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many of those who committed suicide were taking the drug roaccutane at the time of their death in each of the last five years. [186792]

Dawn Primarolo: In the United Kingdom, the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) runs the Yellow Card Scheme. This scheme allows health professionals and patients to report suspected adverse drug reactions, which include suicides, on a voluntary basis. Over the last five years a total of 15 suspected adverse drug reactions of suicide have been reported in association with isotretinoin (Roaccutane) through this scheme. It is important to note that a report of an adverse drug reaction does not necessarily mean that it was caused by the drug. Other factors such as an underlying illness or other medicines may have contributed. Severe acne itself is known to be associated with an increased risk of depressive illness.

The safety of isotretinoin has been closely monitored by the MHRA since it was approved in 1983. The benefits of isotretinoin in the treatment of acne are considered to outweigh the risk of adverse effects by regulatory authorities throughout Europe and worldwide.

Warnings about the risk of depression and suicidal behaviour were added to the product information for prescribers and patients in 1998. These warnings have been strengthened following a European review of the isotretinoin product information and most recently the 'Roaccutane Patient Information Leaflet' has been subject to user testing to ensure that the information, including that about risk of suicidal thoughts and behaviour, is clear, comprehensive and understandable.

Surgery: Private Sector

Mr. Devine: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many private operations were carried out in NHS premises in 2007. [182655]

Mr. Bradshaw: We do not have exact figures on private operations but we do collect information on finished consultant episodes (FCEs). FCEs are different from operations because they also include other interventions such as high-cost drug treatments, diagnostic imaging, testing and rehabilitation. The latest figure is shown in the following table.

Private FCEs carried out in national health service premises

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 89,328 |

Notes:
1. An FCE is defined as a period of admitted patient care under one consultant within one health care provider.
2. Data excludes a small proportion of invalid data.

Working Parties

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 26 November 2007, Official Report, column 283W, on working parties, what (a) working parties, (b) task forces and (c) steering groups were set up by his Department in each of the last five years. [184807]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has not routinely collected information centrally on working parties, task forces and steering groups. It would incur disproportionate cost to seek to identify this information retrospectively. The survey referred to in the reply given on 26 November 2007, Official Report, columns 263-64W was a one-off project, carried out in autumn 2006 which identified over 200 extant working parties which engaged stakeholders. For a list of those groups and the survey questions I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 14 January 2008, Official Report, column 1009W, to the hon. Member for South Cambridgeshire (Mr. Lansley). The Department is planning to improve its information systems so that knowledge of working groups is captured routinely as a by-product of day-to-day work.

Yorkshire and Humber Strategic Health Authority: Finance

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the projected financial outturn of the Yorkshire and Humber Strategic Health Authority is for 2007-08. [188185]

Ann Keen [holding answer 22 February 2008]: At the second quarter of 2007-08, the Yorkshire and the Humber Strategic Health Authority is forecasting a financial year-end surplus of £271.5 million.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Community Relations

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government have taken to tackle community tensions since 1997. [188902]

Mr. Dhanda: 'Improving Opportunity, Strengthening Society: The Government's strategy to increase race equality and community cohesion' (published in 2005) and its related two annual progress reports set out some of the steps that the Government have taken since 1997 to tackle community tensions that can undermine community cohesion—for example, in their work with partners to monitor tensions and provide support for local areas experiencing particular challenges. More recently 'The Government's Response to the Commission on Integration and Cohesion' (published in February 2008) provides a new clarity on, and commitment to, delivering cohesive and integrated communities. This includes a commitment to the new public service agreement 21 to build cohesive, empowered and active communities; increased investment in community cohesion; and a commitment to establish specialist cohesion teams to provide advice and support to local authorities facing cohesion challenges.

Debt Collection: Standards

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many public request to order disposal applications have been received by the Government. [187021]

Mr. Dhanda: Available records show that since 1997 the Government have received 42 public requests to order disposal under Section 98 of the Local Government, Planning and Land Act 1980. Of these, 37 have been received since 2004.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department has taken on the public request to order disposal applications made in relation to Prescott Villas in Prescott Drive in Liverpool. [187022]

Mr. Dhanda: In 2006 a notice was issued stating that the Secretary of State proposed to direct Liverpool city council to dispose of land at numbers 14, 16, 18 and 20 Prescott Drive. After consideration of the council's representations the decision was taken not to direct in respect of 20 Prescott Drive, as the council had by then disposed of its interest.

In respect of 14, 16, and 18 Prescott Drive, the decision was taken not to direct at present, but it was decided that a notice of the proposal to direct should remain in place and be reviewed after 12 months (October 2007) in order to give the council time to resolve land issues, finalise redevelopment plans and make tangible progress towards the development of the land.

In December 2007 Government office officials met with Liverpool city council to look at progress and consider whether a new notice should be issued. The Secretary of State will shortly be considering what further action to take.

Disabled Facilities Grants: Newcastle Upon Tyne

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much was awarded in disabled facilities grants in the city of Newcastle upon Tyne in 2006-07; and what the average size of grant was in that period. [187423]

Mr. Iain Wright: In 2006-07 the Department awarded £693,000 to Newcastle upon Tyne city council to contribute to its disabled facilities grant (DFG) programme.

Authorities submit data to the Department on DFG expenditure and the number of grants through the annual housing strategy statistical appendix (HSSA). The 2006-07 return is due to be published shortly. The latest available data are for 2005-06, where the average grant was £,500.

Fire Services: Buildings

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what account her Department took of shift patterns in determining the size of regional fire control centres. [187839]

Mr. Dhanda: None. Shift patterns have no material impact on the size of the Regional Control Centres. The size of the buildings was based primarily on the number of staff required to provide a resilient 24 hour operation.

Shift patterns for regional control centre staff will be the responsibility of the eight regional Local Authority Control Companies and the London Fire and Emergency Planning Authority (LFEPA).

Fire Services: Costs

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for what reasons estimates of the cost of the FiReControl Project have varied between October 2005 and December 2007; and if she will make a statement. [186132]

Mr. Dhanda: The October 2005 cost estimate is taken from an options analysis which preceded the establishment of the FiReControl project. We have fully defined the business requirements and have a more detailed understanding of the solution and how it will be delivered. For example, lease agreements have been signed for the nine regional control buildings and the national IT infrastructures services contract has been awarded. Furthermore, there has been price inflation of around 10 per cent. since the options analysis was published in 2003.

Fire Services: Finance

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what factors she took into account in determining the grant award to (a) North Yorkshire fire authority and (b) Humberside fire authority for 2008-09 to 2011-12; and if she will make a statement. [186455]

John Healey: The distribution of formula grant takes into account the relative needs and potential to raise income locally (resources) of an authority, relative to all other authorities providing the same service. It also contains a central allocation and a floor damping mechanism.

For fire and rescue authorities, the needs component is measured through the Fire and Rescue Relative Needs Formula (RNF) and the Capital Finance RNF. The Fire and Rescue RNF takes into account the resident population, coastline, deprivation, high-risk sites, property and societal risk and community fire safety. The capital finance RNF takes into account assumed outstanding debt and supported capital expenditure (revenue).

The resources element uses a measure of the council tax base (number of band D equivalent properties).

The Government consulted on the formula grant distribution system between 17 July and 10 October 2007, and on the provisional grant settlements for the next three years from 6 December 2007 to 8 January 2008. I announced the 2008-09 and provisional 2009-10 and 2010-11 settlements on 24 January 2008. Within this, I confirmed that:

(a) North Yorkshire fire and rescue authority also receive £1.71 million, £1.5 million and £1.3 million from the floor damping mechanism in respective years. This will ensure that they receive increases of 1 per cent., 0.5 per cent. and 0.5 per cent. in grant on a like for like basis respectively; and

(b) Humberside fire authority also contribute £2.1 million, £1.5 million and £1 million to the floor damping mechanism in respective years. However, they receive increases of 5.8 per cent., 3.5 per cent. and 3.3 per cent. in grant on a like for like basis respectively.

Fire Services: Procurement

Mr. Clapham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what risk assessment her Department and Firebuy have undertaken of the decision to sign the integrated clothing project managed service contract; and what conclusions have been drawn. [188529]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 22 February 2008]: The fully managed service and purchase with managed services elements of the integrated clothing project contract are expected to be signed this month between the service provider and Firebuy Ltd. The purchase-only element of the contract was signed in October 2007. The decision to proceed to contract signature was made following a full assessment of the benefits and risks.

Fire Services: Retirement

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many ill-health retirements in the fire service there were between April and October (a) 2006 and (b) 2007, broken down by fire authority. [187413]

Mr. Dhanda: Available information, for the period 1 April 2005 to 31 March 2006, is set out in the following table:

Ill-health retirements in the fire service 2005-06.

Government Offices for the Regions: Manpower

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff are employed by the Government office for (a) the east of England, (b) the east midlands, (c) London, (d) the north-east, (e) the north-west, (f) the south-east, (g) the south-west and (h) Yorkshire and the Humber; what each office's expenditure was in each of the last five years; and what the total staffing cost was for each office in the last year for which figures are available. [188899]

Mr. Dhanda: The staffing information (as at January 2008) is as follows:

(a) the East of England: 189;
(b) the East Midlands: 193;
(c) London: 241;
(d) the North East: 238;
(e) North West: 267;
(f) South East: 259;
(g) South West; 246; and
(h) Yorkshire and the Humber: 220.

The running cost expenditure for each of the offices for the last five years is as set out in the following table.

| GO | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | L2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|

| South East | 10,874.74 | 14,099.03 | 14,372.51 | 14,624.51 | 13,677.13 |

| Yorks and the Humber | 10,943.77 | 12,4870.23 | 13,453.18 | 13,494.30 | 10,676.64 |

The total staffing costs in 2006-07 were as follows:

(a) the East of England: £9,710,710;
(b) the East Midlands: £9,308,430;
(c) London : £13,230,880;
(d) the North East: £10,271,150;
(e) North West: £12,924,880;
(f) South East: £11,647,190;
(g) South West: £10,780,010; and
(h) Yorkshire and the Humber: £9,574,780.

Home Information Packs

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many representations have been received calling for a home information pack to be required prior to marketing. [188209]

Caroline Flint: We have received a range of representations about HIPs, including some relating to the current first day marketing provision. We continue to welcome such representations as HIPs bed in and we move towards a permanent state of implementation.

Housing

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, to the hon. Member for Welwyn Hatfield, Official Report, columns 1527-28W, on housing, how many domestic dwellings were on the valuation list in each year since the establishment of council tax. [178620]

John Healey: Details of the number of domestic dwellings on the valuation list are published each year in "Local Government Financial Statistics (England)".

The information for 1993 was published in LGFS No. 4: 1990-91 to 1993-94, for 1994 in LGFS No. 5: 1994, for 1995 in LGFS No. 6: 1995, for 1996 in LGFS No. 7: 1996, for 1997 in LGFS No. 8: 1997, for 1998 in LGFS No. 9: 1998, for 1999 in LGFS No. 10: 1999, for 2000 in LGFS No. 11: 2000, for 2001 in LGFS No. 12: 2001 and for 2002 to 2006 in LGFS No. 17: 2007.

These publications are in the Library of the House and LGFS Nos. 11, 12 and 17 are also available on the Communities and Local Government website at http://www.local.communities.gov.uk/finance/stats/index.htm

The data are provided by the Valuation Office Agency.

Housing: Debt

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the historic housing debt remaining at the latest available date; what rate of interest was charged on that date; how much has been written off for (a) stock transfer and (b) large-scale voluntary transfers since 2000; and what the cost is of treating the remaining debt in the same fashion as that in transfers. [186840]

Caroline Flint: No distinction is drawn between 'historic debt' entered into to build councils' housing stock and 'new debt' entered into to pay for decent homes. The total assumed housing debt in 2007-08 is £17.3 billion. The interest on debt is governed by each council's Consolidated Rate of Interest (CRI). The CRI is different for each authority and depends upon the number, value and period of the various loans that authorities have negotiated individually. The average CRI for 2007-08 is 6.17 per cent.

If a local authority's attributable housing debt is not cleared either in part or in entirety by receipts from a registered social landlord (RSL) through large-scale voluntary transfer arrangements, the debt that remains is transferred from the local-authority sector to central Government through a payment made to the Public Works Loan Board. Overhanging debt payments to the Public Works Loans Board under these debt transfer arrangements since 2000 are shown in the following table.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 276 |
| 2001-02 | 0 |
| 2002-03 | 548 |
| 2003-04 | 91 |
| 2004-05 | 591 |
| 2005-06 | 386 |
| 2006-07 | 544 |
| Total | 2,436 |

A payment of £17.3 billion would be required to be made to the PWLB to transfer the remaining housing debt to the Exchequer.

Job Creation: Newcastle Upon Tyne

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many jobs were directly created by the Neighbourhood Renewal Fund in Newcastle in 2006-07; and what proportion of these were for residents of (a) Newcastle and (b) priority areas of the fund. [187410]

John Healey: In 2006-07 the Neighbourhood Renewal Fund (NRF) was pooled within the Local Area Agreement (LAA). The NRF was un-ring-fenced and eligible areas were free to use this funding in ways that would contribute to narrowing the gap between the most deprived areas and the rest within each district. Performance was monitored across six key themes—crime, education, health, worklessness, housing and live ability.

It is not possible to determine exactly how many jobs were created as a direct consequence of NRF use in Newcastle.

Job Creation: Working Neighbourhoods Fund

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance she has issued on the recording of jobs created directly in Working Neighbourhoods Fund priority areas. [187411]

John Healey: The Working Neighbourhoods Fund will be paid as part of the new Area-Based Grant—a non-ring-fenced general grant—from April 2008. In accordance with the freedoms and flexibilities afforded to local authorities through the local government White Paper we will not be placing any additional burdens on local authorities to report on the use of any part of the grant outside the 198 National Indicators. Performance on tackling worklessness will be monitored as part of these 198 indicators, but not specifically the number of jobs created.

Land

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether public requests to order disposal can be applied to land owned by (a) Government Departments and their agencies, (b) the Crown Estate, (c) regional development agencies, (d) English Partnerships and (e) the British Rail Residual Body. [183249]

Mr. Dhanda: Part 10 of the Local Government Planning and Land Act 1980 makes provision for the disposal of public land, including the specific public request to order disposal (PROD) power. Schedule 16 of the Act lists the specific bodies to whom part 10 of the Act applies.

The five bodies listed in the question are not listed in schedule 16 of the Act and therefore public requests to order disposal cannot be applied to any land owned by these bodies, apart from one small exception. English Partnerships is a single operational entity which brings together the Urban Regeneration Agency and the Commission for the New Towns. However, these two bodies continue to exist legally. The Commission for the New Towns is listed in schedule 16 of the Act as a body to which part 10 applies. If it could be proved that the land in question was owned by The Commission for the New Towns, the public request to order disposal could be applied to that land.

Local Authorities: Equality

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government have taken to assist local authorities in tackling gender pay gaps among their employees. [188901]

John Healey: Central Government have recently increased the financial flexibility available to local authorities to meet their equal pay obligations and to speed up progress on delivering equal pay. On 5 February, we announced that the Government would continue to support councils to meet their equal pay obligations through a further equal pay capitalisation round in 2008-09. This builds on the £500 million issued to 46 authorities on 28 September 2007 for the current financial year. These directions were issued much earlier in the financial year than previous capitalisation directions to facilitate better financial planning and to maintain the momentum already achieved.

Local Authorities: Vehicles

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether her Department collects information on the proportion of local authorities' vehicles manufactured in the UK. [187677]

Mr. Dhanda: This information is not held centrally.

Local Government Finance: Newcastle Upon Tyne

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much the area based grant for 2008-09 will be for each Tyne and Wear local authority; and how much its various predecessor grants were for those authorities in 2007-08. [187424]

John Healey: The Government published allocations of the area-based grant (ABG) at individual authority level on a three-year basis alongside the local government finance settlement 2008-09 to 2010-11. Full details of the allocations, as at the time of the settlement, are available on the Communities and Local Government website:

http://www.local.odpm.gov.uk/finance/0809/specgrant.htm

The 2008-09 Allocations for Tyne and Wear authorities for the period 2008-09 are as follows.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| Gateshead | 17.187 |
| Newcastle upon Tyne | 21.978 |
| North Tyneside | 10.533 |
| South Tyneside | 20.655 |
| Sunderland | 25.188 |

Area-based grant is a new non-ring-fenced general grant which comprises some 40 funding streams from seven Government Departments including my own, three of which are new and 37 of which were previously paid as specific grants. Data on the 2007-08 allocations of the 37 predecessor grants are not held in one place at individual local-authority level, and it would incur disproportionate costs to collate the information. A list of the former specific grants moved into ABG is available on our website at http://www.local.communities.gov.uk/finance/rsg_abg.pdf

Olympic Games 2012: Essex

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if the Minister for the East of England will visit (a) Essex and (b) Colchester to discuss potential involvement with the 2012 Olympics. [188627]

Mr. Dhanda: The Minister for the East of England will be visiting Essex in July to meet representatives of the county council, and has asked for the Olympics to be placed on the agenda.

The Minister for the East of England, and I understand that partners in Essex are well engaged with the Olympics nations and regions structures that are in place. I am also aware of the efforts made by Colchester to engage and recognise opportunities by forming a 2012 Partnership Group and submitting an application for a pre-games training camp.

The Minister for the East of England currently has no plans to visit Colchester, but she would be pleased to consider any further information about how it plans to be involved in the 2012 Olympics.

Planning

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how often the expert panels on (a) housing markets and planning, (b) neighbourhoods, cities and regions and (c) housing and communities have met since being established; and whether their advice is made public. [186817]

Mr. Dhanda: Each of the expert panels had separate launch events, to which all panel members were invited. However, the primary role of the expert panels is for individual panel members to provide advice on the topics in which they specialise, either through attending relevant policy seminars or through undertaking customised pieces of research in order to meet the Department's short-term information needs. As such, the panels do not meet formally.

The lead members for each expert panel are developing bespoke websites in order to disseminate the outputs of the respective panels. The membership of the expert panels was provided in response to the hon. Member for Welwyn Hatfield (Grant Shapps) on 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1020-21W.

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations she has received from (a) the Welsh Assembly Government and (b) the Chair of the Sustainability Committee of the National Assembly for Wales on their involvement in the development of UK-wide planning legislation. [188171]

John Healey: We have received a number of representations from the Welsh Assembly Government on their involvement in the development of UK-wide planning legislation. I have received representations about the Planning Bill from the Chair of the Sustainability Committee of the National Assembly of Wales, including a copy of the Committee's report on the Bill.

Regeneration

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will publish the report on Alternatives to Casino-led regeneration; on what date the report (a) was commissioned, (b) was originally scheduled for publication and (c) is now expected to be published; and what the cost of producing the report is. [188237]

John Healey: The Review of Alternative Approaches to regional casino-led regeneration will be published shortly.

In July, the Prime Minister said that the Government would consider the question of whether deprived areas could be equally well served by forms of regeneration other than the development of regional casinos. As a part of this process, an interdepartmental working group was set up, the first meeting of which was held on 9 August 2007.

Civil servants have to date devoted a significant amount of time to the investigation of alternatives to regional casino-led regeneration, although the review has not had a specifically dedicated resource. In addition, there has been a cost of approximately £3,000 for the Expert Panel members' time to peer-review the document.

Regional Ministers: Finance

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the administrative costs for the Government offices for the regions are expected to be in the current financial year. [188769]

Mr. Dhanda: The administrative costs of the Government offices for the regions in 2007-08 are expected to be £142,656,000. This includes all funding received from sponsor Departments, including a non-cash allocation and funds that have been provided for the current year for a voluntary early release scheme.

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what budgets the Government offices for the regions are responsible for in the current financial year. [188770]

Mr. Dhanda: The Government offices for the regions have specific responsibility for an administration running cost budget and a capital budget.

Programme budgets administered by the Government offices are the responsibility of the Secretaries of State for the relevant sponsor Departments. The Departments delegate authority to the regional directors to spend against their programmes, though all expenditure incurred is recorded in the accounts of the Department concerned.

Supporting People Programme: Finance

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of recent trends in Supporting People funding in respect of domestic violence (a) refuge provision, (b) women only services and (c) black and minority ethnic women services. [188274]

Mr. Iain Wright: In 2005-06, over £59 million of Supporting People funding was used to provide housing-related support for victims of domestic violence. In 2006-07, the most recent year for which figures are available, that figure had risen to over £61 million. Services are commissioned by top-tier local authorities to meet local needs. The Government have not assessed the funding for specific types of services to which my hon. Friend refers.

Thames Gateway: Resignations

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the reasons for the resignation of Judith Armitt, chief executive of Thames Gateway; and whether Ministers in her Department were consulted by Ms. Armitt on her decision prior to its announcement. [178747]

Caroline Flint: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to my hon. Friend the Member for Thurrock (Andrew Mackinlay) on 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1324W.

Urban Areas: Sustainable Development

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answers of 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1034-5W, on urban areas: sustainable development, what measures, rules, codes of practice, or other guidelines are in place on transparency and propriety in her Department's dealings with property developers in relation to eco-towns; how much financial or other assistance has been received in sponsorship for eco-town events by property developers in Micheldever in the last 12 months; how much is expected in the next 12 months; and if she will make a statement. [186988]

Caroline Flint: All Government officials are bound by the obligations set out in the Civil Service Code. The forthcoming public consultation on eco-towns will be undertaken in line with the Government's Code of Practice on consultations.

The Government have received no sponsorship or financial support from private developers for eco-towns events that they have held, and will not be receiving any future support. Any funding received by a non-governmental organisation for eco-towns events is a matter for that organisation.

TREASURY

Child Benefit

Stephen Williams: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much was spent on (a) child benefit and (b) child tax credit for 16 to 19-year-olds in full-time education and unwaged work-based learning in 2006-07; and how much is planned to be spent on each in (i) 2007-08, (ii) 2008-09, (iii) 2009-10 and (iv) 2010-11. [188043]

Jane Kennedy: The latest information on finalised child tax credit awards is for 2005-06. It is estimated that the entitlement for families with one or more children aged at least 16 at the previous 31 August was about £1.8 billion. This estimate includes entitlement for other children in these families. It also includes families receiving the equivalent level of support via income support or income-based jobseeker's allowance.

In 2006-07, around £1 billion was paid in child benefit to families in respect of children aged at least 16 at the previous August.

Estimates and forecasts for later years are not available.

Child Benefit: Personal Records

Mr. Gauke: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will publish the (a) guidance provided to and (b) training procedures for HM Revenue and Customs staff on access to copying and dissemination of personal data. [168050]

Jane Kennedy: Examples of guidance to HMRC staff are already in the public domain and can be found at http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/manuals

It would not be appropriate to publish more specific details of the data security arrangements, controls and procedures adopted by HMRC to protect personal and other sensitive data as to do so would be likely to undermine their effectiveness.

HMRC is currently reviewing all training procedures and guidance relating to data security following the recent child benefit data loss incident.

Credit

Adam Price: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what information his Department holds on the (a) size and (b) recent trends in growth of the (i) global and (ii) domestic credit default swap market. [187513]

Angela Eagle: There are many statistical sources that provide estimates of the size of the global credit default swap market. Two such resources are the Bank for International Settlements (BIS) and the International Swaps and Derivatives Association (ISDA).

The latest BIS survey published in November 2007 reported the notional amount of outstanding over the counter credit default swaps to be $42.6 trillion in June 2007, up from $28.9 trillion in December 2006 ($13.9 trillion in December 2005).

ISDA reported that the notional amount outstanding of credit derivatives grew by 32 per cent. in the first six months of 2007 to $45.46 trillion from $34.42 trillion. They also reported that the annual growth rate for credit derivatives is 75 per cent. from $26.0 trillion at mid-year 2006.

Adam Price: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether (a) his Department, (b) the Bank of England and (c) the Financial Services Authority have conducted an analysis of the effect on UK financial stability of the growth of the credit default swap market. [187814]

Angela Eagle: Both the Bank of England and the Financial Services Authority routinely analyse developments in the credit default swap market, drawing on their relationships with firms, trade associations and international counterparts. These assessments are shared with HM Treasury through the Tripartite Standing Committee on Financial Stability. The Bank of England publish their analysis in their Quarterly Bulletin and Financial Stability Report.

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many of his Department's civil servants were (a) suspended and (b) dismissed for accessing (i) obscene and (ii) other prohibited material on work computers in each of the last five years. [188779]

Angela Eagle: The Department does not collect data on the number of Treasury staff who have been suspended. The number of staff dismissed for accessing (i) obscene and (ii) other prohibited material in each of the last five years is nil.

Departmental Publications

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will place in the Library copies of the last 12 editions of the staff magazine of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies. [187631]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the former Financial Secretary (Mr. Healey) on 5 February 2007, Official Report, column 737W.

Departmental Translation Services

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much was spent on translation services by his Department, associated agencies and non-departmental public bodies in (a) 2003-04, (b) 2004-05, (c) 2005-06, (d) 2006-07 and (e) in 2007-08 to date. [188003]

Angela Eagle: The Chancellor's Department and its associated agencies have procured translation services over the last five years. However, it is not possible to provide comprehensive details as these could be supplied only at disproportionate cost.

Employment

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what estimate he has made of the number of non-UK citizens in (a) unskilled and (b) semi-skilled employment in the UK in each year since 1997; [177468]

(2) what the working age employment rate of (a) UK nationals and (b) the UK population who were (i) unskilled, (ii) semi-skilled and (iii) skilled workers was in each year since 2001; and what research he has (A) commissioned and (B) evaluated on changes in these employment rates. [177469]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Colin Mowl, dated 25 February 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your two Parliamentary Questions. The first is about the number of (a) UK nationals and (b) the UK 60 million population who were (i) unskilled, (ii) semi-skilled and (iii) skilled workers was in each year since 2001; and what research has been (A) commissioned and (B) evaluated on changes in these employment rates. The second is about the number of non UK citizens in (a) unskilled and (b) semi-skilled employment in the UK in each year since 1997. I am replying in her absence. (177468, 177469)

The data for analysing migrant workers comes from the Labour Force Survey. The National Statistics method for estimating the number of migrant workers employed in the UK is based on the number of people at a given time who were born abroad, are of working age (16 - 64 for men, 16-59 for women), and in employment. However, you have requested data analysed by nationality and this is the basis on which this PQ has been answered.

The attached table gives the number and proportion of UK nationals, foreign nationals and all people in employment, for the three month period ending June each year, from 2001 to 2007. Comparable estimates are not available before 2001. The National Statistics Socio-economic Classification has been used to categorise the population and provide the employment status of each working age adult.

I am advised that the Government has not commissioned research on the changes in the employment rate of skilled and non-skilled workers since 2001. As part of the Leitch Review of Skills, published in 2006, projections of employment demand by skill level and occupation was commissioned from Cambridge Econometrics and the Warwick Institute of Employment Studies. Further information can be found at:

http://www.hm-treasury.gov.uk/independent_reviews/leitch_review/review_leitch_index.cfm

It is important to bear in mind that the Labour Force Survey (LFS) is not designed to cover everyone who is present in the UK. The survey may undercount the numbers of people who were born overseas.

As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will give a break down of the number of people in employment in (a) each region and (b) each local authority area who were (i) UK citizens, (ii) citizens of other EU states and (iii) citizens of non-EU states in (A) spring 2004 and (B) Quarter 2 2007. [177482]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Colin Mowl, dated 25 February 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking for a break down of the number of people in employment in (a) each region and (b) each local authority area who were (i) UK citizens, (ii) citizens of other EU states and (iii) citizens of non-EU states in (A) spring 2004 and (B) Quarter 2 2007. I am replying in her absence. (177482).

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles statistics of employment for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation definitions.

The National Statistics method for estimating the number of migrant workers employed in the UK is based on the number of people at a given time who were born abroad, are of working age (16 - 64 for men, 16 - 59 for women), and in employment. However, you have requested data analysed by nationality and this is the basis on which this PQ has been answered.

It is important to bear in mind that the APS is not designed to cover everyone who is present in the UK. The survey may undercount the numbers of people who are foreign nationals. The reasons are set out in the table footnote.

The APS estimates at this detailed level are only available consistent with population estimates published in February and March 2003 and are not comparable with the estimates published in the Labour Market Statistics First Release on 14 November 2007, which are based on latest population estimates.

Tables 1 and 2, attached, shows estimates for the 12 month periods ending in March 2005 and June 2007 from the APS. Table 1 shows the number of working age employed persons in each Government Office region by nationality. Table 2 shows the number of working age employed persons in each local authority by nationality. Copies of the tables have been placed in the House of Commons Library.

These estimates, as with any from sample surveys, are subject to a margin of uncertainty. Changes in the estimates over time should be treated with particular caution.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Salmond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he will reply to the letter dated 6 December 2007 from the right hon. Member for Banff

Jane Kennedy: The Chancellor of the Exchequer wrote to the hon. Member on 21 February.

Migration

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what the international passenger survey estimate of (a) inward migration, (b) outward migration and (c) the net migration balance was in each year since 1978; [177390]

(2) how many (a) inward and (b) outward migrants to and from the UK there were in each 10-year age cohort in each year since 1997. [177389]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the Nationals Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Colin Mowl, dated 25 February 2008:

The National Statistician has been asked to reply to your questions on how many (a) inward and (b) outward migrants to and from the UK there were in each year 10-year age cohort in each year since 1997 and what the international passenger survey estimate of (a) inward migration, (b) outward migration and (c) the net migration balance was in each year since 1978. I am replying in her absence. (177389, 177390)

Table 1, attached, gives long-term international migration flows into and out of the UK by 10 year age band for 1997 to 2006 (the latest year available).

Table 2, attached, gives the international passenger survey estimate of long-term inward and outward migration flows and net migration balance, in each year since 1978.

The United Nations recommended definition of a long-term international migrant is someone who changes his or her country of usual residence for a period of at least a year, so that the country of destination effectively becomes the country of usual residence. This is used for calculating population estimates and projections.

These data are from the international passenger survey (IPS), the main source for producing estimates of long-term international migration. Total international migration (TIM) estimates are the most comprehensive estimates of international migration and combine the IPS with other migration flows not captured by the IPS. However, the nature of these other data sources and the methods used to produce TIM mean that some queries can only be answered using the IPS. As a sample survey, data from the IPS are subject to margins of error.

However, total international migration estimates are produced by combining migration data from the IPS, Home Office data on asylum seekers, migration data between the UK and the Irish Republic and adjustments for 'switchers', i.e. those whose initial length of stay intentions are not realised.

Minimum Wage

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many companies in each of the last five years were found to be paying their staff below the minimum wage; and what action was taken in each case. [187416]

Jane Kennedy: In the great majority of cases where minimum wage arrears are identified the employer pays any minimum wage arrears without the need for any formal enforcement action. Where arrears are not paid, an Enforcement Notice will be issued setting out the arrears that are considered to be due. An employer will then have 28 days to lodge an appeal and subsequently have his case heard before an Employment Tribunal. If the appeal is not upheld or the Enforcement Notice is not appealed against, the arrears become due.

Details of the number of employers found not to be paying their staff the minimum wage in each of the last five years can be found in the table.

| | Cases of non compliance |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 2,211 |
| 2004-05 | 1,798 |
| 2005-06 | 1,582 |
| 2006-07 | 1,522 |
| 2007-08 year to date | 1,301 |

In line with the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) requirements, each complaint about possible non-payment of NMW is recorded as a case. In a small number of instances, where exceptionally the same employer is the subject of more than one complaint, the same employer will feature in more than one case. The number of cases does not therefore equate exactly with the number of employers for whom arrears have been identified.

Northern Rock

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much has been lent to Northern Rock by the Bank of England and the Treasury. [171171]

Angela Eagle: This is a commercial matter between the Bank of England and Northern Rock.

Revenue and Customs: Buildings

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what fees were paid to private contractors for the operation and maintenance of buildings occupied by HM Revenue and Customs in the last 12 month period for which figures are available. [187593]

Jane Kennedy: HM Revenue and Customs paid £295 million to PFI contractors in the financial year 1 April 2006 to 31 March 2007. This included the cost of provision of over 700 properties under PFI contracts as well as their operation and maintenance.

Revenue and Customs: Correspondence

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff are employed by HM Revenue and Customs to deal with correspondence from the public. [187597]

Jane Kennedy: This information is not available in the format requested and could be collated and provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the average time taken by HM Revenue and Customs staff to reply to correspondence from the public was in the last year for which figures are available. [187602]

Jane Kennedy: The information is not available in the format requested and could be collated and provided only at disproportionate cost.

Share Option Scheme

Alan Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what the value of share options issued by UK-listed companies has been in each of the last five years; [188491]

(2) what the revenues raised from taxation on share options have been in each of the last five years. [188492]

Jane Kennedy: The information requested is not available. Estimates of the value of share options issued by UK-listed companies can be produced only at disproportionate cost. Tax revenues from share options cannot be distinguished from tax revenues from other sources of income and gains.

Tax Allowances: Voluntary Work

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will increase the 40 pence per mile tax ceiling for volunteer car drivers. [188327]

Angela Eagle: As I explained on 12 November 2007 in my reply to the Member's earlier question on this subject, there is no upper ceiling on mileage payments for volunteer car drivers.

Tax Yields

Alan Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what revenue has been raised from taxation of executive bonuses in each of the last five years. [188493]

Jane Kennedy: The information is not available as payments in respect of executive bonuses are not reported separately.

Unemployed: Nottingham

Mr. Allen: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many unemployed people there were in Nottingham North constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007. [187301]

Angela Eagle: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the National Statistician, who has been asked to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 25 February 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question, how many unemployed people there were in Nottingham North in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007. (187301)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics from the Annual Labour Force Survey and Annual Population Survey following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Table 1, attached, show the number of people unemployed, resident in the Nottingham North Parliamentary Constituency for the twelve months ending in February 1998 and June 2007.

This estimate is for a subset of the population in a small geographical area, and is based on small sample sizes, and is therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

ONS also compiles statistics for local areas of people claiming Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA). Table 2, attached, show the number of people, resident in the Nottingham North Parliamentary Constituency claiming in December 1997 and December 2007.

VAT: Vocational Training

Mr. Horam: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will extend VAT exemption to commercial training and skills bodies; and if he will make a statement. [188360]

Jane Kennedy: VAT is not chargeable on education and vocational training provided by non-profit making bodies, local authorities, schools, further education colleges and universities; and certain supplies of private tuition. VAT is also not chargeable on the provision of certain Government approved vocational training by commercial organisations.

While VAT exemption has never extended to all supplies made by all commercial training and skills bodies, the Government will keep the VAT position under careful review alongside the requirements of the European VAT agreements signed by successive Governments, and our broader employment and skills objectives, most recently set out in 'Ready to Work, Skilled for Work: Unlocking Britain's Talent'.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Alcohol-Induced Crime

11. Mr. Mackay: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the effectiveness of measures to combat alcohol-induced crime. [188124]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office and DCMS will publish our report of the impact of the Licensing Act 2003 shortly.

An interim report, published last July, showed that serious violent crime over a whole night fell by five per cent. and that there was a shift in the time that disorder peaked.

We are encouraging local authorities and the police to take decisive action to fine premises or remove licences where there is trouble and we have given the police a range of tools and powers to clamp down on licensees and individuals who abuse the laws.

Identity Fraud

12. Ms Angela C. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her latest estimate is of the annual costs resulting from crimes associated with identity fraud. [188125]

Meg Hillier: In February 2006 we estimated that the cost of identity fraud to the UK economy was £1.7 billion. We are currently engaged in calculating a new estimate based on a new methodology and hope to make an announcement soon.

Identity Cards

13. Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what criteria the Government will use to determine whether an identity card is to be required in order for a public service to be provided. [188126]

Meg Hillier: Identity cards will provide the most reliable and convenient method of proving identity and will help in the more efficient delivery of public services.

However, there are no plans at this stage to make the delivery of particular public services dependent on the production of an identity card.

Post-Charge Detention

14. Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what guidance she has issued on the questioning of those detained after being charged; and if she will make a statement. [188127]

Mr. McNulty: Guidance on questioning after charge is contained in the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 (PACE) Codes of Practice C and H.

Currently, questioning after charge only applies in limited circumstances; where it is necessary to clarify earlier statements, where public safety is at risk, where new evidence comes to light or for intelligence purposes.

The Counter-Terrorism Bill, currently before this House, contains provisions which seek to strengthen questioning after charge in respect of terrorism offences. We are also considering, as part of the Review of PACE currently under way, whether such provisions should be extended to other cases.

Alcohol-Related Crime

15. Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps the Government has taken to prevent alcohol-related street crime in the last 12 months. [188128]

Mr. Coaker: The June 2007 National Alcohol Strategy reinforced the Government's commitment to preventing and reducing alcohol-related crime. As part of this, we have focused on ensuring that enforcement agencies are equipped with the legislative tools to tackle these crimes, and that these powers are robust and proportionate.

In the past year, work has been undertaken on a national basis to raise awareness of these powers among police and trading standards, including the publication of national guidance for police and partnerships on dealing with alcohol-related violence, supported by a DVD, and also through a series of national enforcement campaigns to ensure that alcohol is sold sensibly and responsibly.

Immigration: Economic Effects

16. Mr. Sharma: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent research she has commissioned and evaluated on the effects of immigration on the economy. [188130]

Mr. Byrne: I refer the hon. Member to the October submission by the Home Office and the Department for Work and Pensions to the House of Lords Select Committee on Economic Affairs.

That report provides an overview of recent evidence on the economic impact of immigration, and estimates that in 2006, new migration added about £6 billion to economic growth.

Gun Crime

17. David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the effectiveness of measures to reduce levels of gun crime. [188131]

Mr. Coaker: We have made significant progress in efforts to reduce gun crime since 1997. We have increased enforcement operations, introduced tougher legislation and given more powers to the police and courts to deal with offenders. We are also empowering communities to take local action against guns and criminal gangs.

Stop and Search

18. Judy Mallaber: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what response she has made to the recommendations of the Flanagan Report on the recording of stop and account and stop and search incidents by police officers. [188132]

Mr. McNulty: The Home Secretary's oral statement of 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1140W, welcomed the Flanagan Review proposals and announced that instead of issuing a form we would pilot providing the person stopped with a card, with the encounter being recorded using Airwave police radio technology.

In her statement the Home Secretary also supported Sir Ronnie Flanagan's view that it is right to retain existing recording requirements for stop and searches but called on chief officers to streamline stop and search forms and processes as Sir Ronnie Flanagan advocates.

Antisocial Behaviour Orders

19. John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment her Department has made of the effectiveness of antisocial behaviour orders. [188133]

Mr. Coaker: Three independent reports have confirmed our approach to tackling antisocial behaviour is working. Also, we have appointed IPSOS Mori to undertake a qualitative study investigating the circumstances in which different antisocial behaviour interventions are most effective. Antisocial behaviour orders are just one of these. The outcome is to be published in 2008.

Neighbourhood Policing

20. Anne Snelgrove: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her assessment is of the effectiveness of neighbourhood policing schemes. [188134]

Mr. Coaker: By April, every area will benefit from dedicated, accessible and visible neighbourhood policing teams. Over 3,600 teams are already in place, engaging with their local communities, agreeing priorities and tackling them with community safety partners.

Youth Initiatives

21. Mr. Sheerman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps she is taking to further engage local communities in initiatives to divert young people from antisocial or criminal behaviour. [188135]

Mr. Coaker: The Government funds various initiatives, for instance Positive Futures and Positive Activities for Young People, which exist to divert young people from a number of negative outcomes, including becoming involved in crime and antisocial behaviour. Local authorities have discretion over how they use funding to deliver projects most appropriate for both their young people and their local communities.

Police Bureaucracy

22. Chris Mole: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the effect of implementation of the recommendations of the Flanagan report on levels of police bureaucracy. [188136]

Mr. McNulty: In his report of 7 February, Sir Ronnie Flanagan identified a number of initiatives, which if implemented would free up time equivalent to 2,500 to 3,500 extra police officers. We welcomed these recommendations on the day and in our forthcoming Green Paper will set our proposed actions to turn this into a reality.

Ama Sumani

Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will reconsider the procedures used in removals to Ghana following the recent case of Ama Sumani. [184185]

Mr. Byrne: There are no plans to change procedures for removals to Ghana. Each case will continue to be assessed and reviewed in accordance with existing legislation and guidance.

Anabolic Steroids: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the number of people who (a) took anabolic steroids and (b) took anabolic steroids for non-medical reasons in each year since 1997. [186318]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Information is not held on (a) the number of people who have taken anabolic steroids since 1997. The number of prescription items for anabolic steroids which were dispensed in the community in England are contained in table 1 and shows steady decline over the last 10 years.

Estimates on (b) the proportion of 16-59 year olds in England and Wales who have taken anabolic steroids for non-medical reasons are available from the British Crime Survey (BCS) and are included in table 2 which also shows a decline in use since 1996 when questions were first included in the survey.

Assets Recovery Agency

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what progress the Assets Recovery Agency is making in recovering assets under the Proceeds of Crime Act 2002. [187099]

Mr. Coaker: Since its inception in 2003 the Assets Recovery Agency has used its exclusive powers under the Proceeds of Crime Act in relation to civil recovery and tax as well as providing support to outside agencies in securing criminal confiscation orders. The Agency's Centre of Excellence has consistently delivered against its targets for the delivery of financial investigation courses. Key results are provided in the following table.

The agency has also established important case law with regards to civil recovery legislation and spent considerable time working with the Home Office, Department of Constitutional Affairs and the Attorney General's Office to identify ways in which to speed up case progression and reduce costs.

The agency was pleased to announce in its 2006-07 Annual Report that it had, for the first time, been successful in meeting its cost recovery target, having recovered more money than the agency is granted by the Treasury. Furthermore, during the lifetime of the agency it has had success in concluding cases to the value of £97.2 million and gained enforcement receipts of £28.2 million. A notable recent success was a joint investigation between the Assets Recovery Agency, Thames Valley police and the Serious Fraud Office, which led to a confiscation order worth nearly £41 million—the largest believed to have been secured under criminal proceedings to date.

Asylum: Sudan

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the findings of her Department's inquiry into the alleged illegal interviews of Darfuris with an active asylum case by a Sudanese embassy official in Home Office facilities in March and April 2007 will be published. [187457]

Mr. Byrne: Investigations are currently still ongoing and we expect to reach a conclusion in the near future. Until the investigation is completed, the Border and Immigration Agency will not be in a position to comment.

Border and Immigration Agency: Correspondence

Clare Short: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she expects the Border and Immigration Agency to reply to the letter from the hon. Member for Birmingham, Ladywood of 27 November 2007, on behalf of Mohammed Hussain Aziz (Home Office reference: A1024255, acknowledgement reference: B3422817). [184753]

Mr. Byrne: I am sorry for the delay. The Border and Immigration Agency replied to the right hon. Member on 6 February 2008.

British Nationality

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what estimate her Department has made of the number of people eligible for UK citizenship as a result of their ancestry who have not taken up citizenship; [187852]

(2) how many people were granted UK citizenship as a result of their ancestry in each of the last five years for which figures are available. [187881]

Mr. Byrne: The requested information is not available

There is no provision by which someone can gain British citizenship on the basis of United Kingdom 'ancestry'.

Those with a United Kingdom born father, or a mother born in the United Kingdom after 1 January 1983, will normally acquire citizenship automatically.

Those Commonwealth citizens who can apply for ancestry visas to enter the United Kingdom, on the basis of having a United Kingdom born grandparent, do not have a specific avenue to acquire citizenship on similar grounds. They would need to qualify for naturalisation in the usual way. There is no way of establishing how many of those naturalised had a United Kingdom born grandparent.

British Nationality: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people resident in Tamworth constituency have become naturalised UK citizens since 2005. [187853]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested could be obtained only through the detailed examination of individual case records at disproportionate cost.

Capita

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was paid by her Department to Capita Group plc and its subsidiaries in each financial year since 2000; which contracts were awarded by her Department to Capita Group plc in each year from 2000-01 to the most recent available date; what the cost was of each contract; what penalties for default were imposed in contract provisions; what the length was of each contract; whether the contract was advertised; how many companies applied for the contract; how many were short-listed; what criteria were used for choosing a company; what provision was made for renewal without re-tender in each case; and if she will make a statement. [180689]

Mr. Byrne: Home Office HQ figures on the total value of spend on contracts with the Capita Group and its subsidiaries are available from 2003-04 when the Department's ERP system was initiated. Earlier data could be collected only at disproportionate cost. Taking into account the May 2007 machinery of government changes, the available information held by the Department and its agencies on spend for each year since 2000 is as follows:

| | HO HQ incl. BIA | CRB | IPS | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2000-01 | n/a | 0 | 1,482,985 | 1,482,985 |
| 2001-02 | n/a | 12,100,000 | 198,290 | 12,298,290 |
| 2002-03 | n/a | 33,500,000 | 65,108 | 33,565,108 |
| 2003-04 | 92,423 | 58,500,000 | 31,091 | 58,623,514 |
| 2004-05 | 1,182,337 | 44,100,000 | 974,281 | 46,256,618 |
| 2005-06 | 1,739,153 | 47,000,000 | 4,452,623 | 53,191,776 |
| 2006-07 | 3,985,112 | 49,000,000 | 7,053,127 | 60,038,239 |

The Department does not hold a central record of individual contracts with Capita Group and its subsidiaries, and to assemble all the requested details from all individual contract records would incur disproportionate cost. The majority of the spend derives from the disclosure service contract between the Criminal Records Bureau and Capita Business Services based upon a public private partnership agreement. The Department is able to provide the information in relation to this contract as set out in the following table.

The contract was awarded in 2000 and runs for 10 years from CRB go-live which occurred in March 2002. The contract cost is estimated at £400 million over 10 years. Contract schedules set out service levels and the service credits that apply should Capita fail to meet the agreed service levels. Liquidated damages are charged in the event of late delivery to agreed changes in the service. From 2001-02, the following payments have been received from Capita for service credits and liquidated damages:

| | Received from Capita for service credits (£) |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 555,000 |
| 2002-03 | 1,718,000 |
| 2003-04 | 1,528,000 |
| 2004-05 | 53,000 |
| 2005-06 | 92,000 |
| 2006-07 | 168,000 |

The Department awards contracts in competition according to the EU procurement directives based on value for money. The contract was advertised and 94 companies registered expressions of interest.

Correspondence: National Assembly for Wales

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether she has replied to the recent Welsh Assembly Government letter on police pay. [188190]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 22 February 2008]: A reply was sent on 20 February 2008.

Crime

Ms Buck: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the victimisation rate per 1,000 people was for all crimes in (a) England, (b) each English region and (c) each London local authority area in each of the last 10 years. [185898]

Mr. Coaker: The British Crime Survey (BCS) reports victimisation rates as the proportion of the population who have been a victim once or more in the 12 months prior to interview. Trends in the percentage of adults who were victims of all BCS crime for years are shown in the following table for (a) England and (b) each English region.

Prior to 2001-02 the BCS did not run continuously so information for all years requested is not available. Estimates for English regions are not available prior to 2001-02 nor is it possible to provide (c) estimates for each London local authority area from the BCS as the sample was not designed to provide such breakdowns.

Crime Prevention

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps she has taken to reduce crime in and around schools in (a) England and (b) Enfield. [186999]

Mr. Coaker: Nationally, the Government are committed to improving the life chances of children and young people, by having fewer young people affected by crime and reduce youth victimisation.

The main initiative to tackle crime on and around school premises has been the Safer School Partnerships (SSPs) originally launched in 2002.

SSPs are a successful mechanism for ensuring structured joint working between schools and police, to identify and support children and young people regarded as being at high risk of victimisation, offending and social exclusion. There are now about 500 SSPs of one form or another across the country. Evaluations have shown that they are proving effective in improving behaviour and attendance, developing strong and positive relationships between the police and young people, and to help young people develop a sense of being part of the local community.

Because of the proven success of SSPs, the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) has been working closely with the Home Office, the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) and the Youth Justice Board (YJB) to encourage more schools and police to engage in this type of early intervention and preventative work which is so vital to achieving the outcomes we are all committed to.

There is already a great deal of work going on across Government to tackle offenders and help vulnerable young people achieve the Every Child Matters outcome to 'Stay Safe'. Initiatives include Youth Inclusion Support Panels and the Youth Inclusion Programme. And since 2004, we have invested over £45 million in Youth Offending Teams which have pioneered antisocial behaviour prevention activities for young people at most risk. Their work includes:

Youth Inclusion Support Panels and;

Youth Inclusion Programmes.

The Home Office has invested in other prevention programmes such as Positive Futures. Around 22,000 young people are currently involved in Positive Futures projects nationwide.

In Enfield there are numerous schemes available to support and divert young people from crime and disorder which contribute to reducing crime in and around schools.

Enfield has the largest secondary school population in London, including 11 per cent. of pupils who travel into the borough to attend school and as a result, it has one of the largest Safer Schools teams in the Met. This ensures that every secondary school in the borough has a dedicated officer. This team also runs activities in the half term and holidays for youth diversion purposes.

Through the Enfield Strategic Partnership, the borough secured the funding for a dedicated Police Youth Inspector and Sergeant to co-ordinate Youth Activity across the borough. It also has Safer Neighbourhood Teams who run youth clubs, boxing clubs and football clubs.

The Youth Offending Service (YOS) runs the YISP—Youth Inclusion Support Panel—scheme that all bodies can refer into for eight to 17-year-olds. There is also the Kickz project run jointly by the Football Foundation (Spurs) and Metropolitan Police in one part of the borough and very soon there will be a second site. On top of this, Enfield uses LAA funding (previously) Safer and Stronger Communities Funding to provide various youth diversion and enforcement activities (e.g. knife arch purchases, youth diversion work, funding for boxing, judo, clubs, street pastors and so on).

Crime: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of trends in crime detection rates in Tamworth over (a) the last 12 months and (b) the last five years. [187758]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not available centrally for Tamworth. While detections data are available for basic command units (BCUs), Tamworth is not a BCU.

Departmental Accountancy

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what items of her Department's (a) revenue and (b) expenditure are uprated using (i) the consumer prices index, (ii) the retail prices index and (iii) other measures of inflation. [179942]

Mr. Byrne: The Home Office raises revenues from fees for a number of services. These include charges for passports, managed migration and the fees charged by the criminal records bureau. The costs are uprated based on modelling of the future costs of providing these services. This is based on a range of factors including demand projections, the contracts involved and the general rate of inflation.

Expenditure plans on Home Office business are based on business planning in support of the Department's role in leading the Government-wide strategy to counter terrorism in the UK alongside responsibility for policing, crime reduction, borders and immigration, identity and passports. These plans will be based on forecast activities and costs, including the reinvestment of Value for Money gains.

Departmental Data Protection

Dr. Cable: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) when each electronic database in her Department containing personal information on members of the public was first created; [169719]

(2) how many security breaches relating to access to personal data occurred within her Department in each year since 1997; [169720]

(3) how many staff of each grade have access to electronic databases in her Department which contain personal information on members of the public; [169721]

(4) how many times databases in her Department containing personal information on members of the public have been accessed in each month of the last five years; [169722]

(5) how many times databases in her Department containing personal information on members of the public have been transferred (a) physically and (b) electronically in each year since 1997; [169723]

(6) how many requests her Department has received from the National Audit Office for access to its databases containing personal information on members of the public in each year since 1997; [169724]

(7) what provisions her Department has in place to ensure that its databases containing personal information on members of the public are not accessed (a) by unauthorised staff and (b) for unauthorised purposes. [169725]

Mr. Byrne: I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister on 21 November 2007, Official Report, column 1179W.

The review by the Cabinet Secretary and security experts is looking at procedures within Departments and agencies for the storage and use of data. A statement on Departments' procedures will be made on completion of the review.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) on how many occasions there have been data security breaches in her Department in the last year; [180374]

(2) on how many occasions officials in her Department and its agencies have been disciplined for breaching departmental guidelines on data security in the last 12 months; [180375]

(3) how many times officials in her Department and its agencies have been disciplined for breaching the terms of the Data Protection Act in the last 12 months. [180439]

Mr. Byrne: Except in exceptional cases, when it is in the public interest, it has been the policy of successive Governments not to comment on breaches of security.

Departmental ICT

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what obligations her Department and its agencies place on contractors in relation to the audit of personal data and IT equipment. [176464]

Mr. Byrne: Home Department contracts include obligations on the contractor to comply with legislative requirements such as the Data Protection Act 1998 and these are set out in our model terms and conditions. Those contracts with ICT obligations have more specific audit requirements incorporated into their contracts. All personal data are to be protected in accordance with legislative requirements.

The individual business units within the Home Department develop and review policy, procedures and processes with regard to their own security and data handling requirements and central guidance and policies such as that issued by the Cabinet Office.

Departmental Pay

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 29 November 2007, Official Report, column 648W, on departmental pay, how many of those earning over £100,000 were employed (a) as special advisers and (b) in a political role in each year since 1997. [177180]

Mr. Byrne: The Home Office has employed no one as (a) a special adviser or (b) in a political role in the Home Office on a salary in excess of £100,000 since 1997.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by her Department in each of the last 10 years. [183298]

Mr. Byrne: The Department does not hold central records of all the vehicles owned and purchased in each of the last 10 years. To obtain the information requested would incur disproportionate costs.

Information on the number of vehicles owned and purchased over the last five financial years as follows:

Fleet vehicles owned and purchased by Home Office over last five financial years

| | Vehicles purchased | Vehicles owned |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 193 | 1,387 |
| 2003-04 | 134 | 1,407 |
| 2004-05 | 88 | 1,436 |
| 2005-06 | 235 | 1,385 |
| 2006-07 | 146 | 1,512 |

Deportation

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her policy is on the deportation of individuals who are not entitled to remain in the country but who have taken cases to employment tribunals. [186356]

Mr. Byrne: Information on the policy of deportation of individuals who are not entitled to remain in the country but who have taken cases to employment tribunals is available to view in the Operational Enforcement Manual (OEM) at Chapter 21.1. Copies of the OEM are placed in the Libraries of both Houses. It is also available to view at:

http://www.bia.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/policyandlaw/oem/oemsectionc/

Deportation: Police Custody

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many hours detainees awaiting deportation spent in police custody in (a) Cambridgeshire and (b) England and Wales in 2006; and at what cost to the public purse. [187320]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested could be obtained by the detailed examination of individual case records only at disproportionate cost.

Domestic Violence: Reoffenders

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what percentage of people found guilty of domestic violence offences went on to re-offend in the last period for which figures are available. [187898]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not available.

Dual Nationality

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many UK citizens are also citizens of another nation state; and if she will list in order the 10 other nation states with which such citizens most frequently hold dual nationality. [187880]

Mr. Byrne: The requested information is not available.

The Border and Immigration Agency records details of the nationality of applicants at the time that a citizenship application is received. It does not have information in respect of those who subsequently renounce that nationality or in respect of British Citizens who hold or apply for citizenship of another country.

Emergency Calls

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many calls were made to the police last year using the (a) 999 emergency number and (b) non-emergency 0845 6070999 number. [186758]

Mr. McNulty: The information is as follows:

(a) Data on the number of emergency calls made to the police are published in the Annual Reports of Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC). The latest available data refer to the 2004-05 financial year, and can be found in Figure 8 of the HMIC Annual Report 2004-05. This publication is available via the Home Office website at:

http://www.official-documents.gov.uk/document/hc0506/hc08/0842/0842.pdf

The total number of 999 calls received by the police forces of England and Wales for the year 2004-05 was 10,243,515.

(b) Data on the number of non-emergency calls made to the police are not collected centrally.

Entry Clearances: Doctors

Miss Kirkbride: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Worthing, West (Peter Bottomley) of 28 January 2008, Official Report, column 98W, on entry clearances: doctors, how many of the 2,095 doctors who were awarded highly skilled migrant status between 6 February and 31 December 2007 (a) were of each medical or surgical specialty and (b) were making an application for a (i) new and (ii) renewed permit. [186125]

Mr. Byrne: This information is not centrally recorded and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Entry Clearances: Forced Marriages

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department on how many (a) marriage visa and (b) indefinite leave to remain applications representations about forced marriage have been received in each of the last five years; how many of those applications have been granted; and how many representations on forced marriage have been (i) investigated and (ii) resulted in refusal of the application in each of the last five years. [186679]

Mr. Byrne: Grants and refusals of applications for marriage visas, and grants and refusals of applications made after entry are recorded but these are overall figures and do not reflect the degree of detail requested.

The information requested would require us to examine individual case-files which could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Extradition

Mr. Boswell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people were detained in the UK solely in connection with extradition procedures initiated by a foreign authority in the latest period for which figures are available. [185348]

Meg Hillier: There are currently 256 people on remand in connection with extradition proceedings in England and Wales. 27 of these are in custody in relation to separate, domestic offences. Therefore, there are currently 229 people on remand solely in connection with extradition proceedings in England and Wales (figures correct as of 15 February 2008).

Eyesight

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the merits of the provision of laser eye surgery for personnel within her responsibilities with visual defects to improve their operational effectiveness. [183205]

Mr. Byrne: No formal assessment has been made but the Department does not normally assist staff with arranging any medical treatment.

Facilitated Returns Scheme

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many foreign national prisoners received grants under the Facilitated Returns Scheme in each of the last five years; and what the (a) average and (b) largest grant paid was. [180667]

Mr. Byrne: The Facilitated Returns Scheme was announced in October 2006 and has resulted in well over 1,000 foreign national prisoners leaving the country. The level of cash support provided has always been £46.

Foreign Nationals

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many foreign nationals have been convicted of living off immoral earnings of prostitutes; and how many have been subsequently deported from the UK as a result of these crimes in each year since 1999; [181111]

(2) how many foreign nationals have been convicted of offences relating to assisting or facilitating illegal entry into the UK; and how many had subsequently been deported as a result of such convictions in each year since 1997; [181112]

(3) how many foreign nationals have been convicted (a) of trafficking people into the UK and (b) trafficking people within the UK for sexual exploitation; and how many have subsequently been deported from the UK as a result of such convictions in each year since the offences came into law; [181115]

(4) how many foreign nationals have been convicted of exercising control over a prostitute; and how many such people have been deported subsequently from the United Kingdom as a result of such a conviction in each year since 1997. [181116]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through examination of individual file records held by Ministry of Justice and Border and Immigration Agency at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency has regularly written to the Home Affairs Committee over the past 18 months and provided the most accurate and robust information available relating to foreign national prisoners. She advised the Home Affairs Committee, during her appearance before them on 15 January, that more than 4,200 foreign national prisoners were removed or deported from the UK in 2007. The Home Secretary has also confirmed that this included more than 20 killers, more than 200 sex offenders and more than 1,100 drug offenders.

Foreign Workers: Doctors

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department, what percentage of doctors who settled in the United Kingdom in 2007 were (a) non-EU and (b) EU foreign nationals. [187157]

Mr. Byrne: European Economic Area nationals are entitled to free movement and do not require leave to settle in the United Kingdom. Therefore, the requested percentages cannot be calculated.

Foreigners: Identity Cards

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether foreign nationals will be required to carry identity cards with them at all times within the UK; and whether the police will have powers to arrest and detain anyone whom they believe to be a foreign national until such time as their identity is proved. [186469]

Mr. Byrne: The UK Borders Act 2007 expressly provides that regulations may not make provision to require a person to carry an identity card for foreign nationals at all times. The police may arrest and detain a person but only where there is suspected involvement in an offence and not simply because they believe the person to be a foreign national.

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department in what ways the requirement for foreign nationals to have identity cards within the UK will be monitored; and what assessment she has made of the likely effect of such monitoring on community relations. [186470]

Mr. Byrne: When the new requirement for foreign nationals to apply for an identity card under the UK Borders Act 2007 commences this year, we will record how many cards we issue—and to whom. Details of our roll-out strategy will shortly be published. We do not expect the new requirements to affect community relations, although we are presently engaging with the Commission for Equality and Human Rights about this.

Frontiers: Personal Records

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the general specifications and capability of the new system for monitoring travellers to and from UK ports of entry are; and what the timetable for its introduction is. [186471]

Mr. Byrne: The e-Borders programme is a key component of the Government's wider strategy to strengthen and modernise border controls. It is designed to complement the UK counter-terrorism strategy. The main purpose of the e-Borders programme is to collect and analyse passenger, service and crew data provided by carriers (air, sea and rail), in respect of all journeys to and from the United Kingdom in advance of their travel, supporting an intelligence-led approach to operating border controls.

The contract to deliver the e-Borders system was awarded to the Trusted Borders Consortium in November 2007. The programme will begin counting foreign nationals in and out of the country from October 2008, building upon the carrier data already captured in the Semaphore pilot. There will be a ramping up of existing capability in 2008 to handle data for 100 million (annualised) passenger movements by April 2009. The e-Borders operations centre (e-BOC) will be established by mid-2009 at the earliest, providing capture and watch list assessment of passenger data for an initially limited number of high priority passenger routes. The three stages of capability delivery are bound by the following milestones:

December 2009: Initial Operating Capability—which will deliver the capability to process 60 per cent. of passenger movements into and out of the UK;

December 2010: Major Operating Capability—which will deliver the capability to process 95 per cent. of passenger movements into and out of the UK and March 2014: Full Operating Capability.

Genetics: Databases

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department or individual police forces will pay for (a) technology, (b)

equipment and (c) training that will enable police forces access to the National Identity Register when it becomes operational; and what she expects the costs to be for each police force area. [171057]

Meg Hillier: Police forces or other organisations that will benefit from the provision of identity information from the National Identity Register would bear the cost of any equipment or training that they may require. No estimate of any such costs is available. However, as identity cards will be introduced incrementally, it is unlikely that any large investment would be needed at the beginning of the scheme and any costs associated with the provision of information would be phased in gradually as the national identity scheme itself grows.

Identity and Passport Service: Data Protection

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many incidents of (a) data loss and (b) data security breaches reported in the Identity and Passport Service and its predecessor agencies in each of the last five years. [181627]

Mr. Byrne: Except in exceptional cases, when it is in the public interest, it has been the policy of successive Governments not to comment on breaches of security.

Illegal Immigrants

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent estimate has been made of the number of illegal immigrants in the UK. [180043]

Mr. Byrne: No Government have ever been able to produce an accurate figure for the number of people who are in the country illegally. By its very nature it is impossible to quantify accurately and that remains the case.

Exit controls were phased out from 1994. As part of the Government's 10-point plan for delivery, by Christmas 2008 the majority of foreign nationals will be counted in and out of the country. This will build on the successes of our early testing of the e-Borders programme (Project Semaphore) which already covers over 30 million passenger movements and has led to 18,000 alerts and more than 1,500 arrests.

This is part of a sweeping programme of border protection which also includes the global roll-out of fingerprint visas, compulsory watch-list checks for all travellers from high-risk countries before they land in Britain and ID cards for foreign nationals.

Immigration

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) whether her Department has received representations from the Church of England on the points-based immigration system; [185472]

(2) whether (a) the Church of England, (b) its dioceses and (c) its individual parishes will be entitled to obtain licences to sponsor immigrants; [185477]

(3) whether (a) the Roman Catholic Church, (b) its dioceses and (c) its individual parishes will be entitled to obtain licences to sponsor immigrants. [185478]

Mr. Byrne: The Border and Immigration Agency is discussing with the Church of England our proposals for the points based system of migration.

Religious organisations, including the Church of England and the Roman Catholic Church, will be entitled to apply to the Border and Immigration Agency for a licence to sponsor migrants. They will be free to decide at what level they seek registration.

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many applications for (a) indefinite leave to remain in the UK and (b) a travel document are awaiting a decision from the Border and Immigration Agency; [188044]

(2) what the current average time for processing applications is for (a) indefinite leave to remain in the UK and (b) a travel document at the Border and Immigration Agency. [188045]

Mr. Byrne: Information on the total number of indefinite leave to remain applications awaiting decision is not held centrally and would require extensive examination of cases held in the regions and other areas of BIA attracting a disproportionate cost.

There are 972 applications awaiting a decision within the travel document section of BIA.

Statistical information on time taken to process applications is not collated.

Service standards are published annually on the BIA website in the form of general caseworking service standards reports. These cover both charged (those with an associated fee) and non-charged applications. While such reports can provide overall performance against targets, they do not differentiate between different streams of casework, such as indefinite leave to remain or those applying for travel documents.

The current published standards for processing charged applications are 70 per cent. of postal applications to be decided within 20 working days, with 90 per cent. of postal applications decided within 70 working days. For charged applications made in person at the Public Enquiry Office we aim to complete 98 per cent. of applications in 24 hours.

For non-charged postal applications we will decide 25 per cent. within 20 working days and 30 per cent. within 70 working days. For non-charged applications made in person at the Public Enquiry Office we aim to complete 98 per cent. of applications in 24 hours.

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many representations her Department has received from hon. Members on delays in processing applications for (a) indefinite leave to remain in the UK and (b) travel documents at the Border and Immigration Agency; [188046]

(2) how many applications for (a) indefinite leave to remain in the UK and (b) a travel document at the Border and Immigration Agency have been expedited or treated as a priority following representations by hon. Members in each of the last five years. [188047]

Mr. Byrne: Although the making of representations from hon. Members is recorded on a correspondence tracking system (CTS), the purpose of this system is to monitor the timeliness of replies. The information recorded is limited and does not include the subject matter of the letter or the outcome of the case.

As there is no link between CTS and the system on which casework decisions and the issue of travel documents are recorded (the case working information database—CID), it is not possible to link decisions made to representations lodged by hon. Members. Similarly, it is not possible to arrive at an assessment of any priority accorded. Priority may be accorded for a number of reasons, such as the serious illness of a close family member. In these circumstances, the information requested could be obtained only by the detailed examination of individual case records, at disproportionate cost.

I can, however, assure the hon. Member that all representations received are taken into account before decisions are made and that careful consideration is given to any exceptional facts and circumstances which might warrant urgent consideration.

Immigration Officers: Crimes of Violence

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of complaints of assault against staff involved in removals from the United Kingdom were upheld in each of the last three years. [184945]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 6 February 2008]: This information has only been held centrally since October 2006 and relates to contractors' staff involved in the detention and overseas escort process only. Of the 51 complaints of assault made to date, two have been upheld.

Immigration: Armed Forces

Lady Hermon: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what percentage of people eligible to apply for residence in the United Kingdom by virtue of providing assistance to UK armed forces (a) have been granted residence, (b) have been refused and (c) have their applications yet to be processed. [186163]

Mr. Byrne: As of 12 February 2008, of those staff who have contacted Her Majesty's Government, 293 people are eligible to apply for residence in the United Kingdom by virtue of providing assistance to the UK armed forces in Iraq. None have yet been granted residence. 93 have chosen not to opt for resettlement, and a further five have withdrawn their interest in resettlement. One has been refused.

Of the remainder, 103 have yet to decide which form of assistance to choose; 84 are under initial consideration for eligibility for the Gateway resettlement programme and seven have expressed an interest in indefinite leave to enter the UK but have not submitted their applications to UK Visas.

Immigration: Detention Centres

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many of those held in immigration detention centres have previously served prison sentences in England and Wales. [187106]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through the detailed examination and cross referencing of information held by the Border and Immigration Agency and Ministry of Justice at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency advised the Home Affairs Committee in her letter of 17 December that there were approximately 1,200 foreign nationals prisoners held in the Border and Immigration Agency detention estate where deportation action was being pursued.

Migrant Workers

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many people from (a) Cyprus, (b) the Czech Republic, (c) Estonia, (d) Hungary, (e) Latvia, (f) Lithuania, (g) Malta, (h) Poland, (i) Slovakia and (j) Slovenia held UK working visas on 1 May 2004, broken down by type of visa; and what guidance is provided to such people on steps they are required to take once their visas have expired if they want to keep working in the UK; [185108]

(2) what guidance her Department provided to employers on the legal implications of employing individuals from member states who joined the EU on 1 May 2004; [185109]

(3) how many people from (a) Cyprus, (b) the Czech Republic, (c) Estonia, (d) Hungary, (e) Latvia, (f) Lithuania, (g) Malta, (h) Poland, (i) Slovakia and (j) Slovenia have left the worker registration scheme having worked in the UK continuously for 12 months. [185111]

Mr. Byrne: Information on the number of nationals from the 2004 accession states who held a UK working visa on 1 May 2004 could be obtained only by detailed examination of individual case records at disproportionate cost.

The Home Office has published guidance on the worker registration scheme for 'A8' nationals, those from the 2004 accession states excluding Cyprus and Malta, and employers. This includes a booklet entitled "Living and Working in the UK", detailing their rights and responsibilities from 1 May 2004. This is available on the Border and Immigration Agency website:

http://www.bia.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/workingintheuk/wrsleaflet

A copy will be placed in the House Library.

The number of 'A8' nationals who have left the worker registration scheme is not known as there is no requirement to "de-register" once an individual has worked in the UK continuously for 12 months. The "Accession Monitoring Report May 2004 to September 2007" gives information on 'A8' nationals and their intended length of stay. This is available on the Border and Immigration Agency website:

http://www.bia.homeoffice.gov.uk/sitecontent/documents/aboutus/Reports/accession_monitoring_report/

A copy is available in the House Library.

Nationals of Cyprus and Malta are not required to register on the worker registration scheme and are not subject to those conditions placed on nationals from the 'A8' countries.

Naturalisation

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people have been naturalised as UK citizens in each London borough since 2005. [186145]

Mr. Byrne: Statistics on persons attending a British citizenship ceremony by region and authority 2005-06 are published in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin 'Persons Granted British Citizenship United Kingdom, 2006'.

This publication may be obtained from the Library of the House and from the Home Office Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration1.html

Naturalisation: Assessments

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many failed citizenship tests there were in 2006-07; what happened to the failed applicant in each case; and if she will make a statement. [185321]

Mr. Byrne: During 2006, there were 50,476 Life on the UK tests taken that resulted in failures and 93,421 during 2007.

Candidates who fail the test are not tracked through the system so it is not possible to state what action candidates took following a failure. There is no limit on how many times a candidate may take the test.

Candidates who fail the Life in the UK test and who still want to apply for permanent settlement or nationality must either retake and pass the test to satisfy the Knowledge of Life requirement or successfully complete an appropriate ESOL course.

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much providing citizenship tests in Essex cost the public purse in the last year for which figures are available; and how many such applicants were successful. [185322]

Mr. Byrne: The Department has a commercial contract with the University for Industry (Ufi) to provide the Life in the UK test. Candidates taking the Life in the UK test pay a fee of £34 to the test centre. There is no limit on how many times a candidate may take the test and the fee is payable each time a test is taken. The fee is set at a level to meet the costs of delivering the overall testing service. There are currently no plans to change the fee.

Test results are recorded against the test centre where the test is taken, but it is not possible to provide a breakdown of the figures for Essex. Candidates may take the test at any test centre, but it is known that many candidates take the test at a location convenient to their place of employment rather than their place of residence.

Offenders: Deportation

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many immigrants were convicted of crimes in each of the last five years; and what proportion of these offenders have subsequently been deported. [186900]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through the detailed examination and cross-referencing of individual case records held by the Border and Immigration Agency and the Ministry of Justice at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency appeared before the Home Affairs Committee on 15 January and advised that over 4,200 foreign national prisoners had been removed or deported from the UK in 2007, exceeding the Prime Minister's target, which was an increase of around 80 per cent. compared to 2006.

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what progress she has made in deporting foreign nationals from English prisons. [186964]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency regularly updates the Home Affairs Committee with the most robust and up to date information on the progress of deporting foreign national prisoners. She appeared before the Committee on 15 January and advised that over 4,200 foreign nationals prisoners had been removed or deported from the UK in 2007, exceeding the Prime Minister' target, which was an increase of around 80 per cent. compared to 2006. The Home Secretary has also confirmed that this included more than 1,100 drug offenders, more than 200 sex offenders and more than 20 killers.

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what representations have been made to prison authorities by the Border and Immigration Agency on the deportation of foreign criminals serving custodial sentences of less than 12 months; and if she will make a statement. [177341]

Mr. Byrne: Monthly liaison meetings are held between all relevant parties in Ministry of Justice and Border and Immigration Agency to consider general issues and specific cases.

The Border and Immigration Agency deported over 4,200 foreign national prisoners from the United Kingdom in 2007. A large number of these individuals were deported following completion of custodial sentences lasting less than 12 months and that will continue to be the case for any future deportations that take place.

The BIA routinely considers for deportation those serving less than 12 months sentences. The chief executive recently appeared before the Home Affairs Committee and advised that the focus is on deporting the most serious criminals first, but we are already deporting a significant number of criminals whose sentences are either less than 12 months, for instance where a court recommends deportation, or where they have had a number of sentences of less than 12 months but those aggregate to 12 months overall.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many non-EU citizens serving prison sentences in respect of (a) sexual and (b) violent offences have been released from custody on completion of their sentence since 1 January 2007; and how many such prisoners have been deported or otherwise removed from the UK. [177343]

Mr. Byrne: We have made it clear that our priority is to protect the public by ensuring that foreign national prisoners are not released without first being considered for deportation. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency advised the Home Affairs Committee on 15 January that more than 4,200 foreign national prisoners were deported from the United Kingdom. The Home Secretary has also announced that this included more than 20 killers, more than 200 sex offenders and more than 1,100 drug offenders.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many non-EU citizens have received custodial sentences for (a) sexual and (b) violent offences of (i) less and (ii) more than 12 months in each year since 1997; and how many such offenders (A) are in custody serving their sentence or otherwise and (B) have been deported or otherwise removed from the UK. [177347]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested is not collated by the Border and Immigration Agency (BIA) and can be obtained through the detailed examination of individual case files only at disproportionate cost.

The chief executive of the BIA advised the Home Affairs Committee on 15 January that over 4,200 foreign national prisoners from the United Kingdom had been removed or deported in 2007. The Home Secretary has also confirmed that this includes more than 1,100 drug offenders, more than 200 sex offenders and more than 20 killers. A large number of these individuals were deported following completion of custodial sentences lasting less than 12 months and that will continue to be the case for any future deportations that take place.

During her recent appearance before the Home Affairs Committee the Chief Executive of the BIA advised that the focus is on deporting the most serious criminals first, but we are already deporting a significant number of criminals whose sentences are either less than 12 months, for instance where a court recommends deportation, or where they have had a number of sentences of less than 12 months but those aggregate to 12 months overall.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many of the 4,000 prisoners deported in 2007 were serving sentences of (a) two years or less, (b) 12 months or less and (c) 12 months or less for offences of a violent or sexual nature. [177402]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through examination of individual file records at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency has regularly written to the Home Affairs Committee over the past 18 months and provided the most accurate and robust information available relating to foreign national prisoners. She advised the Home Affairs Committee, during her appearance before them on 15 January, that more than 4,200 foreign national prisoners were removed or deported from the UK in 2007. The Home Secretary has also confirmed that this included more than 20 killers, more than 200 sex offenders and more than 1,100 drug offenders.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many EU prisoners have been (a) considered for deportation and deported, (b) considered for deportation and not deported, (c) deported following a recommendation from a judge for deportation and (d) allowed to remain in the UK on the completion of the custodial part of their sentence even though made the subject of a recommendation by a judge for deportation in each year since 1997. [177403]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through examination of individual file records at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency advised the Home Affairs Committee, during her appearance before them on 15 January, that more than 4,200 foreign national prisoners were removed or deported from the UK in 2007. More than 500 of these were nationals from European economic area countries.

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of foreign nationals detained in HMP Peterborough were removed and deported under the auspices of the Border and Immigration Agency at the conclusion of their sentence in each month since May 2006; and if she will make a statement. [178268]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 15 January 2008]: The information requested can be obtained only through the detailed examination of individual casefiles at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency wrote a letter to the Home Affairs Committee on 17 December and provided the most accurate and robust information on the deportation of foreign national prisoners. A copy of the letter is available in the Library of the House.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many convicted foreign nationals were deported in 2007; and how many of these had been serving prison sentences in England and Wales. [180679]

Mr. Byrne: The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency advised in her appearance before the Home Affairs committee on 15 January that over 4,200 foreign national prisoners were deported or removed from the United Kingdom in 2007. In order to ascertain which prisons they were detained at would require the detailed examination of individual casefiles at disproportionate cost.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the Borders and Immigration Agency's policy is on the deportation of prisoners serving sentences of less than 12 months; and what advice it has offered HM Prison Service. [181101]

Mr. Byrne: Monthly liaison meetings are held between all relevant parties in Ministry of Justice and Border and Immigration Agency to consider general issues and specific cases.

The Border and Immigration Agency deported over 4,200 foreign national prisoners from the United Kingdom. A large number of these individuals were deported following completion of custodial sentences lasting less than 12 months and that will continue to be the case for any future deportations that take place.

The BIA routinely considers for deportation those serving less than 12 months sentences.

Mr. Ian Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many foreign prisoners have been deported since May 2007; and to which countries they have been deported. [180040]

Mr. Byrne: The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency has regularly written to the Home Affairs Committee over the past 18 months and provided the most accurate and robust information available on foreign national prisoners. Copies of these letters are available in the Library of the House.

In her recent appearance before the Home Affairs Committee on 15 January, it was advised that over 4,200 foreign national prisoners were deported or removed from the United Kingdom in 2007. She also advised that a significant number of foreign national prisoners come from countries such as Jamaica, China, Nigeria and Vietnam.

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average cost was of deporting a foreign national prisoner in each of the last five years. [187103]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained through the detailed evaluation of individual cases only at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency has regularly updated the Home Affairs Committee over the past 18 months with the most robust and accurate information available on the deportation of foreign national prisoners and will continue to do so as required. Copies of her letters to the Committee are available in the Library of the House.

Passports: Biometrics

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what data security measures have been implemented for the ePassport database; how much has been spent on such measures; and how much is expected to be spent on such measures in future. [187012]

Meg Hillier: The ePassport has replaced the previous version of the passport. It also uses the same database—the Passports Application Storage System—for information storage. It did not, therefore, require any additional data security measures or any additional expenditure.

Police Pay

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was allocated to this year's budget for police pay as a percentage increase on last year's figures, broken down by police authority. [183052]

Mr. McNulty: The 2007-08 Police Funding Settlement was approved by the House of Commons on 31 January 2007.

The Government allocates funding to police authorities as a whole. No specific provision is made available for police pay. The distribution of resources and the setting of budgets is a matter for the chief officer and the police authority.

PricewaterhouseCoopers

Mr. Gauke: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what payments were made to PricewaterhouseCoopers by her Department in each financial year since 1997. [180824]

Mr. Byrne: Information on the total value of the Department's payments, inclusive of its agencies, made to PricewaterhouseCoopers is available from 2004-05 following the introduction of the Department's ERP—enterprise resource planning—system. Earlier data could be collected only at disproportionate cost. The information held by the Department is as follows:

| | Payments made to PricewaterhouseCoopers (£) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 2,380,974 |
| 2005-06 | 2,361,723 |
| 2006-07 | 4,910,425 |

Mr. Gauke: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department has awarded any contracts to PricewaterhouseCoopers since 2000. [181511]

Mr. Byrne: The Home Department engages consultancy firms to support and augment civil servants in the delivery of a specific range of work, including large IT development programmes and, where more cost-effective, longer term service delivery programmes.

The Department's expenditure on these services is allocated across a wide range of firms, from small, specialist companies with niche expertise and few employees, to global multinational organisations offering a broad spectrum and substantial depth of consultancy expertise.

The Department awards contracts in competition according to the EU procurement directives based on value for money. The Department uses OGC framework agreements where appropriate. The use of external consultants provides the Department with specialist knowledge, skill, capacity and technical expertise that would not otherwise be available. Some expenditure is on consultants to whom we have outsourced services, such as IT.

The Department inclusive of its agencies has awarded contracts to PricewaterhouseCoopers since 2000. The Department does not hold a central record of individual contracts with external consultants. To identify and compile a list of contracts from individual files would incur disproportionate cost.

The information held by the Department on the total value of contracts let to PricewaterhouseCoopers since 2004-05 is as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 2,118,055 |
| 2005-06 | 3,769,092 |
| 2006-07 | 4,669,861 |

Prisoners Release: Crimes of Violence

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many persons sentenced to a period of imprisonment, then removed to an immigration centre and subsequently released into the community in (a) 2006 and (b) 2007 were originally convicted of an offence of violence. [181225]

Mr. Byrne: The information requested can be obtained only through the detailed examination of individual casefiles and cross referencing them with Police National Computer records at disproportionate cost.

Prisoners: Foreigners

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what assessment she has made of the effect of EU nationals who have served prison sentences of six months or more in the UK remaining in the UK; [178502]

(2) whether nationals from an EU country having served a prison sentence in England or Wales in the last five years have been deported following completion of sentence. [178544]

Mr. Byrne: The Border and Immigration Agency will continue to take a robust approach in considering and, where international obligations allow, pursuing the deportation of European economic area nationals.

The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency advised the Home Affairs Committee during her appearance of 15 January that more than 4,200 foreign national prisoners were removed or deported in 2007. More than 500 of these were nationals from European economic area countries.

Proceeds of Crime

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what amounts have been recovered under the Proceeds of Crime Acts 1995 and 2002 in the most recent period for which figures are available; what proportion of these amounts was collected by the Assets Recovery Agency; and if she will make a statement. [188277]

Mr. Coaker: In the financial year 2006-07, the total amount recovered under proceeds of crime legislation was £125.04 million and the Assets Recovery Agency recovered £15.9 million; approximately 13 per cent.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by her Department in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of those penalties was in each year. [183360]

Mr. Byrne: The Department makes use of vehicles from the Government Car and Despatch Agency (GCDA), the HM Prison Service Transport Unit and the vehicles of staff members used in the course of their official duties.

For the GCDA I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1014-5W, by my hon. Friend, the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport.

For the HMPS Transport Unit the following tables gives the traffic penalties received for Crown vehicles over the last two years, the only years available. These figures cover both Home Office and HMPS usage:

Traffic penalties

| | Notices of intended prosecution (speeding) | Penalty Charge Notices (parking) |
|---|---|---|
| 2006 | 94 | 46 |
| 2007 | 52 | 41 |

Data on the split of penalties between Home Office and HMPS per the above are not available. However usage of the vehicles is approximately split 40 per cent. Home Office, 60 per cent HMPS.

Penalty charge notices are forwarded immediately onto the driver for payment, while notices of intended prosecution for speeding are returned to the relevant authority with the name and address of the driver. They then contact them direct regarding payment of fines or issue of penalty points. The Department therefore does not have any details regarding the total costs involved.

Lease vehicles are also provided by HMPS Transport Unit, however information on these could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Penalties incurred by staff members using their own vehicles while on official duty are the responsibility of the individuals concerned. The Department does not hold records of these penalties.

Surveillance

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) whether any warrants have been granted for intrusive surveillance of (a) hon. Members and (b) Members of the House of Lords under section 32 of the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 since 2001; [185730]

(2) whether any warrants have been granted for directed surveillance of (a) hon. Members and (b) Members of the House of Lords under section 28 of the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 since 2001. [185731]

Mr. McNulty: It has been the established policy of successive Governments neither to confirm nor deny allegations concerning whether or not there have been covert activities by intelligence or security agencies or the police.

Victim Support Schemes: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many victims of crime received state-provided counselling in (a) Tamworth constituency and (b) Staffordshire in each of the last four years. [187858]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not centrally available.

Work Permits

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many work permits have been awarded to non-EU professional footballers since January 2007. [185003]

Mr. Byrne: The number of approved and successful work permit applications awarded to non-EU professional footballers for the period 1 January 2007 to 1 February 2008 is 85, this figure is rounded to the nearest five.

The figures quoted are not provided under National Statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people from (a) Cyprus, (b) the Czech Republic, (c) Estonia, (d) Hungary, (e) Latvia, (f) Lithuania, (g) Malta, (h) Poland, (i) Slovakia and (j) Slovenia were issued with work permits in each month since 1 May 2004. [185110]

Mr. Byrne: 115 work permits were issued to employers for people from these accession states between May 2004 and January 2008. This included a number of extensions and renewals.

The number of work permits issued are broken down by month and nationality are detailed in the following table.

The figures quoted are not provided under national statistics protocols and have been derived from local management information and are therefore provisional and subject to change.

Yarl's Wood

Alistair Burt: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what progress has been made in resolving the insurance claim relating to the fire at Yarl's Wood on 14 February 2002; and if she will make a statement. [186131]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 18 February 2008]: Considerable negotiation and detailed consideration of valuation evidence continues to take place with the insurers, Home Office and their specialist advisers. The claim is nearing the point of final evidence submission and either settlement or potential litigation.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Class Sizes: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the average pupil: teacher ratio was in (a) primary and (b) secondary schools in (i) Tamworth and (ii) Staffordshire in each year since 1997. [187719]

Jim Knight: The following table provides the pupil: teacher ratios in local authority maintained primary and secondary schools in Tamworth constituency, Staffordshire local authority and England, January 1997 to 2007 the latest information available.

Pupil: teacher ratios in local authority maintained primary and secondary schools in Tamworth constituency, Staffordshire local authority and England, January 1997 to 2007

Classroom Assistants

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what estimate he has made of the average number of days taken off work due to ill health by teaching assistants in each of the last three academic years; [187598]

(2) what estimate he has made of the percentage of lessons delivered by teaching assistants in maintained secondary schools in the last academic year for which figures are available; [187599]

(3) what estimate he has made of the number of teaching assistants who left their posts in each of the last three academic years for which figures are available. [187600]

Jim Knight: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Education Maintenance Allowance

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the effect of the educational maintenance allowance on school attainment; and if he will make a statement. [187147]

Jim Knight: A Learning and Skills Council commissioned analysis of "The Impact of the EMA pilots on participation and attainment in post compulsory education" (IFS November 2007, Haroon Chowdry; Lorraine Dearden; Carl Emmerson) found that EMA increased attainment at Level 2 and Level 3 by around 2 ppts for male learners and 2.5 ppts for female learners. When looking at the impact on actual recipients, the report estimates this equates to an impact on attainment (at Levels 2 and 3) of 7 ppts for female, and 5 ppts for male, EMA recipients. The full report was placed in the House Library, on 3 December 2007.

Folk Culture: Education

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families if he will have discussions with the English Folk Dance and Song Society for the inclusion of England's traditional folk dance and song in the provision of five hours a week of culture for schoolchildren; and if he will make a statement. [188009]

Jim Knight [holding answer 21 February 2008]: We have published a prospectus for the 'Find Your Talent' programme seeking applications from partnerships to pilot an offer of five hours of quality arts and culture a week for children and young people. We have set out a core range of activities we believe young people should be able to engage with, including the chance to play music or sing in ensembles, and take part in dance performances. But we want local communities, schools and young people themselves to be involved in designing the offer. Organisations wishing to express an interest in piloting the offer locally should contact the relevant local authority and other major cultural sector partners in their area to discuss forming a partnership. National organisations should contact the Creative Partnerships team at:

http://www.creative-partnerships.com/offer

10 pilots will trial different ways of delivering a cultural offer. They will build on cultural activity already taking place. Children and young people already experience folk song and dance through the National Curriculum and through activities outside the curriculum.

General Certificate of Secondary Education

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of children (a) living with both their mother and father, (b) living with their mother or father and other guardians and (c) living only with their mother achieved five or more GCSEs at grades A*-C in each year since 1992; and if he will make a statement. [187142]

Jim Knight: Complete information is not available. However, the Department's Youth Cohort Study can provide some estimates for some years and these are summarised in the table as follows.

GCSE attainment of young people according to which parents they live with

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many pupils entered for GCSE qualifications did not gain a GCSE, excluding equivalents and entry level qualifications, in 2007; [187633]

(2) how many pupils entered for GCSE qualifications did not gain a GCSE qualification above a C grade, excluding equivalents and entry level qualifications, in 2007. [187634]

Jim Knight: In 2007, of the 637,000 attempts at a GCSE qualification, 128,100 thousand did not achieve a grade A*-C and 7,200 did not achieve a grade A*-G.

These figures are derived from figures which are published annually in table 10 of the Statistical First Release (SFR) 'GCSE and Equivalent Examination Results in England '. Figures for 2007 are available at:

http://www.dfes.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000768/index.shtml

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils of the appropriate age were not entered for GCSE examinations in 2007. [187635]

Jim Knight: The available figures relate to pupils at the end of key stage 4.

In 2007, 0.5 per cent. of the 649,159 pupils at the end of key stage 4 were not entered for GCSE examinations or equivalents.

This information is derived from figures which are published annually in table 3 of the Statistical First Release (SFR) 'GCSE and Equivalent Examination Results in England'. Figures for 2007 are available at:

(2) how many pupils re-sat (a) AS Level and (b) A2 Level examinations in each school in Tamworth constituency since such examinations were introduced. [187722]

Jim Knight: The information can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Head Teachers: Suffolk

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many head teachers each school in Suffolk has had since 1997. [187607]

Jim Knight: The information is not collected centrally.

Pupil Exclusions

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what percentage of pupils excluded from school in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007 went to a school with (i) fewer than 500 pupils, (ii) between 500 and 999 pupils, (iii) between 1,000 and 1,999 pupils and (iv) more than 2,000 pupils. [188061]

Jim Knight: The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate costs.

Pupil Exclusions: Suffolk

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children were permanently excluded from (a) primary schools, (b) middle schools, (c) upper schools and (d) secondary schools in Suffolk in each year since 1997. [187606]

Jim Knight: The available information is given in the table, and shows the number of permanent exclusions from maintained primary and secondary schools in Suffolk local authority area from 1997/89 to 2005/06.

A further split showing the number of exclusions from middle and upper schools can be provided only at disproportionate costs.

Pupils: Qualifications

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of pupils who achieved level 2 or above at key stage one went on to achieve level 4 at key stage two in 2007. [187892]

Jim Knight: The information is as follows:

In 2007,

92 per cent. of pupils who achieved an average of level 2 or above in reading and writing at key stage 1 achieved level 4 or above in English at key stage 2

84 per cent. of pupils who achieved level 2 or above at key stage 1 in mathematics achieved level 4 or above in key stage 2.

95 per cent. of pupils who achieved an average of level 2 or above in reading, writing and mathematics at key stage 1 achieved level 4 or above in science at key stage 2.

Only pupils who have reached the end of key stage 2 in 2007 and have a valid level at both key stage 1 and key stage 2 are included in the above figures, excluding pupils who were absent or disapplied from the key stage 1 tests. In most cases, these pupils will have taken key stage 1 tests in 2003, which was the last full year of KS1 national curriculum tests.

These figures are published annually in the Statistical First Release (SFR) 'National Curriculum Assessments at Key Stage 2 in England'. Figures for 2007 are available at:

http://www.dfes.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000764/index.shtml

Pupils: Disadvantaged

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of children entitled to free school meals attend a school which has more than 30 per cent. of such children in the most recent period for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [187139]

Schools: Community Relations and Revenue

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what estimate he has made of the revenue generated by schools by opening their facilities to community groups in the latest period for which figures are available. [187724]

Beverley Hughes: Information is not collected centrally on the number of school facilities that have opened up for extended school provision or how much schools charge for their facilities. Local authorities have different systems and variable rates around schools charging community groups to use their facilities.

Opening school facilities to the community is one of the elements of the extended schools core offer. We are committed to all schools providing access to the core offer of extended services by 2010 with at least half of all primary and a third of secondary schools doing so by September 2008.

Schools: Energy

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the potential effect of changes in energy prices on school budgets for 2008-09. [187151]

Jim Knight: We took account of a wide range of cost pressures on pay and non-pay faced by schools in calculating the minimum funding guarantee of 2.1 per cent. from 2008-11, including a 1 per cent. efficiency gain. An inflationary rise of 2.7 per cent. per year for all non-pay pressures, including energy costs, was included in the calculation of the minimum funding guarantee. We chose not to identify a specific factor for increases in energy costs in the calculation of cost pressures feeding into the minimum funding guarantee. In 2006-07 average expenditure on energy costs only accounted for 1.35 per cent. of schools budgets, out of a total of 21.2 per cent. spent on non-pay.

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what guidance his Department has given to schools on managing changes in energy costs and their effect on school budgets. [187152]

Jim Knight: The Department has a range of guidance and tools already available, or currently in development, which assist schools in managing their energy resources and budgeting effectively against rising costs:

In April 2008 the Department will publish a planning guide to enable schools to better adapt to changes in their budgets and to ensure they have the appropriate tools to deliver school improvement alongside existing running costs.

Although energy costs represent only a very small proportion of the total expenditure of a school the Department has also previously published good practice guidance for schools on energy and water management[1]. This provides practical suggestions and simple ideas which can be easily implemented and achieve major savings.

In addition to this specific guidance the Department also enables schools to benchmark their energy expenditure with other schools through the Schools Financial Benchmarking website[2].

Furthermore the Department is working with DEFRA to implement the European Energy Services Directive article 5 which requires the public sector to procure energy efficient products and goods. Guidance will be made available via Department websites.

Schools: Governing Bodies

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many parent governors of schools were serving on (a) primary and (b) secondary school governing bodies in each year since 2001. [188397]

Jim Knight: The Department does not collect information on the composition of the governing bodies of maintained schools. However, parents must comprise at least one third of the places on the governing bodies of all maintained schools in England.

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of parent governors of schools were (a) women, (b) men, (c) white and (d) of black and minority ethnic background in the most recent period for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [188398]

Jim Knight: The Department does not collect information on the gender and ethnicity of the governing bodies of maintained schools.

We encourage all bodies engaged in recruiting new school governors to monitor the ethnic origin of the governors they appoint, but completion of any ethnic monitoring forms is always voluntary. However, all schools and local authorities are under a duty to eliminate unlawful racial discrimination and promote equal opportunities.

Many schools will have pupils from black and minority ethnic groups, different faiths, refugees, or children with English as a second language. It is important that governing bodies include people who have the skills and abilities to drive forward school improvement from all racial and cultural backgrounds.

Teachers

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to the answer of 28 January 2008, Official Report, column 180W, on teachers, what recent estimate he has made of the number of teachers whose capability is in question. [187560]

Jim Knight: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Teachers: Labour Turnover

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many teachers have left the profession within (a) one year, (b) five years and (c) 10 years of completing their qualified teacher status induction period since its introduction. [188371]

Jim Knight: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Teachers: Pay

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many teachers from outside the European economic area received golden hello payments in each year since 2000; and what the value was of such payments; [188369]

(2) what the cost of golden hello payments to newly qualified teachers has been in each year since 2000. [188370]

Jim Knight: Golden hello payments are only made to qualified teachers of priority subjects who are employed in state maintained secondary schools in England. Teachers qualified in countries outside of the European economic area who teach in England are not eligible to receive a golden hello.

The total cost of golden hello payments to newly qualified teachers in each financial year from 2000-01 is shown in the following table:

| Financial year | Amount (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 0.3 |
| 2001-02 | 2.6 |
| 2002-03 | 28.5 |
| 2003-04 | 20 |
| 2004-05 | 25 |
| 2005-06 | 29.7 |
| 2006-07 | 28 |
| 2007-08[1] | 24.9 |

[1] This represents payments up to 15 February 2008

Teachers: Qualifications

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many and what proportion of teachers attained the National Professional Qualification of Headship between 2003 and 2007 who are not head teachers; [187153]

(2) what proportion of head teachers hold the National Professional Qualification for Headship. [187154]

Jim Knight: The Department does not hold this information. National College of School Leadership (NCSL) holds details of National Professional Qualification for Headship (NPQH) graduates each year; it does not have information on their current position in schools.

The number of NPQH graduates in each year since 2003 are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 3,278 |
| 2004 | 3,839 |
| 2005 | 4,237 |
| 2006 | 4,409 |
| 2007 | 4,721 |

Teachers: Standards

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many newly qualified teachers have failed their induction period and remained in teaching in the latest period for which figures are available. [188373]

Jim Knight: The General Teaching Council for England (GTCE) received notification of 23 newly qualified teachers that failed their induction between 1 September 2006 and 31 of August 2007. As the GTCE does not have any active employment details recorded for these teachers there is no evidence that they currently work as a qualified teacher in a maintained school or non-maintained special school in England. The GTCE do not regulate independent schools.

Young People: Unemployed

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many people aged under 18 years were not in employment, education or training in each parliamentary constituency in each of the last five years. [187953]

Beverley Hughes: The Department's estimate of the number of young people not in education, employment or training (NEET) cannot be disaggregated to local level. However, we can estimate the number of young people NEET using figures drawn from the client management systems maintained by Connexions services. The following table shows the and proportion of young people aged under 18 who were not in education, employment or training (NEET) in each local authority area at the end of 2005, 2006 and 2007 based on Connexions data. Connexions do not report figures at constituency level. 2005 is the first year for which local authority level figures were available.

The figures relate to 16 and 17-year-olds known to Connexions and are not directly comparable with statistics on 16 and 17-year-olds NEET published annually by the Department of Children, Schools and Families. This is because the Connexions NEET measure excludes those on gap years, or in custody and young people who attended independent schools or were at school outside England may also be excluded. In addition, the Department's statistics relate to the young person's academic age, rather than calendar age.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Aimhigher Initiative

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department spent on the Aimhigher Initiative in each year since 2004. [186613]

Bill Rammell: Available expenditure for the Aimhigher programme for each year since 2004 to date is:

| | Expenditure for Aimhigher programme (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 136 |
| 2005-06 | 102 |
| 2006-07 | 87 |
| 2007-08 | 80 |

Aimhigher remains a central part of the Government's plans to widen participation in higher education (HE), and we have been happy to support it for a further period, to 2011.

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the cost was of the Aimhigher programme in each year since its inception. [172276]

Bill Rammell: Since the launch of Aimhigher in 2004, expenditure to help to students from disadvantaged backgrounds to access higher education has increased considerably.

£ million

| | 2004-05[1] | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Aimhigher[2] | 136 | 102 | 87 | 80 |
| Student support[3] | 1,117 | 1,333 | 1,558 | 1,831 |
| Widening participation allocation | 273 | 284 | 345 | 354 |
| Total | 1,526 | 1,719 | 1,990 | 2,265 |

[1] The unified Aimhigher programme commenced in August 2004. The amount shown includes the cost of predecessor programmes (Excellence Challenge and Partnerships for Progression) for the period April to July 2004.

[2] The amounts shown include contributions from the Higher Education Funding Council for England, the Learning and Skills Council and the Department for Health.

[3] Includes student loans RAB charge, fee loans, and student support grants. The Student loans RAB charge estimates the future cost to government of subsidising and writing off the student loans issued in that year; it does not represent the amount of cash lent to students, which has risen each year since the introduction of student loans.

In addition, the Office for Fair Access forecasts that around £300 million annually will be spent by higher education providers on bursaries and scholarships benefiting students from low-income and other underrepresented groups by the academic year 2008-09. Following passage of the Higher Education Act 2004, the Government decided to reduce the budget for Aimhigher to take account of the additional funding which was made available to support widening participation through alternative routes such as the large increases in student support.

We have reformed student finance, reintroducing grants and raising the income threshold at which repayments start. No-one is required to pay a contribution to their higher education up-front. These reforms, together with Aimhigher, have been instrumental in bringing about progress towards widening participation. The proportion of UK domiciled, young, full time, first degree entrants to English higher education institutions who were from lower socio economic groups rose from 27.9 per cent. in 2002-03 to 29.1 per cent. in 2005-06.

Aviation

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many air miles were travelled by Ministers in his Department in each year since its establishment; and what estimate he has made of the total amount of carbon dioxide emissions produced as a result; [172234]

(2) how many miles he and other Ministers in his Department travelled on short haul flights in the last 12 months; and what estimate he has made of the total amount of carbon dioxide emissions produced as a result of these flights. [172567]

Mr. Lammy: Since 1999 the Government have published a list of all overseas travel by Cabinet Ministers costing over £500. Information for the last financial year was published on 25 July 2007. Details for the current financial year will be published as soon as possible after the end of the financial year. From next year, the list will include details of overseas visits undertaken by all Ministers. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

All central Government ministerial and official air travel has been offset from 1 April 2006. Departmental aviation emissions are calculated on an annual basis and subsequently offset through payments to a central fund. The fund purchases certified emissions reductions credits from energy efficiency and renewable energy projects with sustainable development benefits, located in developing countries.

In addition, offsetting the flights of Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, the Department for International Development, and the Prime Minister has been backdated to 1 April 2005.

A list of Government Carbon Offsetting Fund members, their emission figures and what activities they have offset through the fund is available online at:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/environment/climatechange/uk/carbonoffset/government.htm

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much has been spent by his Department on international flights since establishment. [174349]

Information in respect of flights taken by officials could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Degrees

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of his staff dealing with universities hold a university degree. [178198]

Mr. Lammy: DIUS staff records are not yet kept on a single database system. Until this is the case, staff records are kept on systems in BERR and DCSF, depending on which Department the individual transferred from.

There have been no formal processes in the two Departments for gathering, validating and maintaining such records. It is therefore likely that any answer given could not be guaranteed to be accurate.

Departmental Correspondence

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what percentage of inquiries received from the public his Department responded to (a) within a week, (b) within 14 days, (c) within 28 days, (d) within two months, (e) within three months, (f) in over three months and (g) in over a year in the latest period for which figures are available. [167418]

Mr. Lammy: This Department does not hold the information in the format requested. The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) has only been in existence since June 2007 and brings together functions from two former Departments, science and innovation responsibilities from the Department of Trade and Industry (DTI) and skills, further and higher education from the Department for Education and Skills (DfES). Our performance for correspondence from MPs and peers will be published annually by way of a written ministerial statement. Performance figures for DfES and DTI for 2006, were published on 28 March 2007, Official Report, column 101WS. Overall performance for all DIUS correspondence (MPs, peers and the public) will be given in the Department's annual report which will be available at:

www.dius.gov.uk

Departmental Databases

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many staff in educational Departments within his responsibilities are on suspension; and how many of these have been on suspension for over 12 months; [178224]

(2) how many civil servants in his Department are suspended; and on what grounds. [180351]

Mr. Lammy: There are currently no employees of DIUS who are suspended.

Departmental ICT

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many hits the (a) most popular website and (b) least popular website run by his Department has received since 1 January. [162286]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills corporate website was launched on 28 June 2007, following the machinery of Government changes and creation of the new Department. The numbers of hits for the most and least popular websites that come under the DIUS remit are as follows:

| Website | Number of hits[1] from 1 January 2007 to 25 October 2007 |
|---|---|
| The Intellectual Property Office (www.ipo.gov.uk) | 236,301,690 |
| Technology Strategy Board (www.berr.gov.uk/innovation/technologystrategyboard/index.html | [2]82,370 |

[2] Figures are form page views from 1 July 2007 to 25 October 2007 as hits are not measured for this site.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many Wikipedia entries have been (a) created and (b) amended (i) by (A) special advisers, (B) Ministers and

(C) communications officials and (ii) from IP addresses of (1) special advisers, (2) Ministers and (3) communications officials in (x) his Department and its predecessor and (y) its agencies since August 2005. [185536]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) was created by the Prime Minister on 28 June 2007.

We are not aware of any Wikipedia entries that have been (a) created and (b) amended (i) by (A) special advisers, (B) Ministers and (C) communications officials and (ii) from IP addresses of (1) special advisers, (2) Ministers and (3) communications officials.

However, any input to such websites would be done in accordance with the civil service code which states that civil servants should "use resources only for the authorised public purposes for which they are provided" and "make sure public money and other resources are used properly and efficiently".

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of staff in his Department dealing with universities are graduates of Oxford or Cambridge university. [180169]

Mr. Lammy: While the Department is collecting information about professional skills as part of the Skills Audit which is being undertaken, the survey does not ask for the origin of university degrees and we do not currently have a record of what proportion of staff in DIUS (or the Department for Children, Schools and Families) dealing with universities are graduates of Oxford or Cambridge universities.

This information could be gathered only at disproportional cost.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many DIUS-branded plastic bags his Department has procured, and at what cost, since it was created. [176503]

Mr. Lammy: DIUS has not produced any plastic bags with DIUS branding since the Department was created.

Departmental NDPBs

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the (a) budget and (b) remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; who the chairman is of each; and to what salary, including bonuses and expenses, each chairman is entitled. [163607]

Mr. Lammy: Details of the budget and remit of each non-departmental public body (NDPB) for which my Department is responsible, with the name of the chairman and their remuneration, is published in the relevant Department's Annual Report 2007 and in Public Bodies 2007.

For DIUS NDPBs which were formerly the responsibility of DfES, this information can be found on the Department for Children, Schools and Families website at:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/aboutus/reports/pdfs/deptreport2007.pdf

and

http://www.dfes.gov.uk/ndpb/

The following NDPBs are the responsibility of the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills:

Construction Skills;
Engineering Construction Industry Training Board;
Higher Education Funding Council for England;
Investors in People;
Learning and Skills Council;
Office for Fair Access;
Quality Improvement Agency;
Student Loans Company;
Sector Skills Development Agency.
British Hallmarking Council (part of NWML);
Design Council;
Technology Strategy Board.
Research Councils:
Arts and Humanities Research Council;
Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council;
Economic and Social Research Council;
Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council;
Medical Research Council;
Natural Environment Research Council
Science and Technology Facilities Council.
Council for Science and Technology;
Strategic Advisory Board for Intellectual Property;
National Endowment for Science, Technology and the Arts—from DCMS.

Information on NDPBs formerly the responsibility of the DTI is published in their Public Bodies Report, which can be found at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/about/strategy-objectives/annual-spending/page40391.html

Information on chairmen's bonuses are contained in each NDPB's annual report and accounts, which are normally available on the body's website. Composite information is not held centrally and could be collated only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Public Consultations

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many citizens' juries were arranged for his Department in each year between 1997 and June 2007; which organisations were commissioned to conduct each citizens' jury; and what the cost was of each. [163600]

Mr. Lammy: The Department was created on 28 June 2007. No citizen's juries were arranged between the Department's creation and the end of June.

Departmental Recycling

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what his Department's policy is on recycling. [174409]

Mr. Lammy: All recycling for my Department is carried out on our behalf, as a shared service, by the Departments of Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, and Children Schools and Families. Therefore, answers given on behalf of those Departments include my Department as well.

Departmental Standards

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many public service agreement targets his Department has; and of these, how many are targets shared with another Department. [171872]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) has lead responsibility for two of the Government's public service agreements (PSAs) for the period 2008-11:

PSA 2: Improve the skills of the population, on the way to ensuring a world-class skills base by 2020;

PSA 4: Promote world class science and innovation in the UK.

Each of the PSAs is underpinned by six outcome-focused performance indicators. In the case of the Skills PSA, each indicator has a specific target attached. Details of these performance indicators and associated targets can be found in the relevant PSA delivery agreements, copies of which have been placed in the Library.

The key performance indicators for the PSAs are owned by DIUS, but responsibility for delivery of progress against them is shared across a number of Government Departments and other delivery partners. The relevant delivery agreements provide details of the roles of our key delivery partners.

DIUS has an important role to play in delivering progress on many of the Government's other PSAs, but does not share ownership of any of the targets underpinning them. Details of DIUS's role in relation to PSAs led by other Government Departments are set out in the associated delivery agreements.

Departmental Stationery

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much letter headed notepaper his Department has bought which is headed with Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills headers; and at what cost. [166906]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation Universities and Skills has bought supplies of letter headed paper to date at a cost of just over £2,000, at an average cost of about £37 per 1,000 sheets.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much letter headed notepaper his Department has bought which is headed with both Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills and Department for Children, Schools and Families headers; and at what cost. [166907]

Mr. Lammy: Central records held by the Department do not indicate how much letter headed paper which is specifically jointly headed has been acquired by the Department.

Departmental Training

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what trade union programmes are funded by his Department that pertain to training in (a) arbitration, (b) industrial action, (c) employment rights and (d) work as a shop steward. [178237]

Mr. Lammy: DIUS was created in July 2007 by the amalgamation of elements from BERR (formerly DTI) and DCSF (formerly DfES).

The Department is currently defining its policies and procedures around the provision for trade union support. As a consequence it has not yet established such training programmes.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by his Department and pro-rata its predecessor in each of the last 10 years. [183293]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills does not own, and has never purchased, any vehicles. Its predecessors were the Department for Trade and Industry and the Department for Education and Skills and I refer to the recent answers given by my right hon. Friends in the respective successor Departments: Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform; and Children, Schools and Families.

Educational Institutions: Listed Buildings

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many educational establishments in receipt of funding from his Department are accommodated in listed buildings; and how many of these have been designated as in need of significant repair. [180349]

Bill Rammell: The English higher education sector has listed buildings which amount to 2,052,293 $m^2$ at around 100 institutions. We do not have figures for the number of individual listed buildings but estimate that this floor space represents around 2,000 buildings. We do not have information showing the number of listed buildings designated as in need of significant repair.

Within the FE sector a total of 107 FE colleges submitted returns in 2006 saying that they had listed buildings. The total gross internal floor of listed buildings based on those returns is 446,477 $m^2$.

Graduates: Employment

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills which 10 university degree subjects had the 10 (a) highest and (b) lowest proportions of graduates entering employment immediately after graduation in the latest period for which figures are available. [180178]

Bill Rammell: The latest available data are taken from the Destination of Leavers in Higher Education (DLHE) survey and are given in the first table.

The DLHE survey captures the first destinations of graduates, six months after leaving university. The most recent information available is for those who graduated in 2005/06 who were surveyed in early 2007.

The table contains a complete breakdown of destination categories, and shows that those graduates who are not included in the proportion in employment are not necessarily unemployed (some are in further study, some are not available for employment and the rest are unemployed).

Data on the longer term career paths of graduates (shown in the second table) demonstrates that over time the employment of graduates in all subjects increases.

Higher Education: Finance

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will make it his policy to exempt students of the Relate Institute at Doncaster college from the decision to reduce funding for students studying for an equivalent or lower qualification; and if he will make a statement. [178254]

Bill Rammell: No students currently studying equivalent or lower qualifications (ELQs) will be affected by these changes. In future, our policy of redistributing grant will widen participation and mean that more of the million people of working age who do not have a first higher-level qualification, especially those from non-traditional backgrounds, will be able to benefit from participating in higher education. There can be no exemptions for particular institutions and Doncaster college will remain responsible for decisions on how it allocates its overall budget for higher education. However, in finalising our proposals in the light of consultation we have decided to make a number of adjustments:

(a) We have asked HEFCE to increase the part-time teaching premium from the £20 million originally put forward in the consultation to £30 million. This is a response to concerns about overall impact on part-time provision and the sustainability of subjects that are of particular interest to those who might study on a part-time basis, perhaps after a career break;

(b) There will be a review mechanism each year starting in December 2008 to look at individual subjects of particular economic or social importance. We are sure it would be wrong for us to rush into making special arrangements for any subjects, other than those which had already been identified, before any changes to ELQs, as requiring support in the public interest (such as medicine, initial teacher training teaching, science, technology, engineering and maths subjects, area-based studies, and modern foreign languages). But we are asking the Funding Council each year to look at levels of demand both for exempt or protected subjects and at any other subjects which might in future be regarded as key because of their economic or social significance, and in cases where there is evidence of a fall in demand advise us on the best way forward:

(c) The text of the HEFCE Grant Letter says "I hope you will also carefully consider the position of institutions most affected by this change to the funding rules, in allocating the new funded places that are being created".

(d) We want to set on record what the position will be in three years time. All we have asked HEFCE to do is to find savings of about £100 million a year by 2010-11. Anything beyond that has to be speculation, but no-one is going to fall off the edge of a funding cliff either now or in three years' time. Indeed, the reality is that no strategic decision has been taken about whether to reallocate further ELQ funding after 2010-11.

Higher Education: Mature Students

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people aged between (a) 30 and 39, (b) 40 and 49, (c) 50 and 59 and (d) 60 years and above completed an equivalent or lower qualification in (i) 2007, (ii) 2006 and (iii) 2005. [178122]

Bill Rammell: The data are not held centrally to answer this question in precisely the way it has been asked. However, in 2006-07, there were some 32,000 students aged between 30 and 39 and some 45,000 students aged 40 and over studying equivalent or lower level students. All existing students studying for such qualifications will continue to attract institutional funding until they complete their courses. The redistribution of about £100 million by 2010 away from those entering higher education to study for such qualifications will increase and widen participation and enable the Government to support over 20,000 new students (on a full-time equivalent basis) more than would otherwise have been the case either entering higher education for the first time or progressing to higher degrees.

Honours

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many members of the senior civil service in his Department have received an honour. [187124]

Mr. Lammy: The relevant data are not held by the Department.

Intimidation

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many cases of bullying have been reported in his Department in each of the last 12 months. [182830]

Mr. Lammy: DIUS was created in July 2007 by the amalgamation of elements from BERR (formerly DTI) and DCSF (formerly DfES). As a consequence it has not existed for the 12 months specified.

However in the interim period there have been no cases of bullying reported by staff. Nor are any cases currently reported.

Learning and Skills Council: Expenditure

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of the additional support budget of the Train to Gain programme was spent in each English region by the Learning and Skills Council in 2006-07. [187232]

Mr. Lammy: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave on 12 November 2007, Official Report, column 57W, to the hon. Member for South Holland and The Deepings (Mr. Hayes).

Obesity: Publications

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much the documents (a) Tackling Obesities: Future Choices and (b) Tackling Obesities Future Choices - Obesity System Atlas cost to (i) produce and (ii) to distribute. [166875]

Mr. Lammy: The production costs, i.e. design and printing, of the Tackling Obesities: Future Choices report were approx £3,300 and for Tackling Obesities: Future Choices—Obesity Systems Atlas were approx £8,600. The cost of distributing the Tackling Obesities Future Choices are likely to be approx £5,900 and for the Obesity Systems Atlas £2,500

Overseas Students

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what penalties would be imposed on a college approved to provide education for overseas students found to be falsifying information to retain its approved status; how many such penalties have been issued in the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [183211]

Bill Rammell: Since 1 January 2005, colleges which want to recruit international students have to appear on the register of education and training providers. To remain on the register, colleges agree to abide by the terms and conditions of registration, including compliance with the immigration rules. To date, 143 colleges have been found to be in breach of the immigration rules, following investigation by the BIA and therefore removed from the register. They are therefore no longer able to recruit international students.

Overseas Students: Vietnam

Ben Chapman: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many Vietnamese nationals are studying in the UK's higher education system; and if he will make a statement. [179632]

Bill Rammell: The latest available information shows that the number of Vietnamese domiciled students in UK higher education institutions for the 2006-07 academic year was 1,685. Figures for 2007-08 will be available in January 2009. Numbers have increased by 16 per cent. from the previous year. This is good news. International students such as those from Vietnam bring an international perspective to our campuses, they help maintain the UK's world class research base, and they provide a valuable source of income for our universities and indeed for the economy more widely. The "Global Value" report published by the British Council in September estimated that the total value of international HE students to the UK economy was in the region of £5 billion per year.

Research: Finance

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much has been transferred from other budgets to allow the research councils to provide 80 per cent. of the full economic costs of the research that they sponsor; and if he will make a statement. [181725]

Ian Pearson: None, no funding has been transferred from other budgets.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by his Department and its predecessor in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of those penalties was in each year. [183359]

Mr. Lammy: The Department for Innovation Universities and Skills was created in June 2007. The following information relates to the period since then.

Parking fines and speeding tickets incurred by DIUS staff when using vehicles for official business are not met by the public purse.

The Department also uses vehicles provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency, which is the responsibility of my hon. Friend the Under-Secretary of State for Transport. I refer to the answer in respect of that agency given by my right hon. Friend on 5 February 2008.

Student Loans Company: ICT

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the IT system which co-ordinates confirmation of student loan repayments between the Student Loans Company and HM Revenue and Customs; and whether this system has failed or generated errors in the last three years. [175399]

Bill Rammell [holding answer 18 December 2007]: There are a number of data exchanges between the Student Loans Company (SLC) and HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) to enable the repayment of student loans. Information is principally exchanged to match student loan borrowers with live employment records, provide repayment information and confirm that employers need to be sent notice to start and stop making student loan deductions. The SLC is not aware of any IT system failures or errors that have prevented the exchange of data with HMRC in the last three years.

The Government take the protection of personal data extremely seriously. The provisions catering for the sharing of information in the Sale of Student Loans Bill will strengthen the framework for legal protection of data in respect of all loans, whether sold or unsold. The Bill will extend an existing criminal sanction prohibiting the wrongful disclosure of HMRC information outside the terms of the legislative gateway.

Data exchanges between the SLC and HMRC have all been reviewed following the Chancellor's statement on 20 November to ensure they meet the appropriate security standards. No breaches of data protection protocols have occurred in respect of student loan administration.

Student Wastage

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time students under 22 years old withdrew from their higher education course in each year since 2001; [164198]

(2) how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time mature students withdrew from their higher education course in each year since 2001. [164199]

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time (i) students under 22 years old and (ii) mature students withdrew from their higher education course in each year since 2001. [166863]

Bill Rammell: The information available on non-continuation of higher education students is shown in Tables 1 and 2. The figures are taken from the Performance Indicators in Higher Education, published by the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA). Table 1 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled full-time first degree entrants to higher education institutions in England, who do not continue in higher education after their first year. Table 2 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled full-time other undergraduate entrants to higher education institutions in England who do not continue in higher education after their first year.

Figures for 2005-06 will become available in 2008.

HESA do not publish figures on the percentage of part-time students not continuing in higher education after their first year.

According to the figures published by the OECD, the overall completion rate for Type A (first degree equivalent) courses in UK universities and colleges of higher education is among the highest in the OECD countries.

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many students aged over 21 years withdrew from (a) full-time and (b) part-time higher education courses in each year since 2003; and what the most frequently given reasons were for withdrawal. [180496]

Bill Rammell: The standard measure of non-completion is the proportion of UK-domiciled full-time first degree starters of all ages who are projected to neither obtain an award nor transfer to another institution. The available information for higher education institutions in England is shown in table 1.

Table 1: Proportion of UK-domiciled full-time first degree starters at higher education institutions in England, who are projected to neither obtain an award nor transfer to another institution

The available information on reasons for withdrawing from higher education courses is shown in tables 2 and 3. This information covers students, aged over 21, leaving first degree courses at English higher education institutions in each year, and includes students in their first, final and intervening years of study, irrespective of the year in which they began their course.

The reason for leaving information on the HESA student record should be treated with some caution, because the 'other personal reasons and dropped out' and 'other' fields are used extensively throughout the time-series. Institutions are not always able to record the precise reason for leaving. Furthermore, HESA allows only one reason for withdrawal to be recorded, however it is likely that many students leave for a combination of reasons.

Tables 1, 2 and 3 are based on different populations of students. Table 1 covers the cohort of full-time first degree starters of all ages in each year. Table 2 covers full-time first degree students aged 21 years and over leaving their courses in each year, regardless of the year of study or which year they began their course. Table 3 covers part-time first degree students aged 21 years and over leaving their courses in each year, regardless of the year of study or which year they began their course.

According to figures published by the OECD, the overall completion rate for type A (first degree equivalent) courses in UK universities and colleges of higher education is among the highest in the OECD countries.

International students bring an international perspective to our campuses, they help maintain the UK's world class research base, and they provide a valuable source of income for our universities and indeed for the economy more widely. The "Global Value" report published by the British Council in September estimated that the total value of international HE students to the UK economy was in the region of £5 billion per year.

The growth in international students is not at the expense of home and EU students. Student numbers from those domiciled in the UK and the EU have also grown. There is no question of UK students being squeezed out of the market by international students. International students are recruited in addition to the home (UK and other EU) students, whose places are subsidised by the Higher Education Funding Councils. International students pay the full cost of their tuition.

Students: Finance

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what activities were recently undertaken as part of Student Finance week; and what the cost was of each. [169728]

Bill Rammell: The information is as follows.

Student Finance Week 2008 was a week long programme of PR activity

The aim of the activity was to make the target audience aware of and direct them to view the new Student Finance DVD. The DVD contains detailed information on the package of financial support available for students entering higher education from September 2008

The activity was aimed at young people aged 16-19 and their parents

The total cost was £33,925.00

The activity provided an estimated 67 million opportunities to see

Based on the national press articles only, the reach is estimated as:

Parents of 16 to 18-year-olds with a household income of £25,000 to £60,000—articles reached 33.4 per cent. of the audience

Parents of all 16 to 18-year-olds—articles reached 32.6 per cent. of the audience

16 to 18-year-olds with a household income of £25,000 to £60,000—articles reached 29.3 per cent. of the audience

16 to 18-year-olds—articles reached 31.9 per cent. of the audience.

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will ensure that the Higher Education and Funding Council for England provides funding for students seeking postgraduate training in health, education, local government, food safety and hydrology. [173202]

Bill Rammell: We have no plans to change arrangements for funding of postgraduate provision, except in those cases where a student already has a postgraduate qualification at an equivalent or higher level than the one for which he or she proposes to study. For such students, funding will be available for students on courses which are co-funded by employers, including those in the public sector as well as the private sector. That is and will be our priority as we respond to the challenges identified by Sandy Leitch.

Students: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people continued to make payments to the Student Loan Company (SLC) after their incomes had dropped below the repayment threshold in each year since the SLC was established; what the mean number of months for which student loan deductions continued after the repayer ceased to be eligible to repay was in these cases; how many individuals received (a) one, (b) two, (c) three, (d) four and (e) five or more repayments subsequent to their becoming ineligible; what the (i) median and (ii) mean amount repaid in total to each individual was; and what the mean size was of the individual rebates made as a consequence. [166888]

Bill Rammell: Neither the Department nor the Student Loans Company (SLC) hold the information requested.

For borrowers covered by the UK tax system, income-contingent loan repayments (deductions) are taken by the employer and passed to HMRC, on a weekly or monthly basis if the borrower's income exceeds the relevant threshold. If a deduction is taken in error when income does not exceed the threshold then the relevant deductions are refunded by the employer. The SLC does not hold information about these deductions.

However, in some cases a borrower's income for the year may be less than the threshold overall, but their earnings above the threshold in one or more pay periods. Such situations only become clear at the end of the financial year and the borrower may claim a refund from the SLC. (Note that such borrowers had deductions taken correctly when they were above the earnings threshold in the relevant pay period.) Available data on such refunds are shown in the following tables.

Number of SLC refunds to income-contingent loan borrowers below the earnings threshold at the end of the year, England

|---|---|
| 2003 | 50 |
| 2004 | 110 |
| 2005 | 190 |

| Two | 90 |
| Three | 20 |
| Four or more | 10 |
| Total | 840 |

The mean amount of SLC refund was 130.

Borrowers with the older mortgage-style loans can apply for deferment of repayments if their income is below the relevant threshold. The SLC holds income details only for those mortgage-style loans borrowers who apply for a deferment. Some borrowers may wish to continue repayment rather than apply for deferment. Indeed borrowers threshold overall, but their earnings above the threshold in one or more pay periods.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many Access to Learning Loans were paid because of delays in the student loans system in each year since 2001. [175746]

Bill Rammell: The information is not available.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether he plans to sell off student loans accrued by non-UK EU citizens as part of the sale of the student loan book. [187237]

Bill Rammell: We envisage that the sale of student loans will be a long-term programme, and in principle loans to non-UK EU citizens could be included in due course . However, tuition fee loans have only been available to non-UK EU citizens since the academic year 2006-07, and the first graduates will not enter repayment until 2010, so we do not expect such loans to be included within the first sales during 2008-09.

Students: Qualifications

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills by what means he intends to verify that students from (a) other EU member states, (b) England and Wales and (c) non-EU countries do not have a graduate qualification when applying for equivalent or lower qualification courses. [173199]

Bill Rammell: Overseas students from non-EU and associated countries have not received public funding for over 25 years irrespective of the course qualifications they study. For other students, HEFCE will shortly be advising on the way this is dealt with. Most people will and do obey the rules, but there will need to be a random checking process to corroborate that particular students do not have a first HE qualification. That will need to be done in a way that gets the balance right between protection and not an overly bureaucratic system. In all cases HEFCE will work with institutions to audit feasible student numbers and final HEFCE funding will be determined on a basis of audited returns through a robust audit process.

Teachers: Training

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of entrants to (a) primary and (b) secondary school teacher training courses were (i) male and (ii) female in each year since 1997, broken down by subject for secondary school trainees. [185689]

Jim Knight: I have been asked to reply.

The following tables show the proportion of first year trainees, at the end of the first year of their Initial Teacher Training (ITT) course, who are male and female for:

1. Mainstream trainees between 1998/99 and 2005/06.

Vocational Education

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of his staff responsible for work on skills possess a vocational qualification. [178197]

Mr. Lammy: DIUS staff records are not yet kept on a single database system. Until this is the case, staff records are kept on systems in BERR and DCSF, depending on which Department the individual transferred from.

There have been no formal processes in either of the two Departments for holding such data records. To gather this data to answer this question would incur disproportionate cost.

Vocational Training

Alan Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people completed training or obtained qualifications as (a) carpenters, (b) electricians, (c) plumbers (water), (d) plumbers (gas), (e) plumbers (full central heating), (f) bricklayers and (g) plasterers in each of the last five years. [188556]

Mr. Lammy: The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Vocational Training: Manpower

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate has been made of the effect on staffing costs of the (a) skills brokerage service and (b) National Employer Service arising from the expansion of Train to Gain. [174366]

Mr. Lammy: The National Employer Service (NES) is an internal division of the Learning and Skills Council (LSC). Any expansion of the NES will have to be managed within the overall reduction in administration costs agreed with this Department as part of the CSR settlement.

LSC and DIUS officials are still developing the detailed plans for the expansion of brokerage, including how larger employers with between 1,000 and 4,999 staff might best be supported. These plans are being developed within the transition to a single brokerage service from April 2009, delivered through Business Link.

JUSTICE

Appeals: Incapacity Benefits

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 29 January 2008, Official Report, column 298W, on incapacity benefits appeals, what steps his Department is taking to reduce the number of upheld appeals lodged against an incapacity benefit personal capability assessment. [186220]

Bridget Prentice: The Tribunals Service works with the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP), with whom appeals are lodged regarding decisions on incapacity benefit, to improve original decision making on an ongoing basis.

In accordance with S81 of the Social Security Act 1998 the president of the Social Security and Child Support Appeals Tribunal provides an annual report on the standards of decision making by the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions. The Tribunals Service is currently working with DWP officials specifically to improve original decision making and the appeals process for all Jobcentre Plus benefits, including incapacity benefit. This includes reviewing decision making processes and developing standards for submissions made by Jobcentre Plus staff for the tribunal.

Approved Premises

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many and what percentage of people housed in approved premises are categorised as (a) high and (b) very high risk in each region; and if he will make a statement. [188355]

Maria Eagle: As at 31 December 2007, the number of residents housed in approved premises in England and Wales categorised as (a) high risk of harm was 1,329, representing 69 per cent. of the total number of residents at that date. The number categorised as (b) very high risk of harm was 95, representing 5 per cent. These figures do not include the prospects approved premises, which are a specialist resource for offenders with substance misuse problems. If such offenders were not placed in approved premises, they would fall to be supervised elsewhere in the community. Staff in approved premises are trained in risk assessment and risk management and work closely with offender managers and with the police, in order to protect the public.

The regional profile of offenders, by risk of harm, was as follows:

| | High risk of harm (a) | | Very high risk of harm (b) | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Region | Number | Percentage | Number | Percentage |
| East | 94 | 67 | 2 | 1 |
| East Midlands | 108 | 71 | 17 | 11 |
| London | 229 | 85 | 7 | 3 |
| North East | 86 | 72 | 17 | 14 |
| North West | 281 | 81 | 12 | 3 |
| South East | 94 | 48 | 6 | 3 |
| South West | 77 | 52 | 9 | 6 |
| Wales | 62 | 74 | 7 | 8 |
| West of Midlands | 119 | 54 | 9 | 4 |
| Yorkshire and Humberside | 179 | 74 | 9 | 4 |
| Total | 1,329 | 69 | 95 | 5 |

Courts: Translation Services

Mr. Paul Goodman: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with reference to the Answer of 15 October 2007, Official Report, column 750W, on courts: translation services, what plans Her Majesty's Courts Service has made for the collection of data relating to interpreting and translation services used in court. [188083]

Maria Eagle: Her Majesty's Court Service is considering introducing a new centralised system for the provision of interpreting services in court. The proposal for the new system is still in the planning stage and is currently undergoing review and approval. Following implementation it will be possible to collect data centrally.

Custodial Treatment

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether courts will be asked to take into account prison capacity when determining whether to use short custodial sentences during the next two financial years. [188049]

Mr. Hanson: Sentencing in individual cases is entirely a matter for the courts and it would not be appropriate to ask them to take into account capacity when sentencing. But the Government believe that short custodial sentences often lack utility and that, while serious and dangerous offenders must go to custody, less serious offenders are usually better punished in the community. We will always ensure that there are prison places for those serious and dangerous offenders who ought to be in prison and that courts have tough community sentences at their disposal to deal with less serious offenders. A working party is currently looking at the advantages, disadvantages and feasibility of establishing a Sentencing Commission that might among other things consider prison capacity.

Departmental Carbon Emissions

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the total carbon emissions from the estate of his Department and its predecessor in each year since 2005. [185461]

Maria Eagle: The total $CO_2$ emissions from the Ministry of Justice and its predecessors are approximately 69,617 tonnes between the years 2005-07. This data has previously been reported to be included in the Sustainable Development in Government report published in 2005-06, and the 2006-07 version due to be published early 2008. The breakdown includes:

| 2006-07 | Former Home Office bodies | 28,925 |
| | Former DCA | 6,512 |

The increase of carbon emissions within former Home Office bodies has resulted from both an increase in prison population and in regime facilities, such as, in some cases the provision of showers for prisoners within cells opposed to providing showers within communal areas.

Within former DCA, the increase has resulted from the significant organisational changes that DCA underwent when the magistrate courts migrated from local authority rule on to the HMCS estate.

Departmental Property

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what property has been lost or stolen from his Department and its predecessor since 1997; and what the estimated cost of replacement was. [187478]

Maria Eagle: We have no recorded losses of assets against our asset register, which records individual assets capitalised at £10,000 and above. Our 'Loss of Accountable Stores' records identify the gross value of reported losses from 2002-03 as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 12,723.94 |
| 2003-04 | 9,994.25 |
| 2004-05 | 2,242.58 |
| 2005-06 | 378.82 |
| 2006-07 | 641.74 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 850.00 |

Security incident records compiled since 2002-03 identify a total of 489 incidents involving theft or loss. The nature or scale of the loss is not available from the statistics although 190 of the incidents involved theft of IT equipment, though most IT assets are provided by PFI providers. There is no separate record of associated replacement or cost.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many external contracts his Department held with public relations companies in each of the last 10 years; and what the total cost of those contracts was. [183163]

Mr. Straw: Since the Ministry of Justice came into existence on 9 May 2007, the Ministry and its agencies have signed seven contracts with PR agencies at a cost of £210,000.

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many staff in his Department retired on grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187504]

Maria Eagle: The information is not available in the format requested. The following table below all ill health retirement figures within the Ministry of Justice's headquarters and agencies in each 12 month period from 1 January 2005.

Ministry of Justice's agencies ill health retirements 1 January to 31 December 2005, 2006, 2007

[1] Denotes a number below five. Code of practise does not follow figures to be published that would identify individuals.
[2] The database for National Offender Management Service and the Office of Criminal Justice Reform, does not record information about the medical condition which led to retirement; it simply states 'Medical Retirement'. There have been no medical retirements in NOMS/OCJR over the last three years.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187870]

Maria Eagle: The Cabinet Office published a report on sickness absence in the civil service on 7 February 2008. The report included an analysis of the days lost due to sickness absence for each Department by reasons for absence. The following table sets out the figures for 2006-07 for the constituent parts of this Department, which were in place prior to the creation of the Ministry of Justice in May 2007.

| | Total days lost (number) | Proportion lost to mental disorders[1] (percentage) |
|---|---|---|
| Magistrates Court Committee | 106,438 | 19 |
| HM Courts Service | 60,911 | 17 |
| Former Department for Constitutional Affairs | 9,689 | 14 |
| Tribunal Service | 7,681 | 13 |
| Office of the Public Guardian | 1,066 | 38 |
| Scotland Office | 121 | 0 |

| National Offender Management Service | 11,135 | 20 |
| Office of Criminal Justice Reform | 1,347 | 29 |
| HM Prison Service[1] | 573,881 | 22 |

[1] 22 per cent. of working days lost recorded for the public sector Prison Service in 2006-07 were attributable to mental and behavioural disorders, which include stress-related conditions.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by his Department and its predecessors in each of the last 10 years. [183301]

Mr. Straw: Since the Ministry of Justice was only formed on 9 May 2007 my response refers to the former Department for Constitutional Affairs. The following table provides figures from the 2002-03 financial year to the end of the last full financial year. Information for the preceding five years is not held centrally, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

| Financial year | Total owned at end of year | Total purchased during year |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 466 | 11 |
| 2003-04 | 279 | 0 |
| 2004-05 | 89 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 41 | 2 |
| 2006-07 | 91 | 42 |

I also refer the hon. Member to the response provided by the Department for Transport in respect of vehicles provided by GCDA.

Legal Aid: Expenditure

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much was spent on average per head on legal aid in the last year for which figures are available; and what comparative assessment he has made of equivalent figures for other EU countries. [184493]

Mr. Straw: In 2006-07 average legal aid expenditure per head of population in England and Wales was £37. Ministry of Justice has not made a comparative assessment with other EU countries. However, all known studies suggest that England and Wales spend more per capita than any other jurisdiction.

The European Commission for the Efficiency of Justice published a report on European Judicial Systems in 2006, which included 2004 per head expenditure data. The following table shows a selection of countries.

| Country | £ per head |
|---|---|
| England and Wales | 38 |
| Northern Ireland | 32 |
| Scotland | 30 |
| Netherlands | 16 |
| Republic of Ireland | 8 |
| Germany | 4 |
| France | 3 |

Life Imprisonment

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners were serving life sentences as of 1 February 2008; and how many were serving such sentences on that day or the nearest date for which figures are available in (a) 1998 and (b) 1988. [187257]

Mr. Hanson: At the end of December 2007, the latest date for which the information is available, there were 6,700 prisoners serving life sentences in prison establishments in England and Wales. Equivalent figures for December 1998 and 1988 are not available however, at the end of (a) June 1998 there were 3,950 and (b) June 1988 there were 2,500 prisoners serving life sentences in prison establishments in England and Wales.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large-scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing, and so have been rounded to the nearest 50.

Offenders: Deportation

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what discussions he or his officials have had with the Governments of non-EU states on (a) the deportation from the United Kingdom of their citizens in custody in the UK and (b) arrangements for their citizens to serve the remainder of their custodial sentence in their own countries in the last three years; and with which Governments such discussions have been held. [187107]

Mr. Hanson: In addition to our normal contact with other Governments over the deportation of individuals, where there are difficulties in obtaining documentation these issues are taken up directly with the respective embassy or high commission. The UK has now established safe routes and re-documentation arrangements with a significant number of countries and this is aiding our ability to return prisoners and other people at an improving pace. In particular we have recently signed a returns agreement with China and we are working ever more closely with Governments around the world to facilitate removals.

Since 2005, discussions on prison transfer agreements have taken place with St. Lucia, Tunisia, Yemen, Dominica, Dominican Republic, Guyana, Argentina, Ghana, Libya, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Jamaica, Nigeria, Pakistan, Kenya, Botswana, India, Vietnam, Bangladesh, the United Arab Emirates, Columbia, Laos and Lesotho. The United Kingdom currently has agreement with 98 countries.

Offenders: Rehabilitation

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice by what means, other than completion of a rehabilitation course, prisoners on indeterminate sentences may demonstrate that their level of risk is sufficiently reduced for them to be released. [188636]

Mr. Hanson: The release of a tariff expired indeterminate sentence prisoner is entirely a matter for the independent Parole Board. The statutory test applied by Parole Board panels in assessing risk in such cases, is whether they are satisfied that it is no longer necessary for the protection of the public that the prisoner should be confined. Guidance on this matter is contained in Directions to the Parole Board on the Release and Recall of Life Sentence Prisoners, a copy of which is available in the House of Commons Library.

When determining whether or not such offenders should be released, the Parole Board will look at the relevant risk factors in the individual cases, the various ways in which these have been addressed during sentence, and the outcomes manifested. The ways might include formal accredited offending behaviour courses, one to one work on identified risk factors, educational or vocational interventions and achievements. The risk assessment and risk reduction processes are, of necessity, holistic ones, considering all relevant factors.

Ultimate responsibility for the offender satisfying the Parole Board that the level of risk is reduced to the extent that he may be safely released into the community rests with the offender.

Post-Mortems: Children

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many post mortem examinations on children aged between five and 15 were not carried out by paediatric pathologists in each coroner's district in each of the last five years. [184749]

Mr. Bradshaw: I have been asked to reply.

The information is not available in the format requested. The Office of National Statistics collects data on the deaths of children in England aged between five and 15 years where a post mortem examination has been carried out. It is not broken down by coroner's district. The information available is shown in the following table.

Death registrations in England by post mortem type, ages 5 to 15. Data from the Office of National Statistics

| | Post mortem authorised by a coroner | Post mortem authorised by a doctor | Not known by whom post mortem authorised |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2006 | 493 | 22 | 4 |
| 2005 | 533 | 18 | 5 |
| 2004 | 507 | 18 | 1 |
| 2003 | 579 | 19 | 2 |
| 2002 | 571 | 25 | 4 |

Information is not collected centrally on how many of those post mortem examinations were carried out by paediatric pathologists.

Prison Sentences

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners have been detained on indeterminate sentences; and how many are currently so detained. [188637]

Mr. Hanson: At the end of December 2007 there were 3,700 prisoners serving indeterminate sentences for public protection in all prison establishments in England and Wales.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

No prisoner serving an indeterminate sentence may be considered for release until they have completed their tariff, that is, the period of imprisonment considered necessary to meet the requirements of retribution and deterrence. The Parole Board may direct a tariff-expired indeterminate sentence prisoner's release only if it is satisfied that it is no longer necessary for the protection of the public that the prisoner should be confined.

As at 31 January 2008, 17 prisoners serving indeterminate sentences of imprisonment for public protection (IPP) have been released. 16 of these were on the direction of the Parole Board. In the seventeenth case the prisoner was released before tariff expiry on compassionate grounds due to ill health and has since died.

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners on indeterminate sentences are detained although their minimum term has expired. [188638]

Mr. Hanson: The Public Protection Unit of the National Offender Management Service, the pre-release section (PRS) maintains a limited database on those offenders sentenced to imprisonment for public protection (IPP). This indicates that, as at 1 January 2008, 535 such offenders were being held in prison beyond their tariff expiry date.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

The Department is developing a new database that will allow it to accurately capture the information requested. It is expected that the new database will go live by April.

Prison Service

Mr. Streeter: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the national procurement system for the Prison Service. [188989]

Mr. Hanson: The decision to introduce a national procurement system was taken following the production of a full business case.

The benefits anticipated in the business case have been reviewed annually by the Prison Service and the results independently validated by the National Audit Office.

Prisoners

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people (a) of each sex and (b) in each 10-year age cohort are in prison. [187452]

Mr. Hanson: The following table shows the population in prison establishments in England and Wales as at the end of June 2006, broken down by gender and age band:

| | Total | Males | Females |
|---|---|---|---|
| All ages | 63,493 | 59,981 | 3,512 |
| 15-17 | 1,865 | 1,814 | 50 |
| 18-20 | 5,992 | 5,720 | 272 |
| 21-24 | 10,176 | 9,624 | 552 |
| 25-29 | 12,069 | 11,361 | 708 |
| 30-39 | 17,945 | 16,851 | 1,094 |
| 40-49 | 9,975 | 9,368 | 606 |
| 50-59 | 3,706 | 3,517 | 189 |
| 60 and over | 1,765 | 1,725 | 40 |

The table is taken from table 8.6 in the Offender Management Caseload Statistics 2006, a copy of which can be found in the House of Commons Library and which can be found at the following website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/prisonandprobation.htm

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Prisoners: Females

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many women were imprisoned for theft in (a) England and Wales and (b) each English region in each year since 1997. [187449]

Mr. Hanson: The following table gives the number of women sentenced to immediate custody for theft and handling in England and Wales and each English region in each year since 1997.

Prisoners: Per Capita Costs

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much was spent on average per prisoner for (a) education, (b) provision of televisions, games consoles and computers in cells, and (c) food in each year since 1997. [187448]

Maria Eagle: The requested annual figures for prisoners in English and Welsh public sector prisons are as follows:

| Financial year | Spend[1] per prisoner on: | | Number of in-cell TV sets purchased |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Education[2] (£) | Food[3] (£) | |
| 1997-98 | 616 | 497 | — |
| 1998-99 | 669 | 549 | 10,388 |
| 1999-2000 | 764 | 545 | 4,938 |
| 2000-01 | 882 | 600 | 13,580 |

| 2005-06 | 2,037 | 702 | 9,171 |
| 2006-07 | 2,047 | 722 | 12,450 |

[1] Rounded to the nearest

[2] For 2001-02 to 2006-07 inclusive—based on DIUS (and its predecessors') spend on education and training for public prisons in England and Wales (adults, young offenders and juveniles) and includes libraries and funding provided for Heads of Learning and Skills in prisons. For 1997-98 to 2000-01 - based on HMPS spend on a similar basis and also includes libraries and education materials. This figure does not capture all education and training costs that occur in areas such as prison workshops as it is not possible to separate out specific costs relating to these activities in these functions as they are an integral part of the service.

[3] Cost of food not cost of catering. Figures for 1997-98, 1998-99 and 1999-2000 are partly based on the estimated cost of providing fresh produce internally via prison farms and gardens.

Full expenditure data on games consoles and computers in cells is not held centrally and the collection of this information would be at disproportionate cost.

Since 1998 there has been a programme of purchasing television sets for prisoners' use in their cells. The number of sets purchased, in these circumstances is shown in the table with the exception of 1998-99 when £500,000 of public funds were used to start up the In-Cell TV initiative, all of these sets have been funded from the weekly rental charges collected from prisoners.

Prisoners: Taxis

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 7 February 2008, Official Report, column 1438W, on prisoners: taxis, how much the Prison Service spent on all taxi journeys in each of the last three years. [188293]

Maria Eagle: The information requested can not be provided as the Prison Service does not capture data to that level of detail within its accounting system.

Probation Boards: Finance

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the projected budget for 2008-09 is for each Director of Management within the probation and prison services. [188050]

Maria Eagle: The budgets for the Regional Offender Managers (ROM) / Directors of Offender Management (DOM) for 2008-09 are still subject to negotiation. The following table gives indicative figures for ROM / DOM budgets for prison and probation services as at 8 January 2008:

| Region | Resource budget 2008-09[1] (£) |
|---|---|
| ROM East Midlands | 253,411,316 |
| ROM East of England | 199,969,530 |
| DOM London | 275,540,688 |
| ROM North East | 143,261,062 |
| ROM North West | 306,360,777 |
| ROM South East | 342,149,791 |
| ROM South West | 197,621,424 |
| DOM Wales | 88,095,690 |
| ROM West Midlands | 220,903,450 |
| ROM Yorkshire and Humberside | 222,814,450 |

[1] indicative as at 8 January 2008

These figures do not include budgets for private prisons or centrally commissioned services such: as the high security estate. Please note, these figures are indicative and are subject to change.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by his Department in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost to the public purse of those penalties was in each year. [183357]

Mr. Straw: The information is as follows.

(a) Parking tickets

Information relating to the exact number of tickets issued during each year is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The following table provides figures for parking fines paid by our agent from 1999 to date.

|---|---|
| 1999 | 480.00 |
| 2000 | 1,141.50 |
| 2001 | 2,383.50 |
| 2002 | 3,665.00 |
| 2003 | 100.00 |
| 2004 | 1,470.00 |
| 2005 | 1,150.00 |
| 2006 | 347.50 |
| 2007 | 410.00 |
| 2008 | 0 |

(b) Speeding fines

The Ministry or its agents have paid no speeding fines. When a fixed penalty notice (or notice of impending prosecution) is received it is returned to the issuing authority with the driver's name and address. A central record is not kept of these occurrences.

I also refer the hon. Member to the response provided by the Department for Transport in respect of vehicles provided by GCDA.

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many (a) imprisonable and (b) non-imprisonable driving offences were committed by holders of European driving licences in the latest period for which figures are available. [187934]

Maria Eagle: Breaches of road traffic legislations can be dealt with by written warnings (including formal cautions), fixed penalty notices and court proceedings. The data held centrally by my Department on these actions are unable to distinguish offences committed by foreign licence holders.

Sentencing: Domestic Violence

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of offenders who were tried in a specialist domestic violence court received (a) bail, (b) fines and (c) non-custodial sentences in the last period for which figures are available. [187899]

Maria Eagle: There is no specific data available on court bail decisions for those defendants appearing in the Specialist Domestic Violence Courts. As data are only collected on sentence on such cases at a local level where required to assist in implementation and maintenance of the model, a complete sentencing data set is not available.

Sexual Harassment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many complaints of (a) sexual harassment and (b) sexual discrimination have been made by staff in (i) his Department and (ii) its agencies in the most recent year for which figures are available. [184689]

Maria Eagle: In the period January 2007 to December 2007 the following number of formal complaints on the grounds of sexual discrimination were received:

Ex-Department of Constitutional Affairs—4

National Offender Management Service—0

Office of Criminal Justice Reform—0

Total—4

In the ex-DCA complaints on the grounds of sexual harassment are recorded with other types of complaint under the general heading of "conduct". The system for logging complaints does not provide a separate category for sexual harassment, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The public sector Prison Service does not have systems in place that hold centrally validated information in respect of complaints of sexual harassment or discrimination and it could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The Service recognises that sexual harassment is a serious issue and has agreed a series of actions to identify and address sexual harassment. One of the primary actions required under the agreement with EHRC is to review all complaints which have occurred in establishments from 1 January 2005 to 31 December 2006. This information is currently the subject to quality controls and validation.

Statute Law (Repeals) Bill

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans he has to bring forward a Statute Law (Repeals) Bill in this session in response to the recent report from the Law Commission. [188255]

Mr. Wills: It is the Government's intention to introduce a Bill to give effect to the proposed Statute Law (Repeals) Bill as soon as possible in the current Session.

ELECTORAL COMMISSION COMMITTEE

Double Reporting of Donations

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what steps the Electoral Commission has taken to facilitate the end of the double reporting of donations by hon. Members. [186095]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Administration Act 2006 contains amendments to the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act 2000 which would remove the requirement on hon. Members to report certain donations and loans separately to the Electoral Commission.

However, these amendments cannot be brought into effect until the Commission is satisfied that the House has changed its own reporting procedures to require that hon. Members report the same information regarding gifts, donations and loans as they are currently required to report to the Commission under PPERA.

The Commission informs me that it has been working with the Office of the Parliamentary Commissioner on Standards to achieve these changes to the reporting requirements as soon as possible.

Efficiency Savings

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what (a) cashable and (b) non-cashable efficiency savings the Electoral Commission made in each of the last three years. [186098]

Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that, during its first six years of operations, it did not record specific cashable and non-cashable efficiency savings because it was going through a period of organisational change. However, the Commission remained within its agreed budget throughout this period.

Following a review commissioned by the Speaker's Committee, the Commission now plans and records its efficiency savings and during 2007-08 has delivered £625,000 of recurrent cashable savings.

Electoral Commission: Finance

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the honourable Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what budget has been set for the Electoral Commission for each of the next three financial years.[1] [186070]

Peter Viggers: The Speaker's Committee considered the Commission's budget for the four years 2007-08 to 2010-11 when it met in March 2007 and approved a cash flat resource budget of £3,995,000 (including the £2 million annual policy development grant budget) in each of the four years, subject to reconsideration only in the event that Parliament places new responsibilities upon the Commission during this period.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Bovine Tuberculosis: Devon

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many cattle were slaughtered in Devon as a result of tuberculosis infection in each of the last five years; how much compensation was paid to the farmers affected in each year; and if he will make a statement. [189048]

Jonathan Shaw: The following table sets out the number of cattle slaughtered under bovine tuberculosis control measures in Devon in the last five calendar years. A breakdown of the amount of compensation paid in Devon is not available.

Cattle slaughtered under TB control measures in Devon county: 2003-07[1]

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 3,767 |
| 2004 | 4,758 |
| 2005 | 6,660 |
| 2006 | 4,468 |
| 2007 | 5,383 |

[1] Includes cattle slaughtered as reactors, inconclusive reactors and direct contacts. 2005-07 figures are provisional, subject to change as more data become available.

Bovine Tuberculosis: Testing

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the average length of time to test a badger for tuberculosis is. [189053]

Jonathan Shaw: There is currently no sensitive and reliable diagnostic test for bovine TB in live badgers in the field. Bovine TB is most reliably detected by post mortem examination or by the less sensitive method of taking clinical samples (for example, blood, urine, tracheal swabs and faeces) from anaesthetised live badgers. Tissue samples are then confirmed by culture of Mycobacterium bovis (M. bovis ) in the laboratory. However, M. bovis grows very slowly so culture results can take six weeks to several months to come through. Various blood tests can be used to measure the immune response to bovine TB, one of which takes about 30 minutes, and has about 80 per cent. sensitivity in detecting severely infected animals.

The drawback of these tests for live badgers is the need to anaesthetise the badger in order to sample it, hence they are suitable for research purposes only.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent by (a) his Department and (b) its agencies on (i) official hospitality and (ii) staff entertainment in each year since 1997. [185182]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA came into being in June 2001. The information requested for each of the last 10 years could be provided only at disproportionate cost. From information held centrally the amounts spent on hospitality by the core-Department are:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 140,588 |
| 2002-03 | 344,822 |
| 2003-04 | 576,829 |
| 2004-05 | 381,138 |
| 2005-06 | 457,523 |
| 2006-07 | 405,482 |
| 2007-08[1] | 291,585 |

[1] April to December

Direct year-on-year comparisons cannot be made because of Machinery of Government changes that have occurred.

The core-Department does not hold information centrally on hospitality expenditure by its executive agencies and non-departmental public bodies. The information could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The core-Department holds no information centrally on the expenditure category of staff entertainment.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many Ministerial residences were available to his Department's Ministers and those of its predecessors in each of the last 10 years. [183189]

Jonathan Shaw: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given by my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Secretary of the Duchy of Lancaster on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many vehicles were (a) owned and (b) purchased by his Department and its predecessor in each of the last 10 years. [183290]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA came into being in June 2001. The information requested for each of the last 10 years could be provided only at disproportionate cost. From information held centrally the numbers of fleet vehicles owned by core-DEFRA for the financial years 2001-02 to 2007-08 to date are:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 | 289 |
| 2002-03 | 390 |
| 2003-04 | 418 |
| 2004-05 | 376 |
| 2005-06 | 306 |
| 2006-07 | 298 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 221 |

From information held centrally the numbers of pool vehicles owned by core-DEFRA and the Animal Health Agency for the financial years 2005-06 to 2007-08 to date are:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 42 |
| 2006-07 | 41 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 42 |

The core-Department's Regional Development Service (RDS) had 157 pool vehicles in 2005-06 but these became the responsibility of National England when the RDS was absorbed into the non-departmental public body.

Food: Procurement

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his Department's policy is on the purchase of food from local sources. [186435]

Jonathan Shaw: We have helped to support local sourcing with funding for a range of measures, which allow regional and local food producers to overcome barriers to the effective marketing of their products. Examples include "meet the buyer" events, encouragement for food hubs and shared distribution facilities, and key training seminars.

Support from DEFRA has been boosted by the regional development agencies (RDAs), helping activities to do with the promotion of quality regional and local food culture. The level and type of RDA funding reflects each region's priorities as set out in regional economic strategies. RDAs also deliver aspects of DEFRA's rural development programme for England (RDPE). Support is available under the RDPE to improve the competitiveness of a wide range of rural businesses, which can include local and regional food producers.

We have also commissioned research aimed at enabling policy makers, support organisations and the supply chain to better understand the regional and local food sector. One of these projects will investigate the practicalities and benefits of local food production. Other work will examine consumer attitudes and actual purchasing behaviour. The results will be published on our website.

Finally, DEFRA's ongoing public sector food procurement initiative (PSFPI) was launched in 2003 to help deliver the Government's sustainable farming and food strategy. This aims to increase opportunities for small and local producers to tender for contracts to supply food to the public sector. Our funding for this initiative supports workshops for buyers and suppliers, regional pilot projects to develop the supply side, and a range of guidance materials aimed at both food producers and public sector buyers. More information on the PSFPI can be found on the DEFRA website.

Gangmasters (Licensing) Act 2004

Jim Sheridan: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many prosecutions have been brought under the provisions of the Gangmasters (Licensing) Act 2004 in the last 12 months. [185037]

Jonathan Shaw: The Gangmasters' Licensing Act 2004 creates two main offences: operating as a gangmaster without a licence and entering into arrangements with an unlicensed gangmaster. It also creates offences in connection with false documents, such as a licence or a document issued by the Gangmasters' Licensing Authority (GLA) in connection with a licence. The GLA enforces the 2004 Act on behalf of DEFRA.

In the last 12 months, one prosecution has been brought for the offences created by the 2004 Act. This prosecution has been brought in Scotland by the Procurator Fiscal for the offence of acting as a gangmaster without a licence. The trial date has been set for March.

In addition, the GLA is investigating 105 cases where offences under the 2004 Act may have been committed. The GLA has said that from the 2008-09 financial year it will be placing increasing emphasis on enforcing the 2004 Act now that it has completed the task of designing and implementing the licensing scheme for gangmasters.

Public Sector: Procurement

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proportion of publicly procured food was of British origin in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007. [186340]

Jonathan Shaw: There are no central records for the years 2005 and 2006 giving the proportion of publicly procured food of British origin. We have however published data giving the proportion of domestically produced food used by Government Departments and also supplied to hospitals and prisons under contracts negotiated by NHS Supply Chain and HM Prison Service for the period July 2006 to 30 June 2007. The report is available on the PSFPI web site at:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/farm/policy/sustain/procurement/pdf/govt-food-usage.pdf and has been placed in the Library of the House.

Road Traffic Offences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many (a) parking tickets and (b) speeding fines were issued for vehicles used by his Department in each of the last 10 years. [183386]

Jonathan Shaw: DEFRA came into being in June 2001. The information requested for each of the last 10 years could be provided only at disproportionate cost. For the calendar years 2002 to 2007 inclusive the recorded number held centrally of parking tickets and speeding fines are;

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 21 |
| 2003 | 68 |
| 2004 | 61 |
| 2005 | 53 |
| 2006 | 26 |
| 2007 | 60 |

Parking fines are not recorded separately from other fines. It is departmental policy that drivers are responsible personally for the payment of fines incurred by them while using a vehicle on departmental business.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Internet

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many Wikipedia entries have been (a) created and (b) amended (i) by (A) special advisers, (B) Ministers and (C) communications officials and (ii) from IP addresses of (1) special advisers, (2) Ministers and (3) communications officials in his Department since August 2005. [185532]

David Cairns: The Scotland Office has no record of such activities.

Departmental Property

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what property has been lost or stolen from his Department since 1997; and at what cost to the public purse. [187471]

David Cairns: The Scotland Office was established on 1 July 1999.

Since that date, the following have been reported as lost or stolen.

| | Item | Lost | Stolen | Value at date reported lost/ stolen (£) |
|---|---|---|---|---|

It is not possible to determine the value of the mobile phone handsets.

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many staff in his Department retired on grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187498]

David Cairns: The staff in the Scotland Office are seconded from other Departments and the Office does not maintain personnel records of staff.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187871]

David Cairns: The staff in the Scotland Office are seconded from other Departments and the Office does not maintain personnel records of staff.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what average hourly rate his Department paid to employment agencies for agency staff in each year since 1999, broken down by employment agency. [187913]

David Cairns: The Scotland Office does not record the information in the form requested.

PRIME MINISTER

Efficiency in Public Services Review: Written Questions

Chris Huhne: To ask the Prime Minister if he will take steps to investigate the reasons why (a) the Home Department and (b) the Ministry of Defence have been unable to provide answers to parliamentary questions, save at disproportionate cost, on redundancies and related costs arising from the conclusions of the Gershon review; and if he will take steps to bring the practice of these Departments on answering such questions into line with the other Departments. [189419]

The Prime Minister: Practice and procedures are set out in the February 2005 Cabinet Office guidance to Departments entitled Guidance to Officials on Drafting Answers to Parliamentary Questions. Copies of the guidance are available in the Libraries of the House.

TRANSPORT

A57

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport for what reason the A57 at Snake Pass has been closed during January 2008; when she expects the road to re-open; and if she will make a statement. [188669]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The A57 Snake Pass is the responsibility of the Derbyshire county council as local highways authority.

I understand that the road was closed in the interest of road safety for a period of three weeks following a land slip which affected the road surface.

Following a period of stabilisation the road has been reopened with a 10 mph speed limit. Derbyshire county council is continuing to monitor the situation and, if no further movement occurs, will carry out resurfacing of the road in late spring.

Aviation: Fuels

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what discussions she has had with her foreign counterparts on the quality of fuel supplies at airports servicing British registered aircraft flying to the UK; and if she will make a statement. [187552]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Secretary of State has not had discussions with the authorities of other states regarding the quality of fuel at airports used by aircraft flying to the UK.

UK airlines are required to use fuel which meets the detailed specifications contained in the flight manuals of their aircraft. The quality of fuel used, including that supplied by through sub-contractors, is monitored through the airlines quality system.

Biofuels

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment she has made of the potential role of biomethane as a transport fuel. [186492]

Jim Fitzpatrick: During 2006, the Department part-funded a research project to assess the potential role of biomethane as a renewable transport fuel, as well as commissioning a more detailed analysis of the potential benefits of including biogas in the Renewable Transport Fuels Obligation (RTFO). Copies of these reports have been made available in the House Libraries. The Government are also contributing funds to an International Energy Agency working group (IEA Task 37) which is considering the issues raised by biogas.

In recognition of the environmental benefits that it offers, biomethane already qualifies for a fuel duty incentive equivalent to around 40 pence per kilogramme. From April 2008, it will also be eligible for Renewable Transport Fuel Certificates under the Renewable Transport Fuel Obligation.

Bridges: River Thames

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will make a statement on the possible construction of a lower Thames crossing. [188211]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department for Transport has started the first phase of a study into longer-term crossing capacity in the Lower Thames.

As part of an earlier consultation on a revised charging regime for the existing Dartford Crossing, we announced our intention to commence a study to look at options for addressing rising demand in the longer-term. The start of this study fulfils that commitment.

This initial phase of the study will advise on the future need for additional crossing capacity and identify possible options. It will also update the transport models to better understand the impacts of current and future demand, and review previous work on what can be done to improve traffic flow through the existing crossing in the short to medium term.

This phase is planned to be completed around the end of this year and will ensure that we have the latest information and forecasts of demand to be able to make an assessment of potentially viable future options.

Bus Services: Concessions

Ann Coffey: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many people over 60-years-old in Stockport will be eligible for the extended free bus travel scheme to be introduced on 1 April 2008. [189047]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The number of residents in the borough of Stockport aged 60 and over who, from 1 April 2008 will be entitled to free off-peak bus travel in any part of England, is around 64,000. In the parliamentary constituency of Stockport approximately 14,000 people will be eligible.

Cycling: Accidents

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps she is taking to improve the procedures for the collection of data on cycle safety to tackle the underreporting of the number of accidents. [188586]

Jim Fitzpatrick: National and local government and police forces work closely to achieve a high reporting standard for road accident data. Very few, if any, fatal accidents do not become known to the police. However, research conducted on behalf of the Department has shown that an appreciable proportion of non-fatal injury accidents are not reported to the police. There is no legal duty in Great Britain to report personal injury road accidents to the police, provided the participants exchange details at the scene.

Research has also shown that pedal cycle casualties are underrepresented in the road accident data (STATS19). In particular, accidents in which the pedal cyclist is the only participant are not likely to be reported to the Police. Recent research using Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) shows that many accidents not recorded in the police data are the result of a person (often a child) falling from a bicycle with no other vehicle involved.

This research was published by the Department in an article in Road Casualties Great Britain: 2006 annual report (pages 60-72). A copy of the report has been deposited in the Libraries of the House or can be found at the following address:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/162259/162469/221412/221549/227755/rcgb2006v1.pdf

Cycling: Safety Measures

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will bring forward legislative proposals to require all pedal bicycles to have a bell or other audible warning device fitted when being used. [188634]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Rule 66 of the Highway Code recommends the fitting and use of cycle bells. The 2003 Pedal Bicycles (Safety) Regulations introduced various requirements relating to the supply and sale of cycles, including the obligation for a bell to be fitted at point of sale. While the regulations do not compel cyclists to keep a bell fitted to the bicycle after the machine has been purchased, it seems likely that many will retain it.

In view of the results of a previous public consultation exercise (2001-02), we consider that there is insufficient justification to make retrospective fitting of a bell obligatory on cycles already in use. Neither do we believe there is a strong enough case to require compulsory use of bells, as this would be impractical and difficult to enforce.

Departmental Advertising

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of her Department's expenditure was on advertising in each year since establishment. [182984]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The requested figures are as follows. The majority of advertising investment by the Department and agencies is in support of the THINK! Road Safety, Act on $CO_2$ and Continuous Registration (vehicle taxation) campaigns.

| | Total public expenditure (£ million) | Advertising expenditure (£ million) | Percentage |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 11,726 | 18.8 | 0.16 |
| 2003-04 | 13,086 | 20.9 | 0.16 |
| 2004-05 | 13,391 | 18.9 | 0.14 |
| 2005-06 | 13,371 | 21.2 | 0.16 |
| 2006-07 | 15,838 | 24.0 | 0.15 |

Departmental Telephone Services

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1007-8W, on departmental telephone services, how much revenue generated from 0870 telephone numbers of her Department's agencies came from Scottish landline numbers in each year. [187459]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency, the Driving Standards Agency and the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency are unable to identify the geographic origin of calls to them. As a result, they are unable to provide details of revenue generated from Scottish landlines.

Departmental Vehicles

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 1008W, on departmental vehicles, how many vehicles were leased by (a) the Highways Agency's Traffic Officer Service and (b) the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency in each of the last 10 years for which figures are available; and what the cost to the public purse was in each of those years. [187896]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The requested information, where available, is as follows:

| Financial year | Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency total leased vehicles | Highways Agency total leased vehicles | Highways Agency leased vehicle cost (£) |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1998-99 | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— |
| 1999-2000 | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— |
| 2000-01 | [1]— | [1]— | [1]— |
| 2001-02 | 14 | [1]— | [1]— |
| 2002-03 | 18 | [1]— | [1]— |
| 2003-04 | 47 | 11 | 140,632 |
| 2004-05 | 38 | 23 | 635,251 |
| 2005-06 | 48 | 166 | 1,639,178 |
| 2006-07 | 39 | 171 | 1,865,175 |
| 2007-08 | 41 | 267 | 1,171,038 |

[1] No data.

The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency is unable to provide detailed information on costs as vehicle lease information is not recorded separately within their records.

Highways Agency data for 2007-08 is a year to date actual as of end of January 2008, not a full year forecast value.

Derwent Valley Railway Line

Mr. McLoughlin: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps she is taking to ensure adequate funding for the upgrading and maintenance of the Derwent Valley railway line. [188926]

Mr. Tom Harris: This is an operational matter for Network Rail, as the owner and operator of the national rail network. The right hon. Member should contact Network Rail's chief executive at the following address for a response to his question.

Iain Coucher
Chief Executive
Network Rail
40 Melton Street
London
NW1 2EE

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Telephone Calls

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many calls were made to (a) the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency, (b) the Driving Standards Agency and (c) the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency from Scottish landline numbers in each of the last five years. [187456]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency, the Driving Standards Agency and the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency are unable to identify the geographic origin of calls to them, including those from Scottish landlines.

Electric Vehicles

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what assessment she has made of the potential effect on the Government's road congestion targets of the use of electric personal assistive mobility devices; [188875]

(2) what assessment she has made of the changes to legislation necessary to permit the use of electric personal assistive mobility devices on (a) the public highway and (b) public footpaths; [188876]

(3) what discussions she has had with her counterparts in EU member states on the potential effect on (a) carbon emissions and (b) road congestion of the use of electric personal assistive mobility devices. [188877]

Ms Rosie Winterton: If, as we understand, such devices are likely to be used mainly as an alternative to walking or cycling then their potential in terms of congestion relief and of carbon emission reduction is likely to be minimal. No detailed assessment of legislative requirements has been made but primary legislation would need to be amended to permit their use on public footpaths or on the pedestrian footway alongside the public highway. There is provision in section 44 of the Road Traffic Act 1988 that would allow the Secretary of State to permit by way of an order their use on the vehicular part of the public highway. The Secretary of State has no plans to make such an order. The Secretary of State has had no discussions with her EU counterparts on this subject.

Fuels: Renewable Energy

Mr. Boswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps she is taking to encourage the formulation of standards of specification and performance for fuels from renewable sources. [188660]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Detailed specifications and performance standards for road fuels are specified in industry standards set in Europe through the European Committee for Standardisation (CEN).

In addition to the standards for petrol and diesel (EN 228 and EN 590 respectively), standards for ethanol used for blending in petrol (EN 15376) and for Fatty Acid Methyl Ester used as pure biodiesel or for blending in diesel (EN 14214) have already been adopted. Key environmental parameters for petrol and diesel are regulated in the EU fuel quality directive (98/70/EC as amended) and transposed in the UK by the Motor Fuels (Composition and Content) Regulations 1999. The Government and their European partners are currently considering a proposal by the European Commission to increase the level of ethanol in petrol permitted by the fuel quality directive.

The Government are also keen that mandatory sustainability standards should be applied to all biofuels and are pressing for the inclusion of robust sustainability criteria in the relevant European Union legislation. The Government's intention is that only those biofuels meeting certain minimum environmental standards should qualify for credits under the Road Transport Fuels Obligation.

Government Car and Despatch Agency

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many vehicles were leased by the Government Car and Despatch Agency (GCDA) to each Government Department in 2007; and what the (a) average and (b) total cost of contracts between the GCDA and each Government Department for that year was. [187569]

Jim Fitzpatrick: I refer the hon. Member to the ministerial statement made by the Secretary of State for Transport on 26 July 2007, Official Report, columns 109-11WS. The statement gave information on the number and the contracted cost of ministerial cars and drivers provided by the Government Car and Despatch Agency (GCDA) for 2006-07, the last year for which figures are available.

The number and contracted cost of official cars and drivers provided to senior officials in 2006-07, the last year for which figures are available, are as follows:

| Department | Number of cars | Contracted cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| Cabinet Office[1] | 5 | 268,100 |
| Commission for Equality and Human Rights | 1 | 27,400 |
| Crown Prosecution Service | 1 | 61,000 |
| Department for Constitutional Affairs | 1 | 24,600 |
| Department for Culture, Media and Sport | 1 | 63,100 |
| Department for Education and Science | 1 | 59,200 |
| Department for Trade and Industry | 1 | 63,100 |
| Department for Transport | 1 | 61,000 |
| Department for Work and Pensions | 1 | 57,700 |
| Department of Health | 3 | 61,400 |
| Export Credit Guarantees Department | 1 | 57,700 |
| HM Court Service | 1 | 56,300 |
| HM Inspectorate Of Constabulary | 2 | 61,500 |
| HM Revenue and Customs[2] | 2 | 89,600 |
| HM Treasury[2] | 2 | 92,800 |
| Home Office | 2 | 137,000 |
| Northern Ireland Office | 1 | 60,400 |
| Olympic Delivery Authority[3] | 1 | 27,200 |
| Office of Government Commerce | 1 | 52,800 |
| Office of Science and Technology | 1 | 60,700 |

[1] Figures for the Cabinet Office include the provision of an official car and driver for the Official Leader of the Opposition. Of the five cars and drivers that were provided during the year, one car and driver was provided for three months only.
[2] One allocated car and driver transferred from HMRC to HM Treasury in August 2006.
[3] GCDA services were provided to the Olympic Delivery Authority for five months only.

Heavy Goods Vehicles

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport with reference to the answer of 6 July 2006, Official Report, columns 1268-69W, on heavy goods vehicles, what recent estimate she has made of the proportion of heavy goods vehicle kilometres on roads accounted for by foreign heavy goods vehicles. [188897]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 25 February 2008]: There have been no further estimates made since 2003.

Lorries: Accidents

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) deaths and (b) major injuries were caused in 2006-07 by objects from unsecured freight vehicle loads falling onto people. [188908]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is not available.

M1: Milton Keynes

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment she has made of the impact of the Milton Keynes/South Midland growth area on the development of Junction 11a of the M1. [188299]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Milton Keynes/South Midlands growth area is included within the transport model used for the assessment of the A5-M1 link scheme and accordingly M1 Junction 11a which forms part of that scheme.

M1: Speed Limits

Mr. Greg Knight: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport for what reason the 50 mph temporary speed limit remained in force on the M1 motorway in the vicinity of junction 32 after all lanes were re-opened to traffic. [188668]

Mr. Tom Harris: The continued speed restrictions on the M1 Junctions 31 and 32 were kept in place until the final commissioning of the new electronic lane control signals was fully completed.

The electronic signals and signs were fully commissioned on 19 February and the speed restrictions were removed on the morning of 20 February.

Marine Management Organisation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what licensing powers currently within her Department's responsibilities she expects to be transferred to the Marine Management Organisation, as proposed in the Marine Bill White Paper; and if she will make a statement. [188709]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We intend to transfer to the proposed Marine Management Organisation responsibility for decisions on Harbour Revision and Harbour Empowerment Orders.

Motor Vehicles: Safety

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will make the Code of Practice on Safety of Loads on Vehicles mandatory; and if she will make a statement. [188907]

Jim Fitzpatrick: While the Code is not a legal document and there are no plans to make it mandatory, it can be used as an example of good practice to support a prosecution for non compliance with regulations.

Network Rail: Portsmouth

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what representations she has made to Network Rail on signal failures in the Portsmouth area in 2008; what steps Network Rail has taken to prevent signalling problems during major works at Easter; and if she will make a statement. [188342]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Secretary of State for Transport has made no representations to Network Rail on signal failures in the Portsmouth area in 2008. The prevention of signalling problems during major works at Easter is an operational matter for Network Rail as the owner and operator of the national rail network. The hon. Member should contact Network Rail's chief executive at the following address for a response to his question:

Iain Coucher
Chief Executive
Network Rail
40 Melton Street
London, NW1 2EE.

Northern Rail: Rolling Stock

Mr. Atkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when she expects refurbished rolling stock to be available for Northern Rail services on its Newcastle to Carlisle line; and when Pacer trains will be decommissioned. [188384]

Mr. Tom Harris: Decisions on deployment of rolling stock rest with the franchisee, Northern Rail. The department understands there are no plans to withdraw Pacer trains from service.

Parking Tickets

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Taunton of 5 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1014-15W, on parking tickets, whether the figures provided include parking tickets issued on Government Car and Despatch Agency vehicles under lease to departments other than her Department at the time the ticket was issued. [187919]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The figures for the period 1999-2000 to 2006-07 quoted in the earlier reply include parking ticket costs for the entire Government Car and Despatch Agency's fleet, including those vehicles allocated to other Government Departments. Information before 1999-2000 is not readily available and could be obtained only at a disproportionate cost.

Public Transport: Rural Areas

Mr. McLoughlin: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps she is taking to improve public transport links for those living in rural areas to nearby towns and cities. [188925]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Local and central government are currently spending £2.5 billion a year on bus services, including those linking rural areas with nearby towns and cities. This total includes bus service operators grant (BSOG), the costs of mandatory concessionary fares, local authority subsidy of non-commercial services and capital expenditure on bus-related infrastructure schemes.

It is for local authorities to decide which particular bus services to subsidise in their area and how much of the resources available to them to devote to supporting bus services.

These resources include funding we have provided to local authorities in the form of rural bus subsidy grant (RBSG). This grant is currently supporting some 2,000 services many of which provide the vital links to nearby towns. A total of around 38 million passenger journeys are made annually on RBSG supported services. This year's allocations total £55.6 million, bringing the grant's total to nearly £450 million since its introduction in 1998.

The Local Transport Bill, now before Parliament, will benefit rural areas and urban areas alike by modernising the regulatory framework for buses, giving local authorities a bigger role where this is necessary and providing strengthened arrangements for partnerships between local authorities and bus operators.

The Bill also contains measures to expand the role of community transport and to enable private hire vehicle operators to provide local bus services, extending the existing taxibus provisions to this sector for the first time. Both these measures are of particular relevance to meeting rural transport needs.

Rail Accident Investigation Branch

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many external contracts the Rail Accidents Investigation Branch held with public relations companies in each year for which figures are available; and what the cost of those contracts was. [187575]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Rail Accident Investigation Branch was set up during 2005 and became fully operational from 17 October 2005. RAIB let a contract with Campaign Productions (Television Productions Ltd.) to produce a DVD for use by TV/media explaining the RAIB's role in investigating certain rail accidents and incidents. In financial year 2006-07, the cost was £13,618.15 and in FY 2007-08, the cost was £363.82.

Railways

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what her strategy is for increasing (a) passenger and (b) freight capacity on the national rail network; and if she will make a statement. [188466]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department for Transport's strategy for increasing passenger and freight capacity through record investment in the railway is set out in the 2007 White Paper, "Delivering a Sustainable Railway". A copy of this White Paper is available in the House Library.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment she has made of the implications for heritage railways of the railways and other guided systems regulations; and if she will make a statement. [188475]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) is considering concerns raised by heritage railways about the application of the Railway and Other Guided Transport System (Safety) Regulations 2006. I expect to receive briefing from ORR in late March on progress in resolving these concerns.

Railways: Carbon Emissions

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment she has made of the potential for ultra light rail to deliver a low carbon transport option. [186494]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department has not made such an assessment. We are aware of the claims made for the potential benefits of ultra light rail, but in order to assess these properly we would need to see a business case supporting its application in a specific location. Local authorities are welcome to submit innovative proposals to the Department for funding as pilot or demonstration schemes within the major scheme funding regime.

Railways: Llansamelet

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many times the Office of Rail Regulation visited railway track around Llansamelet station in 2006-07; and what assessment they made of public safety following those visits. [187460]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Office of Rail Regulation made no visits to the railway track around Llansamlet railway station during 2006 or 2007. However, a Railway Inspectorate Contact Officer did visit the station in December 2007 to consider trespass risk.

Railways: Public Participation

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will make it her policy to bring forward legislation to require Stakeholder Briefing Documents which lay out the specification against which bidders for future franchises are asked to submit their bids to include the results of a consultation exercise in which passengers have been consulted about their requirements, in accordance with the recommendations of the 14th Report of the Transport Committee on Passenger Franchising, Session 2005-06, HC 1354, para 34. [188467]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Government's response to the Select Committee's report (HC 265, published on 29 January 2007) explained that the Department for Transport already has a policy of consulting with a wide range of statutory and other bodies, including passenger representatives, before inviting tenders for passenger rail franchises. That remains our approach and we have no plans to legislate in this area.

Railways: Watford

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate she has made of the number of people affected by the decision to terminate trains on the Watford to Brighton line at Clapham Junction from winter 2008; and if she will make a statement. [187084]

Mr. Tom Harris: A recent survey showed that an average of around 70 passengers (per train operated) would require to change trains at Clapham Junction. Many times that number of people will benefit from the implementation of the full Thameslink service that is made possible by the service change.

Roads

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will publish the 1994 Standing Advisory Committee on Trunk Road Assessment report on trunk roads and the generation of traffic on the Department for Transport website. [188480]

Mr. Tom Harris: This is currently only available in paper format. We will scan this study and release it on the Department's website in March. We have identified a number of further reports, released before web publishing was the norm, which we will also release in electronic format alongside this SACTRA study.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what account her Department takes of the 1994 Standing Advisory Committee on Trunk Road Assessment report in their assessment of individual new road proposals. [188482]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department has ensured that the findings of the 1994 report are reflected in assessments through advising promoters about appropriate modelling techniques. For the largest proposals, using multi-modal models means analysis takes account of the impacts of generated traffic in assessments. For smaller schemes, the Department has recommended the use of more proportionate but robust approaches.

The specific guidance for road proposals is introduced in TAG Unit 2.9, 'Variable Demand Modelling—Advice Overview'. For the larger studies, the advice is introduced in TAG Unit 1.2.1, 'Multimodal Studies: Introduction to Guidance on Multi Modal Studies'. These are available at:

http://www.webtag.org.uk.

Roads: Accidents

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when the final report of the research study examining accident statistics on the trunk road network will be published; what assessment she has made of the results of the study for the continued use of stone mastic asphalt surfaces on roads; and if she will make a statement. [188661]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Highways Agency publishes an annual report on the safety performance of the trunk road network based on an examination of the road traffic accident statistics contained in a database of personal injury road accidents known as STATS19. This can be found at www.dft.gov.uk. The current report, Accidents on the trunk road network - 2006, was published in October 2007.

The Transport Research Laboratory (TRL) research report, 'Early Life Skid Resistance - An Assessment of Accident Risk', pertaining to the use of 'bespoke' proprietary thin surfacings on the trunk roads has been delivered to the Highways Agency to consider its recommendations and conclusions. The report will be available to the public and the highway authorities through TRL from April onwards. Stone mastic asphalt is not used on the trunk road network.

Roads: Repairs and Maintenance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what work her Department is undertaking on the modelling criteria for (a) new and (b) widened roads; what timescale is being applied to this work; and if she will make a statement. [188476]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department expects modelling for schemes to be robust and advice on criteria forms part of the New Approach to Appraisal. For road schemes, the details can be found on the transport analysis website at:

http://www.webtag.org.uk/

and also in the Highways Agency's Design Manual for Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans there are to improve roads in the Dorset area; and what funds are available for such improvements. [189171]

Ms Rosie Winterton: For the South West region, the Government have provided almost £865 million, through the Regional Funding Allocation (RFA), to be spent between 2007-08 and 2015-16 for regionally significant transport schemes, including road investment.

The region undertook a prioritisation exercise and the following road schemes within Dorset are currently programmed for funding:

| Scheme | Scheme sponsor | DFT contribution (£ million) |
|---|---|---|
| Poole Bridge Regeneration Initiative | Poole | 13 |
| A354 Wey mouth Relief Road | Dorset | 71 |
| SE Dorset Bus Showcase Corridors, potentially including some road improvements | SE Dorset | 15 |

Additionally, the DFT has provided the following non-ringfenced capital allocations for the three years from 2008-09 to 2010-10 for routine highway maintenance in Bournemouth, Poole and Dorset:

£000

| Authority | 2008-09 | 2009-10 | 20010-11 | 2008-09 to 2010-11 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bournemouth | 932 | 1,025 | 1,179 | 3,135 |
| Dorset | 8,619 | 9,267 | 10,032 | 27,919 |
| Poole | 1,314 | 1,413 | 1,530 | 4,258 |
| Whole of Dorset area | 10,865 | 11,706 | 12,741 | 35,312 |
| Percentage of regional total | 9.9 | 10.2 | 10.1 | 10.1 |

The Highways Agency is responsible for the A31 and A35 through the Dorset area. There are currently no plans for improvements to the A31 within Dorset. However, on the A35 there are proposals to improve the capacity at three roundabouts before the 2012 Olympics. They are as follows:

| Route | Improvement | Estimated cost (£ million) |
|---|---|---|
| A35 | Weymouth Road Stadium roundabout | 1.8 |
| A35 | Stinsford roundabout | 0.7 |
| A35 | Bere Regis roundabout | 0.3 |
| Total | | 2.8 |

Salisbury Station

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when she received proposals from South West Trains under the Network Modifications (Closures) regime contained in the Railway Act 2005 to close the travel centre at Salisbury station; and when she expects to announce her decision. [187309]

Mr. Tom Harris: The proposal was received by the Department on 20 November 2007. The decision to approve this minor modification has been made. The determination was issued on 25 February.

Sea Rescue: Northern Ireland

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what assessment she has made of the effects on maritime safety and rescue in and around Northern Ireland waters of the decision of the Irish Republic to close the coast guard stations in Donegal; and if she will make a statement; [188554]

(2) what assessment she has made of the effects on measures against illegal and illicit shipping in and around Northern Ireland waters of the decision of the Irish Republic to close the coast guard stations in Donegal; and if she will make a statement. [188555]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Should the Irish authorities decide to close coastguard stations in Donegal, provision of maritime search and rescue services in the waters around Northern Ireland will be unaffected. HM Coastguard will continue to provide 24 hr co-ordination of Search and Rescue in and around Northern Ireland waters from its station in Bangor.

Regular operational search and rescue liaison meetings are held between HM Coastguard and the Irish Coast Guard.

Seas and Oceans: Legislation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when she last discussed the Marine Bill with her Cabinet colleagues; and if she will make a statement. [188710]

Jim Fitzpatrick: My right hon. Friend regularly participates in Cabinet discussions on all aspects of the legislative programme, including the Marine Bill.

South West Trains

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment her Department has made of the potential effect of decreasing the mainline express stock on the Portsmouth to Waterloo mainline outside peak hours. [188489]

Mr. Tom Harris: The Department for Transport has made no such assessment and is not aware of any off-peak capacity issues on this particular route.

Transport: Voluntary Work

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if she will assess the merits of moving from a system of local authority grants for the provision of volunteer transport services to a system of contracts. [188332]

Ms Rosie Winterton: It is for local authorities to make decisions on how they procure or support volunteer transport services, taking into account the legislative framework and their local circumstances. Information is available to local authorities about volunteer transport services, including a review commissioned by the Department of voluntary transport and carried out in close association with the Community Transport Association.

Waterborne Freight Grant

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the budget was for, and what payments were made under, the waterborne freight grant in each year since its inception. [188894]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Prior to 2007, the Department funded both the waterborne freight grant (resource) and water freight facilities grant (capital) schemes from a budget of between £8-12 million.

In April 2007, the mode neutral sustainable distribution fund (SDF) was created to fund rail and water freight grants and road efficiency schemes. £18.5 million of resource and £7 million of capital funding has been available from the SDF this year.

No waterborne freight grants have been awarded by the Department since the scheme's inception in 2004. This is not due to a lack of available budget but to the fact that potential applicants have difficulty in satisfying constraints imposed by the European Commission when the Government sought State Aids clearance. These require schemes to be viable without grant support within a three-year period.

The Department for Transport is currently reviewing the waterborne freight grant scheme.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Sub-Committee on Health and Wellbeing

Jo Swinson: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will include subjective wellbeing in the terms of reference of the Sub-Committee on Health and Wellbeing. [188285]

Phil Hope: The terms of reference of the Sub-Committee on Health and Wellbeing already enable it to discuss subjective wellbeing.

V: Finance

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much matching funding his Department has channelled through the charity V to date. [189110]

Phil Hope: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for East Worthing and Shoreham (Tim Loughton) on 20 February 2008, Official Report, column 743W.

OLYMPICS

Humanitarian Aid

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how much was spent on domestic humanitarian assistance in each of the last three years, broken down by source budget. [187333]

Tessa Jowell [holding answer 20 February 2008]: In my answer of 26 February 2008, Official Report, column 136W, to the hon. Member I set out the budget for the Humanitarian Assistance Unit in each of the last three years. It is not possible to split this budget up in terms of support for domestic incidents and support for international incidents.

The funding for the Humanitarian Assistance Unit all comes from the budget allocated to the Department for Culture, Media and Sport.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many unmanned aerial vehicles have been lost or destroyed in Afghanistan in the last 12 months. [187197]

Des Browne: A total of 27 Desert Hawk unmanned aerial vehicles operated by UK forces in Afghanistan have been lost in the past 12 months. This number reflects the high operational tasking of this system. We continue to refine our operational procedures to minimise the loss rate, but it is inevitable that some losses will occur.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the budget change in his Department will be in each year of the 2008 to 2011 Comprehensive Spending Review period in cash terms. [189414]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The near-cash budget in nominal terms (equivalent to direct resource DEL plus capital DEL) for each year of the comprehensive spending review (CSR) period is set out in table D14 of the CSR White Paper (Cm 7227), published in October 2007. For ease of reference the table is included as follows:

| Financial year | Budget (£ million) | Change on previous year |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 baseline | 29,411 | — |
| 2008-09 | 30,763 | 1,352 |
| 2010-11 | 31,921 | 1,158 |
| 2011-12 | 33,628 | 1,707 |

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the Answer of 22 November 2007, Official Report, column 1032W, on Iraq: peacekeeping operations, how many of the media assignments facilitated since April 2007 were for a single media outlet or organisation; and from which exclusive access to information arose. [170120]

Des Browne: Our records indicate that of the 52 media assignments to Iraq since April, 45 were for single individuals or media outlets. The others were group visits. All programmes take account of the operational situation at the time, security requirements and the preferences of the individual journalist or organisation and therefore differ from visit to visit.

Territorial Army: Recruitment

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the decision to restrict recruiting for certain units in the Territorial Army over the next two financial years remains in place. [189183]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I have nothing to add to the answer I gave the hon. Member on 20 February 2008, Official Report, column 703W.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Members: Correspondence

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland with reference to the answer of 29 October 2007, Official Report, column 608W, on territorial waters: Northern Ireland, when he expects to write to the hon. Member for Thurrock; and if he will explain the reason for the delay. [187807]

Paul Goggins: I am sorry that it is taking a significant amount of time to prepare a response. The issue raised by the hon. Member are complex and cover both transferred and reserved matters.

Under Schedule 3 to the Northern Ireland Act 1998 the foreshore, sea bed and subsoil and their natural resources (except so far as affecting harbours) are reserved matters. Thus, marine nature conservation in the territorial waters is the responsibility of the Secretary of State. However, at operational level, his functions are carried out by the Department of the Environment in Northern Ireland (Environment and Heritage Service).

Given the delay, I would be happy to meet with the hon. Member to discuss the issue in more detail.

WALES

Armed Forces: Training

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales pursuant to the written ministerial statement by the Secretary of State for Defence on 31 January 2008, Official Report, columns 24-26WS, on the Defence Training Review Rationalisation Programme/BORONA programme, how many new net jobs Package 1 of the programme will be created in Wales. [187409]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The precise number of jobs to be created during the construction and operational phases of the project will not be known until current contractual negotiations between the MOD and Metrix have been completed.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187866]

Mr. Paul Murphy: In the fiscal year 2006-07, five working days were lost by Wales Office staff to stress-related conditions.

Environment Protection

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what environmental protection matters were discussed at the British-Irish Council Meeting on 14 February; and what agreements were made. [188167]

Mr. Paul Murphy: The British-Irish Council (BIC), held its 10th summit meeting on 14 February at the Royal hospital Kilmainham, in Dublin, Ireland. It is customary for each summit to focus on a single theme. The focus of this summit was on misuse of drugs, which is a workstream led by the Irish Government. The next summit meeting will be held in Edinburgh in September 2008.

The UK leads the Environment Workstream and the last ministerial meeting was held in Northern Ireland on 1 February 2008. At that meeting, it was agreed that BIC should continue to intensify co-operation and exchange of information between the members on a number of important environmental areas including unavoidable climate change, understanding extreme weather events, integrated coastal zone management and managing radioactive waste. The next ministerial meeting of the BIC Environment will take place in Jersey in 2009.

Young People: Advisory Services

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what discussions he has had with the Welsh Assembly Government on the use of the additional funding provided by the Department for Children, Schools and Families for (a) Connexions services and (b) the Youth Opportunity and Youth Capital Funds; and if he will make a statement. [187843]

Mr. Paul Murphy: I have regular discussions with colleagues in the Welsh Assembly Government on all issues concerning education, including the provision of skills and opportunities for young people.

Connexions services are for England only. In Wales, Careers Wales, an independent organisation funded by the Welsh Assembly Government, provides this service. It has six local delivery companies providing a comprehensive careers advice and guidance service to people of all ages, operating across the Welsh regions. Similarly, the Youth Opportunity and Youth Capital Funds programmes also apply to England only. Youth service in Wales is provided through the Welsh Assembly Government via the National Youth Service Strategy, published in March last year.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Afghanistan

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with President Karzai on the appointment of a UN Secretary General Special Representative in Afghanistan; and if he will make a statement. [188353]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 26 February 2008]: The appointment of the Special Representative of the UN Secretary-General to Afghanistan is primarily a matter for the UN Secretary-General.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed the matter with President Karzai during his visit to Afghanistan with US Secretary of State, Condoleezza Rice, on 8 February 2008. On 25 January 2008, in the margins of the World Economic Forum at Davos, the matter was also discussed at a meeting between President Karzai, my right hon. Friends the Prime Minister, the Foreign Secretary and the Secretary of State for International Development.

As my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister said to the House in his statement on Afghanistan on 12 December 2007, Official Report, column 307,

> "Britain continues to push for the next step in this process: the appointment of a strong, UN envoy to bring greater coherence across the international effort in security, governance and development—and in relations with the Afghan government."

Afghanistan: Reconstruction

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he anticipates that a Provincial Reconstruction Team will be established in (a) Dai Kundi and (b) Nimroz provinces in Afghanistan. [188231]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 22 February 2008]: The establishment of provincial reconstruction teams (PRTs) is a North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO)-led process. The NATO Statement of Requirements identifies a need for PRTs in both Dai Kundi and Nimroz Provinces. There are no concrete plans at present to establish such PRTs.

Burma: Constitution

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his UN Security Council counterparts on the referendum on the constitution in Burma in May 2008; and what role the UN is likely to play in monitoring the conduct of the referendum. [189418]

Dr. Howells: The UN Security Council has not yet discussed the constitutional referendum announced by the Burmese regime for May 2008. The UN Secretary-General hosted a meeting of the Group of Friends of Burma on 13 February which discussed the announcement. During the meeting, the UK and other members of the Security Council expressed concern that the proposed referendum would not be inclusive or genuine. The Group of Friends pressed for the early return of the UN Secretary-General's Special Envoy to Burma, Professor Gambari, to help facilitate national reconciliation and a genuine democratic process.

We will continue to work with our partners in the region, and in the Security Council, to bring about genuine progress towards democracy, national reconciliation and respect for human rights in Burma.

There are currently no plans for the UN to monitor the elections.

Burma: Diplomatic Service

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the EU Special Envoy to Burma; and if he will make a statement. [189416]

Dr. Howells: My hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (Meg Munn) met EU Special Envoy for Burma, Piero Fassino, at the margins of the EU/Association of South East Asian Nations summit on 22 November 2007 and hopes to be meeting him again in the near future, to discuss all aspects of the current situation in Burma, including the EU's role in supporting UN efforts to bring about a genuine process of national reconciliation which includes all Burma's opposition and ethnic groups.

Burma: Elections

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking to support democratic elections in Burma. [188542]

Dr. Howells: The UK has been at the forefront of international efforts to bring about inclusive national reconciliation and the establishment of accountable, civilian government in Burma.

As a permanent member of the UN Security Council, the UK has maintained the pressure for political change through active UN engagement and ensured that Burma remains on the Security Council's agenda. The UK is also a member of the UN Secretary-General's Group of Friends on Burma, which last met on 13 February. The group discussed the regime's recent call for a referendum in May 2008 and elections in 2010. We stressed the need for the regime to demonstrate fundamental change before there could be international support for the process. The Group of Friends pressed for the early return of the UN Secretary-General's Special Envoy to Burma, Professor Gambari, to help facilitate national reconciliation and a genuine democratic process.

In the EU, we have played a leading role in securing firm language on the newly announced referendum and election process at the February General Affairs and External Relations Council. The conclusions stated that only a process that involves the full participation of the opposition and ethnic groups will lead to national reconciliation and stability in Burma. The EU reiterated its call for the release of Aung Sang Suu Kyi and other political prisoners.

We keep in close contact with partners in the region, including the Association of South East Asian Nations, to build up constructive pressure on the Burmese government and their continued engagement on the Burma related issues. My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister has raised Burma with the Chinese and Indians on his recent visits to both countries. My right hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, Meg Munn, also reiterated our concerns to the Singaporean Ministry of Foreign Affairs on 18 February.

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will hold discussions with the Government of Burma on the banning of the Burmese opposition leader Aung San Suu Kyi from standing in the 2010 election. [189417]

Dr. Howells: We have consistently made clear that only an inclusive process of national reconciliation can bring stability and prosperity to the country. The regime's attempts to exclude Daw Aung San Suu Kyi from the political process are alarming and will exacerbate tension and instability in Burma. In our contacts with the military government, and those who have influence over them, we are stressing the need for all political actors, including Aung San Suu Kyi, to be allowed to play their full part in shaping the country's future.

Burma: Sanctions

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the introduction of financial sanctions against companies associated with Burma's military regime. [189420]

Dr. Howells: Discussions are ongoing, mainly at senior official level.

The EU listed companies with links to the military regime in its new package of measures agreed in October 2007.

EU member states are currently considering further restrictive measures against Burma, including a possible ban on all new investment and the imposition of restrictions on financial measures.

The UK is actively working with our EU partners to ensure a full discussion of further restrictive measures as agreed at the October 2007 General Affairs and External Relations Council.

Burma: Sequestration of Assets

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with the government of Singapore on the freezing of the financial assets of Burmese leaders held in accounts in that country; and if he will make a statement. [189421]

Dr. Howells: My hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, Meg Munn, spoke to the Singaporean Ministry for Foreign Affairs, 2nd Permanent Private Secretary Bilahari Kausikan, on 18 February to discuss recent developments in Burma.

Singapore, both nationally and in its current role as Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) chair, has made clear its concerns about the violent repression carried out by the Burmese authorities last year, its wish to see the regime engaging in genuine dialogue with Burma's opposition parties, and its support for the UN Secretary-General's goodwill mission. But Singapore and its ASEAN partners do not support the application of sanctions at this time. We continue to discuss this and other aspects of the Burma situation with the Singaporean government on a regular basis.

Cuba: Elections

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he intends to support the US Administration in its efforts to campaign for democratic elections in Cuba. [189189]

Dr. Howells: The UK and US share the same goal of transition to democracy in Cuba. UK policy is based on a 1996 European Common Position, which states that:

> "The main objective of the European Union in its relations with Cuba is to encourage a process of peaceful transition to a pluralistic democracy and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms, as well as improvement in the living standards of the Cuban people" and that

> "the EU will intensify the present dialogue with the Cuban authorities and with all sectors of Cuban society".

Cuba: Politics and Government

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make a statement on the implications of the resignation of Fidel Castro. [189186]

Dr. Howells: We do not envisage the resignation of Fidel Castro leading to major change in Cuba. UK policy remains unchanged and has been based on the EU Common Position since 1996. This policy aims to encourage a peaceful transition to pluralist democracy, greater respect for human rights and unconditional release of all political prisoners.

Cuba: Sanctions

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the effect of the sanctions imposed upon Cuba by the US Administration. [189187]

Dr. Howells: The UK does not support US economic sanctions on Cuba and makes its opposition to them clear through its Annual vote at the United Nations General Assembly. The last vote took place on 30 October 2007. The sanctions have had little positive impact on the regime. The UK and the US share the same goal over Cuba, transition to democracy, but differ on how to achieve it. The UK, through the framework of the EU Common Position, engages in dialogue with the Cuban Government and aims to encourage a peaceful transition to pluralist democracy, greater respect for human rights and unconditional release of all political prisoners.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the US Administration on sanctions on Cuba. [189188]

Dr. Howells: The UK and the US discuss developments in Cuba regularly. The UK makes its opposition to the US embargo on Cuba clear through our vote every year at the United Nations General Assembly. The last vote took place on 30 October 2007. We also frequently reiterate our position through diplomatic channels with senior US representatives and will continue to do so.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 29 January 2008, Official Report, column 1609W, on Departmental internet, what measures are in place to monitor and record the location of computers with access to his Department's intranet. [184974]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Full access to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office intranet (FCONet) is only possible using the FCO's secure IT infrastructure. This is regularly monitored, but it would be inappropriate to disclose these arrangements in detail. Staff working outside FCO buildings may also access a limited form of FCONet through the internet. Staff may use any external computer to do this and the FCO therefore does not monitor the location of these terminals. Control of this limited access is by user authentication (password) and, where necessary, checking transaction records.

Departmental Sick Leave

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what percentage of working days lost by his Department's staff was attributed to stress-related conditions in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187869]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Stress-related illness accounted for 8.5 per cent. of all working days lost to sickness absence by staff at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) in 2007.

The FCO recognises the importance of identifying and reducing sources of stress in the workplace. Our occupational stress policy, which aims to protect staff health and welfare, gives detailed guidance for staff and managers. The FCO also offers welfare support for staff and families, who may be suffering from stress, including access to a 24/7 counselling service.

Diplomatic Services: Forced Marriage

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what guidelines are issued to consular and embassy staff in relation to the handling of suspected cases of (a) forced and (b) arranged marriages; and if he will make a statement. [189113]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has no role in relation to arranged marriages, where the families take a leading role in arranging the marriage but the choice whether or not to accept the arrangement remains with the spouses. But forced marriage, where one or both spouses do not consent to the marriage and some element of duress is involved, is wholly unacceptable. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office takes forced marriage very seriously. If necessary, we will assist and repatriate British nationals forced into marriage overseas.

Consular staff overseas and staff of the Forced Marriage Unit, are trained to assist victims and potential victims of forced marriage. They are provided with written guidance on case handling.

Eastern Europe: Human Trafficking

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his counterparts in (a) Ukraine, (b) Belarus and (c) Moldova on the combating of illegal migration and human trafficking. [189179]

Dr. Howells: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has not had recent discussions with his counterparts in Ukraine, Belarus, and Moldova on these issues. However, we remain concerned about all forms of human trafficking globally and are committed to tackling it wherever possible. The issue is raised regularly at EU Councils and is discussed at both ministerial and official level between EU partners. In addition, UK law enforcement agencies work closely with foreign counterparts in many source and transit countries, helping them to build enforcement capacity and to facilitate information exchanges. At the recent UN-Office on Drugs and Crime's Global Initiative on Fighting Trafficking forum held in Vienna, my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department (Mr. Coaker) represented the Government, along with participants from the UK Human Trafficking Centre and HM Revenue and Customs.

Embassies: Republic of Ireland

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the effect of the dispute concerning compulsory redundancies among the locally-engaged staff at the UK Embassy in Dublin on the UK's reputation in Ireland; and if he will make a statement. [188017]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Irish media coverage has reflected the fact that these redundancies were driven by UK Trade and Investment's wider restructuring of their global network in line with new strategic priorities; that our embassy in Dublin has acted in accordance with Irish Labour Law throughout; and that the redundancy package the embassy has offered reflects good employer practice.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs for what reason HM Ambassador to the Republic of Ireland declined to attend talks at the Labour Relations Commission in connection with the proposed compulsory redundancy of locally-engaged staff at the UK Embassy in Dublin; and if he will make a statement. [188026]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The Labour Relations Commission had offered its conciliation services to discuss "proposed redundancies" at our embassy in Dublin. Since the redundancies had already been effected, our ambassador declined the offer.

Our embassy and Unite, acting on behalf of the embassy's Local Staff Association, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement on the consequences for staff of the restructuring of the UK Trade and Investment section on 21 February.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs for how long the UK Embassy in Dublin has recognised the Unite trade union for industrial relations purposes in connection with the employment of locally-engaged staff; and if he will make a statement. [R] [188027]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The procedural agreement between our embassy in Dublin and Unite trade union was signed in 2003.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of (a) the agreed negotiations procedures and (b) the recognition agreement between the UK ambassador to the Republic of Ireland and the Unite trade union in relation to the employment of and industrial relations relating to locally-engaged staff at the UK embassy in Dublin. [188028]

Mr. Jim Murphy: A copy of the Procedural Agreement will be placed in the Library of the House.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff it is proposed to make redundant at the UK embassy to the Republic of Ireland; how many of these will be compulsory redundancies; and if he will make a statement. [188034]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Three compulsory redundancies were made recently at our embassy in Dublin, as a result of UK Trade and Investment's (UKTI) wider restructuring of their global network in line with their strategic priorities.

Our embassy and Unite, acting on behalf of the embassy's Local Staff Association, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement on the consequences for staff of the restructuring of the UKTI Section on 21 February.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many years each member of locally-engaged staff proposed for redundancy at the UK embassy in Dublin has served; and if he will make a statement. [188067]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The three locally-engaged staff members at our embassy in Dublin had served for eight, six and four years when they were made redundant.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what regard was paid to (a) length of service, (b) sex, (c) opportunities for retraining and (d) other factors when considering which locally-engaged staff at the UK embassy in Dublin should be proposed for redundancy. [188068]

Mr. Jim Murphy: Three compulsory redundancies were made recently at our embassy in Dublin, as a result of UK Trade and Investment's wider restructuring of their global network in line with their strategic priorities.

The redundancy package offered reflected the different lengths of service involved. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office is an equal opportunities employer: gender was not a factor. The embassy looked at the opportunities for redeployment, which might have involved retraining, but there were none.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on what date and by whom the decision to make locally-engaged staff at the UK Embassy in Dublin redundant was taken; on what date this decision was first communicated to the Unite trade union; on what date consultations with the Unite trade union commenced; and if he will make a statement. [188069]

Mr. Jim Murphy: The decision of UK Trade and Investment (UKTI) management in London to restructure the UKTI Section at our Embassy in Dublin was confirmed to the staff involved by the Ambassador on 11 January. Staff contacted the Unite trade union the same day and consultations began on 22 January.

Our Embassy and Unite, the union acting on behalf of the Embassy's Local Staff Association, reached a mutually satisfactory agreement on the consequences for staff of the restructuring of the UKTI Section on 21 February.

Entry Clearances

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what guidance he has issued to visa sections on queue management of visa applicants and the prevention of unauthorised and unofficial queue managers, brokers and agents. [187422]

Dr. Howells [holding answer 26 February 2008]: The Operating Standards and Instructions issued by UKvisas to our posts abroad do not contain specific guidance on queue management, but instead offer suggestions on how procedures can be implemented and how problems should be addressed depending upon conditions and circumstances. Several ideas are mentioned to help alleviate the problems associated with queues, such as use of ticketing machines. UKvisas has recently expanded its commercial partnerships overseas. Most applications are now submitted at Visa Application Centres, in many cases by appointment. The need for applicants to arrive early to queue has been significantly reduced and, in some cases, removed.

Additionally, entry clearance managers are advised to monitor public reception areas regularly to ensure the best possible standards of customer service and conduct are maintained and to identify sudden surges in the volume of visa applications so that prompt action can be taken to avoid a build up of queues. All staff are required to sign the code of conduct which states that staff must > "behave in a manner that demonstrates their complete impartiality and professionalism in dealing with visa applications" so that, among other things, no favouritism is shown to one applicant above another.

A copy of these instructions is available on the UKvisas website, www.ukvisas.gov.uk

Equatorial Guinea: Simon Mann

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how often it is planned that Simon Mann's welfare in Black Beach prison will be monitored by visits from UK representatives. [188530]

Dr. Howells [holding answer 22 February 2008]: Our deputy high commission in Lagos provides consular assistance to British nationals in Equatorial Guinea. In line with our consular policy, consular officials from Lagos will aim to visit Mr. Mann regularly and we are ready to provide further consular assistance to Mr. Mann including with regard to his treatment and welfare.

Eritrea: Religious Freedom

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the treatment of religious minorities in Eritrea; and if he will make a statement. [188014]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 26 February 2008]: We monitor events in Eritrea closely and remain deeply concerned by reports of detentions of members of minority churches. While Orthodox Christians, Catholics and the major Protestant Churches (who make up an estimated 40-50 per cent. of the population of Eritrea) are usually able to worship openly, some church activities can be restricted and members of smaller churches are not free to pursue their faith.

This is unacceptable and contravenes international human rights agreements to which Eritrea is a party. Eritrea should allow all its citizens to worship as they wish, as set out in Article 18 of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Our ambassador in Asmara raises these issues with the Eritrean government at every suitable opportunity. Foreign and Commonwealth Office officials do likewise with the Eritrean embassy in the UK. My noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, the right hon. Lord Malloch-Brown, personally raised the issue of human rights abuses in Eritrea with the Eritrean ambassador on 18 February.

European External Action Service

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what preparatory work has been undertaken by his Department on the European External Action Service since 1 June 2005; [186719]

(2) what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the European External Action Service; and if he will make a statement; [186718]

(3) pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Castle Point of 5 February 2008, Official Report, column 968W, on the European External Action Service, whether any meetings on the organisation and funding of the European External Action Service have taken place; [186888]

(4) what meetings he plans to hold with European counterparts to discuss the organisation and funding of the European external action service in 2008; and if he will make a statement; [186862]

(5) how many of his Department's staff will be seconded to the European External Action Service in each of the next three years; and if he will make a statement; [186713]

(6) what criteria will be used to nominate staff from his Department for secondment to the European External Action Service; [186714]

(7) what role personnel from his Department will play in the establishment and work of the European External Action Service; [186715]

(8) what estimate he has made of the size of the (a) staff establishment and (b) budget of the European External Action Service in each of the next three years. [186717]

David Miliband: There have been no discussions at ministerial or working level on the detailed organisation and functioning of the European External Action Service (EEAS). The functioning and organisation of the EEAS will be the subject of negotiation among the member states before a final, unanimous decision to launch the service, after the Lisbon treaty enters force.

Negotiations are due to start later this year and no decision has been taken on the size, structure or funding of the EEAS, or of the criteria used to nominate staff for secondment to the EEAS.

FCO Services

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he plans to take if the FCO Services Trading Fund does not attract sufficient third party income. [188025]

Meg Munn: Income from third parties is a relatively small proportion of Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) Services business. It is considered unlikely that FCO Services will not attract sufficient third party income; however, if projected growth is not achieved, FCO Services has well conceived contingency plans for cost reduction and can scale down investment plans if necessary to meet down turns in third party opportunities.

FCO Services: Data Protection

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what measures he has put in place to ensure that personal data held by the FCO Services Trading Fund are kept securely. [188024]

Meg Munn: Data security in Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) Services receives the closest attention and care. The FCO and FCO Services have implemented the latest Cabinet Office guidance on storing personal data. FCO Services makes a unique selling point of its secure services, so security is at the heart of everything it does.

The organisation holds and processes personal data for a number of reasons and strong measures are in place to protect all data. Systems are only deployed after Government security accreditation has been completed.

Security measures and accreditation include, but are not limited to, the following:

- All sensitive data are held in secure conditions.
- Systems are managed according to Government protective data marking.
- Data transmission is minimised to essential levels and takes place across encrypted and protected networks.
- In limited circumstances, data are transported by disk, but only when passwords or data encryption techniques are applied. Carriage is consistent with FCO policy.
- Legitimate access to systems is restricted to authorised users by electronic and physical assurance processes.
- Audit processes are in place to oversee the effectiveness of the information security policy and data access is monitored by an independent security function.
- Laptops and hand held devices used for confidential data are installed with especially accredited and encrypted disks and secure communications facilities. Other laptops with unencrypted discs are used only for less sensitive material.

Human Trafficking

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government have taken to work with other governments to reduce levels of human trafficking. [182003]

Mr. Jim Murphy: We remain concerned about all forms of human trafficking globally and are committed to tackling it wherever possible. The issue is raised regularly at EU Councils and is discussed at both ministerial and official level between EU partners. The Government's ratification of Albania's EU Stabilisation and Association Agreement, which will help reduce human trafficking and smuggling in the Balkans region, is a good example of our commitment to working with other governments. In addition, UK law enforcement agencies work closely with foreign counterparts in many source and transit countries, helping them to build enforcement capacity and to facilitate information exchanges; an initiative is currently taking place in a number of EU countries, led by the UK and Poland, under the auspices of the G6. The Government also part-funded the secondment of two Romanian police officers into a Metropolitan Police joint unit to exchange experience, skills and knowledge in the fight against the criminal exploitation and trafficking of Romanian children to the UK.

The Government raise human trafficking issues more widely at bilateral and international meetings beyond the EU. At the recent UN-Office on Drugs and Crime's Global Initiative on Fighting Trafficking forum held in Vienna, my hon. Friend the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Home Department (Mr. Coaker) represented the Government, along with participants from the UK Human Trafficking Centre and HM Revenue and Customs.

Iran: Capital Punishment

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations the Government have made to the government of Iran in respect of human rights arising from specific instance of capital punishment carried out in Iran in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [187809]

Dr. Howells: The Government remain deeply concerned by the increasing use of capital punishment in Iran. We regularly make representations to the Government of Iran, in our bilateral contacts and through the EU, to express general concern about the use of the death penalty in Iran and to raise individual execution cases. In 2007, the EU presidency did this on more than 20 occasions in both meetings and public statements. The EU has issued two further declarations on the death penalty in Iran already this year. We also discuss human rights issues bilaterally with Iranian officials in London and Tehran. In the last 12 months we have raised serious concerns about the use of death penalty on seven separate occasions. This has included specific instances when capital punishment has been carried out in Iran, for example the executions of Mohammad Moussavi, Jafar Kiani, Makwan Moloudzadeh and Mohammad Reza Tork.

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the circumstances surrounding executions conducted in Iran in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [187810]

Dr. Howells: We are extremely worried by the growing numbers of executions taking place in Iran. We understand that approximately 300 executions were carried out in 2007, compared with 177 in 2006 and 94 in 2005. This has included growing numbers of public and collective executions (eg the execution of two men in central Tehran in August 2007), and the first confirmed execution by stoning for five years in July 2007. Iran continues to execute juvenile offenders—at least four were put to death in 2007. We have concerns that not all death sentences are the result of a fair trial and that capital punishment continues to be applied for charges such as adultery, rape and drug related offences. The Government will continue to raise concerns with the Iranian authorities about executions and the use of the death penalty in Iran. We will continue to press Iran to uphold its international human rights obligations including the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights which states that > "in countries which have not abolished the death penalty, the sentence of death may be imposed only for the most serious crimes"

and that

> "no-one shall be subjected to torture or to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment".

The EU presidency, with strong UK support, has issued two statements about the use of the death penalty in Iran this year.

Kenya: Security

Mr. Gregory Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the safety of UK citizens living and working in Kenya following recent events in that country. [188665]

Dr. Howells [holding answer 25 February 2008]: While calm has returned to most areas in Kenya, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) assesses that the security situation in the country remains highly volatile. The unpredictable nature of the current situation could lead to further outbreaks of violence. The FCO travel advice for Kenya remains under constant review. A full copy of the latest FCO travel advice is available at:

www.fco.gov.uk/travel/kenya.

We are advising British nationals in Kenya to exercise extreme caution and avoid all public gatherings and meetings. British nationals intending to travel to Kenya should regularly check the travel advice. An easy way to do this is to subscribe at:

www.fco.gov.uk/travel to receive free travel advice updates via email alerts. To ensure we can effectively communicate any changes in travel advice and other relevant information, British nationals in Kenya are urged to register with our high commission in Nairobi. The FCO has been in regular contact with British tour operators about the situation in Kenya and our travel advice.

Like many other British diplomatic missions, our high commission in Nairobi holds a civil contingency plan. In compiling civil contingency plans, the FCO's objective is to protect British nationals in a situation that poses a serious threat to their safety and, in a worst case scenario, to assist their departure to a place of safety. As part of this process, FCO missions continually assess the risk to British nationals and plan accordingly. Our high commission in Nairobi's civil contingency plan was reviewed and updated in February 2008.

Maldives: Politics and Government

Mr. Spring: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the constitutional and democratic reform process in the Maldives; and if he will make a statement. [187561]

Dr. Howells: My noble Friend the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, the right hon. Lord Malloch-Brown, has personally emphasised to President Gayoom the need to keep the reform process on track and the importance of the elections due this year being seen as free, fair, inclusive and enjoying the support of all the people of Maldives. As I made clear to the House during a debate on Maldives on 17 October 2007, Official Report, columns 935-42, we do not underestimate the challenges Maldives faces moving from a political system based heavily on patronage and state control to multi-party liberal democracy.

Officials from our High Commission resident in Colombo visit Maldives periodically. The UK has made clear our continued support for the reform process and willingness to provide practical support if that is the wish of the political parties in Maldives. We continue to underline the need for good faith among all political parties and for all to redouble efforts to implement democratic change in Maldives.

Overseas Trade

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking to promote UK industry and business through UK Trade and Industry in the Caribbean, Central America and South East Asia. [189190]

Dr. Howells: UK Trade and Investment (UKTI) operates an extensive network overseas that offers a full range of services to help British companies access business opportunities including in the Caribbean, Latin America and South East Asia. In line with UKTI's five-year strategy "Prosperity in a Changing World", key high-growth markets in South East Asia (Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Indonesia and Vietnam) have benefited from additional resources to help achieve a step change in the UK's profile.

Pakistan: Elections

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) whether he has received representations on the number of candidates from religious minorities in the elections in Pakistan; and if he will make a statement; [188022]

(2) whether he has had discussions with the Pakistani government on the political representation of minorities in Pakistan. [188023]

Dr. Howells [holding answer 26 February 2008]: In our regular contact with the Government of Pakistan at ministerial and official level, bilaterally and through the EU, we have stressed the need for free and fair elections. The elections, which took place on 18 February, were an opportunity for the people of Pakistan to exercise their democratic voice and participate fully in the process of electing their new government. We welcome the EU electoral observer mission (EOM) report, released on 20 February, which assessed that the elections were competitive, despite the well-documented procedural problems.

We will want to work with the new government to help build the institutional framework necessary for a sustained democratic transition and ensure that the fundamental rights of all Pakistani citizens particularly the most vulnerable (women, minorities and children) are guaranteed as laid down in the Constitution of Pakistan and in accordance with international human rights standards. An important part of this will be addressing the weaknesses in the electoral system identified in the EU EOM's report.

Foreign and Commonwealth Office officials recently met with representatives from the Centre for Legal Aid, Assistance and Settlement, a non-governmental organisation working on behalf of Christians in Pakistan, as part of our ongoing engagement with stakeholder communities. Officials remain in regular contact with them on minority religious rights issues.

Simon Mann

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what information he has received on whether Mr. Simon Mann is being held in shackles in Black Beach prison. [189592]

Dr. Howells: Consular officials visited Mr. Mann in Black Beach prison on 12 February. He was being held in shackles at this time. Our deputy high commission in Lagos which provides consular assistance to British nationals in Equatorial Guinea, has urgently taken the matter up with the Equatorial Guinean authorities.

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what criteria he will apply in deciding whether or not Mr. Simon Mann is being treated well in detention; and what specific conditions of treatment Mr. Mann should be entitled to to meet those criteria. [189593]

Dr. Howells: We are providing consular assistance to Mr. Mann, including with regard to his treatment and welfare. In considering whether he is being treated well, the Government will refer to international instruments, such as the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, to which Equatorial Guinea is a party. We will also refer to non-binding instruments, such as the UN Standard Minimum Rules on the Treatment of Prisoners, that provide guidance for appropriate conditions of detention.

South Africa: Power Failures

Mr. Gregory Campbell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has made representations to the government of South Africa on the hardship caused to the citizens of that country and adjoining nation states as a result of recent substantial power cuts affecting the region. [188666]

Dr. Howells [holding answer 25 February 2008]: The government of South Africa is acutely aware of the impact of power cuts and our high commission in Pretoria is following the situation. In his 20 February budget, Finance Minister Manuel allocated a further £60 billion Rand for energy infrastructure investment. The South African government has also committed itself to launch a large-scale energy saving campaign in the near future. At the Southern Africa Development Community Energy Ministers meeting last week, South Africa agreed to honour her contractual obligations with regard to the power supply to the rest of the region.

Treaty of Lisbon

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has held with his EU counterparts on the operation of the proposed investigatory powers in the Lisbon Treaty. [189114]

Mr. Jim Murphy [holding answer 26 February 2008]: Both my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and I, as well as our ministerial colleagues in the Home Office and the Ministry of Justice, have regular discussions with our EU counterparts on a wide range of EU Justice and Home Affairs (JHA) issues, including the JHA provisions of the Lisbon treaty.

The UK has secured an across-the-board opt-in on all JHA issues. We will not opt-in to any proposal that is not in the UK national interest.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Criminal Investigation

David Taylor: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission what guidance is available on the conduct of criminal investigations involving hon. Members by the police within the precincts of the parliamentary estate. [189220]

Nick Harvey: The Serjeant at Arms is always consulted regarding criminal investigations involving hon. Members which may involve police officers entering the parliamentary estate. The Metropolitan police acts as a conduit for matters involving other forces. In general, such issues are dealt with away from the parliamentary estate. The conduct of the inquiry would be a matter for the investigating force, however, the Serjeant is always concerned to ensure that no action should be taken within the estate which would be detrimental to the status and reputation of Parliament. No formal guidance exists but Mr. Speaker or the Clerk of the House would be consulted in exceptional circumstances.

Hearing Impaired

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission what services are provided within the parliamentary estate for hon. Members to facilitate meetings with constituents who are deaf; and if he will make a statement. [189486]

Nick Harvey: There are deaf loop facilities in all Committee Rooms in the Palace and in all Committee and Conference Rooms on the first floor of Portcullis House. Portable equipment is available for the smaller meeting rooms in both buildings. Deaf loop facilities are also provided in the Public Gallery of the House of Commons Chamber and in Westminster Hall Chamber.

When sign language facilities are required in meeting rooms, House staff liaise closely with the Member concerned to ensure that the best possible solution is achieved for the deaf person and the sign language interpreter, depending on which room is being used.

The House provides advice and assistance to Members, but does not meet the cost of providing sign language interpreter services directly from central funds. Members are entitled to reclaim the costs incurred in engaging and using interpreter services from their individual Incidental Expenses Provision. This is set out explicitly in the Green Book which states, in section 5.13.2, on Incidental Expenses Provision, that an allowable expenditure would be:

"Interpreting and translation services (this includes sign language, interpretation and Braille translation)".

The Diversity Manager in the Department of Resources can provide contact details at the RNID for obtaining sign language interpreter services, which cost between £120 and £160 for a two hour period.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Actis Capital LLP

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what value the Shareholder Executive currently places on its 40 per cent. share of Actis Capital LLP; and if he will make a statement. [189573]

Malcolm Wicks: The Department of International Development (DFID) holds the 40 per cent. share of Actis LLP and this is managed, on its behalf, by the Shareholder Executive within BERR.

Although a valuation was commissioned prior to the set up of Actis, the Shareholder Executive has not undertaken any subsequent valuation of the 40 per cent. share. However it is understood that the value of DFID's investment in Actis, reflected in DFID's resource accounts, is £1.677 million.

Electronic Equipment: Waste Management

Charles Hendry: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform whether the UK has fully implemented the waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) directive; and what steps he is taking to ensure the continuing compliance with WEEE obligations. [188611]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 25 February 2008]: The waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) directive was transposed into UK law on 12 December 2006. The transposition into UK law centred on the requirement to establish a system of collective responsibility for the collection, treatment, reprocessing and environmentally sound disposal of historical WEEE—that is electrical and electronic equipment (EEE) placed on the UK market before 13 August 2005

Further consideration will be given to the transposition of article 8.2 of the directive, which requires the introduction of individual producer responsibility (IPR) for all EEE placed on the market after 13 August 2005. This will include discussion with the Commission and other member states on the precise requirement of this article and the practical consideration for the introduction of an effective and cost-efficient system.

The Government have established the WEEE Advisory Body (WAB), an independent non-governmental public body to provide advice on the issues arising from the implementation and operation of the UK WEEE system. One area for consideration will be recommendations by the WAB on how the UK can move to a system of IPR.

The Department will be monitoring compliance of the WEEE regulations and working with enforcement authorities who will be undertaking activities to raise awareness within the producer and retail sectors to ensure those affected by the WEEE regulations are aware of their requirements.

Post Office: Personal Savings

Post Offices

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform whether compensation for the compulsory purchase of a community-owned post office branch is payable to (a) the not-for-profit company which owns the post office franchise and (b) the individual who rents and runs the franchise. [188654]

Copies of the letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what provision there is for a community-owned post office branch earmarked for closure to remain open if (a) the local community is prepared to forego the post office salary and (b) a third party is prepared to pay the operating costs. [188896]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 25 February 2008]: This is an operational matter for Post Office Ltd (POL). I have therefore asked Alan Cook, managing director of POL, to reply direct to the hon. Member.

Copies of the letter will be placed in the Libraries of the House.

Postal Services

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what discussions he has had with the Post Office and the other major carriers over the future of the universal service obligation. [188298]

Mr. McFadden: The Government consider the maintenance of a universal postal service to be of the highest importance. Under the terms of the Postal Services Act 2000, the universal service is a matter for the postal regulator (Postcomm), which has the primary statutory duty to ensure the provision of a universal postal service at an affordable uniform tariff.

BERR Ministers and officials regularly hold discussions with Royal Mail on strategic postal issues and also meet with other licensed operators to discuss their operations within the market.

The Government have commissioned an independent review of the postal services sector. One of the review terms of reference will consider how to maintain the universal service obligation. The review will provide all postal carriers with a formal opportunity to contribute their thinking on this and on the future of postal services in the UK.

Regional Development Agencies: Manpower

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many staff are employed by each of the regional development agencies; what each agency's expenditure was in each of the last five years; and what the staffing cost of each agency was in the last year for which figures are available. ## WORK AND PENSIONS

Capita

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was paid by his Department to Capita Group plc and its subsidiaries in each financial year since 2004-05; which contracts were awarded by his Department to Capita Group plc in each year to the most recent available date; what the cost was of each contract; what penalties for default were imposed on contract provisions; what the length was of each contract; whether the contract was advertised; how many companies applied for the contract; how many were short-listed; what criteria were used for choosing a company; what provision was made for renewal without re-tender in each case; and if he will make a statement. [180707]

Mrs. McGuire: Information on DWP expenditure with Capita Group plc and its known subsidiaries in each year since 2004-05 is provided in the following table.

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 47.79 |
| 2005-06 | 53.10 |
| 2006-07 | 54.80 |
| 2007-08 (to December 2007) | 20.97 |

Total = £176.66 million which includes £23.79 million recoverable VAT.

Contracts awarded to Capita are as follows:

Record storage

In 2004, DWP awarded a contract for the provision of record storage services to Capita Business Services Ltd. The contract commenced on 1 July 2004 and is due to expire in June 2011. The contract was advertised in the Official Journal of the European Union (OJEU). 39 organisations applied for the contract and three were shortlisted. Expenditure on this contract between July 2004 to December 2007 is £52.96 million.

Occupational health services

In December 2007, Capita Health Solutions was successful in a competitive re-tender exercise to identify an occupational health service provider for DWP. The competition was advertised in OJEU and a number of organisations expressed interest in the contract, eight were shortlisted and four bids were received. This service went live in April 2007. DWP and Capita mutually agreed to disengage from this arrangement with effect from 15 August 2007. Expenditure with Capita was £1.07 million. Consultancy and Interim Personnel

Capita Business Services Ltd. has a place within four lots on the DWP Consultancy and Interim Personnel framework. This framework was advertised through OJEU and went live in April 2004. Each requirement identified within the Department is competed within the appropriate lot of the framework or through other appropriate commercial arrangements e.g. PAN Government frameworks, CIPHER Communications Framework. Expenditure with Capita on consultancy and interim personnel from April 2004 to December 2007 is £5.63 million.

The UNderpinning IT DeliverY (UNITY) Project

In 2005, Capita Business Services Ltd. was one of 32 suppliers awarded a Framework Agreement under the Department's UNderpinning IT DeliverY (UNITY) project. The UNITY Project was designed to put in place commercial arrangements for the procurement of IS/IT services for DWP which complemented existing contracts. As a result of a formal competition, the UNITY suppliers were selected to compete for business within specific areas or lots. Capita Business Services Ltd. is eligible to compete for business in lot one (application development) and lot two (infrastructure development), if invited to do so by DWP. The procurement was conducted under public procurement regulations with a Contract Award Notice published in the OJEU on 31 May 2005.

Capita Business Services Ltd. is one of 23 suppliers that met those criteria in lot one and one of 12 suppliers successful in lot two. The Framework Agreement itself has no value attached to it, nor is there any guarantee that suppliers will be invited to compete for, or be awarded, any specific business for the four year duration of the Framework, which expires in 2009. To date no contract within the Framework Agreement has been awarded to Capita.

Other spend with Capita

Capita Business Solutions had a contract with DWP until March 2007 for the provision of office services in the north west, north east, Yorkshire and East and West Midlands. Expenditure from April 2004 to March 2007 was £85.38 million. Capita had a contract also for the delivery of winter fuel payments which ended in May 2005, following a re-competition. Expenditure from April 2004 to the end of the contract was £4.84 million.

DWP can access Cabinet Office contracts for the delivery of PCSPS payments (Capita) and their framework for senior level recruitment where Veredus (a Capita subsidiary) is a supplier. In addition, there has been ad-hoc expenditure with Capita for example for the provision of miscellaneous training, IS/IT, property services and access to work payments, to aid in the employment of disabled workers. Expenditure from April 2004 to December 2007 in these areas is £2.99 million.

All DWP contracts are awarded on a balance of quality and cost, to provide optimum value for money for the Department. All contracts are underpinned by key performance indicators and where appropriate, service credit regimes should performance not reach the required standard. DWP also has standard clauses in respect of formal breach of contract action.

Child Support Agency: Pay

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was paid in bonus payments to staff at the Child Support Agency in each year since 2001. [185073]

Mr. Plaskitt: The administration of the Child Support Agency is the matter for the chief executive. He will write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how much was paid in bonus payments to staff at the Child Support Agency in each year since 2001. [185073]

The Child Support Agency is part of the Department for Work and Pensions and operates Departmental schemes. Over the period from 2001 to 2007, three separate schemes for payment of bonuses have operated within the Child Support Agency. Each of the three schemes have different criteria on how a bonus can be earned and the percentage of the pay budget that can be applied to it.

The figures provided in the attached table highlight the amounts paid as special, Makinson and individual performance bonuses.

Both the special bonus scheme and the individual performance bonuses were in operation for the entire period within all parts of the Department. The guidelines, policy funding and framework for these schemes are set by the Department.

The Makinson bonus scheme was undertaken as part of a Treasury initiative to enhance performance in the public sector by linking performance to reward. This scheme only ran for 2002-03 and 2003-04 and was trialled in three parts of the Department, one of which was the Child Support Agency. Incentive payments made under this scheme were funded directly by the Treasury.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

The table below shows the sums paid to Agency employees as special bonuses, Makinson bonuses and individual performance bonuses between 2001-02 and 2006-07.

£000

| | 2001-02 | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Total special bonus paid | 395 | 457 | 455 | 450 | 559 | 394 |
| Total Makinson bonus paid | — | 9,190 | 3,440 | — | — | — |
| Total individual performance bonus paid | 420 | 1,793 | 1,870 | 3,318 | 3,314 | 3,340 |
| Total—all bonuses | 815 | 11,440 | 5,765 | 3,768 | 3,873 | 3,734 |

Departmental Data Protection

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what data exchanges of sensitive personal data have taken place between his Department and local authorities in the last 12 months; and what datasets were collected. [176242]

Mrs. McGuire: The Department lawfully exchanges data with local authorities for a very wide range of purposes. Many of these exchanges are provided routinely on a day-to-day basis with local authority staff, and consequently details are not available, and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department spent on travel (a) within and (b) outside the UK for officials in each of the last 10 years; and what percentage of his Department's overall expenditure was spent on such travel in each such year. [181639]

Mrs. McGuire: Information in the format requested is available only from April 2003 and is provided in the following table.

| | Overseas (£) (including EU) | Domestic (£) | Total (£) | Total as percentage of DWP overall DEL expenditure |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| April 2003 to March 2004 | 753,218 | 29,399,320 | 30,152,538 | 0.491 |

2. Data limitations mean we are unable to split housing association properties from the registered social landlord definition. However, the vast majority of HA properties are RSL properties.
3. New claims have been rounded to the nearest hundred.

Industrial Health and Safety: Lorry Drivers

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps he has taken to improve the provision of secure resting facilities for professional lorry drivers to improve their health and safety. [188385]

Jim Fitzpatrick: I have been asked to reply.

The delivery of parking and rest facilities, since 1992, has primarily been through the private sector together with local planning authorities. The Department for Transport has been facilitating meetings between representatives of the road haulage trade associations, the Highways Agency, Motorway Service Area operators and other lorry parking providers in order to identify the issues that can promote an increase together with improvement in these facilities.

The Department for Transport and the Highways Agency intend to undertake a national study into lorry parking with the objective of finding out the current and future demand for these facilities. This could better inform the local planning authorities on the need for these facilities and the potential providers of these facilities with their investment decisions.

The Highways Agency has published a guide to truck stops in England and has recently carried out a consultation with the aim of developing policies that maintain and improve the provision of service areas and other facilities on motorways and all purpose trunk roads in England, including those for lorry drivers.

Jobseeker's Allowance

Mr. Rooney: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many claims for jobseeker's allowance were disallowed on the grounds of the claimant not actively seeking employment in each month since April 2006; and how many such decisions on claims were reversed on appeal. [183835]

Mr. Plaskitt [holding answer 1 February 2008]: Information on appeals cannot be broken down by type of sanction. The available information has been placed in the Library.

Pensions

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what representations he has received on the timetable for pension and benefits payments in the period leading up to Christmas 2007. [175079]

Mr. Plaskitt: My Department received a small number of representations about the arrangements for making pension and benefits payments for Christmas 2007, from hon. Members and others.

The arrangements we put in place to make sure that everyone received their money before Christmas worked well and many (including around three quarters of pensioners) due to be paid over Christmas got their money on Friday 21 December.

Poverty: Children

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the effect on the number of children lifted out of poverty of all parents receiving child maintenance and arrears payments due via the Child Support Agency. [186116]

Mr. Plaskitt: The information requested is not available in the format requested. Such information as is available is as follows.

The receipt of child maintenance payments, through all arrangement types including the Child Support Agency, currently lifts around 100,000 children out of poverty.

The Child Support Agency's operational improvement plan is expected to help lift further 30,000-40,000 children out of poverty.

The overall effect of the redesigned child maintenance system with more parents with care getting maintenance and enabling all parents with care to benefit from a significantly higher disregard will be to lift at least a further 100,000 children out of poverty.

Social Security Benefits: Ireland

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what discussions he has had with his counterpart in Ireland on individuals claiming benefits in both countries. [186429]

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Betting: Fraud

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what proposals the Government have considered to tackle the rigging of results in sport gambling; and how initiatives will be funded. [188712]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 25 February 2008]: The Gambling Commission published responses to its Sports Betting Integrity consultation in October 2007 and concluded that there was no evidence of a significant problem with sports betting integrity in this country. However, the Commission gathers intelligence on all gambling integrity issues and is keeping the situation under review. The Central Council for Physical Recreation (CCPR) has also commissioned research into this issue from the university of Salford and I await the outcome with interest.

The Government favour voluntary payments from the betting industry to support sports integrity initiatives.

Camelot Group

Kate Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport whether he expects Camelot to have raised £10.5 billion for good causes over the course of its licence; and if he will make a statement. [188947]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Camelot's current licence ends on 31 January 2009. It is not possible to predict accurately how much will be raised for good causes by that date and neither the Department nor the National Lottery Commission set targets for the net proceeds of the national lottery. However, we do share a statutory duty that requires us to do our best to ensure that they are maximised, subject to lottery games being operated with due propriety and the interests of participants being protected. The NLC stated in June 2001 that £10 billion for good causes would be a challenging amount for Camelot to raise during the course of the second licence.

Convergence Think Tank

Mr. Vaizey: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport pursuant to the answer of 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 318W, on the Convergence Think Tank, how the figure of £300,000 for the costs of the Convergence Think Tank was arrived at. [188506]

Andy Burnham: The estimated cost of the Convergence Think Tank referred to in my answer of 18 February 2008, Official Report, columns 318-19W, to the hon. Member for Wantage, was a rounded total based on an initial view of the costs of the principal elements of the Think Tank's work, excluding staff costs, namely communications, including seven public seminars: £37,500; external experts: £65,000;

research: £200,000.

These figures are estimates and are likely to vary according to the specific requirements of the Think Tank.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many (a) staff and (b) full-time equivalent staff under 18 years are employed by his Department. [189083]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Department for Culture, Media and Sport currently does not employ any staff under 18 years of age.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the salary range is for each pay band of civil servants in his Department. [188803]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Current DCMS salary ranges are shown in the following tables:

Grades A-D

Kate Hoey: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what discussions he has had with the Public and Commercial Services Union on the current year's pay settlement for staff of (a) his Department and (b) the Royal Parks Agency. [188923]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Ministers meet many people as part of the process of policy development. It is not normal practice to disclose details of such meetings.

English Sports Council: Finance

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what the current national lottery balance is of the (a) Sports Council (England) and (b) UK Sports Council. [189589]

Mr. Sutcliffe: At close of business on 31 January 2008 the national lottery balances for Sport England and UK Sport were:

| | Lottery balance (£ million) |
|---|---|
| Sport England | 204.518 |
| UK Sport | 15.068 |

Find your Talent Project: Finance

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much of the £25 million announced for the Find your Talent project on 13 February 2008 will (a) be spent on establishing the Youth Culture Trust and (b) available to local authorities to run projects. [187175]

Andy Burnham [holding answer 20 February 2008]: The information is as follows:

(a) The Youth Culture Trust will grow out of the existing Creative Partnerships programme. This programme was already in the process of separating from Arts Council England and establishing itself as an external organisation. The costs of this will be met from the core grant to Creative Partnerships and we are not anticipating using any of the recently announced £25 million for this purpose.

(b) Some costs will be incurred in managing the pilot programme. These are still being finalised at present but our intention is to keep the administration costs to the absolute minimum consistent with successful delivery and evaluation. In addition, there will be some costs involved in auditing the current level of provision and the take up of cultural activities by children and young people.

Football: Community Relations

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport which football clubs receive Government funding to operate community schemes; what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of those schemes; and if he will make a statement. [189002]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The following Government initiatives fund community schemes operated by, or in conjunction with, football clubs.

Playing for Success establishes out of school hours study support centres at professional football clubs and other sports clubs. 88 centres are based in football clubs, including all 20 clubs in the Premier League, to which the Department for Children Schools and Families will contribute £6 million in 2007-08.

The Home Office funds Positive Futures, a national sports-based social inclusion programme. Seven football clubs (Arsenal, Brentford, Chelsea, Crystal Palace, Leyton Orient, Millwall and Portsmouth) have football in the community schemes affiliated to them that have successfully applied for Positive Futures programme funding. The 2007 annual monitoring and evaluation report on the entire Positive Futures programme was published in November 2007.

The Kickz scheme is currently delivered in partnership with 19 Premiership and 11 Football League clubs across the country. It offers positive evening activities for young people, including football leagues and education sessions. Evaluation of the four pilot Kickz projects showed that local crime had fallen by an average of 27 per cent. during those times that projects were being held.

The Football Foundation is investing £4.7 million into the Kickz scheme and the DCMS is investing £1 million via the Premier League's good causes fund. This investment over three years will expand the Kickz programme so that over 100 projects will be delivered by more than 30 professional clubs.

Gambling Act 2005

Mr. Andy Reed: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport on how many occasions since 1 September 2007 the Gambling Commission has been asked to consider a potential offence under section 42 of the Gambling Act 2005; and what action it has taken in each instance. [188376]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Since 1 September 2007, 22 cases have been considered where the offence of cheating (section 42 of the Gambling Act 2005) at gambling may have some relevance to a greater or lesser degree. In all 22 cases the Commission is continuing its inquiries and considering what, if any, further action is necessary. Nine of the cases have been reported by the industry under conditions of their operating licences and 13, the majority of which mainly concern cheating by junior casino staff when they visit another casino, are likely to be dealt with by the application of the Commission's regulatory sanctions under the 2005 Act.

Gambling: Internet

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many meetings officials in his Department have had with (a) overseas online gambling operators, (b) UK online gambling operators and (c) counterparts in overseas governments on the issue of online gambling addiction since October 2006. [188985]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Since October 2006, officials in my Department have not had any meetings with overseas or UK-based online gambling operators, nor with their counterparts in overseas jurisdictions, specifically on the issue of online gambling addiction. However, officials keep in close contact with the industry on issues relating to the regulation of remote gambling and socially responsible gambling.

Following the publication of the 2007 Prevalence Survey, the Gambling Commission have commissioned a programme of secondary analysis to look at a number of areas for further research, including internet gambling.

National Lottery: Braintree

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much lottery funding was awarded to village halls in Braintree constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) each of the last three year for which figures are available. [189345]

Mr. Sutcliffe: There is no definition on the DCMS lottery grants database of village halls. Information on the database records that the following organisations in Braintree constituency benefited from these lottery grants related to buildings with shared community use in the relevant years:

| Organisation | Lottery grant (£) |
|---|---|
| 2005 | |
| White Colne Village Hall Management Committee | 3,228 |

| 2006 | |
| White Colne Village Hall Management Committee | 1,770 |
| Earls Colne Parish Council | 2,865 |
| Great Bardfield Town Hall Management Committee | 9,932 |

There are no grants recorded as meeting these criteria in 1997 or 2007. The Department's lottery grants database is searchable at www.lottery.culture.gov.uk and uses information supplied by the lottery distributors.

Mr. Newmark: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport which projects in Braintree constituency have received community fund grants. [189347]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Community Fund has awarded 48 grants with a total award value of £2,292,497 to the Braintree constituency. The Community Fund merged with the New Opportunities Fund to become the Big Lottery Fund in June 2004. The Big Lottery Fund became fully functional on 1 December 2006.

and uses information supplied by the lottery distributors.

National Lottery: Finance

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much income the National Lottery raised in each local authority area in England for each of the last three years for which figures are available. [187817]

Mr. Sutcliffe: Revenue raised by the National Lottery is measured nationally and not by local authority or any other geographical area.

Proceeds from National Lottery sales represent the vast majority of revenue. In addition, there are other operator-related proceeds (mainly unclaimed prizes) together with investment earnings on the overall balance held for distribution to the good causes.

National Lottery: Northern Ireland

Mark Durkan: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much funding was granted by the National Lottery (a) to schemes in Northern Ireland and (b) per head of the population in Northern Ireland in each financial year since 1997. [189437]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The number and value of grants awarded by the Lottery Distributing Bodies in each financial year since 1997, in Northern Ireland, is given in the following table. The figures are derived from the DCMS lottery grants database. The population figure used throughout is 1,741,600, which is the mid-2006 estimate of the Office for National Statistics.

| Financial year | Number of Grants | Total value of grants (£) | Per capita value (£) |

Pigeon Racing

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what criteria must be satisfied for pigeon racing to become a sport. [185324]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The principal criteria against which the Sports councils assess activities is whether or not the activity meets the definition of sport contained in the Council of Europe's European Sports Charter 1993. This defines sport as:

> "Sport means all forms of physical activity which, through casual or organised participation aim at expressing or improving physical fitness and mental well-being forming social relationships or obtaining results in competition at all levels".

The other criteria include: the essential purpose of the activity, sustainability, rules and organisation and uniqueness.

The full guidelines governing the recognition of sporting activities can be found via the Sport England website:

http://www.sportengland.org/recognition_of_activities.htm

Tourism

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many of the 10 most popular tourist attractions in England in each of the last 10 years are publicly owned. [187780]

Margaret Hodge: My Department does not maintain central records of the most popular tourist attractions in the UK.

However VisitBritain and its sector partners have over the last seven years carried out periodical surveys of regional attractions across Britain.

The 10 most popular tourist attractions for England are listed in the table and the publicly supported attractions are indicated by *.

HOME DEPARTMENT

101 Calls

Greg Mulholland: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the effectiveness of the non-emergency 101 number. [188137]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Assessment of the 101 service in the initial live areas found that the service has successfully improved public access to and satisfaction in community safety services. Through greater partnership working and better information from the public about what problems are happening where, the 101 service has helped local police and councils to target their resources more effectively and efficiently and improve the delivery of those services to the public. We welcome Sir Ronnie Flanagan's endorsement of these benefits in the final report of his review of policing, particularly in support of better neighbourhood management.

While it was decided not to continue centrally to fund local areas, a difficult but necessary decision in the context of important competing pressures and priorities, we remain keen to see the benefits and good practice from 101 taken up as widely as possible. It is for this reason that we will be continuing to provide funding for the national 101 infrastructure, as well as providing a tool kit to help local areas to improve local services and develop locally funded 101 services where possible.

I welcome the work currently being taken forward to this effect by the Greater London Assembly together with London councils, individual boroughs and the Metropolitan Police in their plans to pilot the 101 service locally.

Alcoholic Drinks: Young People

Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department is taking to prevent retailers selling alcohol to under-age children. [188122]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Successive Alcohol Misuse Enforcement Campaigns (2004-06) and Tackling Underage Sales of Alcohol Campaigns (2006-07) have reduced the test purchase failure rate from approximately 50 per cent. to approximately 15 per cent.

The Home Office will continue to address the problem of underage drinking through co-ordinating the utilisation of existing legislation in relation to underage sales and confiscation of alcohol through national campaigns.

Animal Experiments

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department further to the ministerial letter of 31 January 2006 responding to the recommendations within the Animal Procedures Committee's (APC) 2005 report on the Statistics of Scientific Procedures on Living Animals; what response she has made to the APC's Recommendation 9 on enhancements to the types of information recorded within the statistics. [188561]

Meg Hillier: We will provide a further response to recommendation 9 of the Animal Procedures Committee's 2005 report on the Statistics of Scientific Procedures on Living Animals when the European Commission publishes revised statistical reporting requirements as part of the current review of Directive 86/609/EEC, which the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 transposes into UK law.

Antisocial Behaviour: Crawley

Laura Moffatt: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department is taking to tackle antisocial behaviour in Crawley. [188129]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 25 February 2008]: We have provided practitioners with a toolkit to tackle antisocial behaviour, which they operate according to local priorities and a practitioner website and advice line. In Crawley, a multidisciplinary antisocial behaviour team operates many initiatives, based on prevention and enforcement that engage, educate and promote awareness among young people, engage with residents and tackle antisocial behaviour in families.

Burglary: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the detection rate for domestic burglary was in Tamworth in each of the last five years. [179491]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not available centrally for Tamworth. While detections data is available for basic command units (BCUs), Tamworth is not a BCU.

Cannabis

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the outcome of the review on cannabis will be announced. [185323]

Jacqui Smith: The Government will consider carefully the findings of the Advisory Council on the Misuse of Drugs when it submits its advice in late April 2008. A decision whether or not to bring a proposal to Parliament to reclassify the drug from class C back to class B under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 will then follow.

Crime

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what plans she has to make membership of a gang (a) an offence and (b) a factor to be taken into account in sentencing. [183950]

Jacqui Smith: We have no plans to make membership of a gang, in and of itself, an offence. The Sentencing Guidelines Council has already declared that, where an offender operates in a group or gang, this should be regarded as an aggravating factor, indicative of a higher than usual level of culpability, to be taken into account in sentencing (Guideline on Overarching Principles: Seriousness, 16 December 2004).

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what research she has evaluated on the link between crime and unhappiness. [187589]

Mr. Coaker: Research has not been commissioned specifically looking at the link between crime and unhappiness.

However, the British Crime Survey (BCS) asks about the impact of crime and fear of crime on quality of life. The latest analysis, from the 2006-07 BCS, shows victims of crime were more likely to report that crime and fear of crime had a high or moderate impact on their quality of life than those who had not been victims. This analysis can be found in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin Crime in England and Wales 2006-07, a copy of which can be found in the House of Commons Library.

Crime: Cars

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many car-related crimes there were in (a) Cambridgeshire police authority area and (b) each division within the authority in each of the last three years, broken down by category. [187208]

Mr. Coaker: The requested information is given in the table.

Recorded crime statistics have been provided for Cambridgeshire police force area and for the three Basic Command Units (BCUs) within. BCUs equate to police divisions.

Offences against vehicles broken down by Basic Command Unit in Cambridgeshire police force area

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what changes there have been in crime rates in Tamworth in (a) the last year and (b) the last five years, broken down by category of offence. [187757]

Mr. Coaker: The available information relates to percentage changes in crimes recorded in the Tamworth Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnership area and is given in the following table. Data for 2001-02 are not directly comparable with those for later years. Therefore the percentage change between 2002-03 and 2006-07 has been provided.

Crime: Warrington

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the crime rates were in Warrington in each of the last five years, broken down by category of offence. [189488]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is given in the table.

Offences recorded by the police in the Warrington crime and disorder reduction partnership area, 2002-03 to 2006-07

Departmental Catering

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was spent on ordering refreshments for meetings held by her Department in the last year. [185291]

Jacqui Smith: I refer the right hon. Member to the answer given on 29 October 2007, Official Report, columns 923-24W. Further detail on the cost of ordering the refreshments could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Rents

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much rent was paid by her Department to private landlords in each of the last five years; and what proportion of this rent in each year was paid for properties previously owned by her Department. [186927]

Jacqui Smith: Aggregated information on how much rent was paid by the Home Office to private landlords, including rent paid on properties previously owned, in each of the past five years is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Travel

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how much her Department spent on travel (a) within and (b) outside the UK for officials in each of the last 10 years; and what percentage of her Department's overall expenditure was spent on such travel in each such year; [181533]

(2) how many overseas visits by officials in her Department took place in each of the last 10 years; which countries were visited; and how much was spent on such visits in each such year. [181607]

Mr. Byrne: The Department's expenditure on travel within and outside the UK in each of the last 10 years is shown in the following table.

£ million

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Non-UK | 1.18 | 0.89 | 1.43 | 1.38 | 2.07 | 2.35 | 4.45 | 5.47 | 6.88 | 10.60 |
| UK | 3.84 | 3.47 | 3.56 | 4.93 | 6.83 | 8.30 | 11.14 | 13.65 | 15.46 | 16.75 |
| Total | 5.02 | 4.35 | 4.99 | 6.31 | 8.90 | 10.65 | 15.59 | 19.13 | 22.34 | 27.35 |
| Percentage of overall expenses | 0.10 | 0.09 | 0.06 | 0.07 | 0.09 | 0.08 | 0.13 | 0.15 | 0.17 | 0.20 |

The difference in costs over the period reflects the changing nature of the Home Office's business, in particular the growth of international terrorism, migration and international travel. Collaboration and information exchange both domestically and internationally on counter-terrorism activities and border control have become increasingly critical to the effective discharge of the Department's responsibilities for asylum, immigration and national security.

This has involved higher levels of overseas and UK travel.

Details on the number of overseas visits and the countries visited could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The numbers include both official and ministerial travel. All travel is undertaken in accordance with the Civil Service Management Code and the Ministerial Code.

Deportation

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many deportations on grounds that a person remaining in the UK would not be conducive to the public good have taken place in the last 12 months. [178113]

Mr. Byrne: In his public announcement of 14 January, I provided the most robust and accurate information available on foreign national prisoners. I confirmed that in 2007 over 4,200 foreign national prisoners have been removed or deported from the United Kingdom.

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many deportations of persons seeking asylum were not completed because the receiving country refused to accept them (a) before and (b) after the flight returning them had left the UK in the last 12 months. [185626]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 18 February 2008]: The information requested could be obtained only by the detailed examination of individual case records at disproportionate cost.

Employment Agencies

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much her Department paid to recruitment agencies in relation to departmental appointments in each year since 1997. [184918]

Mr. Byrne: The Department does not hold this information centrally and to obtain the information requested would incur disproportionate costs.

Identity Cards

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the Identity Cards Scheme Cost report published in November 2007, if she will provide a break down by main budget heading of the £38 million in set-up costs for providing identity cards to foreign nationals from October 2007 and October 2017. [182356]

Jacqui Smith: The set-up cost estimates for providing identity cards to foreign nationals cannot be broken down further until we conclude commercial processes.

As with all cost estimates covering a 10-year period the estimates contained in the Identity Cards Cost Report November 2007 are subject to change in light of new information or assumptions.

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the identity cards scheme cost report published in November 2007, if she will provide a break down by main budget heading of the £144 million in operational costs for providing identity cards to foreign nationals from October 2007 and October 2017. [182357]

Jacqui Smith: The operational cost estimates for providing identity cards to foreign nationals cannot be broken down further until we conclude commercial processes.

As with all cost estimates covering a ten year period the estimates contained in the identity cards cost report November 2007 are subject to change in light of new information or assumptions.

Immigration: Detainees

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many non-criminal prisoners are detained under the Immigration Act 1971; and for how many weeks they have been detained following the completion of their sentence. [187288]

Jacqui Smith: The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency wrote to the chairman of the Home Affairs Committee on 20 November 2007. She reported that there are around 1,500 foreign nationals whose sentences have expired and are detained by the Agency or Prison Estate and who are awaiting deportation.

Judicial Review

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which of her Department's decisions were challenged by judicial review in each parliamentary session since 1997; and in how many cases (a) her Department's decision was upheld by the court, (b) the court found for the applicant, (c) her Department accepted the judgment and (d) her Department appealed successfully against the decision. [187286]

Jacqui Smith: Because of the complexity and sensitivity of the issues the Home Office deals with, its decisions are frequently subject to challenge by judicial review; and this has been so for many years. Most of these challenges fall at the first hurdle and permission to bring proceedings is refused by the court; and many challenges are withdrawn by the applicants before there is a judicial determination. The exact figures for the total number of cases brought, and the outcomes in every case, are not held centrally. The information requested could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Offensive Weapons

Mr. Duncan Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the reasons were for restricting the policy on prosecuting everyone carrying a knife to London, Manchester, Birmingham and Liverpool. [179819]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 17 January 2008]: The Government do not intend to restrict their plans for the presumption to prosecute those found carrying a knife to the areas referred to in the question.

The Metropolitan Police Service in London are already adopting a positive charging policy, and we are working with the Association of Chief Police Officers, the Crown Prosecution Service and police forces to see how the arrangements agreed in London might be extended more widely. These proposals were announced on 18 February as part of the Government's Tackling Violence Action Plan.

Offensive Weapons: Crime

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what areas she has designated as knife crime hot spots. [183009]

Mr. Coaker: The Government have not designated any specific knife crime hot spots. However the Government have announced on 18 February a range of measures to tackle knife crime, as part of the tackling violence action plan.

Offensive Weapons: Homicide

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of reported murders were committed with knives in the most recent period for which figures are available. [181759]

Mr. Coaker: Available information relates to offences recorded that are currently classed as homicide where the apparent method of killing is 'sharp instrument', and was included within 'Homicides, Firearm Offences and Intimate Violence 2006-07' (Home Office Statistical Bulletin 03/08, page 12). As of 12 November 2007, 35 per cent. of the homicides recorded by police in England and Wales during 2006-07 involved the use of a sharp instrument.

Prisoners: Foreigners

David Davis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many cases involving foreign prisoners claiming to have been wrongfully detained at the end of their sentence have been brought in the last five years; and what the outcome has been of each of those cases in which legal proceedings are no longer active. [183036]

Jacqui Smith: The information requested can be obtained only through the detailed examination of individual cases in order to identify the specific reason for the commencement of judicial proceedings at disproportionate cost. The chief executive of the Border and Immigration Agency has regularly updated the Home Affairs Committee over the past 18 months with the most robust and accurate information available on the deportation of foreign national prisoners and will continue to do so as required.

Serious Organised Crime Agency

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will review the organisation of the Serious and Organised Crime Agency; and if she will make a statement. [188865]

Mr. Coaker: There are no plans to review the Serious Organised Crime Agency.

Shoplifting

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department is taking to reduce shoplifting. [187098]

Mr. Coaker: The Government are working in partnership with retail organisations to tackle retail crime including shoplifting. As part of this work we have set up a National Retail Crime Steering group to provide an opportunity for discussion of retailers' crime concerns and to devise strategies to deal with these.

We have made a commitment to raise the profile of crimes against businesses, make provision for better information about them and produce guidance to support local partnerships in their efforts to tackle the crimes which affect them.

The Home Office has also provided funding to the Perpetuity Group to develop a crime reduction tool for small and medium sized retailers to design out crime in their stores and significantly reduce the opportunities for shop thieves to operate.

Priority-setting and monitoring the performance of local authorities is a devolved matter in Wales.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Homelessness

11. Ms Keeble: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the merits of using privately rented accommodation for housing homeless people. [188694]

Caroline Flint: We have commissioned an independent review of the private rented sector which includes looking at the sector's role in meeting housing need and what can be done to ensure it is effectively managed. Over 200 local authorities use rent deposit schemes as a successful homelessness prevention measure.

Local Area Agreements

12. Ms Angela C. Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make a statement on the progress of local area agreement negotiations. [188695]

Hazel Blears: Local area agreement negotiations are progressing well. We have a good match between the priorities local areas and Government are proposing—70 per cent., even at this early stage of negotiations. What is emerging is a strong sense that many areas share the same desire as Government to tackle the most difficult challenges in their communities.

Sub-national Review

13. Gwyn Prosser: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department is taking to implement the proposals in the issues paper, "Taking Forward the Review of Sub-national Economic Development and Regeneration". [188696]

John Healey: We intend to publish a consultation paper shortly on implementation of the new single regional strategy, the creation of a local authority economic assessment duty and possible statutory arrangements for sub-regional collaboration between local authorities.

Eco-towns

14. Anne Snelgrove: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what contribution eco-towns are expected to make to the supply of housing, with particular reference to affordable homes. [188697]

Caroline Flint: Eco-towns offer an exciting opportunity to provide desperately needed new homes for families and first time buyers, in a way that is consistent with our climate change objections. Eco-towns must have at least 30 per cent. affordable housing, but I am keen to see if we can achieve even more with some developments pushing towards 50 per cent.

18. Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she expects to announce the location of the proposed eco-towns. [188701]

Caroline Flint: We have received almost 60 bids for EcoTowns across the country. We have been rigorously assessing these bids, particularly against tough criteria on environmental and transport standards. I will soon be publishing a shortlist of proposals. There will then be a full public consultation.

23. Colin Challen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress has been made on establishing the new eco-towns. [188706]

Caroline Flint: We have received almost 60 expressions of interest and are now carrying out an initial sift across Government and their agencies. This will give a preliminary indication of the sustainability and infrastructure aspects of these schemes in relation to the criteria set out in the Eco-towns Prospectus, including their approach to transport and the environment. We are also contacting local authorities and regional bodies, in areas where schemes look to have good potential and we will then publish a shortlist for consultation. We expect to publish this shortlist in the near future for extensive consultation with the public, wider stakeholders and local authorities.

Concessionary Bus Fares

15. Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions she has had with the Secretary of State for Transport on the cost to local authorities of concessionary bus fares. [188698]

Hazel Blears: My Department keeps in regular contact with the Department for Transport at ministerial and official level on the issue of the funding of local authorities' statutory responsibilities for concessionary fares.

16. Mr. Burns: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions she has had with Chelmsford borough council on its concessionary bus fares scheme. [188699]

John Healey: I have had no discussions with Chelmsford borough council on the issue of its concessionary fares scheme.

Sharia

17. Angela Watkinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the implications of Sharia law practices for community cohesion. [188700]

20. Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the implications of Sharia law practices for community cohesion. [188703]

Mr. Dhanda: Community cohesion is about building better relationships between people from different backgrounds including those from new and settled communities. The use of religious courts, such as Sharia councils, to resolve private family and contractual disputes is well established, and we do not consider that it has an impact on community cohesion. Sharia law has no jurisdiction in England and Wales. There is no intention to change this.

Heritage Trees

Alun Michael: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps she plans to take to protect heritage trees. [188702]

Mr. Dhanda: Heritage trees are already protected through a range of statutory and non-statutory mechanisms.

Proposed changes to the Tree Preservation Order system will deliver more effective protection. We intend to introduce new regulations which will limit the exemptions allowing work to protected trees without consent, and we will update departmental guidance to clarify the powers already available to local planning authorities to protect heritage trees.

Social Home Buy Scheme

22. Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many completed housing transactions there have been under the social home buy scheme. [188705]

Mr. Iain Wright: There were 156 completed Social HomeBuy sales up to January 2007, mainly by 13 of the early pilot Housing Associations most of whom joined in late 2006. Since 1997 the Government have helped over 95,000 households (including social tenants, key workers and other first time buyers) get onto the housing ladder.

Adult Education: Elderly

Dan Rogerson: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many local authorities in England provide concessionary rates for adult education to those over 60 years of age. [187255]

Mr. Dhanda: The Department for Communities and Local Government does not collect data on how many local authorities in England provide concessionary rates for adult education to those over 60 years of age.

Caravan Sites: Licensing

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will make it a requirement for a licensee of a mobile home site to be a fit and proper person. [189211]

Mr. Iain Wright: We are continuing to develop our policy on how to secure a more effective and robust licensing scheme for mobile home sites which takes account of management standards and the suitability of a person to hold a licence. I am examining the specific matter mentioned in the question.

Community Centres: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley of 4 February 2008, Official Report, columns 839-40W, on community centres: valuation, within which larger categories village halls and community centres fall into for the purposes of the rating lists. [189410]

John Healey: The larger category is "Hall and premises".

Community Development: Expenditure

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much was spent on (a) Housing Supply and Demand, (b) Decent Places to Live, (c) Tackling Disadvantage, (d) Better Services and (e) Development of English Regions initiatives in 2006-07. [187331]

Mr. Dhanda: The following table sets out the amount that the Department spent on (a) Housing Supply and Demand, (b) Decent Places to Live, (c) Tackling Disadvantage, (d) Better Services and (e) Development of English Regions in 2006-07.

| Programme | £000 |
|---|---|
| Housing Supply and Demand | 3,353,840 |
| Decent Places to Live | 1,292,808 |
| Tackling Disadvantage | 2,334,622 |
| Better Services | 266,613 |
| Development of English Regions | 1,595,411 |

These figures are consistent with Note 2 on page 36 of the published Communities and Local Government Resource Accounts 2006-07 (HC 836, July 2007).

Council Tax Benefits

Mr. Neil Turner: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what discussions she has had with the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions on the production of a form for automatic claims of council tax and housing benefits. [188684]

Hazel Blears: I have frequent discussions with my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions about a range of issues. I very much welcome the efforts of his Department to make these benefits more accessible: simplifying the claims process for pensioners is part of this drive.

Departmental Official Residences

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many ministerial residences were available to her Department's Ministers in each of the last 10 years. [183185]

Mr. Dhanda: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for West Bromwich, East (Mr. Watson) on 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 688W.

Departmental Property

Mr. Weir: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what property was lost or stolen from her Department and its predecessors since 1997; and what the cost of replacement was. [187474]

Mr. Dhanda: The following table contains information about items valued at £100 or more and reported as stolen or lost for the years detailed. Information for years before 2002-03 is not held. Information on items stolen or lost and valued at less than £100 is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

| | Stolen | | Lost | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Item | Total value (£) | Item | Total value (£) |
| 2002-03 | Two laptops | 600 | — | — |
| 2003-04 | Two laptops | 600 | One mobile phone | 200 |
| 2004-05 | Two laptops | 500 | — | — |
| 2005-06 | Seven laptops | 2,100 | — | — |
| | One mac600 mobile light | 800 | — | — |
| | Two mac250+ mobile lights | 980 | — | — |
| | One official black leather briefcase | 100 | — | — |
| | One desktop PC and monitor | 350 | — | — |
| 2006-07 | Seven laptops | 2,100 | — | — |

| | Stolen | | Lost | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Item | Total value (£) | Item | Total value (£) |
| | Four desktop PCs | 2,700 | — | — |
| | One iPAQ projector | 800 | — | — |
| | One mobile phone | 200 | — | — |
| | One PC base unit | 400 | — | — |
| 2007-08 | Eight laptops | 5,600 | — | — |
| | Two mobile phones | 200 | — | — |

This answer does not include property owned by the Government Offices, who carry out functions on behalf of 10 Government Departments, but does include CLG Agencies.

None of the information contained in the laptops or PCs above was classified. However, each laptop and desktop PC was password protected.

Domestic Visits

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which stakeholders were met by Regional Ministers during official visits to regions. [188733]

Mr. Dhanda: All Regional Ministers have taken part in a number of high level engagements within their regions including meetings with local authorities, regional bodies and other organisations, attendance at stakeholder events and visits to local projects and communities. To provide further details would incur disproportionate costs.

Empty Property: North West

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) whether her Department is on course to meet the targets to reduce the rate of long-term vacant dwellings (a) in the North West to 1.65 per cent. and (b) in Yorkshire and the Humber to 1.35 per cent. [187339]

(2) what intermediate targets have been set for the reduction of the rate of long-term vacant dwellings in (a) the North West and (b) Yorkshire and Humber ahead of the 2016 target. [187340]

Mr. Iain Wright [holding answer 20 February 2008]: Overall, since 2003 there has been a reduction in long term vacancy rates in Yorkshire and the Humber and the North West, and they are broadly on trajectory. For a number of years up to 2003 vacancy rates in the North West were increasing. However, since 2004 the vacancy rate trend in the North West shows a marked improvement. We expect long term vacancy rates in housing market renewal pathfinder areas both in Yorkshire and the Humber and the North West to fall as they move into the next phase of their interventions.

The Department's annual report for 2007 includes a trajectory which illustrates the intermediate stages towards achieving the targets by 2016.

Geographical Information Systems

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many private sector companies were consulted on the draft of the UK location strategy before it was submitted to Ministers. [188655]

Mr. Dhanda: The process of drafting the UK Location Strategy involved two consultation phases:

(i) Initial information gathering and consultation arranged and facilitated by consultants who were commissioned by the UK Geographic Information Panel (GI Panel) to draft the strategy;

(ii) Wide consultation across Government during preparation and iteration of the draft, and following recognition that it was appropriate for the strategy to focus on public sector information.

During the first consultation phase, the consultants arranged three workshop sessions. An open invitation to participate was extended for the first of these events. It was attended by over 90 delegates of whom more than 50 per cent. were from the private sector. Two further closed sessions involved delegates selected and invited by the consultants because of their personal knowledge and expertise: 16 of the 44 invitees to these sessions were employed in the private sector. The consultants also extended an open invitation for further contributions via the GI Panel website and invited written submissions and the opportunity for personal interview by one of the consultants. The consultants received a number of written statements including contributions from three private sector trade associations and 13 individuals.

In addition, the GI Panel itself includes representatives from the Association of British Insurers, the Demographic User Group, the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors and the Association for Geographic Information, together representing the views of the wider UK geographic information, including over 50,000 companies and individual professionals from the private sector.

Government Offices for the Regions: Finance

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what Government funding streams are available to the Government Offices for the Regions; and if she will make a statement. [188909]

Mr. Dhanda: The Government Offices for the Regions have specific responsibility for an administration running cost budget and a capital budget.

Programme budgets administered by the Government Offices are the responsibility of the Secretaries of State for the relevant sponsor Departments. The Departments delegate authority to the Regional Directors to spend against their programmes, though all expenditure incurred is recorded in the accounts of the Department concerned.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst (Robert Neill) of 6 February 2008, Official Report, column 1180W, on Government Offices for the Regions: finance, what the total expenditure was of each of the Government offices in 2006-07. [189236]

Mr. Dhanda: The total running cost expenditure in each of the Government offices in 2006-07 is as follows:

| Government office | Amount (£000) |
|---|---|
| North East | 12,730.25 |
| North West | 16,933.67 |
| Yorkshire and Humber | 10,676.64 |
| West Midlands | 14,925.87 |
| East Midlands | 11,490.17 |
| East | 12,211.64 |
| South East | 13,677.13 |
| South West | 14,570.49 |
| London | 17,595.20 |
| Total | 124,811.78 |

Housing: Debt

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much historic housing debt each housing authority owed at the latest date for which figures are available; and what proportion of social housing in each housing authority area met the decent homes standard on that date. [186843]

Mr. Iain Wright: No distinction is drawn between 'historic debt' (for instance debt entered into in previous financial years) and 'non-historic debt' (for instance debt entered into in the current financial year). Reported housing debt and the percentage of their housing stock that meets the decent homes standard for each authority in 2006-07 is given in the following table:

| Local authority | Housing debt (£) | Proportion of own stock meeting decent homes standard (percentage) | Proportion of RSL stock in area meeting decent homes standard (percentage) |

Data on debt are taken from local authorities' third subsidy claim form for 2006-07. The data for Decent Homes are taken from their Business Plan Statistical Appendix Annual Monitoring form and the Regulatory Statistical Return from registered social landlords.

Housing: Disadvantaged

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps the Government have taken to encourage housing associations to meet the needs of vulnerable tenants. [183446]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Housing Corporation's Regulatory Code expects registered social landlords to provide vulnerable and marginalised residents with appropriate responsive housing services. They should also ensure that support and care arrangements (including liaison with other agencies) are in place, where appropriate.

The Corporation's strategic approach is set out in their "Housing for Vulnerable People: Strategy Statement". As a result the Government, through the Corporation's affordable housing programme, have allocated £385 million during 2006-08 for housing for vulnerable people, almost doubling the investment during the previous two years.

In July 2007, the Housing Corporation produced the follow-up publication 'Investing in Independence: Housing for Vulnerable People Strategy'. This sets out how the Housing Corporation will engage with housing providers and support them in responding to the needs of vulnerable people, working in partnership with local and central government.

The Corporation is currently assessing bids for their 2008-11 affordable housing programme. They have set out in their prospectus for the programme that they expect to fund more supported housing than they did in the 2006-08 programme.

Housing: Low Incomes

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much social housing stock there was in (a) Cornwall, (b) the South West and (c) England in each year since 1979; and what percentage of overall housing stock was social housing in each area in each year. [186998]

Mr. Iain Wright: The figures requested are tabulated as follows and present the numbers of social rent dwellings that are owned or managed by local authorities and registered social landlords (RSLs).

Levels of social rented stock (local authority plus registered social landlords) and as percentage of total stock: Cornwall, South West and England

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much was spent on the provision of affordable housing in settlements of 10,000 or more in each year since 1997; [188588]

(2) how much money was spent on the provision of affordable housing in settlements of fewer than 10,000 people in each year since 1997. [188601]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information on expenditure through the Housing Corporation's Affordable Housing Programme is currently held by the Corporation at local authority level and therefore it is not possible to provide a breakdown of spend in all settlements with a population below or above 10,000. However, we expect this position to change in future years through the greater use of map technology.

Housing: Planning

Helen Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 1 February 2008, Official Report, columns 691-92W, on housing: planning, if she will consult hon. Members on bids for housing growth points on occasions when they are not consulted by their local authorities. [186001]

Caroline Flint [holding answer 18 February 2008]: It is for local authorities to consult with hon. Members regarding the content of their housing growth point expressions of interest. The growth will be developed through the statutory planning process so that there will be good opportunity for future consultation as plans and individual proposals are developed. I would expect hon. Members to be fully involved in this process.

Housing: Teachers

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many teachers have purchased houses through the Low Cost Home Ownership Scheme in each year for which data are available. [188372]

Mr. Iain Wright: The following table shows the number of teachers who have purchased homes through the Low Cost Home Ownership Scheme in each year as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2001 | 57 |
| 2002 | 1,221 |
| 2003 | 1,890 |
| 2004 | 959 |
| 2005 | 2,572 |
| 2006 | 1,741 |
| 2007 [1] | 984 |

[1]As at January 2008

Immigration: Rural Areas

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effect on public services in rural communities of immigration from countries acceding to the EU in (a) 2004 and (b) 2007. [188599]

Mr. Dhanda: My Department has recently established a new directorate with a remit to ensure a co-ordinated approach to the impacts of migration on communities and local services. Communities and Local Government will work across government to maximise the benefits of migration and support local providers to address any transitional impacts on public services in local areas, including rural communities.

Local Government

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what research she has commissioned or supported on the performance of enhanced two-tier working of local authorities. [188321]

John Healey: An independent, six-year evaluation covering both Unitary restructuring and enhanced two-tier working in local authorities is currently being commissioned by Communities and Local Government. Work will commence in March 2008, once contract negotiations are finalised.

Local Government Finance: Ashfield District Council

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much grant Ashfield district council received in 2001-02; how much is planned for 2008-09; and what the percentage change has been in (a) real and (b) cash terms. [188248]

John Healey: The following table shows the amount of formula grant Ashfield district council received in 2001-02 and will receive in 2008-09, along with the percentage change in real and cash terms.

| | Local authority cash terms (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2001-02 Formula grant | 7.714 |
| 2008-09 Formula grant | 11.049 |
| (a) Percentage change real terms | 17.86 |
| (b) Percentage change cash terms | 43.23 |

Formula grant comprises Revenue support grant, redistributed business rates, principal formula police grant, SSA reduction grant (SSA Review), SSA reduction grant (police funding review) and central support protection grant where appropriate.

The real terms increase has been calculated using the Treasury's latest GDP deflator, which is the only measure of inflation that is forecast in advance. This figure for 2008-09 is 2.75 per cent.

These percentage increases may not be on a like-for like basis because they cannot take account of changes in function and funding that have occurred over the years.

Local Government Finance: Newcastle Upon Tyne

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the area based grant (ABG) was for the City of Newcastle in (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11 with its component grants; and what the predecessor grants were for ABG for 2007-08. [189536]

John Healey: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I have him on 25 February 2008, Official Report, columns 1226-27W.

Local Government: Suffolk

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost of pursuing Pathfinder Status was for each local authority in Suffolk. [187604]

John Healey: This information is not held by Communities and Local Government. Expenditure on pursuing Pathfinder Status is a matter for each of the local authorities concerned to determine.

Minister for the South West

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on how many occasions the Minister for the South West has met representatives of the South West Regional Development Agency since his appointment in June 2007. [188881]

Mr. Dhanda: The Minister for the South West has met members or officials from the South West Regional Development Agency on seven occasions.

Minister for the West Midlands: Manpower

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many dedicated full-time equivalent staff of each grade work for the Minister for the West Midlands in his capacity as such; and what the cost of these staff is expected to be in 2007-08. [181930]

Mr. Dhanda: The Government office for the west midlands supports the role of the regional minister. This support was provided by one full-time equivalent staff when the role was created and has now expended into two full-time equivalent staff to manage the delivery of the Minister's priorities in the region at an average salary cost of £94,000. It can also call on Government specialists in the field to provide support regarding Government priorities as appropriate.

Regional Government: Ministers

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 8 January 2008, Official Report, column 372W, on regional government: Ministers, how many times Regional Ministers have met to discuss their work since appointment. [188952]

Mr. Dhanda: The network of Regional Ministers has met three times since being established in July 2007 and it is intended that it will continue to meet every two months. The network of Regional Ministers operates under the joint chairmanship of the Secretaries of State for Communities and Local Government, and Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, with officials from these departments providing a secretariat.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 8 January 2008, Official Report, column 372W, on regional government: Ministers, how many officials from her Department work in the secretariat for the network of Regional Ministers. [188953]

Mr. Dhanda: There is presently the equivalent of one full time member of staff working in the secretariat for the network of Regional Ministers.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 21 January 2008, Official Report, column 1533W, on regional government: Ministers, on how many occasions the Minister for the South West has visited each of the South West constituencies referred to in the answer. [188955]

Mr. Dhanda: The Minister for the South West has visited each listed constituency once except for Bournemouth, East, Bournemouth, West and Taunton where he has been twice and Exeter four times as Regional Minister.

Regional Government: Public Participation

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 943W, on regional government: public participation, what meetings the Minister for the West Midlands has had with local authorities. [181700]

Mr. Dhanda: The Minister for the West Midlands has had the following meetings with local authorities since being appointed: Shropshire, Coventry, Staffordshire, Newcastle, Telford and Wrekin, Worcestershire, Birmingham, Herefordshire, Staffordshire, Dudley, Walsall, Wolverhampton, Stoke on Trent, Sandwell and Warwickshire.

Regional Ministers

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment has been made of the contribution of regional Ministers to the development of Government policy. [188772]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Regional Ministers are engaging actively in their region and are working with other regional partners to ensure that the key issues facing their region are reflected in the development of government policy. No formal assessment has yet been made of this contribution, although it will be a key consideration as their role develops.

Regional Ministers: Accountancy

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether her Department plans to put in place interim reporting and accountability guidelines for regional Ministers before the Modernisation Committee produces its report on regional accountability. [188771]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 25 February 2008]: The Government are currently preparing their evidence on their preferred means of strengthening regional accountability and have no plans to put in place any interim reporting and accountability guidelines before the report of the Modernisation Committee is published.

Regional Ministers: Departmental Responsibilities

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what proportion of time each Regional Minister has spent on (a) regional matters and (b) other departmental work since appointment. [188882]

Mr. Dhanda: Regional Ministers divide their time between their roles as Regional Minister, Departmental Minister and constituency Member of Parliament. The amount of time devoted to each role varies from week to week according to events in the region and the Minister's other commitments.

Regional Ministers: Finance

Julia Goldsworthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what financial and other resources are available to regional Ministers to support them in the discharge of their duties. [188768]

Mr. Dhanda [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Regional Ministers are not allocated separate budgets and their support costs are funded by their own Departments and the Government Office Network from within existing budgets. To provide a breakdown of the financial costs to support each regional Minister would incur disproportionate costs. In addition to the staff in their departmental Private Offices and Government Offices, each regional Minister, with the exception of the Minister for the North East of England, also has 40 hours per month from a dedicated GNN press officer.

Regional Planning and Development: Greenbelt

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what proposals for reviews or changes to green belt land are contained within the draft regional spatial strategies. [171497]

Caroline Flint: Green belts have performed an important role in preventing urban sprawl and protecting the countryside for 50 years and Government have no plans to change its policy on the green belt set out in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2. Green belt boundary reviews are matters for local planning authorities and regional planning bodies. Boundaries can only be changed in exceptional circumstances and after public consultation and public inquiry through the development plan process. Nationally, the amount of green belt land continues to grow, with an 80,000 acre increase since 1997.

The relevant policies in draft regional spatial strategies which currently refer to green belt land are as follows:

Regional Planning and Development: Public Bodies

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which (a) non-departmental public bodies, (b) executive agencies and (c) non-ministerial departments have responsibility for regional strategy and funding. [188910]

John Healey: Regional Development Agencies, which have a budget of over £2.2 billion in 2007-08, are the lead strategic non-departmental public body in each region. They are sponsored by the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform.

My Department published details of the public bodies it sponsored as at 31 March 2007 in its report, The Department for Communities and Local Government's Public Bodies 2007, a copy of which is available in the Library of the House. Of these bodies, English Partnerships, The Housing Corporation and The London Thames Gateway Development Corporation have particular responsibility for contributing to regional strategy and funding.

In addition, Government Offices deliver a wide range of Government policies and programmes on behalf of Whitehall departments, including my Department.

Regional Planning and Development: South East

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she will publish her response to the draft South East Plan; and if she will make a statement. [188730]

Mr. Dhanda: The Secretary of State's proposed changes to the draft regional spatial strategy (RSS) for the South East will be published for consultation later this year. It is difficult, at this stage, to commit to a precise publication date for the proposed changes given the complexity of the issues involved. Our aim, as it stands now, is to publish the proposed changes before the summer recess.

The Secretary of State will make a statement to the House when they are being published.

We will also undertake a full 12-week public consultation to provide an opportunity for all interested parties to make representations on the proposed changes.

Thames Gateway

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 31 January 2008, Official Report, columns 589-91W, on the Thames Gateway, whether the Olympics Delivery Authority is involved in the development. [189405]

Caroline Flint: The Olympic Delivery Authority is developing the Olympic Park, and other sporting venues for the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games. These provide a unique contribution to the wider Thames Gateway regeneration programme. There is close liaison between the Thames Gateway Executive and the ODA, with regard to both 2012 delivery and legacy planning, to ensure that the two projects reinforce one another in the most effective way.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many (a) staff and (b) full-time equivalent staff under 18 years of age are employed by his Department. [189077]

Gillian Merron: There are no staff under the age of 18 years employed by the Department for International Development.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much was spent by his Department and its agencies on (a) alcohol and (b) entertaining in the last 12 months. [187961]

Gillian Merron: DFID's total spend on entertainment within administration cost budgets in the last 12 months was £265,360. We do not have any agencies.

It is not possible to disaggregate specific entertainment costs without incurring disproportionate cost.

All entertainment is made in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, based on the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Retirement

Stewart Hosie: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development, how many staff in his Department retired on grounds of stress-related illness in each of the last three years. [187502]

Gillian Merron: None.

Departmental Sick Pay

Angus Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the cost of sickness pay to staff within his Department was in the most recent year for which figures are available. [187515]

Gillian Merron: It is not possible to provide an accurate figure for the cost of sickness pay without incurring disproportionate cost.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Pete Wishart: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what average hourly rate his Department paid to employment agencies for agency staff in each year since 1999, broken down by employment agency. [187916]

Gillian Merron: DFID appoints temporary administrative staff predominantly through two Recruitment Agencies (one based in London and one in East Kilbride). The average rates are as detailed in the following table but are only available in London from 2002 and in East Kilbride from 2005 without incurring disproportionate costs:

Agency/charge rate

| | 2002 | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | Pre-April 2007 | Post-April 2007 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| London | 10.40 | 10.40 | 10.40 | 10.40 | 10.40 | 10.80 | 11.36 |
| East Kilbride | n/a | n/a | n/a | 7.30 | 7.30 | 7.74 | 9.27 |

For more specialist staff, e.g. IT and communications specialists, records are held by different budget holders across the department, and it is not possible to provide hourly rates without disproportionate costs.

Developing Countries: Clinical Trials

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development (1) what discussions he has had with (a) governments of developing countries and (b) international organisations on cases where UK-based pharmaceutical companies' clinical trials on medicinal products in developing countries have caused death, injury or blindness; and if he will make a statement; [188827]

(2) if his Department will provide support to people in developing countries who have been adversely affected, or have had close relatives killed, in pharmaceutical trials of medicinal products of UK-based pharmaceutical companies. [188828]

Gillian Merron: The UK Government regulates clinical trials run by the pharmaceutical industry through the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency. DFID has had no reason to have discussions with developing countries' governments or international organisations about cases where clinical trials run by UK-based pharmaceutical companies have caused death, injury or blindness.

All clinical trials that receive DFID funding are run according to good clinical practice and are also listed on the international clinical trials register. To protect people taking part in clinical trials funded by DFID, each trial has its own Independent Data Monitoring Committee, which looks at the data collected as the trial progresses, and a separate independent Trial Steering Committee (which oversees and monitors the trial). These committees have the power to stop the trial at any time and at the earliest indication of harm.

Clinical trials run by pharmaceutical companies have insurance, to make provision for anyone harmed in research, and no-fault compensation schemes. DFID is not involved in any UK-based pharmaceutical company trials and therefore can not make provision for anyone claiming to have been harmed by participation.

Developing Countries: Infant Mortality

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department is taking to ensure that economic growth in developing countries has a positive impact on infant mortality; and if he will make a statement. [187775]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Economic growth means that governments have more resources to invest in critical services. The Department for International Development (DFID) works with countries to improve the quality of spending allocations and public service delivery to ensure that the benefits of economic growth are shared equally. DFID pioneered the International Health Partnership (IHP) which was launched in September 2007. By committing partners to work together to support Government's health plans, the IHP will seek to remove obstacles to stronger health systems. DFID is now supporting the World Health Organisation (WHO), the World Bank and other international health agencies to implement the IHP in the eight first wave countries and in encouraging more countries to join.

Family Planning

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what payments his Department has made to (a) Marie Stopes International, (b) International Planned Parenthood Federation, (c) British Pregnancy Advisory Service, (d) United Nations Population Fund and (e) Family Planning Association (UK) for (i) abortion, (ii) family planning and (iii) other reproductive health services in each of the last five years; what the total of grants made to each organisation in each of the last five years was; what restrictions there are on the use of these funds; and if he will make a statement. [186368]

Gillian Merron: Details on DFID's core contributions to each organisation over the last five years are laid out in the following table.

DFID programme 2002-03 to 2006-07

£000

| Organisation | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| International Planned Parenthood Federation | 4,500 | 10,500 | 6,000 | — | 7,500 |
| UN Population Fund | 9,000 | 18,000 | 20,000 | 20,000 | 20,000 |

Core contributions are provided in support of an organisation's overall development activities and are disbursed at the discretion of the organisation and can therefore not be broken down into sectors.

Project specific funding is also delivered via Marie Stopes International, the UN Population Fund and the International Planned Parenthood Federation. Consolidated records on the amount of project specific funding delivered via intermediary organisations are not held centrally.

No funding was provided to the British Pregnancy Advisory Service or the Family Planning Association (UK).

DFID does not promote abortion as a method of family planning. However, if a woman decides to have an abortion, she should be able to access care and services that are safe. Where it is legal, DFID works to ensure the saving of women's lives through abortion services that are safe. DFID also promotes awareness of unsafe abortion as a serious women's health issue.

Global Fund to Fight AIDS Tuberculosis and Malaria

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what technical support his Department is providing to countries with high incidences of AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria to (a) submit proposals for grants to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria and (b) build internal capacity to maximise value for money from such grant funding. [187432]

Gillian Merron: The UK Government support health-related technical assistance in several developing countries. DFID also supports a variety of organisations, including UN agencies, such as the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS), World Health Organisation (WHO) and Stop TB and Roll Back Malaria, which help countries to develop proposals for grants to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria.

Through the International Health Partnership, the UK is also working with the Global Fund and others to minimise the administrative burden on countries of funding from external donors.

Infant Mortality

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment his Department has made of progress towards meeting Millennium Development Goal 4; and if he will make a statement. [187777]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The latest assessment of progress towards Millennium Development Goal (MDG) 4 is included in the annual "State of the World's Children Report" by the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) published in January 2008. Overall in 2006, global child deaths reached a record low of 9.7 million, down from 13 million in 1990. The report showed that solid progress has been made in a number of countries such as Ethiopia, Malawi, Mozambique, Namibia, Niger, Rwanda and Tanzania.

The report also highlighted that a concentrated push is required to accelerate progress in West Africa and parts of Asia to cut child deaths. MDG 4 is inextricably linked to MDG 5 (to improve maternal health) as 40 per cent. of children under the age of five are dying within a few days of birth. This is why the Prime Minister has called for 2008 to be a year of action towards meeting the MDGs especially those concerned with child mortality (MDG 4) and maternal health (MDG 5), which remain the most off-track.

Overseas Aid: Health

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what progress has been made in the development of international health partnership compacts between international development partners and the governments of (a) Burundi, (b) Cambodia, (c) Ethiopia, (d) Kenya, (e) Mozambique, (f) Nepal, (g) Zambia and (h) Mali; whether he has identified inadequate funding as a hindrance in the development of any such compact; and what arrangements his Department has in place to overcome any such hindrance. [187434]

Gillian Merron: The international health agencies, under the leadership of the World Health Organisation (WHO) and the World Bank, are now implementing the International Health Partnership (IHP). At the country-level, the governments are working with these agencies and other donors to develop country compacts. We do not have specific information on the progress in each of the IHP countries. There will be a meeting in Lusaka, Zambia this month to review progress in individual countries. Early indications are positive. WHO expects the first set of compacts to be ready by September 2008.

The health agencies have identified a budget of £7 million over two years in order to implement the IHP. To date £4 million has already been provided, with the UK funding £3.5 million and Norway £0.5 million. The WHO and the World Bank are approaching other countries to provide the balance of costs in year two of this work. Part of these funds are earmarked to offset the costs involved in developing country compacts.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

College of Chiropractors: Royal Charters

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will make it his policy to support the application by the College of Chiropractors to the Privy Council for a Royal Charter. [175202]

Bill Rammell: Decisions as to whether to grant a Royal Charter are matters for the Privy Council, who assess applications against the published criteria. Each petition is considered on its own merits and it would not be appropriate for me to make a policy statement concerning individual Charter petitions.

Education: Pharmacy

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills if he will add pharmacy courses to the list of courses exempt from the forthcoming changes to equivalent or lower qualifications students. [175744]

Bill Rammell: The vast majority of pharmacy students already study the subject as a first degree rather than as an equivalent or lower level qualification. The redistribution of £100 million by 2010 would enable the same number of pharmacy students to be funded as now but with even more studying the subject as a first degree. In that way we will increase and widen participation which is our top priority. We also value those who have already got a first HE qualification and who want to retrain in a different subject. There will be opportunities for them available, for example, through Foundation Degrees and employer co-funded provision.

In addition, there will be a review mechanism each year to look at individual subjects of particular economic or social importance. We are asking the Funding Council each year to look at levels of demand for subjects which might in future be regarded as key because of their economic or social significance, and to advise us on the best way forward. The first such review should take place starting in December 2008, in the light of entry data for the 2008/09 academic year. That would be an opportunity to have another look at pharmacy and other subjects in the light of the data that will then be available.

Foreign Students: Fees and Charges

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what mechanisms are in place to collect retrospective tuition fees from students at UK universities from EU countries once they return to their home countries. [186620]

Bill Rammell: The Student Loans Company has established payment arrangements for borrowers from other European Union countries who dropped out of their studies and became due to make repayment in April 2007, or who have graduated and become eligible to repay from April 2008. These existing arrangements will continue to apply when the first full cohort of borrowers from EU countries enters into repayment in April 2010.

The SLC has written to all EU borrowers due to start repayment and asked them to confirm the address where they expect to reside after graduation. If they are staying in the UK, they will be expected to obtain a national insurance number and make repayments through the UK tax system. If they are going abroad they will be asked to supply an address and complete an overseas assessment form to allow repayments to be scheduled. These borrowers have been made aware of the variety of methods of repayment available to them.

So that all who can pay contribute to the costs of their education we have put in place variable threshold bands which are dependent on where the borrower lives. Effective collection across the EU is underpinned by EC regulation 44/2001, which allows the SLC to obtain judgments in UK courts, which can be enforced by courts in other EU countries.

In support of the EU repayment process the SLC is developing an enforcement strategy for borrowers who move abroad but who do not provide income details. This work is focussing on the collection of penalties, arrears and the movement of borrowers into litigation where this is appropriate. The SLC is piloting work in these areas and expects to have final arrangements in place by April 2009.

Higher Education: Admissions

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of those who gained A-levels enrolled on a degree course at a higher education institution in each year since 1997; and if he will make a statement. [186618]

Bill Rammell: Administrative data sources do not currently allow us to calculate the proportion of those who gained A Levels and enrolled on a degree course at higher education.

Some rates of entry to higher education by prior qualification are available from the Youth Cohort Study (YCS). The latest available figures are based on 19-year-olds in 2006-07:

82 per cent. of those with academic Level 3 qualifications at age 18 are in HE by age 19.

47 per cent. of those with vocational Level 3 qualifications at age 18 are in HE by age 19.

Although the YCS cannot reliably be used to make comparisons over time, the data do suggest that conversion rates from A level to HE have been reasonably constant at above 80 per cent.

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of students applied for a university place on completion of their A-levels in (a) Cornwall, (b) the South West and (c) England in each year since 1979. [186628]

Bill Rammell: Administrative data sources do not currently allow us to calculate the proportion of those who gained A-levels who applied for a university place, nor is application information for 18-year-olds available by smaller areas.

The latest available information on all 18-year-old applicants is given in Table 1.

Table 1: Number of English domiciled 18-year-old applicants to full-time undergraduate courses in the UK

| Year of entry | Applicants |
|---|---|
| 2000 | 151,060 |
| 2001 | 156,240 |
| 2002 | 157,585 |
| 2003 | 161,480 |
| 2004 | 160,450 |
| 2005 | 175,405 |
| 2006 | 173,805 |
| 2007 | 176,305 |

Note:
Figures have been rounded to the nearest five.
Source:
Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS).

Figures are not available for earlier years than 2000. Also, figures for Cornwall and the South West are not available, only for England as a whole. It is not possible to separate applicants who have completed A-levels as opposed to other qualifications. Therefore figures for all English domiciled 18-year-old university applicants have been provided. Latest figures for 2008 entry show that, as at 15 January, 18-year-old applicants from England were up by 5 per cent.

The main measure for tracking progress on increasing participation in higher education is currently the Higher Education Initial Participation Rate (HEIPR). This is the sum of the HE initial participation rates for individual ages between 17 and 30 inclusive. It covers English-domiciled first time entrants to HE courses, which are expected to last for at least six months, at UK higher education institutions and English, Scottish and Welsh further education colleges, and who remain on their course for at least six months. An 18-year-old rate can be derived from this, and the available figures are shown in Table 2:

Table 2: Higher Education Initial Participation Rate (HEIPR)

| | 17-30 age group | Percentage 18-year-olds |
|---|---|---|
| 1999/2000 | 39.3 | 19.3 |
| 2000/01 | 39.7 | 19.5 |
| 2001/02 | 40.2 | 19.6 |
| 2002/03 | 41.2 | 19.7 |
| 2003/04 | 40.3 | 19.2 |
| 2004/05 | 41.3 | 19.6 |
| 2005/06 | 42.8 | 21.3 |

Source:
"Participation Rates in Higher Education: Academic Years 1999/2000 to 2005/06 (Provisional)" Statistical First Release, published by DfES.

Figures are not available for earlier years than 1999/2000. Figures for 2006/07 will become available in 2008. The HEIPR is not disaggregated below national level. The HEIPR does not distinguish between students who have completed A-levels as opposed to other qualifications.

For information, the percentage of 17-year-olds achieving one or more A-level has changed over the period 1994 to 2007 as follows:

17-year-olds achieving one or more GCE/VCE/Applied A-levels (or equivalent[1])

| | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 1994 | 29.1 |
| 1995 | 30.5 |
| 1996 | 31.0 |
| 1997 | 30.8 |
| 1998 | 33.3 |
| 1999 | 33.8 |
| 2000 | 34.9 |
| 2001 | 37.3 |

17-year-olds achieving one or more GCE/VCE/Applied A-levels (or equivalent[1])

| 2002 | 39.0 |
| 2003 | 38.9 |
| 2004 | 39.4 |
| 2005 | 38.8 |
| 2006 | 39.0 |
| 2007 | 38.8 |

[1] Includes Advanced GNVQ between 1998 and 2001.

Note:
Figures relate to 17-year-olds (age at start of academic year, i.e. 31 August) in all schools and colleges.

Higher Education: Student Numbers

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many additional places for first-time students will be funded in 2008-09 as a result of the shift in funding away from students on courses that are equivalent or lower to qualifications they already hold. [187238]

Bill Rammell: The January 2008 Grant Letter to HEFCE set out our expectations for growth in student numbers. As a result of the 2 per cent. real terms increase in funding for HE we are making available over the next three years, and our decision to redistribute grant away from students doing second degrees or other HE qualifications at an equivalent or lower level (ELQs) in order to fund more first degree students, there is scope overall to fund significant growth. In full-time equivalent terms, we expect a growth in core-fundable students of 20,000 in 2008-09 (on a full-time equivalent basis) either entering higher education for the first time or progressing to higher degrees of which some 5,000 are attributable to our decision to redistribute funding which would otherwise have funded ELQ students.

Higher Education: Student Wastage

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time students under 22 years old withdrew from their higher education course in each year since 2001. [162122]

Bill Rammell: The information available on non-continuation of young higher education students is shown in Tables 1 and 2. The figures are taken from the Performance Indicators in Higher Education, published by the Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA). Table 1 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled young (under 21) full-time first degree entrants to higher education institutions in England, who do not continue in higher education after their first year. Table 2 shows the proportion of UK-domiciled young (under 21) full-time other undergraduate entrants to higher education institutions in England who do not continue in higher education after their first year.

Table 1: Percentage of UK-domiciled young (under 21) full-time first degree entrants to English higher education institutions not continuing in higher education after their first year

| Academic year | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 2001/02 | 7.0 |
| 2002/03 | 7.3 |
| 2003/04 | 7.2 |
| 2004/05 | 6.8 |

Source:
"Performance Indicators in Higher Education", published by HESA.

Table 2: Percentage of young (under 21) full-time other undergraduate entrants to English higher education institutions not continuing in higher education after their first year

| Academic year | Percentage |
|---|---|
| 2001/02 | 16.3 |
| 2002/03 | 16.1 |
| 2003/04 | 17.5 |
| 2004/05 | 16.6 |

Source:
"Performance Indicators in Higher Education", published by HESA.

Figures for 2005/06 will become available in 2008.

HESA do not publish figures on the percentage of part-time students not continuing in higher education after their first year.

According to the 2004 figures published by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the overall completion rate of 78 per cent. for Type A (first degree equivalent) courses in UK universities and colleges of higher education is the fifth highest among the OECD countries, after Japan, Ireland, Korea and Greece, and is above the OECD average of 70 per cent.

Higher Education: Terrorism

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many reports have been made to the Government by higher education providers about extremism on campus in the last 12 months. [175745]

Bill Rammell: No formal written reports have been submitted to HMG by higher education providers on extremism on campus in the last 12 months. However, there is a regular on-going dialogue between officials and Ministers in the DIUS and higher education providers, Universities UK, the NUS and the University and College Union concerning the issue of violent extremist activity in higher education.

All higher education providers have regular contact with their local police force and have ongoing discussions about issues and concerns within their HEI.

Postgraduate Education: Finance

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether public funding is available for students studying for a masters in research degree who already hold a level 7 qualification. [187239]

Bill Rammell: Public funding for research degrees is distributed through the research grant we give to HEFCE which will rise by 18 per cent. in cash terms from under £1.4 billion this year to over £1.6 billion over the next three years. Funding for research has been and will continue to be allocated selectively on the basis of excellence. Students already holding level 7 qualifications will as now continue to be funded for a Masters Research degree provided they are studying in a department rated 4 and above in the 2001 Research Assessment Exercise.

Students: Finance

Stephen Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the proportion of part-time (a) first degree and (b) second degree students who had their fees paid by an employer in the latest period for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [186616]

Bill Rammell: The latest available information is given in the table.

Number and proportion of part-time first degree and postgraduate students who had their fees paid by an employer, English Higher Education Institutions, academic year 2006/07

| | First degree | | Postgraduate | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Major source of tuition fees | Number | Percentage of known | Number | Percentage of known |
| Employer[1] | 19,190 | 11.1 | 42,845 | 20.4 |
| Other | 154,855 | 89.3 | 170,850 | 81.2 |
| Total known | 173,380 | 100.0 | 210,430 | 100.0 |
| Unknown | 665 | — | 3,260 | — |
| Total | 174,045 | — | 213,695 | — |

[1] Employer as major source of tuition fees includes students who were recorded as having their tuition fees paid by "student's employer" and "UK industry/commerce".

Higher Education Statistics Agency (HESA).

Economic competitiveness demands knowledge-intensive, innovating, organisations, with highly skilled and knowledgeable workforces. Substantial numbers of learners already receive support for first and subsequent degrees with employers paying their fees and often providing other support. We recently announced plans to deliver real growth in higher education co-funded with employers. We are making the public investment—rising to at least £50 million in 2010-11—and look to employers to work with us to deliver.

Students: Loans

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many and what proportion of people making repayments of student loans were also claiming the working tax credit or child tax credit in the latest period for which figures are available; and how many and what proportion were higher rate income tax payers. [166864]

Bill Rammell: The information requested is not held centrally.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many students have entered into individual voluntary arrangements since their introduction. [166887]

Bill Rammell: The Government's student finance package is designed to ensure that finance should not be a barrier to a higher education course. Student loans from the Government are not like commercial loans: interest is paid at the rate of inflation, so in real terms students only pay back what they borrowed. For income contingent loans available since 1998, repayment is linked to earnings and borrowers only repay if their earnings are over £15,000; from April 2012 they will be able to take up to five years 'Repayment Holiday' and those taking out a student loan from 2006 have their debt cancelled after 25 years.

During the passage of the Enterprise Act in 2002 there was a growing awareness about student loan borrowers declaring themselves bankrupt. There was a rise in the number of bankruptcies/Individual Voluntary Agreements (IVAs) notified in 2003. In addition, one of the effects of the Enterprise Act itself was to reduce the period of discharge from bankruptcy from three years to one. Provisions were therefore included in the Higher Education Act 2004 to prevent student loans being written off on bankruptcy. Currently student loans are not exempt from IVAs.

The increase in student loan borrowers with bankruptcies and IVAs should be seen in the context of the increases in the general population. Figures from the Insolvency Service show that between 2002 and 2006 the number of individual bankruptcies in England and Wales more than doubled; the number of IVAs increased seven-fold.

Until 2004 IVAs and bankruptcies were not recorded separately in SLC data. After the change in legislation, only IVAs are recorded, as student loans are excluded from bankruptcy debts and are not written off on discharge from bankruptcy.

Available data are shown in the following tables.

English domiciled borrowers with publicly-owned student loans who notified the Student Loans Company (SLC) of their bankruptcy or Individual Voluntary Agreement (IVA)[1]—calendar year of bankruptcy or IVA 1997 to 2004

| Calendar year | Borrowers with bankruptcy or IVA | Percentage of all borrowers UK[2] |

| 1997 | 70 | n/a |
| 1998 | 90 | n/a |
| 1999 | 120 | n/a |
| 2000 | 130 | 0.017 |
| 2001 | 230 | 0.023 |
| 2002 | 270 | 0.027 |
| 2003 | 800 | 0.057 |
| 2004 | 1,170 | 0.072 |

n/a = not available.

[1] Bankruptcies and IVAs are not separately identified in the data. There may be delays between borrowers becoming bankrupt/taking an IVA and notifying SLC, therefore figures can increase overtime, particularly for the most recent years. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10.

Early indications suggest the numbers of IVAs are reducing after 2006.

Vocational Training

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of qualifications which count towards the Skills for Life target are (a) wholly and (b) partly funded by the Learning and Skills Council. [166890]

Mr. Lammy: For the Skills for Life 2010 PSA target, the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) has adopted the aim of achieving the whole of the PSA target and therefore aims to deliver 2.25 million learner achievements by 2010. Prior to 2007-08, there were contributions from Jobcentre Plus and the Offender Learning, for which LSC now has assumed responsibility for planning and funding.

The data on Skills for Life achievements to July 2006 indicate that a total of 1,759,000 people have achieved a first Skills for Life qualification since 2001. Of those achievements, 1,610,000 were delivered by the LSC, 138,000 were delivered through the Offender Learning and 12,000 were delivered through programmes for Jobcentre Plus clients funded by the Department for Work and Pensions.

The LSC has also committed to funding 100 per cent. of the new Skills for Life targets indicators for 2011, as agreed through the 2007 comprehensive spending review and set out in the LSC's statement of priorities published in November 2007.

Adult literacy and numeracy courses which contribute to the target are fully funded by the LSC and are free to learners.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what criteria are required to be met for a qualification to be considered as qualifying for the Skills for Life target. [166891]

Mr. Lammy: The generic criterion is that all qualifications that count to national targets have to be accredited by QCA for inclusion in the National Qualifications Framework and approved by the Secretary of State under Sections 96 and 97.

For the 2010 Skills for Life PSA target this includes GCSE in maths and English, key skills in communication and application of number and the certificates in adult literacy, numeracy and ESOL skills for life and will include the newly developed functional skills in English and maths, when achieved at entry level 3, level 1 and level 2.

For the 2011 adult literacy and numeracy indicators this will continue, although measurement of progress towards the target will only count those people achieving a qualification at functional levels—level 1 for literacy and entry level 3 for in numeracy.

HEALTH

Accident and Emergency Departments

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of patients who attended accident and emergency services in the most recent period for which figures are available he estimates were in priority group (a) one, (b) two, (c) three, (d) four and (e) five as defined by the Manchester Triage System. [189597]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information requested is not held centrally. Clinical decisions on the care and treatment given to patients are a matter for local clinicians.

Recently-published figures show that, for the period October to December 2007, there were 4,625,426 attendances at all types of accident and emergency department in England.

Air Purification

Chris McCafferty: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what his policy is on the use of air purification equipment in the NHS. [188718]

Mr. Bradshaw [holding answer 25 February 2008]: Building regulations require that all enclosed workspaces be ventilated by either natural or mechanical means. The Department's detailed guidance documents, "Health Technical Memorandum 03-01: Specialised ventilation for healthcare premises (parts A and B)", provide comprehensive advice and guidance to health care management, design engineers, estates managers and operations managers on the legal requirements, design implications, maintenance and operation of specialised ventilation in all types of health care premises. Copies of both documents have been placed in the Library.

Ventilation is used extensively in all types of health care premises to provide a safe and comfortable environment for patients and staff. It can include filtration and purification systems that are aimed at diluting and controlling airborne pathogenic material.

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many admissions via accident and emergency to NHS hospitals for alcohol-related conditions there were in 2006-07. [186146]

Dawn Primarolo [holding answer 18 February 2008]: In 2006-07 there were 162,080 finished admission episodes via Accident and Emergency (A&E) where the primary or secondary diagnosis was alcohol related. This figure describes activity in national health service hospitals England and activity in the English independent sector, commissioned by English NHS.

Notes:

Finished admission episodes (FAE)

A FAE is the first period of in-patient care under one consultant within one healthcare provider. Admissions do not represent the number of in-patients, as a person may have more than one admission within the year.

All diagnoses count of mentions

These figures represent a count of all mentions of a diagnosis in any of the 14 diagnosis fields in the Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) data set. Therefore, if a diagnosis is mentioned in more than one diagnosis field during an episode, all diagnoses are counted.

Emergency admission

These are the emergency admission codes to specify in more detail how the patient was admitted to hospital.

21 = Emergency: via A and E services, including the casualty department of the provider

28 = Emergency: other means, including patients who arrive via the A and E department of another health care provider

Alcohol related diagnoses

F10 - Mental and behavioural disorders due to use of alcohol.

T51 - Toxic effect of alcohol.

K70 - Alcoholic liver disease.

Data quality

HES are compiled from data sent by over 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.

Ambulance Services: Cirencester

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of hours per week Cirencester is without Cirencester-based ambulance cover due to ambulances (a) taking patients to hospitals in and (b) being called to emergencies in other towns. [186274]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department expects ambulance trusts to plan their resources to ensure that there is an appropriate provision of ambulance coverage for the communities they serve.

Therefore, this is a local matter for the Great Western Ambulance Service National Health Service Trust.

Ambulance Services: Emergency Calls

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many emergency incidents were responded to by ambulance services in England in each year since 1997-98, broken down by NHS ambulance trust; [189225]

(2) how many emergency calls to ambulance services there have been in each year since 1997-98 (a) for England in total and (b) broken down by strategic health authority area. [189596]

Mr. Bradshaw: Information about the number of emergency incidents responded to by ambulance services in England are contained in the KA34 Statistical Bulletin published annually by the Information Centre. Table 4 of the bulletin "Ambulance Services, England 2001-02" gives the figures from 1997-98 to 2001-02.

Table 4 of "Ambulance Services, England 2006-07" gives the figures from 2002-03 to 2006-07. However, it should be noted that there were mergers of the majority of national health service trusts providing ambulance services in 2006, with the data in this table being split by ambulance trust configuration for comparability purposes.

Information about the number of emergency calls for England are also contained in the KA34 Statistical Bulletin "Ambulance Services, England 2006-07". Data on emergency calls are collected by NHS Ambulance Trust level not by strategic health authority area.

Copies of the bulletins are available in the Library and the bulletin for 2006-07 is available at the following website:

www.ic.nhs.uk/statistics-and-data-collections/audits-and-performance/ambulance/ambulance-services-england-2006-07

Arthritis: Drugs

Mrs. Riordan: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what drug treatments are available on the NHS to treat patients with rheumatoid arthritis who have not responded to rituximab or may not take it for clinical reasons. [188139]

Dawn Primarolo: Details of licensed drug treatments for rheumatoid arthritis are contained in the British National Formulary.

Bowel Surgery

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, what the timetable is for (a) establishing and (b) evaluating a pilot training programme for laparoscopic bowel surgery; and what criteria he will use in making a decision about national implementation. [183986]

Ann Keen: The pilot training programme for laparoscopic colorectal cancer is currently being set up. Following a tender exercise, carried out by the national cancer action team, nine training centres have been selected and were appointed in January 2008. The pilot is due to run for a period of 18 months with an evaluation being carried out towards the end of the project. The evaluation will make recommendations for the future and among the success criteria will be patient outcomes and satisfaction, the competency of surgical training, assessment, accreditation and value for money.

Breast Cancer: Screening

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, what timetable he has set for extending breast screening to nine screening rounds between the ages of 47 and 73 years. [183978]

Ann Keen: Paragraph 3.21 of the Cancer Reform Strategy stated that the extension of the national health service breast screening programme to nine screening rounds between the ages of 47 and 73 years will start from April 2008, with full implementation expected by the end of 2012.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government have taken to increase numbers taking up breast and cervical cancer screening. [188539]

Ann Keen: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given to my hon. Friend the Member for Middlesbrough, South and East Cleveland (Dr. Kumar), on 31 January 2008, Official Report, column 594W.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the Government have spent on recruitment of breast screening radiographers and radiologists in the last five years. [188540]

Ann Keen: The number of breast screening radiographers and radiologists recruited each year is not collected centrally. Local national health service organisations are best placed to assess the health needs of their local health community and plan the workforce they need.

The annual NHS Workforce Census does not separately identify the number of breast screening radiographers and radiologists employed from the rest of the radiography and radiology workforce.

The Department does collect the number of radiographers and radiologists working in the NHS. The number of qualified radiographers employed in the NHS has increased by 2,793 (23.72 per cent.) since September 1997.

The number of diagnostic radiographers has increased by 2,171 (20.9 per cent.) since 1997.

The number of therapeutic radiographers has increased by 622 (44.2 per cent.) since 1997.

The number of consultant radiologists has increased by 632 (42.9 per cent.) since 1997.

Notes:
1. New occupation codes for health care scientists were introduced in 2003. As a result, a small number of staff previously included under diagnostic radiography are now classified within medical physics.
2. More accurate validation in 2006 has resulted in 9,858 duplicate records being identified and removed from the non-medical census. Although this represents less than 1 per cent. of total records, it should be taken into consideration when making historical comparisons. These 9,858 duplicate records, broken down by main staff group, are: 3,370 qualified nurses; 1,818 qualified scientific, therapeutic and technical staff; 2,719 support to doctors and nurses, 368 support to scientific, therapeutic and technical staff; 1,562 NHS infrastructure support; and 21 in other areas.
3. The impact of duplicates on full-time equivalent numbers has been minimal with the removal of 507.

2. There are some women in the age range 45-49 who are invited to be screened, most of whom are women aged 49 who have been called for their first routine screening a few months early.

Cancer

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, by what means he plans to determine whether Britain's cancer services are among the best in the world by 2012. [183967]

Ann Keen: The Cancer Reform Strategy sets out a programme of action to improve cancer services in England rather than the whole of Britain.

As the strategy is implemented, we will track our progress in relation to other countries on issues such as survival and mortality, awareness, early detection, access to different forms of treatment, clinical outcomes, patient experience and costs.

However, these comparisons are not simple and the National Cancer Intelligence Network will be asked to develop a framework to allow for accurate comparisons with other countries.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, by what means he plans to measure the extent to which local NHS organisations follow advice contained in the strategy; and what sanctions there will be on NHS organisations which do not follow the advice. [183968]

Ann Keen: The Cancer Reform Strategy was developed in the context of changes in the relationship between the centre and those working at a local level in the national health service, and the understanding that decisions are increasingly made locally whenever possible. The strategy contains a range of advice, guidance and expectation and implementation will be monitored in a number of ways.

As part of their performance management role, strategic health authorities will be expected to monitor the performance of primary care trusts and specialist commissioning group in relation to cancer commissioning, against the key criteria set out in the strategy and in the forthcoming commissioning guide.

The Healthcare Commission, and the future Care Quality Commission, will continue to play an important role in assessing whether cancer services are delivered in accordance with national guidance and standards. Improved data on clinical outcomes will also enable us to monitor the implementation of existing guidelines and these results will be shared with the regulator.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, when he plans to evaluate the impact of the strategy to tackle obesity on cancer incidence; and by what means. [183970]

Ann Keen: It was acknowledged in the Cancer Reform Strategy that obesity is now the most preventable risk factor for cancer and accounts for 10 per cent. of all cancer deaths among non-smokers.

'Healthy Weight, Healthy Lives' committed to annual reviews on progress towards meeting the New Ambition on Healthy Weight. In addition to indicators of body mass index, the Government are seeking to develop further indicators of success in achieving the New Ambition.

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health further to the publication of the Cancer Reform Strategy, what the timetable is for launching a national awareness and early diagnosis initiative; when he plans to evaluate the effectiveness of such an initiative; and by what means. [183980]
